Canuck thriller delivers the goods

Book Review

By CHUCK KONKEL
Thomson News Service

For nearly a decade, Eric Wright, the celebrated Canadian mystery writer, has entertained his readers with the exploits of Charlie Salter, staff inspector of special affairs, a fictitious unit hidden somewhere within the organizational labyrinth of the 7,000-member Metropolitan Toronto police force.

Special affairs: The unit's name aptly suggests the wide latitude and privileged position Salter is given to manoeuvre within the police hierarchy as he calmly dissects crimes; but more importantly, it captures the genuine bond of affection that has grown between the wry-witted and rye-loving detective and his international readership.

To many, Salter is the neighbor next door, the one who helps chop down the rotten tree in your backyard and share a cool one with you when it's over; the guy who gamely shovels the mounds of packing show in the mutual drive when he comes home from the night-shift, long before you get up; the one who tinkers patiently with his rusty lawnmower while listening to a Blue Jays baseball game in his grey sweatshirt and dusty jeans.

A Salter novel has become an annual rite of passage for many, as refreshingly Canadian in its carefully constructed, yet understated, way as maple syrup, Elwy Yost At The Movies or leafing through a Canadian Tire catalogue on a crisp Saturday morning in October.

The plot of Final Cut (Doubleday Canada, 249 pages), Eric Wright's eighth offering in as many years, starts with the low-keyed rhythm that has become a Salter trademark. A movie thriller is being filmed in Toronto; the opening scene is sheer, overstated Hollywood North. There, among the beef and cheeses and steaks of the trendy St. Lawrence Farmers' Market, an aged Nazi concentration camp guard has been spotted by the son of one of his victims. Very quickly, the cinematic hunt is on. Or is it?

Salter, who always seems to appear in innovative guises that add both dimension and originality to his persona, has been assigned the role of police adviser to the production. His function is straightforward: to ensure that the celluloid impression of Metro's finest derived from the screenplay is true to form; and that exaggerated images of Kojak, Columbo and Robocop don't supplant those of a more mundane reality.

LOW-KEY

Salter is low-key and observant — out of sight and out of mind — a situation encouraged by Fisher, the film's rude and abrasive screenwriter who seems driven by both creative genius and the spectre financial ruin.

It quickly becomes apparent to the attentive Canuck detective there are more mysterious goings-on behind the camera than in front of it.

A series of off-stage antics turn subtly more deadly as mysterious and malevolent agents do everything in their power to sabotage the film's completion. Watersprinklers go off on the set without warning. A house scheduled for use as a film location is daubed with swastikas. A critical reel of film goes missing. Sound machines are damaged. And finally, the much-hated Fisher is murdered — found alone in a shoddy hotel, wearing nothing but boxer shorts. And army dagger is sticking out of his chest.

The cast of suspects grows quicker than a game of Clue. There's an aging Romanian actor who loves Shakespeare, a Czech lighting man, a comely script assistant from Bucharest and a new director from Newfoundland.

Of course, Salter must consider the strong possibility that something vile and evil lurks out of a historically horrific past; that vengeful spirits from the Holocaust or the thuggery of Kristallnacht may have been roused from their restive sleep. The film now not only mirrors reality but causes it to fulfil its darkest impulses.

Then, abruptly, a dour man from CSIS, (the Canadian Security Intelligence Service), Canada's spy-watching network, arrives and the plot turns again, with broad hints that the suspects in the murder may have links to the Communist east bloc, compounding the already present spectre of Nazi ghosts.

SURPRISE ENDING

Ultimately, our hero triumphs in a surprise ending that has a deliciously human twist.

Wright has the enviable ability of structuring his works with the line and form of a true craftsman. That should not be surprising. He's a professor of English literature and a person whose salt and pepper hair and crisp, ruddy features make one think intuitively of the fictitious Metro detective inspector he's created.

Wright sets himself a strict literary regimen. He constructs the main body of any proposed work during the summer and edits in winter, making his annual foray into the bookstores as inevitable as the changing of the seasons.

If there is one small criticism in the case of Final Cut, it is that a pinch of Salter has proved a dash too little for this reviewer. But, if that is the only fault, it is a mere blemish on an otherwise endearing portrait of a Canadian detective hero.

And who knows? One day Detective Inspector Charlie Salter may make the giant leap into The Serious Novel. Or Wright may somehow decide to expand his mystery format from its comfortable sofa setting to something sleek, exy and exotic. One day I may find that Salter discovers the pyramids, or the mysteries of Zen, or the lost treasure of the Burma route army.

But that day seems far away and relatively unimportant. Until then, I'm satisfied with my delicious dollops of Salter's tidy Toronto.

Chuck Konkel is a sergeant with the Metro Toronto police and author of the best-selling novel, The Glorious East Wind, about the last years of Hong Kong.

Carey says he's received support for flag stance

John Carey has received nothing but praise for standing up to vandals who destroyed his American flag last week.

"I haven't had one negative response. About 200 people — minimum — showed up Sunday offering support, and almost as much Saturday," said Mr. Carey, owner of Carey's By The Sea in Salmon Beach.

Mr. Carey was threatened by unknown individuals last week for flying American and Acadian flags. The American flag, along with electrical wires, were subsequently vandalized when he refused to remove the flag.

As of this past week the American, Acadian, Canadian and New Brunswick flags were all flying in front of Mr. Carey's Downshore residence.

While he has not been harassed since the an article about the threats appeared in last week's edition of The Northern Light, he continues to be troubled by these people's actions.

"It's just a small minority, but this minority must be stopped," he said, adding he feels repercussions may still be forthcoming sometime in the future.

Editor's Note: see the Letters to the Editor section for a letter from Mr. Carey.

John Carey proudly raises his American flag in front of his residence in Salmon Beach, undaunted by threats of repercussions from unknown individuals.

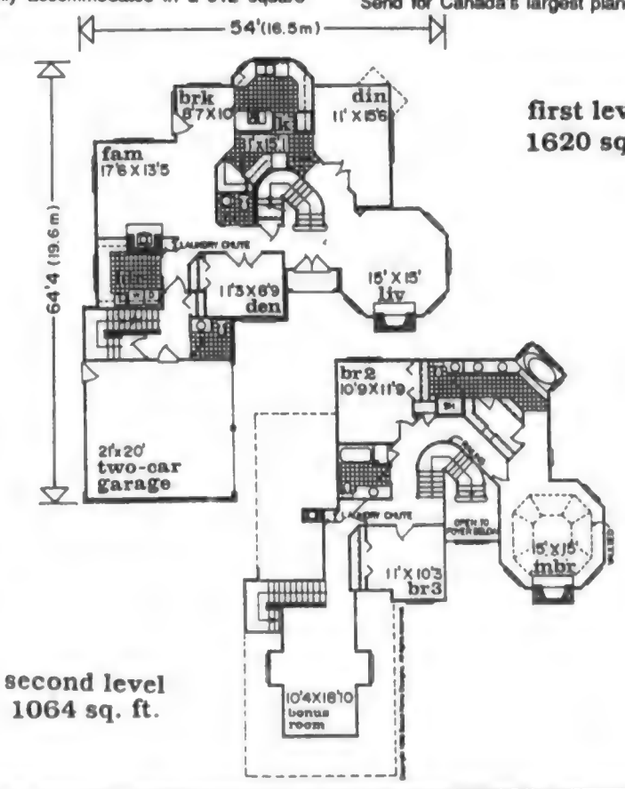
OCTAGONAL ROOMS ACCENT GRAND DESIGN

A two storey entrance foyer with sweeping horseshoe-shaped staircase creates a dramatic welcome for this three bedroom home. To the right is an octagonal-shaped living room with warming fireplace. The kitchen tucked in a greenhouse bay features a centre, cooking island, desk/organizer area, abundant counter work space and walk-in pantry. The kitchen opens to a bright breakfast nook and large family room. Direct access from the the two car garage leads to a powder rrom, secondary staircase to the second level, and laundry room. The laundry room provides a spacious counter for sewing or folding clothes. A convenient laundry chute from the bedrooms eases the collection of grimy clothes.



Retire upstairs to a lavish coffered ceiling master suite which has a cozy fireplace and walk-through wardrobe. The ensuite boasts a raised whirlpool spa, twin vanity, and private shower, toilet and third basin. The two additional bedrooms share a three piece bathroom with tub. Potential for future expansion is easily accommodated in a 312 square foot bonus room. The convenient proximity of the bonus room to the secondary staircase makes the bonus ideal for a nanny, in-law suite or media centre. The finished floor area of this design is 2,684 square feet.

The only way the Bathurst Bantam A T-Birds provincial team was going to lose the Tim Horton Invitational Baseball Tournament this weekend in Quispamsis was if they lost their final two games.

And that's exactly what happened.

The T-Birds travelled through the five-team, double-knockout event unscathed, then faced Chatham in the final. With Chatham having lost to Bathurst already during the preliminary phase, the Miramichi entry had to beat the T-Birds twice to secure the title, which they did by scores of 4-1 and 5-2.

The first game of the tournament, held from Aug. 26 to 28, was the one in which the T-Birds beat Chatham, by a score of 6-4.

Roddie MacKenzie was the winning hurler in the game, tossing a four-hitter and striking out five, while the bulk of the offence was handled by Denis Lavigne, with a three-run homerun, a double and a single; Clay Wesenberg and Ricky Vienneau, each with a pair of singles; and Jason Roy, with one single.

Game two on Saturday saw the T-Birds trounce Kennebecasis Valley 11-1 on the strength of a four-hitter through the first six innings by Joey Thibodeau, where the Kennebecasis entry saw nine of its members strike out. Roddie MacKenzie came on in relief in the final inning, relinquishing not a single run in the process.

Top hitters for the T-Birds included Thibodeau, with a home run and a single; MacKenzie, with a double and two singles; Clay Wesenberg, with three singles; Ricky Vienneau and Steve Godin, each with a double and a single; and Todd Kenny, Denis Lavigne and Jason Brown, each with a single.

The first game of the final saw Chatham defeat the local entry 4-1, with Denis Lavigne and Roddie MacKenzie tagged with the loss.

Leading the T-Birds from the plate were Denis Lavigne, with a home run; and Ricky Vienneau and Danny Duguay, with a single each.

Joey Thibodeau, Roddie MacKenzie and Todd Kenny shared pitching duties in the final game, but could not solve the Chatham pitching and offence in the 5-2 loss.

Pacing the T-Birds' attack were Joey Thibodeau, with a double and a single; and Roddie MacKenzie, Ricky Vienneau and Steve Godin, each with a pair of singles.

Five members of the Bathurst Aqua Ducks summer swim team, along with seven from the Bathurst Aquatic Piranhas swim team, will be going to the Atlantic Coast Games in Halifax, N.S. Aug. 15 to 19. Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd's trade a good one

Out Of Bounds
By JIM COUTURE
Northern Light Sports

There are a few things troubling me lately, and since no one else will listen to me I'll dump them all over you.

First off, why would anyone want Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd on their baseball team? The guy is grossly overrated, and all he does is complain. I know that's all I do too, but that's different--it's my job, I do it well, and I like it fine.

The guy has something like a 6-9 won-lost record this year with the Montreal Expos and Texas Rangers, paid $1.5 million a year for losing 60 per cent of his starts.

And to top it off, he was complaining last month that the Expos didn't "appreciate him enough". Appreciate what? His lousy record? His lousy attitude?

When I read his complaints in the paper, I said to myself: "self, baseball owners don't put up with slurs like this." And certainly not when their team is almost out of contention for a shot at first place.

Paying guys like him big money for losing games when your team's chances of finishing first in the division is bad business, and even worse when your team is as cash-strapped as the Expos are right now.

Plain and simple. The guy has a one-year contract, and the owners can rest assured that it's going to cost about the same to retain his "services" next year, and maybe even more.

So what's an owner to do? Exactly what they did last week: trade the sucker for a few good players who don't complain as much and who's careers have nowhere to go but up.

And what does he do the first time on the mound for his new team? Why, he blows the game, that's what. Rangers' coach Bobby Valentine apparently "appreciated him enough" when he said that his newest acquisition performed to his liking against his former Boston Red Sox teammates. He allowed only two runs to score against him, but his teammates only pushed one across on his behalf, so the loss "upped" his record to 6-9.

You showed them you still got it, right Boyd? I'm willing to bet they're kicking themselves for getting rid of you...not.

GOWAN BRAE'S BETTER

And another thing, what's so great about the Royal Birkdale golf course in England?

That was the course used in staging the British Open golf championship this year, one of the top golf tournaments in the world.

They kept saying what a great course this was. All is saw was an ugly, hilly piece of wasteland with a few green spots on it.

I mean, that place is ugly. Our local Gowan Brae course is beautiful, as most who've seen it will attest. That's what I always thought to be the yardstick in determining a course, but I guess it isn't so.

I think I've figured it out though. I now believe that to make a course challenging all you have to do is make is as difficult and ugly as is humanly possible. Put a landfill between the tee and the green, dig four-foot bunkers all around the greens, and strategically place an ocean alongside the entire course, so a swirling wind is always prevalent to toss your ball around like a Dominican Republic Little League team.

I decided to spend my life savings on building a course just like the one in England, except this one will be located in downtown Bathurst.

The first hole will be a dogleg to the left starting at White's Wharf and ending behind Harbourview Place. A par-four, I do believe, although the narrow fairways will make it a difficult one. The tee for the par-three second hole will be behind the Bank of Montreal, with the pin strategically placed in the middle of the Nicholas Denys Building parking lot--a very short hole but, with all the concrete, it'll make for a big bounce and a hell of a long putt.

You see where I'm going with this don't you, and can you spot the tourism potential? We could give each tourist coming through here a free round on our "municipal" golf course, and while they're playing they'd be actually visiting many parts of our city and hopefully spending a lot of money.

Something to think about.

Local youths off to "Games"

A dozen swimmers from the Bathurst area will be heading to the Atlantic Coast Games in Halifax Aug. 15 to 19.

Five members of the Bathurst Aqua Ducks summer swim team have achieved the necessary times in order to qualify. They include Junior swimmers Lloyd Lavigne and Celine White, and Seniors Tanya Fisher, Ravi Sankaran, and Shawn Tremblay.

The seven Bathurst Aquatic Piranhas swim team members scheduled to participate in the high-level competition include Juniors Karl Babineau, Richard Gillespie, Audra Knowles, and Francine Nutten, and Seniors Karine Babineau, David Vessie, and Barrett Glasser.

The swimmers are required to raised $150 each in order to attend the meet, and anyone willing and able to help them out financially are asked to contact Mike Ballak at the Bathurst Aquatic Centre at 548-9667.

Volleyball at Coronation Park

The city's Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department wishes to inform the public of their annual Mixed Volleyball Tournament, to be held Aug. 8 at Coronation Park.

All those between the ages of 14 and 18 are invited to take part in the event, which will run from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Teams will consist of six players, of which at least two must be female.

Registration will be held at the Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department until Aug. 7, between 8 a.m. and 12 noon, and again from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There will be a registration fee of $6 per team.

For more information, please call the city department at 548-0410.

Phillipsburg sweeps Legion softball event

Teams from Phillipsburg, Que. swept both divisions in the Fourth Annual Eastern Canadian Legion Oldtimers Softball Tournament held in the city over the weekend.

And both did it with victories over Bathurst entries in the final.

Phillipsburg took the Masters division title with a 17-14 victory over Bathurst in the final game of the three-team division, reserved for players 45 and older.

The Bathurst Senior No.2 team fared as well as their Masters counterparts, making it all the way to the final of the 35 and older division before losing out to Phillipsburg, Que. by a score of 16-14.

Leading the Bathurst attack were Floyd Gallant, Joey Noel and Ivan Smith, each with three hits and the same number of runs-batted-in, while John Morrison added three hits and one rbi.

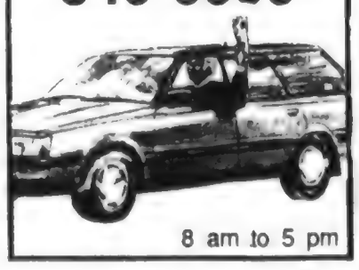
Aqua Ducks swim way to championship

The Bathurst Aqua Ducks summer swim team has leaped out of the starting gates and into the lead early this season, winning its first meet of the year.

The July 20 Chatham Irish festival Swim Meet was the site of the team's first taste of victory, where the local team outdistanced four others for the overall title.

The Aqua Ducks, numbering 35 this year, had a couple of weeks off for practise before heading into its peak season, with three meets scheduled for the next three weekends. The first is Aug. 3 in Moncton, followed by one at the Bathurst Aquatic Centre Aug. 10. The provincial championships are slated for Campbellton Aug. 17.



The team is being coached this year by Nicky Nutten and Remi Cormier, and they'd like to inform the public that it's not too late to join the team. Anyone from five to 17 years of age is welcome to come and join in the fun from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday through Friday. The cost to join is $70, plus a $10 club fee. For more information, contact the Bathurst Aquatic Centre at 548-9667.

Pointe Verte tennis player cleans house

The Petit Rocher Senior Men's Open Tennis Tournament was held at the municipal courts over the weekend, with Stephane Frenette of Pointe Verte emerging as the only double winner.

Frenette edged fellow Pointe Verte native André Lagacé 7-5 and 6-4 to take the competitive singles title, then teammed up with Petit Rocher's Marc-André Guitard to defeat the hometown duo of Robert Robichaud and Mike Godin 6-3 and 6-1 in the competitive doubles final.

Raymond LaPointe of Petit Rocher survived a three-setter with clubmate Jean-Gilles Girard 6-2, 3-6 and 6-1 to take home the recreational singles title.

Cormier blasts away in Parkwood softball league play

Danny Cormier was the outright star in the Parkwood Schooner-Pizza Delight Softball League this week.

The Big D Blues' slugger stroked two homers and added four singles in leading his team to a 32-16 doubling of the Uptown Club July 22. Hermel Arseneau was on the mound to record the victory, while the loss was added onto Bernie Power's pitching record.

The first game that night had Jim Walters defeat The Right Spot Classics 20-4, with Glen McLean tossing the win and Roger White tagged with the loss.

The Big D Blues won the first of two games played July 23, with Danny Cormier again in the limelight.

Cormier swatted another home run and added a single to help his team to an 11-10 victory over Techno 90, with Pierre Daigle the winning pitcher and Christian Doiron the losing one. Leading Techno 90 from the batter's box was Robert Chiasson, with a home run and a single.

Alan Furlotte tossed the winning pitches in Jim Walters' 21-8 win over Brasserie O'St. Pierre in the late match, with Pat Murphy accepting defeat.

Furlotte led his charges from the plate as well, with a triple, double and single, while Alan Doucet topped all Brasserie O'St. Pierre hitters with a home run, double and a single.

Jim Walters defeated Techno 90 15-11 in the first of two games played July 24, with Glen McLean the winning hurler and Christian Doiron the loser.

The Wild Goose Guzzlers hammered The Right Spot Classics 17-5 in the late one, with Glen Morrison earning the victory and Leslie Smith tagged with the loss.

Roger White led The Right Spot Classics to a 9-2 victory over the Big D Blues in the first game played July 25, with Pierre Daigle going down to defeat.

Brasserie O'St. Pierre edged the Uptown Club 10-9 in the final match, with Paul Aucoin getting the win and Michel Vienneau the loss.

Race tightens in city softball loop

The Penguin Club and B.J. Furs are fighting tooth and nail for the Fabrication of Plaques City Softball League pennant.

Penguin Club won three games this past week, one of which was a victory over B.J. Furs, while B.J. Furs went two-for-three to keep pace. As of Sunday, B.J. Furs holds a half-game lead over Penguin Club for the top spot, with 15-2 and 14-2 won-lost records respectively. Rounding out the six-team league standings were Bistro Terrasse, 8-10; Brasserie O'St. Pierre, 6-11; C&G Smith Trucking, 5-12; and the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters, 3-15.

The first of two games played July 22 saw B.J. Furs hammer Brasserie O'St. Pierre 20-5, with Eddy Couture hurling the winning pitches and Marc-André Comeau accepting defeat.

Leading the winning side at the plate were Ron Comeau, with two home runs and a single; and Emilien Roy, with a home run and a triple; while for Brasserie Jacques Cormier had the hottest bat with a pair of singles to his credit.

Bistro Terrasse defeated C&G Smith Trucking 10-6 in the late game behind the pitching arm of Robbie Arseneau, with Carl Smith accepting the loss.

Danny Daigle was the winning pitcher in Penguin Club's 10-6 victory over the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters in the first of two games played July 23. Roger Haché was tagged with the loss.

B.J. Furs edged Brasserie O'St. Pierre 11-10 in the late game, with Robert Frenette tossing the winning pitches and Fred Mallet going down to defeat.

Andy Chan was the top hitter for the winners with two singles and a double, while the same stats were put up by Michel Charest on Brasserie's behalf.

Penguin Club defeated the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters 13-7 in the only match contested July 24, with Danny Daigle tossing the win and Jean-Claude Rioux credited with the loss.

Top hitters in the winning lineup were Paul Basque, with a triple, double and two singles; and Donald Comeau, with two doubles and a single.

Carl Smith's pitches were the difference in C&G Smith Trucking's 12-11 victory over Bistro Terrasse July 25, with Robbie Arseneau accepting defeat.

Jean-Claude Rioux registered a victory Sunday for the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters, as they downed Robbie Arseneau and his Bistro Terrasse teammates 10-6.

The week ended with Penguin Club upsetting league-leading B.J. Furs 5-4, with Danny Daigle the winning pitcher and Eddy Couture the losing one.

Top hitters for the winning side were Roger Chamberlain and Louis Theriault, each with a triple and a single; while for the losing side it was Andy Chan, with a triple and a single, and Eddy Couture, with a double and a single.

Rugby at home in Chatham on weekend

Pig Press
By JIM DUNCAN
Bathurst Bushpigs Rugby Club

The Bushpigs latest outing was a jaunt down to the Miramichi to participate in the Second Annual Miramichi Irish Festival Rugby Tournament.

Begun last year as a brainchild of veteran Chatham players with the Bathurst Bushpigs, the tourney involved St. Stephen and Bathurst. This year it expanded to include Woodstock.

Considering the popularity of Rugby in Ireland, it seems very apt that such an event take place during the festival. Ireland may also be responsible for exporting Gaelic Football to Australia, where it has been tamed into that gentle sport renamed Australian Rules Football and seen regularly on The Sports Network.

Last year St. Stephen walked away with the trophy despite strong Bathurst opposition and a memorable try from David Stothart from the Bathurst High School squad.

This year it was to be a little different. Bathurst again profited from a try by an ex-Phantom Ruggers, but this time it was combined with an equally-fine effort by veteran Jeff Bellen and a penalty goal to give the Bushpigs a 13-9 win. Chris Branch was the early scorer, and underlines the importance of maintaining a high school program.

In the second Bathurst game against Woodstock, it appeared that the Bushpigs were wilting in the record temperature. The contest remained scoreless until the final minutes of the second half when wiley Jeff Bellen again found his way over the Woodstock line to earn four points. The conversion upped the total to six almost as the full-time whistle blew. Bushpigs 6, Woodstock 0.

St. Stephen prevailed in the consolation match to take second place, then all three teams descended on the Miramichi to slake their thirst and enjoy the festival.

With their own Squeeler Cup trophy safely theirs, the Miramichi Irish Festival Trophy well-earned and the gratifying knowledge that they gave the much vaunted Trojans a scare in Fredericton, the Bushpigs will next try for success at the St. Stephen International Tournament down on the border.

BATHURST MINOR BASEBALL'S

Player of the Week

Matthew Boyd

This week's Bathurst Minor Baseball Association Player of the Week is 10-year-old Matthew Boyd.

Matthew, the son of Shirley Boyd of Bathurst, is a Mosquito-age player toiling in the upper Beaver ranks with the Twins, in this his first year of minor ball.

According to his coach, he caught a hard line drive during the past week, as well as connecting solidly on at least two occasions with a bat in hand.

The Grade 5 Parkwood Elementary School student lists fishing and swimming as his other sports interests, while his hobbies include collecting baseball and hockey cards, and playing Nintendo.

Bowling Update
By EDWARD CHAMBERLAIN

Capitol Lanes will open its doors on Sept. 7 for its 30th bowling season.

Special tournaments are in the planning stages for the coming bowling season to properly celebrate the event.

The first Labatt's Bartenders Bowling Tournament was held at Chaleur Family Lanes last Sunday, with three teams--Chaleur Family Lanes, Union Centre and Sportsmen Club--all tied for first place with a 1,999 pinfall after four strings.

Nine teams took part in the tournament, which saw high singles of 144 rolled by both Gordie Chiasson and Phil Henry, and a 127 tossed by Joyce Couture. Low scores were rolled by Gerald Saulnier, with a 28, and Natacha Hachey, with a 43.

PLEASE NOTE: The next Mixed Money Tournament, in which teams are made up by way of averages, is scheduled for the Aug. 11 beginning at 10 a.m. To register, contact me at 548-4455.

On The Ropes

By "Wild" BILL HUDON

The Heavyweight boxing powerplay between two heavy punchers--Tommy (The Duke) Morrison and Ray Mercer--will be held Aug. 9.

I talked to a few guys last weekend who had no comments on this fight; they told me they don't know too much about these two fighters.

From what I got, these two warriors are not skilled boxers; they will try to stop one another with power punches. Like I said many times, I could be wrong but I don't see this fight going the limit.

I'm going with the Duke. I know he can dish it out, but can he take a punch? We will see on Aug. 9.

Getting back to Ray Mercer, this guy can take a punch from a horse. At 30 year of age, I'll say that Ray Mercer has reached his peak.

Lennox Lewis of Kitchener, Ont. made it 16 strait with a win over 40 year-old MiKe Weaver recently. At 40 weaver is over the hill; this was not a big test for Lewis. Although he stopped weaver in the sixth round with a big right hand, Lewis still has a lot to learn before he takes on a top opponent.

Can anybody out there tell me what the Reverend, Big George Foreman, is doing in court?

Oh no, I don't believe this. He's trying to stop the Holyfield/Tyson fight coming up Nov. 8. He says he has a contract to fight the champ, Evander Holyfield, in a return fight. Yes, you are right, there are more fights in the courtroom than in the ring.

The scheduled July 26 encounter between the Irish national boxing team and the Canadian squad in Moncton was canceled due to other commitments.

On the local scene, congratulations are extended to the people who are to be inducted into the Bathurst Sports Hall of Fame: Lorne Whalen, the Callaghan ladies curling rink, and James Keddie Sr., a great friend of mine.

James and I played softball on the same team--the Eastside Generals--when we were young. James was a pitcher on that team, and yours truly was in left field.

Once again, congratulations. See you on Nov. 5.

"Wild" Bill Hudon is a member of the Canadian Boxing Hall of Fame and the Bathurst Sports Hall of Fame.

TWO DAYS OF CONCERTS & WORKSHOPS

It all dates back to the summer of 1990, when several members of the New Brunswick arts community began a dialogue with their counterparts in Ireland. The idea of a cultural exchange evolved from this relationship and what became known as the Inishowen Tour was created.

The Inishowen Tour, consisting of over 100 artists from Northern and Southern Ireland, has been visiting New Brunswick since mid-July. This group of singers, dancers, historians and craftspeople has been participating in community events since July 18. The tour ends August 4.

The Inishowen Tour crosses crosses all ethnical barriers and celebrates in the diverse cultures which make up this city and province. The performers come to Bathurst this week to spend two days in the city.

Their solourn here will be highlighted by two concerts. The first on Wednesday, July 31. is a no-charge, inter-cultural event from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Coronation Park. On this occasion, the Irishartists will be joined on stage by local entertainers of other ethnic origins.

Then, on Thursday, August 1, commencing at 8:00 p.m. a gala presentation unfolds in Bathurst High School Theatre. At this time the visiting Irish performers will offer a variety program featuring music, song, drama and dance.

As the group wends its way through the province it brings the very best in Irish culture. At the same time it promotes unity and kinship among the youth of New Brunswick, inspiring them to explore and appreciate their own culture.

The Inishowen Tour is being hosted here by the Bathurst Chapter of the Irish Canadian Association of New Brunswick. That group's chairman, Jim Boyle, is coordinator for the Bathurst segment of the tour.

The people of Bathurst are not only participating in the various events, which include a series of workshops at Bathurst High School, but are also billeting tour members in their homes. In return the Inishowen organization has extended an invitation to interested Bathurst area folks and other residents of New Brunswick to participate in an exchange visit to Ireland in 1992.

Bathurst is in a festive mood today - the 100 Irish guests have arrived - the Inishowen Tour is making their home with us today, July 31 and tomorrow.

Gowan Brae, Coronation Park, Bathurst, High School, United Church, Main Street Bathurst will be bustling with friendly exchanges, music and fun and dancing. "Reach out and touch somebody's hand" as we blend cultures, share talents, open Bathurst hearts and homes to these wonderful families from Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic. Give yourself a break! Join the fun!

Minor ball league active

Shutouts were the norm Sunday when the Bathurst Midget A provincial team took on Riverview in a doubleheader at Coronation Park.

Bathurst won the first New Brunswick Midget A Baseball League game 4-0 behind the pitching prowess of Jonatan Godin, who, combined with relief help from René Dugas, tossed a three-hitter, while striking out nine.

Riverview bounced Bathurst 12-0 in game two, when a Riverview pitcher commanded nine strikeouts at their expense. René Dugas was the losing pitcher in the contest, and also doubled as Bathurst's top hitter with a double.

House league games played during the past week saw Jim Walters Yankees outslug the West End Alignment Dodgers 26-18 July 22 in a Squirt division matchup.

Gregory Love led the Yankees from the batter's box with a pair of singles and a triple, while Jean-Francois Frenette stroked a double and two singles to pace the Dodgers' attack.

The Blue Jays edged the White Sox 9-7 in a Beaver division game later that day, with Serge Duguay earning the pitching win and the loss credited to Rodney Chiasson's record.

Duguay also paced the hitting department with a triple and two singles, while other top hitters were Brad Cavanaugh, with a triple; Kirk Doucet, with a double; and Justin Kane, Marc-André Pinet, and David Blais, each with a single.

The Giants blanked the Cardinals 3-0 in a Mosquito division matchup July 23. Shannon Taggart poked a double and a single to lead his team to victory, with Jennifer Vienneau stroking a home run in a losing effort.

In a Beaver division matchup that day, the Twins sneaked past the Angels 12-11, with Tyle McGrath and Marc Doucet teaming up from the mound to produce the victory. Scott Donnelly and René Mazerolle were tagged with the loss.

Leading the Twins from the plate were Paul Clement, with a double and two singles, and Marc Doucet, with a triple. Pacing the Angels' attack were Keith Landry, with a home run; Tim Basque and James Thibeault, with a triple apiece; Scott Donnelly, with a double; and René Mazerolle and Michael Goyette, each with a single.

The Massé Hardwood Cubs edged the Expert Fence Pirates 16-13 in a Squirt division match played July 24, with Luc Boudreau pacing the winning attack with a double and a single. Matthew Garrett stroked a single, scored three runs and made an outstanding catch to emerge as his team's star of the game.

July 24 also saw the White Sox defeat the Blue Jays 10-6 in a Beaver division matchup, with the hurling win going to Bruno Doucet and Jean Lou Roy. Kevin Glazier and Kirk Doucet were handed the loss.

Jason Fortin and Bruno Doucet stroked a single apiece in leading the winning side, while Serge Duguay poked a pair of singles and Kevin Glazier and Michael Doucet one each for the Blue Jays.

Matthew Lavigne hit a pair of singles and scored both runs as his Expos narrowly defeated the Indians 2-1 in a Mosquito division game July 25. James MacDonald stroked a triple and scored his team's only run.

Stephen McKim stroked three triples and a single in leading his Horizon Carpet Phillies to a 27-10 troucing of the S.G.D. Concrete A's in Squirt division action July 25. Michel Doucet poked a triple and two singles to lead the A's.

The Angles edged the Twins 7-6 in the final Beaver division game of the week, with Scott Donnelly earning the win and Kyle Jamieson and Marc Doucet tagged with the loss. Jeff Chiasson led the winning effort with a couple of singles.

Jardine hitting stride on circuit

"We were doing terribly all year, mostly because of engine trouble, but last weekend things started working for us," said Jardine, who presently sits in sixth place among the 27-driver field with 173 points, only 24 points out of first place.

Jardine's steady rise in the standings was helped this past weekend, where a few high finishes enabled him to gain some ground.

Jardine began Saturday's race card by finishing second in the first preliminary, after beginning the race in the pole position.

He was on the pole in the semi-final race as well, and that's where he finished, earning him the 10th spot in the field come time for the 25-lap feature race at night's end. After considerable manoeuvering on his part, he worked his way up to third spot, where he stayed when the checkered flag was brought into sight.

The stock car racing season is now halfway through its schedule.

Jardine now prepares to defend his Brunswick 100 title this Saturday when the biggest race card of the season gets underway at 7 p.m. The winner will take home $1,000 in cash.

Gowan Brae Ladies Club

This past Saturday the Miramichi Ladies' Invitational boasted an exciting finish.

After 18 holes, three players--Monique Taylor of Moncton, Twila Spicer of Riverside, and Gowan Brae's Ann Fulton--were tied for first with scores of 82. The championship ws finally determined on the fifth playoff hole when Fulton sank a 40-foot birdie putt.

--First Division: Pat Maher, first low net; Kelly MacDonald, fifth low net; and Kathy Grebenc, fifth low gross.

Third Division: Yolande Godin, first low net; and Bernice Jardine, third low gross.

--Fourth Division: Georgette Assaff, second low gross; Anne Arseneau, third low net; and Paula Lee, fourth low net.

The Miramichi tournament was the third of four North Shore events which count toward the Pizza Delight Lady Golfer of the Year Award.

The current point standings for this honor are as follows:

PLAYER	PTS
Kathy Grebenc, Gowan Brae	30
Kelly MacDonald, Gowan Brae	19
Collette Doucet, Restigouche	16
Sharon Case, Miramichi	16
Marg Sweeny, Miramichi	14
Pat Maher, Gowan Brae	10
Mary Gavin, Gowan Brae	10
Valerie Frenette, Gowan Brae	9
Shelagh Eddy, Gowan Brae	8
Rena Williams, Miramichi	8
Peggy Martin, Miramichi	6

On July 16 the Evening Ladies' Day Matches saw the following golfers win: Shirley Jamieson, Anne Arseneau, Billie Hanley, Sybil Hills, Susan Wylie, Judy Ouellette, and Irene Legacy.

The winners of the Morning Matches on July 23 were Rachel Guidry, Geraldine Boudreau, Mary Gavin, Mae McKinney, Jackie Doucet, Nola Haché, Jean Eddy, and Paula Lee.

Ladies are reminded to play their qualifying round for the North Shore Tournament by Aug. 7. The New Brunswick Family Classic will be held at Gowan Brae Aug. 9, while the annual Mixed Leach Tournament will be played Aug. 11.

The Ladies' Gowan Brae Best Ball Tournament is set for Aug. 17. Please check the club bulletin board for more information on these events.

Congratulations to Harold McLean, who placed fourth in the New Brunswick Men's Senior Championship played last week at the Miramichi Golf and Country Club. As a result of this fine showing Harold is in contention for a team berth, with only two rounds remaining in the team trials.

Red Cross relay coming up Aug. 17

The first Red Cross Multi-Sport Relay, slated for Aug. 17 at Causeway Park, will offer an opportunity for all to participate.

Modelled after a similar event organized by the Red Cross on Prince Edward Island, the Multi-Sport Relay consists of a 25 kilometre canoe/walk or run/cycle relay through Bathurst, said a release.

The objective of the relay, which begins at 10 a.m., is to provide a healthy recreational activity in conjunction with the city's Silver Jubilee celebration, as well as to raise funds to support the humanitarian services offered by the Red Cross.

The course route involves about 3.2 kilometres of canoeing on the Bathurst Basin, a 6.8 km run or walk, and a 15 km cycling race from King Avenue along the bypass to Vanier Boulevard, then along Ryan Avenue to Coronation Park.

Registration is $100 per six-member team and $35 per two-member teams.

There will be eight different categories of competition.

For the family, junior, and challenged athlete categories, participants can collect pledges per kilometre or per minute instead of paying the registration fee.

A special feature of the event is the planned-time concept. Team members are asked not to bring watches. Each participant will plan his or her time for each leg of the race, and the team and participant whose actual time comes closest to the planned time without going over is the winner.

No one person will be walking, running or canoeing more than 3.4 kilometres, so there's plenty of opportunity for just the right amount of recreation.

Red Cross organizers are currently recruiting volunteers to be part of various committees. Service clubs are also being approached to sponsor certain activities during the relay. Anyone interested in helping out or sponsoring a team or activity is asked to call 548-2824.

Dream night for New Bandon ball player

The Sealy Enterprises slugger stroked two triples and three doubles to lead his team to a 17-4 trouncing of Jay's Place July 22 in a New Bandon Men's Softball League matchup.

Jeff Wiseman was the winning hurler in the contest, with the loss tagged onto Josh Good's record. Dereck Morrison poked a double and a single to pace the Jay's Place offence.

Hornibrook Construction hammered the C.J. Sharks 11-2 on July 24 thanks to John Morrison's pitching arm, with Clinton Jagoe suffering the loss.

Kirk Knowles, with a home run and a triple, and Ryan Jagoe, with three doubles, led the potent winning offence, while Richard DeCourville stroked a triple in a losing effort.

The first of two games played Sunday saw G.N. Trucking defeat Jay's Place 23-15, with Peter Knowles earning the mound victory and Matthew Daley tagged with the loss.

Leading the G.N. Trucking attack were George Daley, with an inside-the-park home run and two doubles, and Knowles, with a triple, double and two singles. Leading the Jay's Place offence were Percy Clouston, with three triples and a single, and Josh Good, with three doubles and a single.

Blair Scott was the winning pitcher in Sealy Enterprises 11-4 victory over Knowles Brothers in the late game, with Kevin Buttimer going down to defeat.

Leon Duguay hit a triple and a single to lead Sealy Enterprises to victory, while Buttimer stroked a double and a single for Knowles Brothers.

Bathurst swimmers clean up

Seven Bathurst swimmers were among 40 entered in the Maisonnette to Caraquet Swim Race July 21, and to say they dominated the event would be an understatement.

The seven swimmers all finished among the top eight, sweeping the top five placings.

Karl Babineau won the 5.5 kilometre marathon crossing in 56 minutes and 11 seconds, followed by Francis Sonier, 1:00.57; Cynthia Babineau, 1:01.23; Karine Babineau, 1:02.20; and Dianna Allain, 1:03.38.

Finishing seventh was Richard Gillespie, 1:07.08; and coming in eighth was Denys Babineau, 1:08.32.

The local marathon swimmers are coached by Diane Guignard.

Softball tourney set for Aug. 16 to 18

The Third Annual Moosehead Softball Tournament will be held Aug. 16 to 18 in Bathurst.

Organizers are looking for 16 teams.

Entry fee will be $150 per team, with each team guaranteed three seven-inning games and Moosehead products before their first game.

The ball fields being used will be Centennial Park, South Bathurst, Bosca Buraglia, and E.S.N.

Money prizes will be awarded to the championship team and the runner-up, as well as the two semi-finalists.

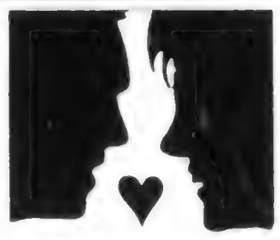
New Bandon mixed ball tourney

The New Bandon Mixed Softball Tournament will be held in Janeville Aug. 8 to 11, and organizers are looking for 16 teams to make up the field.

The event will cost $125 per team, with $500 going to the winning entry and $300 to the runner-up.

Rules stipulate that five women must be on the field at all times, and lob pitches are the norm.



For more information, or to register a team, contact either Peter Knowles at 548-9122 or Coleen Ellis at 546-2041.

KANSAS CITY RESIDENT RETURNS HOME FOR BIRTHDAY

A 65th birthday party for former Bathurst resident Joe Watson was held at the St.Anne Recreation Centre on Saturday. Mr. Watson, who resides in Kansas City, Missouri, is in the area with his wife Frances visiting his mother, well-known local resident Margaret (Maggie) Watson. While here, Mr. Watson played the bagpipes in the recent Miramichi Irish Festival, and in the July 1 Silver Jubilee parade in Bathurst. Shown from left cutting the cake at Saturday night's party are Frances, Joe, and Maggie. Music at the party was provided by Gerald Basque on fiddle, Henry Lavigne and Rheal Hachey on guitar, Alcide Pitre on bass, Bob Watson on banjo, and of course Joe on bagpipes. Margerie Chamberlain of St. Anne looked after the lunch, and Eugene and Marelyn Doucet made the birthday cake.

Mrs. Glenda McCallion and son Justin of Waverly, N.S. visited her mother Mrs. Lillian Miller, Salmon Beach, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sisk of Toronto are spending a vacation at their cottage in Pokeshaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Anita Sisk of Arlington, Mass. are spending a vacation at the Sisk cottage in Pokeshaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Crowther of Niagara, Ont. are visiting family members in Salmon Beach.

Mrs. Lorraine Sullivan of Arlington Mass. is visiting her parents, Sally and Buster Young at their cottage in Clifton.

Mrs. Rena Taylor has returned to Campbell River B.C. after spending the last year visiting relatives in the Downshore area.

TO WED AUG. 9

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Godin of Bathurst are pleased to announce the forthcoming marriage of their youngest daughter, Paula, to Jadus Chiasson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Normand Chiasson, also of Bathurst.

The wedding will take place Aug. 9, 1991 at Holy Family Church in West Bathurst.

Gloucester Gourmet

This week's gourmet is local realtor Suzanne Lanteigne, owner-manager of Century 21 Lan-Do Realty Inc.

Suzanne lives in Beresford with her husband Ron Doucet, owner of Lan-Do Construction, and is busy these days preparing for the marriage of her son Martin next month.

When not taking care of her business, Suzanne enjoys working in her flower garden, and singing with the Friends In Song Glee Club. She also enjoys keeping fit, and exercises on a regular basis.

Keeping fit also means eating right, and Suzanne's recipe for Caesar Salad, with a homemade dressing, is ideal for those who maintain busy schedules. (As a bit of kitchen trivia, Suzanne points out Caesar Salad has nothing to do with Julius Caesar or the Romans: its origin is attributed to a Mexican restauranteur named Caesar Gardini.)

CAESAR SALAD
1 head Romaine lettuce
½ cup parmesan cheese
½ cup croutons

½ tsp salt
1 or 2 garlic cloves
½ tsp Worchestershire
¼ tsp dry mustard
1 tbsp lemon juice
⅓ cup olive oil
Freshly ground black pepper

Blend the above seven ingredients with a hand or regular blender.

Add a coddled egg, and blend until thick and creamy.

Mix onto salad greens with the cheese and croutons. Bacon bits, sliced mushrooms and green onions can also be added.

If you prefer a tart caesar, add more lemon juice or a bit of red wine vinegar.

You may also make your own croutons by buttering both sides of French bread slices, cutting them into cubes and frying in butter. Sprinkle with garlic powder or garlic salt.

Every month, a draw will be held, with one of our Gloucester Gourmets for that month winning a cake from Jamieson's Save-Easy in the Place Bathurst Mall. To enter, simply submit a recipe along with your name and telephone number and The Northern Light will make arrangements to get you into the Gloucester Gourmet column for your chance to win!

Call 546-5680 after 6 p.m.

Aram Kouyoundjian 14 and little brother Raffi 11, Moncton, are in Bathurst this week visiting their grandparents Vincent and Margaret Whelton. They are spending their time swimming, fishing, gardening and just "hanging around" with old friends. They say they are having a great stay.

Steve and Geraldine Sloan and two daughters Christine and Cynthia are in Bathurst from Burlington, Ont. visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Clifford White. They expect to be spending the next two weeks at Kent Lodge Beach.

Barbara Howatt has returned to Toronto following a visit to Bathurst, guest of her mother Vivian Howatt. While here she also visited her sister Pat Thibideau and husband Bill and family, Matthew, Bonnie and Samantha.

Also visiting Vivian while Barbara was here was her other sister Nadine MacLean, husband Carl and family, Steven and Allison. The MacLeans are living in Summerside, P.E.I.

Recent visitors at Mrs. John Foley's in South Teteagouche were her granddaughter Mrs. Anne Marie Lane, and great grandchildren Nicole and Kristen, Abington, Mass.

Accompanying Mrs. Lane were Mrs. Pam Abelsberg and her children Jason and Arienna, also of Abington. They also plan a visit to Prince Edward Island to visit Mrs. Abelsberg's grandmother.

Ron and Mimi Scully have returned home to Lakewood, California after spending a month at their cottage on Queen Elizabeth Drive. While in Bathurst they also visited their mother, Mrs. E.J. Leger.

Sonny, Faye, Fane and Darrell Dezan attended the wedding of her brother Hugh McLaughlin to Grace Rooney, at the Edwin Jacob Chapel in Fredericton July 6.

Following his uncle's wedding, Fane Dezan joined the Holy Family Scout Troop for the Eighth Provincial Jamboree held at Woolastook Park, July 7 to 13.

Fane and Darrell Dezan attended the University of New Brunswick Red Devils Summer Hockey School from July 14 to 19. Following the final games, Darrell was chosen by his coaches as "Happy Camper of the Week," and presented a Fredericton Canadiens hockey bag.

Chaleur Library names new slate of officers

A new executive was elected for the CRL, which is the body that oversees operations of the various libraries throughout Northeast New Brunswick, said a release.

The executive is comprised of chairman Aurèle Thériault (Tracadie); vice-president Rose-Marie Poirier (Caraquet); president of the Finance Committee, Thérèse Roy (Atholville); president of the Personnel Committee, Pierrette Savoie (Bathurst); president of the Buildings and Maintenance Committee, Ronald Scott (Bathurst); and secretary, Jean-Claude Boudreau.

The Public Library Boards are represented as follows: Atholville, Mrs. Thérèse Roy; Bas Caraquet, Mme Angéline Gionet; Bathurst, Berthier Bérubé, and Ronald Scott; Beresford, Roland Cormier; Campbellton, Denis Lord; Caraquet, Rose-Anne Poirier; Dalhousie, Annette Hynes; Lamèque, Roger Jean; Petit Rocher, Jacqueline Leblanc; and Mrs. Antoinette Robichaud, Shippagan.

Local school districts are represented by Pierrette Savoie, District 41, and Anne Quigg, District 42.

At the annual meeting meeting, a resolution was passed to send a letter of protest to Tourism Recreation and Heritiage Minister Roland Beaulieu.

The letter enphasizes the problems incurred by the budget cuts issued by his department, and the serious consequences these cuts will have, in unabling the Chaleur Regional Library to provide adequate service to the users in the region.

The Chaleur Regional Library Board is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year, said the release. The Board wishes, on this special ocasion, to emphasize the significant contribution of school district members and public library board representatives and chairpersons, including Nelson Fongémie of Bathurst, and Jacqueline Leblanc of Petit Rocher.

Local teachers attended institutes in Fredericton

The opportunity to learn innovative techniques for teaching French recently attracted 70 teachers from across the Atlantic Provinces, including the Bathurst region, to the University of New Brunswick in Fredericton.

A series of four institutes, organized by UNB's French Second-Language Teacher Education Centre and sponsored by the Department of Education, helped participants improve their teaching and language skills, said a release.

"Teachers can revitalize their classes by using new and innovative techniques," said Sally Rehorick, senior research associate at the centre.

"The institutes were designed to help discover and develop the creative qualities they each possess," she said in the release.

Instructed entirely in French, the institute focused specifically on what the teachers wanted to learn. Lectures were kept to a minimum and group participation was emphasized. Teachers learned through a variety of creative exercises and activities.

Participants in the sessions were enthusiastic

"The institutes are great because what we learned was practical. In fact, we can put it to use in our classrooms tomorrow," said Donna Cormier, a Grade 3 teacher from Bathurst.

Diamond Taxi firm not moving

A story on page one of last week's edition, concerning Irving Oil Ltd. evicting two downtown businesses, contained an error.

The taxi company, located adjacent to Main and King Convenience, is People's Taxi, not Diamond Taxi.

Another error occurred in our sports section. James Keddie Sr., who will be inducted this fall into the Bathurst Sports Hall of Fame, has been married for 57 years, not 54.

Livestock Slaughter

Animals slaughtered after stress may have a different quality, darker color, and different "keepability" during refrigeration. If the animal was difficult to capture, thena carbohydrate called glycogen is used up resulting in a darker meat. Since it takes one to two days for the glycogen to build back up, it is suggested that the animal not be slaughtered immediately upon capture.

HOLY FAMILY SCOUTS ENJOYED JAMBOREE

New livestock feed agreement needed for province's farmers

New Brunswick livestock producers need a new livestock feed development agreement signed between the province and Ottawa soon, if they are to be prepared to use it to maximum effect next spring

That's the opinion of the New Brunswick Federation of Agriculture, according to a release from NBFL Rod Archibald of Canobie.

The present Canada/New Brunswick Livestock Feed Development Agreement has completed its final year, all of the funds under it have all been committed, and there is a long waiting list of applicants.

"The Livestock Feed Agreement helped producers improve the quality and quantity of their feed materials," Mr. Archibald said in the release.

"It helped improve pastures to make them more productive and gave a boost to grain self sufficiency, and use as a rotation crop, particularly in the potato growing areas," he said.

"Discussions between the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture and Agriculture Canada have been under way for a long time now and they must be brought to a conclusion. The two sides must come together on this because it is essential for producers to keep the momentum of the last four years."

The NBFA president said he hopes that a one-year extension to the existing agreement will be signed with more funds for 1992, but that will only be a stop-gap measure and a full agreement running for five years is necessary. He said he would like to see the agreement expanded to include freight assistance for moving livestock feed around the province to where it is needed, as will as incentives for quality production, improvements of storage and drying facilities and continued pasture improvements.

"The federal-provincial agreements to assist farmers are important in helping keep New Brunswick up on new crops and technology. The only way we can remain competitive is through keeping cost of production down and quality up," he said.

"The dry conditions this summer have demonstrated that we must be prepared for such events and have new crops that can withstand dry spells and a lot of heat. I believe not enough research is going on in the Maritime to develop crops specifically for our conditions and that should be remedied by Agriculture Canada".

Mr. Archibald said the livestock feed agreement which ran out March 31 was a model of how all federal-provincial agreements should be handled. He said producers found the agreement easy to use in their farm planning and many of them really benefited from the work they carried out with assistance from it.

"I know we are in times of restraint and both the federal and provincial governments are trying to cut their deficits and reduce expenditures to keep things in line, but the dollars put toward expanding agriculture are soon returned to the economy," he said.

"Last year, New Brunswick farmers had farm cash receipts of over $270 million and virtually all of that went right back into the economy of the province for the goods and services farms use in their operations."

He said the farmers have been asking the Federation to put more pressure on both the federal and provincial governments to get a new livestock feed agreement and he has held many meetings with both levels of government to present the case for the producers.

"Hopefully, we will have something before much longer," he said. "As crops are harvested, farmers begin planning for the next year and need to know if a new agreement will be available."

Arms dealer changing focus

By RENNIE MacKENZIE
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

The country's biggest arms dealer — the Crown-owned Canadian Commercial Corp. — is joining the vigorous national push for a new prosperity.

In response to the government's call for a collective effort to increase jobs, incomes and productivity, the export agency framed a five-year corporate plan as its contribution to achieve the national goal.

The government's targets are 2.5 million new jobs and a 25-per-cent gain in real incomes by the year 2000. "These targets are realistic and ahievable," Gov. Gen. Ramon Hnatyshyn declared in the throne speech opening the latest session of Parliament.

Picking up on the government's direction and on perceived "new challenges" in the world market, the small agency is fine-tuning an aggressive action plan to "sharpen the competitive edge of Canadian firms."

Long dependent on the military market — the corporation acts as prime contractor for a multitude of domestic firms and has become a major supplier to the U.S. Department of Defence — it now intends to snatch a portion of expanding world trade in conventional commodities. The plan demands a push into the vibrant markets of the Pacific Rim and the emerging economies of Latin America — even a probe of the unstable structures of eastern Europe and the Soviet Union.

Ambitious, perhaps, but the CCC believes it can accomplish its goal because it is unique among prime contractors.

In many countries, if the sales pitch isn't made directly to government, then government is a partner in the process. And that's where the corporation figures it can fit in. Over the years, it claims to have developed an expertise in dealing with governments who have been the principal customers for its Canadian clients.

DIRECT CONTACT

The new strategy will bring the corporation closer to exporters through advertising and direct contact. Additional staff will be hired to deliver the corporation's message to executive suites across the country and to scrounge abroad for more sales opportunities.

But in picking up its business stride, the corporation will also have to close a gap that opened last year when sales plummeted 20 per cent. In his annual report to Parliament, president Hugh Mullington said the recession cut deeply cut deeply into overseas sales and the Persian Gulf War brought an abrupt halt to a number of deals in the Middle East.

However, Mullington expects some of the cancelled projects will be restarted with a return to stability in the region and reported that several thousand firms have made inquiries about opportunities arising from the reconstruction of kuwait.

At the same time as it tries to conform to the government drive for an improved economy by expanding activities, the corporation is also contending with international changes that will dramatically alter the complexion of its order book.

COLD WAR OVER

The plan notes that East-West tensions have lessened and the 40-year-old Cold War military machine is being dismantled.

Nevertheless, defence procurement, as the corporation calls the arms business, remains its main trading activity and existing U.S. demand will sustain military sales in the short term. But with a less-than-brisk arms business in the coming years, the future is uncertain.

Sales last year plunged to $595 million from $739 million the previous year. However, sales in the key U.S. market increased slightly to $474 million. All but $43 million of the total was classified as military.

GALLAGHER IS NEW ROTARY PRESIDENT

The Bathurst Rotary Club has named its executive for 1991-92. Shown receiving the prsident's gavel is Mike Gallagher (right), from past-president Jimmy Karatzios. Other executive members are president-elect Lloyd Boudreau, secretary Wilbur Elhatton, and treasurer Brent Spencer. The Bathurst Rotary Club is a men's service club comprised of representatives of the local business and professional community.

Labor Council is angered by eviction of businesses

The Bathurst and District Labor Council is upset over eviction notices received last week by two downtown businesses, from Irving Oil.

"The Irvings are going to have to hold themselves accountable to the population of Bathurst and surrounding areas," said a release from BDLC Hazen McCrea.

"They can't serve eviction notices on established businesses and expect to walk away unharmed...By terminating the lease on not one but two downtown enterprises, the Irvings have shown their callous disregard towards the ordinary merchant and taxpayer."

The owner of Main and King Convenience and the owner of the Big Deal produce market both received notices last week, saying they had to vacate their premises by Aug. 31. No reason was given, and The Northern Light was told by Irving's head office in Saint John that the official in charge of the holding company dealing with the properties in question, would not be available for comment until next week.

In his release, Mr. McCrea wondered if the produce store and convenience store "were not a little too competitive towards other directly-owned Irving businesses. Can't they handle copmpetition?"

"The produce store was somethiong akin to a magnet in teh downtown area," Mr. McCrea said. "With their bulk foods, health foods, wartm atmosphere and a friendly staff, the vacant store will leave a large hole downtown."

Specialist joins staff at hospital

With the arrival of a new specialist next week, Chaleur Regional Hospital will be able to expand its specialized services in dermatology.

Dr. Evelyn Hayes arrives next Tuesday, said a release. The local hospital has been offering clinical services since May 1990 in dermatology, a branch of medicine which treats skin diseases.

Dr. Jean-Pierre Lanteigne, assistant executive director-medical services at CRH, made the announcement of Dr. Hayes impending arrival in a release.

Dr. Hayes' arrival is part of the strategy for recruiting specialists at Chaleur Regional, so that it can fulfill its role as a northern regional and tertiary centre.

Dr. Evelyn Hayes, a native of Grand-Mere, Que., is bilingual. She received her degree in medicine from Laval University in Quebec in 1986, and received her degree in dermatology from the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada in June 1991.

Since last fall, several new specialists have joined the current team. Last November, Dr. Guy Roussel, and otorhinoleryngologist, joined the Otorhinolaryngology Department. January saw the arrival of Dr. Catherine Entwhistle, an ophthalmologist, and Dr. Douglas Hardy, an enaesthetist.

This spring, Dr. Michael Kulesza returned to Chaleur Regional to resume in obstetrics/gynaecology.

U of M SCHOLARSHIP

Vicky Landry, a 1990 graduate of Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit, has received a $1,000 scholarship from the University of Moncton.

The scholarship was awarded in recognition of Miss Landry's high academic performance in her first year of geography studies.

Mrs. Sadie Morrison

95TH BIRTHDAY

Recent visitors at the residence of Ruby Clark were Ken and Beth Bonnar, and their sons Evan and Brendon from London, Ont.

While here, Ken, a grandson of Sadie Morrison, helped Mrs. Morrison celebrate her 95th birthay July 7. Mrs. Morrsion received gifts and good wishes from friends and relatives in Bathurst, Ontario, the United States and Germany.

Also visiting Bathurst was Ken's mother, Mrs. Emily Sargent, and Donald and Mary Goldrup from Boulton, Ont. Donald is also a grandson of Mrs. Morrison, as is Terry Morrison of Toronto. Both men were on hand for the birthday celebration of cake and tea.

Display on at library

The display will include the following, easels with old photographs of historical interest in the Bathurst area; boards, nails and slats from one of the oldest homes in the city; glassed-in showcases containing artifacts found locally; and information on New Brunswick obtained from the tourist bureau.

There will also be brochures pertaining to New Brunswick available in our vertical file; New Brunswick book display; and geneology on families in New Brunswick.

Sentenced to jail term

Two local men were sentenced in provincial court July 24 in connection with an incident which occurred Downshore last year.

Michael DeHaitre and Dean Murphy, both of the Bathurst area, changed their pleas to guilty on a number of charges laid in relation to an incident on Highway 11 in Clifton on Nov. 23, 1990 when they were stopped by RCMP.

DeHaitre, charged with refusing to submit to a breathalyzer test, resisting arrest, assaulting a police officer and escaping lawful custody, was sentenced by Provincial Court Judge J. Frederic Arsenault to 21 days in jail, and ordered to pay $700 in restitution for damage inflicted on the police cruiser. He was allowed to serve the sentence on weekends.

LADIES AUXILIARY PRESENTS $500 IN SCHOLARSHIPS

The Ladies Auxilary of the Herman J.Good V.C. Branch No. 18 of the Royal Canadian Legion presented $500 scholarships July 23 to three 1991 Bathurst High Schoo! graduates. The cheques were presented by Alice Chapman of Janeville, president of the Ladies Auxilary of Branch No. 18; and Bessie Ramsay, scholarship chairperson for the Ladies Auxilary of Branch No.18. The receipients of the scholarships were Krista Pettigrew, $100, who will enter the bachelor of science program this fall at Dalhousie University in Halifax. Krista, 17, is the daughter of Gerald and Donna Pettigrew of Bathurst. Diana Joncas received a $200 scholarship, and will enter the bachelor of nursing program at the University of New Brunswick in Fredericton. Diana, 17, is the daughter of Jean-Paul and Lois Hache of Pointe Verte. Nancy Good received a $200 scholarship and will enter the bachelor of science program at UNB. Nancy, 18, is the daughter of Sherwood and Elaine Good of Salmon Beach. Shown in photo from left are Mrs. Chapman, Krista, Diana, Nancy, and Mrs. Ramsay. The Ladies Auxilary also recently presented the Edith MacKay Memorial awards and $40 each to five Grade 9 students of J.G.Chalmers Junior High School, for highest Language Arts marks. The students are Troy Grennan, Kim Haubrick, Chris Carlson, Jennifer Dunn, and Natasha Roy.

Some say I'm the runt of the litter, because I'm so tiny. But the way I look at it, big things come in small packages.

I'm only eight-weeks-old, but I'm very playful. In fact, if that string waving in front of my face doesn't disappear soon, I'm going to show you how playful I can be.

I'm female, and can be quite cuddly when children are around. Come and visit me at the Animal Shelter; I'll be most happy to see you.

Seagoing entertainment a tradition

Travel Today

By VINCENT EGAN
Travel Columnist
Thomson News Service

Shipboard entertainment may not be the first consideration when people book a cruise — but the evenings at sea had better be filled with plenty of music, dancing and laughs if the cruise line wants to attract repeat business.

With few exceptions, today's cruise ships regularly offer entertainment by show biz headliners, backed by up-and-coming young talent.

Since cruise passengers tend to be mature and sophisticated, they don't want to have their senses assaulted by whatever high-volume teenage group is momentarily popular. Shipboard entertainers must have genuine talent, showmanship and pleasing personalities.

Seagoing entertainment has a long tradition. Centuries ago, when tall ships sailed the seven seas, the deckhand who could (for instance) play the fiddle to entertain his weary shipmates was likely to be the first crewman to be signed on.

When the celebrated Irish with Oscar Wilde sailed from England to New York on the Arizona at the end of 1881, and back to London aboard the Bothnia a year later, he helped to pass the tedious nine days at seas by reading from his work to his fellow passengers.

There's a present-day parallel: The popular America author, James Michener, joins cruises from time to time. Rather than reading, however, he responds to questions about his work from interested passengers — as he will be doing on the Aug. 31 and Sept. 7 Caribbean cruises of Regal Princess.

ANOTHER OPENING

In the relatively short time before that ship's inaugural sailing (Aug. 17, from Fort Lauderdale to the eastern Caribbean), her entertainment staff is busily developing what sounds like an ambitious and innovative show called A Night on the Town, built around imaginary visits to six "towns" —New Orleans for a jazz-oriented Mardi Gras; Paris for a re-creation of the Folies Bergere; Dallas for country music and Texas dancing; followed by segments on Las Vegas, New York's Harlem, and Rio de Janeiro.

A troupe of 10 singers and dancers will perform the revue on Regal Princess, then take the show to Star Princess, and after that to the year-old Crown Princess. By the end of this year, the new show will have been featured on all nine ships in the Princess Cruises fleet.

Gala inaugural cruises, by tradition, require a big-name star to headline the entertainment. On Regal Princess's Aug. 17 sailing, that star will be Jack Jones, singing in the two-level International Show Lounge — large enough to accommodate all of the ship's 795 passsengers.

MUSIC, MAESTRO

While every cruise ship has an orchestra for late-night dancing, some ships feature big-name dance bands as the entertainment headliners.

Jack Morgan and the Russ Morgan orchestra will be performing on the Aug. 10-17 Alaska cruise of Star Princess, and next February aboard the New Orleans-based Mississippi Queen.

In November, Royal Viking Line will present Les Elgart and his orchestra, the Tommy Dorsey orchestra and the Glenn Miller orchestra on its popular trans-Panama Canal sailings.

Earlier this year, RVL passengers were entertained by the Guy Lombardo and Harry James orchestras, and by stars such as Shirley Jones and Carol Channing.

If big-name, established stars and groups work best in entertaining passengers at sea, some other acts don't work well aboard cruise ships. Some magicians have a hard time creating illusions when the audience is seated on all sides (especially on those ships that don't have a conventional stage).

Acrobats, much favored in the days of vaudeville (and of Ed Sullivan), are hampered on older ships by low ceilings. Many recently built ships, however, have theatre-lounges two decks high.

And trained-animal acts dare not set paw on ship because of the quarantine laws barring them from many ports of call.

As for the two-legged performers, most of them seen to enjoy the steady work cruise ships provide, and the opportunity for paid travel — even though, as beginners, they may be assigned cabins on the lowest deck.

CLUB MEETINGS

Ladies Orange

The Ladies Orange Benevolent Association celebrated the 40th anniversary on July 19. The gathering took place in the Orange Lodge rooms in Salmon Beach.

Opening remarks were by W.M. Sr. Lorna Veneau.

Sr. Vera Jagoe, recording secretary, had the roll call of 40 years ago, and was answered by six members. Sr. Dorothy Morrison was the only one who attended all through the 40 years, and is treasurer at the present time. She was presented with a gift. The other members were each given a corsage.

Some members were living at a distance and unable to attend, while others have gone to their heavenly residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Knowles were present and congratulated, as it was their 43rd wedding anniversary. Several guests were present, all enjoyed the games and entertainment which was carried out.

Mr. Knowles ans son provided very lovely music during the evening with the violin and guitar.

A tasty lunch was served byt the members. An interesting feature was the very lovely birthday cake, made and beautifully decorated for the occasion by Sr. Freda Carey.

READY TO CRUISE

Eight-month-old Wyatt L.Andree had mom give him a last-minute adjustment, prior to a drive July 25 in a special cart attached to a bicycle. Mom is Lynne Levesque-Andree, a former Bathurst resident now living in New Haven, Conn. Dad is Keith Andree. Young Wyatt was in the city visiting his great-grandmother, Louise Cyr Levesque, and other relatives.

Darby Mills here Tue.

Former Headpins lead vocalist Darby Mills performs one night only in Bathurst next week.

The British Columbia rock singer plays the Boulevard Club next Tuesday night. The show will consist of two one-hour sets, and doors open at 8:30 p.m. Admission is $7 with no advance sales, and seating is on a first-come, first-served basis.

Mills is touring in support of her new solo record, Never Look Back (on the Warner Music Canada label). The first single and video, "Cry To Me," is currently on rotation on the MuchMusic national video network.

Whereas Mills was known for her vocal bombast in her days with Headpins, Never Look Back shows a more varied approach.

"I'm still belting, as you might call it," Mills said in a release from the record company. "But there are more subtleties in the music. It's not balls-to-the-walls all the time now.

"There are two ballads on the album which are quite simply, beautfiul songs. They're subtle, theyre emotional, they're pretty...which I don't think the Headpins had much opportunity to do, because we were expected to be heavy."

Headpins came on the Canadian rock scene from Vancouver in 1982. Their debut album, Turn It Loud was then the biggest selling by a domestic act ever. The band recorded two more albums, Line Of Fire and Head Over Heels before calling it a day around 1984. (Mills was interviewed by The Northern Light in January 1983, prior to a concert with the Headpins in Fredericton's Aitken Centre).

Warner Music Canada recording artist Darby Mills plays The Boulevard Club in Bathurst next Tuesday night. Mills, former singer with the now-defunct Headpins, is touring in support of her new album Never Look Back.

Rod returns to Moncton

Veteran British rocker Rod Stewart returns to Moncton Aug. 16.

The gravel-voiced singer of hits like "Maggie May," and "Downtown Train" is kicking off his Vagabond Heart World Tour at the Magnetic Hill Concert Centre. Stewart played to a sold-out house in 1989 at the Moncton Coliseum. (For the three days leading up to the Magnetic Hill outdoor concert, Stewart will be rehearsing with his band in the Coliseum.)

Opening for Stewart will be A&M recording artists Too Many Cooks, a rock band from Toronto.

The Aug. 16 show is a presentation of promotoer Frank J. Russo, C.P.I. and Donald K. Donald. Tickets are on sale for $32.50 each (this includes all taxes and $1.50 parking charge) at Keddy's Hotel and Convention Centre in Bathurst, or by calling 1-800-565-2662.

The concert site opens at 5 p.m., and the show starts at 7:30 p.m.

Crosby always liked country

Rob Crosby--Solid Ground

Rob Crosby is a young man from South Carolina who got his guitar at the age of nine, and from that moment on wanted to be a country singer.

Although his older brother Steve, and sister Nanette studied music, Rob refused but did play in their college bands. Some of Rob's earliest memories are of family trips singing three, four and five-part harmonies to songs such as "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" and "Down By The Old Mill Stream." Through junior high Rob leaned towards folk music and was struck by Kris Kristofferson's songs and his rough-edge style.

Like most southern musicians he was influenced by the blues, but acoustic country rock was where he seemed to fit in. By the time he left for the University of South Carolina, he was playing full-time in a three-piece acoustic group. Rob ventured to Nashville and got a job as a staff writer in a small publishing company, and got a few cuts. At a writer's night in Nashville, Rob was noticed by producers Tim DuBois and Scott Hendricks, from that moment on things started happening fast; the deal with Arista, the album produced by Scott and recently, a couple of his songs recorded by Eddy Raven and Lee Greenwood (Lee's was the title of his last album, Holding A Good Hand on which Rob collaborated with Johnny Few).

All the selections on Solid Ground were written or co-written by Crosby, the best cuts among them are the first single, "Love Will Bring Her Around", "Still Burning For You" and the title track.

Country music is a rough business to break into with so many artists standing in line for the next break. Rob Crosby is the newest to enter that line, maybe things will happen to him.

Until next week, keep whistling.

Your Week Ahead Horoscope

Forecast Period: August 4 - August 10, 1991

ARIES Mar. 21-Apr. 19
Domestic responsibilities weigh you down. A special outing with just your spouse will be just the thing to lift your spirits. Do not allow yourself to become inundated with trivial matters.

TAURUS Apr. 10-May 20
Revenge is not the answer to your present dilemma. Expect more from others and they will respond. Keep your guard up.

GEMINI May 21-June 20
The time to lay the old aside has come; respond to change positively and the rewards will be greater. Be appreciative.

CANCER June 21-July 22
Your attitude influences others. A decision involving money needs to be made; act conservatively. Listen to your conscience.

LEO July 23-Aug. 22
Avoid extended time away from home. Work around the house consumes most of your attention. Act responsibly. Romance could take on greater importance.

VIRGO Aug. 23-Sept. 22
Accept invitation for social event. it will lift your spirits and they could use a diversion. Depression will not last indefinitely.

LIBRA Sept. 23-Oct. 23
Your creative juices flow rapidly. Channel them into your business ventures. Take time to prepare well before important meeting.

SCORPIO Oct. 23-Nov. 21
Do not allow yourself to be swept up in useless arguments. Remain calm under pressure and your efforts will be noticed.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22-Dec. 21
Give way to yur impulses and make that special phone call. Your ego will not suffer and you will make someone's day.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 19
New development in romance stymies your natural impulses. Accept graciously the backseat and console yourself in knowing that good fortune awaits you.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 18
Unusual obligations force you to come to terms with family enigma. Your natural curiosity disturbs others but will put to rest any remaining doubts about your ancestry.

PISCES Feb. 19-Mar. 20
You may have overlooked your health due to a busy lifestyle. You would be wise to slow down and possibly contact health professional for a quick check-up.

Rock Lines

By GREG MULOCK
Managing Editor

Petty has a way with his words...

Tom Petty and The Heartbreakers--Into The Great Wide Open

After a fine solo record, and two good albums with The Travelling Wilburys, Tom Petty returns to his bandmates, The Heartbreakers.

Well, sort of — Into The Great Wide Open apparently started out as another solo project, and Wilbury Jeff Lynne shared the producer's credit with Petty and Heartbreaker guitarist Mike Campbell.

This has all the trappings of a confusede mishmash, but such is not the case. While not the hard-edged rock the last Heartbreakers l.p. was, Let Me Up (I've Had Enough), it's probably the strongest album lyrically since Southern Accents. "Learning To Fly" is a simple but powerful ode to coming of age, and the allegory of "Two Gunslingers" is an effective political statement.

It's not all serious though. On "Makin' Some Noise," Petty rocks out on a song that applies to every teenage boy, who ever experienced the joy of a guitar and an amp: "From across the canyon/A guitar plays/...It was an old melody/I recognized the song/I had an amplifier too/So I played along."

(MCA Records)

The Bluerunners--The Bluerunners

Out of Lafayette, Louisiana come The Bluerunners, a group of young musicians who have recorded a jambalaya of cajun, zydeco and rock and roll.

This is roots rock for those who appreciate real music, as opposed to the pre-fab sounds of the usual chart fare. Drawing on their varied musical backgrounds, The Bluerunners can get bluesy on a rocker like "Love Hound," or take off on a jaunty melody like the one that drives "Viens Avec Moie."

If you like the accordion-laden sound of Los Lobos, expand your horizons and pick up on The Bluerunners. You won't regret it.

(Island Records)

Editor's Note: Artists with new or recent releases to be reviewed in upcoming weeks include Skid Row, Crowded House, Joe Jackson, Young Saints, and Maritime singer-songwriter Lennie Gallant.

Glass Tiger knows times are tough

By GREG MULOCK
Managing Editor

Even rock and roll is not recession-proof. With money tight, more and more music fans are being selective about what acts they will shell out their hard-earned dollars to see.

"There isn't a band out here (on the road) right now that isn't having a problem...the recession is affecting everyone," says Al Connelly, guitarist with the popular Canadian rock group Glass Tiger.

His words were prophetic: The Toronto-based band cancelled its Monday night concert in Bathurst, because of poor ticket sales. This despite the fact their latest video, "Rhythm Of Love" is No. 5 on MuchMusic this week.

In a telephone interview from St. Stephen, N.B. Friday, Connelly said a perfect example of the current hard times for touring bands is what happened to the Beach Boys. The legendary California group's ticket sales for a Moncton concert were so slow that promoters started selling the tickets two-for-one (the concert was eventually scrapped, officially because of a problem with flight connections).

Glass Tiger is not discouraged by the troubled economy, according to Connelly. The new album Simple Mission, while not yet released Stateside, is holding its own on Canadian music charts.

The record is also charting in South American markets like Brazil and Peru, and Glass Tiger recently returned from Frankfurt, Germany. There they taped a television special, in conjunction with labelmates Crowded House, that will help promote the band's upcoming European tour with Swedish hitmakers Roxette.

"We'll be there for two and a half months," Connelly said.

Glass Tiger are no strangers to overseas rock fans: their previous two albums, The Thin Red Line (released in 1986) and Diamond Sun (1988) both sold well in several European markets.

The new album is regarded as Glass Tiger's best effort yet, thanked to a harder edge applied to their glossy pop-rock sound.

"It was a natural progression...We wanted to go for a live off-the-floor sound, that was closer to our live shows," Connelly said, giving credit to producer Tom Werman. (Werman has been behind the boards for every hard rock act from Ted Nugent to Motley Crue.)

Simple Mission is also notable for a guest appearance by British superstar Rod Stewart, who is not known for showing up on other people's recordings,

Connelly said Stewart was familiar with Glass Tiger, from having been at the 1989 Juno Awards show in Toronto. At the time, Stewart made the aquaintance of vocalist Alan Frew (the rest of Glass Tiger is comprised of keyboardist Sam Reid and bassist Wayne Parker, with Red Rider drummer Randall Coryell having been drafted for the tour).

"Alan kept in touch," said Connelly, and when they were recording in Los Angeles, word arrived that Stewart wanted to sing on the album, hence the duet with Frew on "My Town."

J. L. CONVENIENCE VIDEO REVIEW

By GREG MULOCK
Managing Editor

Last Exit To Brooklyn

As expected, this screen adaptation of a controversial novel is less shocking than what appeared on the printed page.

It is still brutal and disturbing, and not recommended for those easily offended. Set in Brooklyn, circa the late Fifties, Last Exit To Brooklyn centres around a prostitute (Jennifer Jason Leigh from Miami Blues) and a homosexual union organizer, but a number of other low-rent characters are also trotted out.

A drama punctuated with scenes of shocking violence, Last Exit is a sometimes riveting commentary, on the side of life most of us would prefer to know nothing about. The acting is good, but the narrative is occasionally jumpy, with the story shifting from one segment to another in less than smooth fashion.

Buried Alive

Made for American cable television (I saw this on the USA network in Bangor last November), Buried Alive is hardly a memorable thriller, but it's satisfying in a junk food kind of way. Leigh is fun to watch as the scheming adulteress, and Tim Matheson (Animal House), as the wronged hubby, is always a likable sort.

THE WONDER OF IT ALL

Allison Cameron had a little help from dad, in getting a better view of the performers of the Inishowen Tour, at the Bathurst Arena July 31. The Tour, comprised of 100 singers, dancers, and artists from Northern and Southern Ireland, was in Bathurst for two days last week, and in New Brunswick from July 18 to Aug. 4. Allison, 20-months-old, is the daughter of Stephen and Cheryl Cameron of Pabineau Falls. See story elsewhere on this page

Tourist numbers up for city

Michel Doucet

Despite fewer American visitors, the two local tourist information centres have been busy, with 493 tourists stopping by the Harbourview Place location, and 2,721 at the Vanier Boulevard location so far this season.

Despite fewer overnight stays and fewer American tourists, local Tourism Information Centres recorded a 9.8 per cent increase in inquiries over last year.

"We've got less American traffic; and we're noting that farther-away provinces seem to be staying away," said Michel Doucet, the city's tourist and visitor services coordinator.

Mr. Doucet noted American tourist traffic has decreased throughout the country, because of such factors as the GST, high gas prices and inflation.

"That is something we cannot do anything about," he said, adding, "It's (within) powers much higher than ours."

Despite fewer American visitors, the two local TIC's have been busy, with 493 tourists stopping by the Harbourview Place location, and 2,721 at the Vanier Boulevard location so far this season.

In the month of July alone, 433 visited the Harbourview TIC, compared to 255 in July, 1990, when the downtown TIC was located at Causeway Park; and 2,549 visited the Vanier TIC last month, compared to 2,459 for the same period last year.

Mr. Doucet further noted Bathurst is quickly becoming a hot spot for meetings and conventions, with 20 major conventions already held here since Jan. 1, 1991.

Those conventions counted anywhere from 20 to 200 delegates each, all from out of town.

That resulted in the rental of 1,421 hotel and motel rooms, with a total estimated revenue of $307,360 for the local economy, assuming a $120 average expenditure per day, per delegate and per meeting.

According to the latest available statistics, however, overnight accomodations have decreased throughout the province by 11 per cent, Mr. Doucet said.

Mr. Doucet noted travel patterns seemed to have changed, with more tourists heading directly toward specific destinations, rather than visiting various regions for any significant amount of time.

"We're just a drive-through province," said Bathurst MLA Paul Kenny, although both the City of Bathurst, and the provincial Tourism, Recreation and Heritage Dept. plan to do something about it.

MARKET EXPANSION

As part of the provincial Toward 2000 tourism strategy, New Brunswick is being adverstised as the foremost tourist destination in the Maritimes, with the year 2000 being looked at as the deadline by which to make the claim a reality.

A market expansion is included in the plans, with the province's attributes to be lauded in national and international advertising campaigns.

On the local front, Mr. Doucet noted the Bathurst Tourism, Recreation and Heritage Department is taking a different approach to its marketing, with plans to emphasize winter activities in upcoming advertising.

Part of this will include a travel guide zeroing in on both summer and winter tourism possibilities in the city and surrounding area.

"This will be a first in Atlantic Canada," Mr. Doucet noted.

The City also hopes to expand its tourism markets, reaching a greater number of potential visitors from such places as Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and the state of Maine. Visitors from the province of Quebec currently make up the city's main tourism market.

Brigade back on track

The local St. John Ambulance brigade is back on its feet, having amalgamated its two existing local divisions.

"Within the next few weeks, we should be in full operation," said Kim Doucet, superintendent of the newly-formed Nepisiguit St. John Ambulance Division No. 317.

The new division was created when the Bathurst and Pointe Verte divisions were amalgamated last month. Prior to that, thye had been in danger of having their services suspended because of lack of volunteers.

Amalgamation was one of the options being considered, while at the same time, potential volunteers were courted at information meetings intended to introduce them to the the organization.

St. John Ambulance is a volunteer group that provides non-emergency ambulance services, such as inter-hospital transfers; first-aid and ambulance services at major sporting events; first aid instruction for youth and other groups; and occasional assistance at blood donor clinics.

Ms. Doucet said the Nepisiguit division now has 23 members, up from about a dozen who staffed the Bathurst and Pointe Verte division.

Ms. Doucet herself is a new volunteer, having joined the organization about a month ago.

She said still more volunteers are needed.

"We need as many as we can handle," she said, adding there is virtually no limit to the number of volunteers the organization can accomodate.

Third driest July on record reported

Last month will be remembered as the third driest July in more than 70 years.

The Bathurst area received only 19.4 millimetres of rainfall during that month, compared with 138.8 mm in July, 1990.

The average July rainfall over the past 70 years has been in the vicinity of 85 mm, said Harold Gammon, local weather observer with Environment Canada.

July of 1977, the most recent dry spell, brought with it only 15.1 mm of rain.

Meanwhile, the Water Resource Monitoring Section of the Environment Department in Fredericton is keeping a watchful eye on drinking water levels throughout the province.

WRMS official Peter Emery told The Northern Light that his department is closely monitoring its network of observation wells — 36 in all — located in various parts of the province, to ensure the water supply does not reach a critical level.

In northeast New Brunswick, such wells are located in Caraquet, Shippagan, Lameque, Tracadie and Allardville, the last of which was down .75 metres at the end of July.

Mr. Emery noted the decline in the water level is not at the critical stage yet, however he does encourage the public to practise conservation whenever possible.

Among the water-conservation tips he recommended included not draining and refilling swimming pools; refrain from washing vehicles; water lawns and gardens only sporadically, and never during daylight hours; don't flush the toilet as often; and don't leave the water running when brushing your teeth.

Mr. Emery said even those hooked up to municipal water supplies should follow these guidelines.

CoR to field candidate

The Confederation of Regions Party has begun the search for candidates in the North Shore, to represent the party in this fall's provincial election.

"We're going to endeavor to put a candidate in every riding," said provincial party leader Arch Pafford, in a telephone interview from Fredericton Friday.

So far, the party has chosen candidates in 22 ridings. Mr. Pafford said he will be in the Chaleur Region this week in search of candidates for Bathurst and Nepisiguit-Chaleur ridings, Dalhousie and Campbellton, and remaining northeastern ridings.

Mr. Pafford indicated he is not concerned about finding candidates locally, although he conceded winning over the voters here may not be easy.

"We realize it's going to be difficult to win a riding up there," he said.

The CoR party opposes official or legislated bilingualism, and is viewed by some as being anti-French, because of its promise to make English the working language of government if elected.

However, Mr. Pafford noted candidates have been chosen for Shediac, Kent Centre and Kent North, all of which are largely populated by Francophones.

The situation is similar in the Chaleur Region, although Mr. Pafford noted, "You also have a plattering of English communities."

Mr. Pafford did not say when he was scheduled to be in Bathurst, but intends to meet with local CoR party officials to discuss plans for local nominating conventions.

He did not offer any names, but said some potential candidates have shown an interest in seeking the nomination for Bathurst.

Paving tenders awarded

Maris Freimanis

A local asphalt company was given a chance to redeem itself in the eyes of city council Tuesday.

"Our previous experience has been difficult," Maris Freimanis told a special meeting of city council Tuesday.

"But I believe (Bathurst Asphalt) has made a major step forward."

The local company was awarded the $374,058 tender to carry out paving work on Vanier Boulevard, on the condition that it upgrade its equipment and asphalt plant.

The conditions were imposed based on concerns Mr. Freimanis' department had about the firm's ability to do the job.

Under the contract, Bathurst Asphalt will have to supply a 16-foot spreader and a stand-by vibrator roller approved by the engineer. The firm will also have to adhere to restrictions preventing it from using two smaller vibrator rollers for street paving, and from producing pavement when asphalt cement temperature is out of approved working range.

Further, the contract stipulates that a consistent asphalt product that meets specifications must be provided, or an approved product obtained elsewhere; that a designated foreman be appointed and perform usual foreman duties without operating equipment; that all operators have experience; and that a working schedule be prepared for engineering approval, to ensure private work does not interfere with city work.

The firm had submitted the lowest tendering bid, but the awarding of the tender had been tabled at a July 22 special meeting. This was to allow council to acquire more information about the tender from city administration.

Mr. Freimanis explained at Tuesday's meeting that company representatives assured the city they would undertake upgrading of their equipment and plant.

By doing so, Mr. Freimanis said the company showed its willingness to meet the conditions of the awarding of the tender. Whenever possible, the city awards tenders to the company that submits the lowest bid.

The tendered work, which involves the continuation of an ongoing reconstruction project on Vanier Boulevard, could begin at any time, with a tentative completion date in mid-September, Mr. Freimanis said.

Bathurst Asphalt also won the $210,749 contract for upgrading of streets and sidewalks. This work would be carried out jointly with the Vanier project, Mr. Freimanis said.

It involves paving and other works on Brideau Drive, St. Anne Street, St. Joseph, Sunset Drive, Vallee Lourdes, Bridge Street, Young Street and Woodland Drive.

Other tenders awarded at the meeting included a $17,445 contract for the supply and delivery of a 1991 steam cleaner de-icer, awarded to Thomas Industrial Sales. The machine is used for thawing frozen culverts and ditches.

Also, Kenny's Trucking Ltd. won the $110,703 tender for the installation of a new 14-inch watermain from the water treatment plant to Riverside Drive. The watermain needs to be installed because the existing line has become deteriorated over the years, Mr. Freimanis said.

SUBDIVISION

The supply and delivery of a 1991 four-wheel-drive front-end loader has become the responsibility of Lounsbury Industrial Ltd., with its successful tendering bid of $100,287.

And finally, a proposed subdivision was given council's approval in principle.

The 17-lot subdivision, proposed by the Eddy Group Ltd., is to be located on St. Anne Street, between St. Peter and Evangeline Drive.

The plan cannot be carried out pending council's rezoning of an existing lot from residential to highway commercial, however.

Inishowen Tour gone, but memories remain

By MICHAEL J. BOURGUIGNON
Northern Light Staff

The Inishowen Tour's run through New Brunswick was meant to shatter religious and political barriers — an aim well achieved here.

"If you listend with an open heart as well as your ears, I think you got the message," said Sister Joan-Marie Conway, a member of the Bathurst Chapter of the Irish Canadian Cultural Society, which organized the tour.

The Inishowen Tour brought close to 100 musicians, dancers, pipers and performers to New Brunswick for a series of concerts and cultural events.

The Bathurst leg of the tour was a successful one, as far as the ICCS is concerned.

It opened July 31, with what was to be an outdoor concert at Coronation Park, featuring Irish singers, dancers, and pipers, as well as local musical talent.

Inclement weather prompted organizers to move the concert to the indoor setting of the Bathurst Arena, which, Sister Conway admitted, posed a few problems.

"Though the stage was fine, the acoustics were very poor, so we lost some of the beauty of the music," she said in an interview last week.

The event was well attended, despite the last minute move to the arena, which could not accomodate a full house due to painting that had just been done to a section of the bleachers.

The crowd forgave the shortcomings of the venue, however, and "went wild over the pipers especially."

Sister Conway noted the inferior acoustics of the arena were not a hindrance to the Carlingford Pipe Band, featuring 20 of the finest bagpipers Ireland has to offer.

Some were disappointed the pipe and drum band did not return to perform at the Different Drums concert the following evening, she said.

The Aug. 1 concert was the highlight of the Inishowen Tour, with performers from Derry and Inishowen, in the North West of Ireland.

The two-hour concert — which did attract a packed house, despite torrential rains — offered a mixture of traditional and more youthful styles.

The first half of the show had been prepared by a group of Derry youth, whose sensitive portrayals of life in Ireland was masterfully interpreted through song, poetry, and dance.

Their powerful and moving performance offered a look at the troubles faced by Irish youth, in religious, political and social spheres.

"It's a dark hour for the youth of Ireland," Sister Conway said, adding, "I think their message came across loud and clear."

WELL-RECEIVED

Renowned Irish musicians Roy Arbuckle, Jim McDermott and John Scott Trotter, along with soprano singer Maureen Hegarty, balanced the show with more traditional fare.

"I thought the whole show was very well received," said Sister Conway.

Also part of the tour was a noon-hour performance on Main Street, which included music and step-dancing.

The Irish visitors also treated their hosts to genealogy and arts and crafts workshops, the attendance at which was "respectable," Sister Conway said.

The members of the Inishowen Tour stayed with local families while in Bathurst, which Sister Conway noted allowed close friendships to form — more evidence of crumbling barriers.

"The end result showed real ties had been formed, real bonds and affection were woven in that short time," she said, adding, "There was a real sadness when they were leaving."

HEAVY LOAD

Eddie Couture (left) and Scott Brown, summer employees with the Downtown Bathurst Revitalization Corporation, were busy last week hauling granite slabs on Main Street, to be used for curbs in the construction of brick sidewalks. Brick sidewalk construction continues on both sides of Main, from the Royal Bank to Murray Avenue, with an extension planned from the corner of Main to the Harborview Place entrance on Harborview Boulevard.

Six Beresford residents recognized

Six Beresford residents were honored with New Brunswick Day Merit Awards Monday evening.

The awards are presented to deserving citizens who, through their hard work and unselfishness, contribute to their community in a meaningful way.

The ceremony, held at the Beresford Municipal Building and attended by about 30 interested onlookers, commemorated the efforts of Luc Foulem, Valmond and Colette Lége `re, Roger Sénéchal, Pierre Boudreau, and Lise Beaulieu.

Presented with a merit award for Public Service was Luc Foulem, a member of the board of directors of Passage House Inc., a refuge for battered women and their children. Mr. Foulem was instrumental in the success of a telethon benefitting Passage House last year.

He also served as master of ceremonies for more than 20 pageants in the Beresford area over the years, and has been known to support many projects which cater to area youth.

The husband and wife team of Valmond and Colette Légère were presented the merit award for Business, as owners of the Proprio convenience store in Beresford.

Through the establishment of this business, the couple has shown a genuine interest in the betterment of their community. The creation of jobs and an emphasis on quality service has clearly demonstrated their continued support of the community in which they live.

Roger Sénéchal was presented the award for Community Leadership. Newly-elected president of the Richelieu Club, Mr. Sénéchal is also vice-president of the Société Culturelle Régionale Nepisiguit.

He has also been a member of Chorale Emmanuel in Beresford for a number of years.

The Volunteer Service merit award was presented to Pierre Boudreau, who, besides being vice-president of Réseau Service Chaleur Inc., has been a long-time volunteer in the community.

Mr. Boudreau can always be counted on to organize dances for handicapped people in the area, and is a staunch supporter of Access Awareness Week, which he has organized for the past three years.

Lise Beaulieu was presented the merit award in the Art category.

A volunteer member of the Société Culturelle Régionale Népisiguit for the past six years, of which she has served two years as its president, Ms. Beaulieu has accomplished much in her efforts towards raising cultural awaremness in the community.

She was also instrumental in bringing about the Ciné-File project, which provides French movies for citizens of the entire Chaleur region

Downshore accident claims life

An Edmundston youth was pronounced dead in hospital, following an Aug. 1 traffic accident in Stonehaven.

Camille Boudreau, five-year old son of François and Estelle Boudreau of Edmundston, was hit by passing a motor vehicle after apparently running onto the Stonehaven Road east of Clifton, said a spokesman for the Bathurst detachment of the RCMP.

The boy was near a parked car, and was not visible to motorists until he was in the road, the spokesman said.

The accident occurred around 5:30 p.m., and Camille was later pronounced dead at Chaleur Regional Hospital.

BNPP find cache of stolen crystal in town

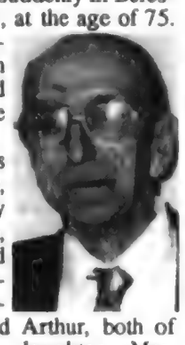
The $280,000 worth of crystal, reportedly stolen from an Ottawa warehouse last August, was recovered July 25, by BNPP investigators armed with a search warrant, said Chief Ed Huzulak.

The BNPP had been staking out the warehouse, located on Horizon Street, based on information provided by the Ottawa Police Force.

The chief said his department is now guarding the warehouse, pending the return of the stolen crystal to its rightful owner.

That is the extent of the BNPP's involvement at this point, he said, adding the Ottawa Police are continuing their investigation.



Any charges that may be laid in connection with the stolen crystal will be laid by the Ottawa Police, he noted.

Bathurst High School teacher Reg Killoran got lots of mileage out of a year-long teaching stint in England, travelling throughout Europe on days off and picking up plenty of souvenirs along the way. Mr. Killoran also acquired plenty of insight into the English school system and the particular lifestyle of England's people.

Overseas teaching experience fun, but required adjustment

By MICHAEL J. BOURGUIGNON
Northern Light Staff

The English school system has periodic week-long breaks. These allowed Bathurst teacher Reg Killoran to visit Scotland, Ireland, Wales, France, Germany, the Netherlands, Denmark, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Spain and Portugal.

Reg Killoran has some sound advice to anyone planning to spend an extended period of time in England.

"I would recommend it to anyone, on the understanding that it won't be easy," the Bathurst High School science teacher said in an interview with The Northern Light.

Mr. Killoran returned to Bathurst July 29, having spent a year filling the shoes of biology teacher Eugene O'Reilly, who in turn took over Mr. Killoran's duties at BHS.

The exercise was part of the Commonwealth Exchange of Teachers, providing a professional, as well as a personal challenge to all involved.

The initial challenge for Mr. Killoran was adjusting to life in England, particularly when it came to driving.

Traffic circles, called "roundabouts," are everywhere, and can be confusing to motorists visiting from this side of the Atlantic ocean.

"I ended up taking longer trips than I had planned," Mr. Killoran said, adding some "roundabouts" have several exits he didn't always find conducive to exiting.

The confusion notwithstanding, Mr. Killoran did manage to get around; and, staying in the O'Reilly's residence about 20 minutes to the centre of London, he found plenty to explore.

A production of the play CATS, visits to museums and historic spots kept things interesting when he was not teaching.

True to their reputation, the English proved to be "generally not outgoing," Mr. Killoran said, although Mr. O'Reilly and his wife Mary were considered exceptions.

Relatives of the O'Reillys in the London area also eased the adjustment period somewhat.

"I was acquainted with their family, so that made it better."

On the whole, though, Mr. Killoran discovered the English to be "very reserved and difficult to get to know."

"But they're great once you get to know them."

SMALLER

One of the lasting impressions Mr. Killoran now has of England is that of a "smaller, crowded" environment.

"Everything seems to be closer."

At St. Michael's, where he was teaching, he noticed this in the class sizes. He taught 11 different classes, for a total of some 200 students.

They were difficult to get to know for a different reason: there were just so many of them.

Apart from sheer student numbers, Mr. Killoran observed many differences between the English and Canadian school systems.

As a science teacher, he was most impressed with the school's science classrooms, which feature full laboratory equipment. At Bathurst High School, students must leave the classroom and head to a separate lab room.

The grade classifications are also different, with students aged 11 to 18 categorized in "forms," from first to sixth. The older students, those who are college or university-bound, are in the sixth. This final form is further divided into lower and upper levels.

It's a complex system, but no more so than our own, at least in the eyes of an outsider.

"I'm sure when Eugene came over here, he probably found the system complicated."

The students themselves are not much different from their Canadian counterparts, although they tend to have a better grasp of appropriate student-teacher relationships.

"They're not the type to be rude to teachers," Mr. Killoran said, adding, "They're good kids. Just like kids over here."

Mr. Killoran avoided drawing too many comparisons between the two systems, saying, "Both systems have strong points, and both have weak points."

One strong point the English system has, Mr. Killoran discovered, was periodic week-long breaks.

MOST OF EUROPE

These allowed him to travel; he visited Scotland, Ireland, Wales, France, Germany, the Netherlands, Denmark, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Spain and Portugal — in short, most of Europe.

Living in England enabled him to view and appreciate these countries from a different perspective. He was now accustomed to the cramped quarters of most of the cities.

He was no longer in a Canadian fast-food environment, and didn't mind at all.

These travels also provided memorable experiences, such as a Christmas-time train ride to Spain.

"I'll remember that well," he said, explaining the train was packed with people who themselves were travelling with "everything but the house."

For Mr. Killoran, it was a 20-hour, stand-up journey.

Memorable for different reasons were the glitter of Monte Carlo, the swimming holes of Nice, and the particular charm of Pisa and Venice, Italy.

Mr. Killoran would not hesitate to take part in a similar exchange in the future, but won't fall prey to what he sees as "the misconception that it's a time for lots of fun."

No doubt, he would fully enjoy another kick at the can, but with a careful self-reminder of his own wise advice.

Settlement at paper mill reached by compromise

It's not perfect, but the new contract signed by three Stone Consolidated unions is satisfactory.

"A compromise was reached that was acceptable to both sides," said Kirby Daley, president of Local 1150 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The unions involved include Local 1150, Local 1505 of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, and Local 480 of the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of Pipefitter and Plumbers U.S. and Canada.

The unions had been without a contract since June, 1990, and rumors of an impending strike were heard throughout the city.

Negotiations in Fredericton last week, mediated by provincial mediator Lyon Mackie, quickly silenced the rumors, however.

Union members voted overwhelmingly in favor of accepting the tentative agreement, which was reached following mediated talks held in Fredericton.

The machinists' union voted 76 per cent in favor of the new deal; the pipefitters' union, 85 per cent; and the electricians' union, 93 per cent. The new contract was signed Aug. 1.

The unions had originally voted heavily in favor of strike action, because they felt the new contract lacked protection against contracting out, and there was some problem with contract language. These were the central issues of the dispute.

However, Mr. Daley said a compromise was found that alleviated concerns over "contract language that we couldn't handle at the time."

The new contract gives the workers an 85 cent per hour wage increase, rectroactive to July 1990, when the last contract expired. Further increases are of 5.5 per cent, starting last month, and 5.5 per cent again in July, 1992.

Local 1505 president Blair Lindsay noted scheduling of maintenance work on statutory holidays, dental plan details and "about a dozen outstanding items" were hashed out in favor of the union during the negotiations in Fredericton.

The talks "didn't look real good at first," he said, adding, "but pretty soon, the mediator was going back and forth, and the ball started to roll."

"We figure what we got was a pretty good deal, compared to other places (within the industry.)"

Ken's in Toronto

Blind walker Ken McColm was scheduled to officially arrive in Toronto today Wednesday, after taking a breather Tuesday for routine medical tests.

Ken, a blind diabetic, took the long weekend off from his Incredible Journey to raise money for diabetes research, in order to undergo medical examinations in Toronto.

The walk was to officially bring him to Toronto's Queen Street today Wednesday, said a release from the Ontario Dvision of the Canadian Diabetes Association.

The Incredible Journey, which has raised in excess of $100,000 since it started in Newfoundland in March, has so far been well received in Ontario.

Ken walked 33 kilometres July 31, picking up $11,000 in donations at a fund raiser at the Port Hope Legion in Port Hope.

The day's trek consisted of walking from Newtonville through Newcastle village east of Oshawa. Ken was escorted by two police cruisers, with representatives of the Ontario Provincial Police and the Durham Region Police Force leading the procession.

Early Friday morning, Ken chatted with local media representatives at a breakfast event coordinated by the Telephone Pioneers of America, one of the major sponsors of the Incredible Journey. The mayor's representative, councillor Dave Conway, was also on hand.

A reception was held Friday evening at the Oshawa shopping centre, after which Ken continued on his way along Highway 2.

MONIES FOR TOURISM PRESENTED

Bathurst MLA Paul Kenny (left) presented a $3,100 cheque Tuesday to Michel Doucet, city tourist and visitor services coordinator. The monies, presented on behalf of Tourism, Recreation and Heritage Minister Roland Beaulieu, will go toward paying part of this year's operating costs of the city's two Tourist Information Centres, as well as the cost of producing a tourist brochure.

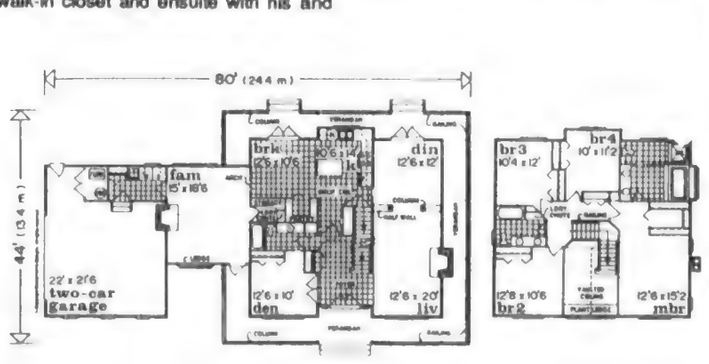
HOME OF THE WEEK

PLAN NO. 91-2782

VERANDAH WRAPS COUNTRY FARMHOUSE



Railed verandah accentuated with detailed columns and distinctive window treatments characterize this four bedroom design. The vaulted foyer brightly lit by the second storey window hosts a plant ledge and open railed staircase. The living room stretches to the adjoining dining and beyond to the French doors which open to rear verandah.

Decorative columns and half wall visually separate the dining room from the living room. The country kitchen features a spacious walk-in pantry, built-in desk, centre preparation island and adjoining breakfast room. An archway introduces the large family room with fireplace. A laundry chute from the bedrooms upstairs and main floor laundry room eases household chores. Crosshall den with private access to a three piece bathroom can easily double as an office or guest room.

Upstairs, the master bedroom hosts a walk-in closet and ensuite with his and hers vanity, raised whirlpool spa and oversized shower. The three additional bedrooms share a main bathroom with double vanity and soaking tub.

The finished floor area of this charming family home is 2,782 square feet. Plans offer a choice of foundations including a full basement or crawlspace.

PC gathering might avoid some issues

Political Scene

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

Without even delving too deeply, one gets the feeling that when 2,500 Tories gather in Toronto this week, the most interesting conversations will be in the corridors, not on the convention floor.

In fact, it's not just a feeling, it's a conviction. And why? Well, because party president Gerru St. Germain has said neither political ethics nor Prime Minister Brian Mulroney's leadership will be on the agenda.

And, just by coincedence, these happen to be the most talked-about subjects in Tory circles these days. The leadership question is a natural since, under Mr. Mulroney's stewardship, the party's popularity has been wallowing in the teens for the last 18 months.

Mind you, without an exciting alternative on the horizon, Mr. Mulroney's leadership is in no danger in any event. But, in the interests of being open and candid, one would think party officials would want to encourage some chatter on the subject — even if it's nothing more than a paean of praise.

As for ethnics, that's clearly the most pressing — or chilling — issue facing the party right now. Afte all, it's not every day that a provate citizen gets to lay corruption charges against 13 prominent Tories, including Sports Minister Pierre Cadieux, Senate Speaker Guy Charbonneau and several former cabinet ministers.

The party takes the view that this is an issue for the courts, not the convention. However, it would seem some discussion on the general question of ethnics would be appropriate.

TIME GALORE

It's not as though delegates will be squeezed by time. Although some 320 resolutions have survived the weeding-out process, it's fair to say not all are as important as leadership and ethics.

Frankly, it's difficult to get excited over the resolution that would declare Louis Riel a Father of Confederation. And it's equally difficult to see why delegates would take much time debating a resolution declaring that the party "is committed to the elimination of substance abuse in Canada..."

It's doubtful whether Mr. Mulroney, or any of his ministers, will cringe over a resolution calling for a redoubling of efforts to expand Canada's trade links with countries in the Asia-Pacific region. And there certainly won't be musch argument when delegates are asked to approve "an effective public information program to better communicate to all Canadians the positive accomplishments of the government."

Can you imagine fistfights developing over a resolution that calls on the PC party to "reaffirm its support of the concept of sustainable development?"

One would think that some of these motherhood issues could be cheerfully set aside to tackle more pressing ones.

That's not to say we won't have some steamy arguments. When we get into the Constitution, bilingualism and biculturalism, there are bound to be fireworks — not to mention a spate of compromising, perhapsmeaningless, resolutions.

DIFFERENT VIEWS

Predictably, there's a resolution from Quebec calling for a "decentralized federalism," while one from Toronto wants "strong powers retained by the federal government."

Working out these two concepts to everyone's satisfaction could keep the wordsmiths up most of the night.

There are also conflicting resolutions over such perennial arguments as the privatization of the CBC and other federal agencies.

But the Tories, like other federal parties, have a great deal of experience in working out compromises. And even if the efforts should fail, the prime minister and his cabinet are not bound by any of the resolutions. Although they will form the official Conservative position, the government might not get around to doing much about them.

From previous conventions, day-care is one unresolved issue that springs to mind.

But, back to the corridors. That's where the action — or at least the substance — will be. With the governing Tories fighting for last place against the upstart Reform party, and the Liberals surging ahead in the national polls, and with the prime minister reported to be in trouble even in his own riding, complete silence on leadership is too much to expect.

With the possibility of 13 prominent Tories being hauled into court, surely we'll hear some passing references to ethics.

If not, the whole million-dollar exercise will seem rather futile.

A pleasant surprise

Pleasant surprises are always welcome, especially since they are generally few and far between for the Bathurst area.

Figures released yesterday, by the tourist and visitor services coordinator for the City of Bathurst, were definitely a surprise. Despite the federal Goods and Services Tax, despite the recession, despite poor roads, inquiries at local tourist information centres are up over last year, by no less than 9.8 per cent.

That doesn't necessarily mean people are staying here longer, but it is an indication we are drawing more tourists to the Chaleur Region, despite the times. Subsequently, it can be assumed that the hard work of the City of Bathurst and other significant parties is producing results.

As has been noted in this newspaper in the past, Bathurst has long missed the boat in terms of attracting tourists here, and enjoying the subsequent economic spin-off. In recent years, a concentrated effort was made to attract tourists here, and to make them want to stay instead of just passing through. Better signage was introduced, along with stepped-up advertising. Lifeguards were obtained for Youghal Beach, and a waterfront development plan was commissioned.

There is obviously much left to do. The waterfront development plan still needs to be implemented, and the civic centre project is still not off the ground — and those are just the high profile tasks.

It's comforting to know, however, that we are on the right track. Which means now is not the time to ease up.

The Moving Finger Writes

Events from the archives of The Northern Light

70 YEARS AGO
August 1921

It is reported on credible authority that the result of the recent census gives Bathurst a population of 4,000. This figure squares pretty well with what was anticipated, although in some quarters a larger figure was prognosticated. The work of taking the census occupied several weeks and was conducted by Brian Mullins and Richard Sutton.

60 YEARS AGO
August 1931

Bathurst was thronged yesterday with visitors from all over the county who were attracted by the presence of Sparks Circus.

The big top was erected in a field of the O'Neil farm at West Bathurst and there the show completely delighted a large audience. Every department of the circus was fully up to the high standard and no untoward event occurred during the day.

The weather was ideal during the afternoon but shortly after the performance, heavy showers of rain took place, somewhat interfering with attendance at the evening show.

50 YEARS AGO
August 1941

The new hospital on Mount St. Mary is swiftly reaching new proportions with the large framework rearing its head above the town. Cement is quickly replacing the timber staging, forming a solid rectangular block.

Meanwhile, progress continues on the new Eddy building on the Gloucester Hospital site. It is an imposing structure and will be a great improvement to King Street. The groud floor contains four stories which will be occupied by Dr. W.H. Coffyn, Tower's Jewellery Shop, Fransblow's Clothing Store and the National Shoe Stores.

40 YEARS AGO
August 1951

Unprecedented in Bathurst's history, a labor strike occurred this week at two local lumber mills. The trouble started at LaPerelle Lumber Co. Ltd., prompted "by mistreatment of employees by a foreman and because management had broken an agreement, whereby priority is to be given union members when layoffs are necessary."

Picket lines have been on constant duty at both the LaPerelle plant and that of the mother firm, George Eddy Compnay Limited, where the workers acted in sympathy.

Strikes are nasty things for both parties concerned, so let's hope for an early settelment of the dispute.

20 YEARS AGO
August 1971

About to be razed by contractor Albert Luce is a King Avenue landmark somewhere over 100 years old. Owned and rented recently by NBTel, the company has no immediate plans for use of the property becoming vacant except perhaps for parking purposes.

The house was built originally by Robert Ellis, a Crown land surveyor who was interested in mining. In fact, he lost his life in 1894 while exploring the Miramichi area.

Next occupant was his son, the late G.W. Ellis, one-time station agent, who was succeeded by his daughter, Mrs. Edna V. Ellis.

Some years ago, Miss Ellis, well-known local school teacher, sold the property, which adjoins their business offices and plant, to NBTel.

10 YEARS AGO
August 1981

There will no doubt be numerous damp eyes and sniffles Sunday night, when the popular band Barker House Rally plays its farewell set at the Village Club.

For the past number of summers the young people of Bathurst have spent many an enjoyable evening listening to those five talented musicians, P.J. Veniot (bass guitar and vocals), Stephen Ward (trumpet and vocals), David Jarrett (lead guitar), Johnny Drapeau (keyboards) and David Doucet (drums).

Sees nothing wrong with closing bridge

Dear Editor,

Juat read your paper of today and note the big, big hurrah by some so-called business people concerning the closing of the Village Bridge for approximately one month, that is the month of August. Just what is so wrong with this? Perhaps the echelon would sooner see the bridge collapse rather than repair it.

I often sit and wonder where these so-called business people were in 1970, when they were asked to have a meeting with some professional planners to upgrade their services. They were not concerned and would just not meet, and thought that we of that day were just a bunch of idiots to make such a suggestion. Who were the ones that were thinking in the right direction then?

Then in 1975, when a sort of extra lane was filled to do work on the pipeline, I ventured to Fredericton and also wrote to Fredericton to leave this fill there, but they said it was only bark and had to be removed. Now just look at the boulevard, all bark-filled. These so-called business people were never heard from at that time. Where were they then?

Now in 1991, they are suggesting that a civic centre should be built at a very defusing estimate cost of some $15 million, which will include a new city hall. And just think: now they are crying about the bridge being closed for about a month. Both do not seem very business-like to me.

I have learned some time ago that the echelon — some elected, some business people (downtown), and some bureaucrats — are either going or have gone to Ottawa, to pursue a cause of trying to get some federal money for this monstrosity of a city hall centre, and helping to put our city head over heels in debt, and that our younger generation will not be able to survive.

Sad to think of that most of our people just do not know of just what is going on. Our elected people that "We the People" have voted in to serve us, should make all of us aware of what is taking place. For comparison sake, during the 1970's, your elected people used up the whole half hour of the Week Night (radio program) twice a month to keep the taxpayers informed — does this happen now?

So let's be realistic: close the bridge for the month of August and complete the job that is required to be done, once and for all during the nice and favorable weather conditions, and not wait for a time of adverse weather conditions.

By the way, is the downtown development only the tearing up of concrete sidewalks and replacing by brick ones? Sidewalks do not bring in business; what is required in my opinion is a variety of places to shop in. Just why don't they the echelon go after a developer to develop the Kent property? Let's get a super mall in this deserted spot on Main Street.

That is what I think and is my opinion — what is yours?

Now as I write this letter, on July 31, the so-called business people from Downtown and some of our bureaucrats stopped progress for the time being, and suggested that repair take place next year. Will not the same thing take place next year and postpone it again? Without people there certainly would be no businesses.

John A. Duffy
Bathurst

P.S. Leave our city hall where it is; it is certainly large enough for a population of a wee bit over 14,000.

Paving should extend to bypass

Aug. 6

Dear Editor,

I read in the July 24 issue of your paper where the City of Bathurst is going to upgrade Bridge Street (Route 11), from Manor Park to Carron Drive — a really nice idea. If only the government would do the same from the city limits to the Janeville bypass, where it is really needed.

The road is worn out from heavy loads of rocks, gravel and wood being hauled over it, as well as the heavy transport traffic.

I see a new bridge is being built at Teagues Brook. In 1930, when Fletchers built the bridge, I hauled some rocks there with my team of horses and steel-tired wagon. The pay was one dollar per yard. I made four dollars a day — big money, wasn't it? Now the government is trucking the same rocks for four miles back to Salmon Beach, and putting them along the shore, where they could have been left in place for a good roadbed. At the same time, they are trucking fill for three miles out of the woods to replace the rocks.

This spring, I asked the government for a few loads of fill to put in a ditch at the front of my property. In a telephone conversation, I was promised that someone would come to view the area I want filled, but as of yet, no one has come.

I would like to know if they will give me persmission to fill it, if they are unwilling to fill it themselves.

July 26

Dear Editor,

The Alzheimer Society of New Brunswick is currently attempting to provide increased awareness and information, about Alzheimer Disease and its affects on both the Alzheimer person and the caregivers to individuals within your area.

The Society is asking for your assistance in helping us to reach as many people as possible in your community regarding the following information. We would ask that you run the following information in your newspaper, as a letter to the editor or on some other designated area of your paper.

Alzheimer Disease is a terrible illness. For the person with the disease, it brings a slow decline in mental powers and in the ability to care for oneself. For relatives it brings the distress of gaving to do more and more for someone who was previously independent. Often a family member takes on the responsibility of caring for the person with Alzheimer Disease. As the disease progresses, the pain of caring for someone with the disease grows as well. In many ways, the only treatment available is support.

We at the Alzheimer Society of New Brunswick are here to help. You are not alone. As a caregiver for someone with Alzheimer Disease or related disorder, you may be experiencing feelings of isolation, guilt, embarrassment frustration and or depression. By contacting the Alzheimer Society of New Brunswick, individuals have an opportunity to talk about these feelings with others, who know what you are going through.

The Alzheimer Society of New Brunswick exists to alleviate the personal and social consequences of Alzheimer Disease and to promote public awareness and the search for the cause and cure. The immediate goal of the Society is to offer support and assistance; to give background information on the disease and to indicate resources available to help assist with the inevitable problems arising for both the Alzheimer person and their caregivers.

Anyone interested in learning more about Alzheimer Disease is encouraged to contact the Alzheimer Society of New Brunswick, Box 1553, Station A, Fredericton, NB, E3B 5G2. The telephone number is (506) 459-4280.

Businessman is grateful

Aug. 7

Dear Editor,

I am overwhelmed by the sympathy and support I have received since the news got around that I must vacate my present Big Deal premises in Downtown Bathurst by Aug. 31. Words cannot adequately express how very much I appreciate this kindness and concern.

I would like to especially thank the Bathurst District and Labor Council, local provincial government representatives, officials in Fredericton, the several thousand people who signed a petition on my behalf, and all others who may have exerted efforts to maintain the status quo.

At the present time I am attempting to complete an arrangement, whereby I might continue to operate at my present location. With the public's help and prayers, I hope these negotiations will be successful. For 42 years, I have been serving Bathurst consumers in the fruit, produce and grocery field, successively at Dominion Stores, Kent's, and via my own business, and I would like to continue to do so for some years yet.

Again, my very grateful thanks to all my customers, who are my dear friends, and all others, for their sincere and spontaneous response in my sudden and unexpected predicament.

Talk On The Walk

Question: What does New Brunswick Day mean to you?

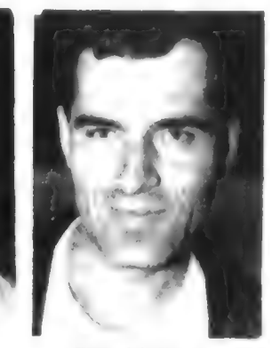
Jean-Marc Roussel
Bathurst
"It's a day to celebrate the time New Brunswick was founded, just as other regions do for their provinces."

Kerry Maher
Bathurst
"It's a happy day for people in Bathurst, one day in the city where people can celebrate what they have in common."

Bruce Chapman
Bathurst
"New Brunswick Day is when we can sit back and relax, so we can think about our heritage."

Linda MacKenzie
Bathurst
"I have been away from New Brunswick for four years; this day means a lot because there is no place like home."

Kenneth Roy
Bathurst
"For myself, it's a day like the celebration of Canada Day, except that it's a day for New Brunswick."



Dorothy Babin
South Bathurst
"It means a great holiday; I wish that it was every month. It's great to meet different people within the community."

Albert Thibault
Bathurst
"It's a good day for having activities and fun, as part of our celebration for living in this province."

Alexandra Robertson
Bathurst
"New Brunswick Day is a good time to spend with the family. It's a fun day to celebrate."

Donald Bertin
Nigadoo
"It's a good holiday, especially for children to enjoy. This day should not only celebrate our heritage, but should be part of our heritage."

Labor Day plans

The Bathurst and District Labor Council has once again chosen Participunion as its Labor Day theme.

"The Bathurst and District Labor Council will organize a parade and sports activities, as in the past, so all workers can enjoy their holiday to the fullest," Labor Day committee chairman William Bass said in a release.

Events for this year's Labor Day festivities, Sept. 2, also include speeches by labor leaders and supporters in Coronation Park, after the parade.

Registration for floats will be at 9 a.m., with the parade leaving Coronation Park at about 10:30 a.m. From there, it will proceed on Douglas Avenue to Main Street, along to King Avenue, then onto St. Patrick Street to Murray Avenue and to St. John Street. It will then cross King Avenue and proceed back to the park for more festivities.

There will be free hamburgers, hot dogs, refreshments and candy at the gazebo after the parade.

Trophies will be presented to various unions, and in various categories i.e. trophies for best majorettes, best cadets' band, best entertainment float, best clown, and best van.

Weather permitting, games and sports events will take place at the park at 1 p.m.

Also at 1 p.m., the annual bowling tournament will be held at Chaleur Lanes

Judge lectures on dope

Politicians who in the past have supported the decriminalization of hashish could learn something from sitting in a courtroom.

That was the opinion of Provincial Court Judge J. Frederic Arsenault Friday, speaking to a group of men facing sentencing on several charges of break, enter and theft.

"They (politicians) should go to a court to see what really happens in life," Judge Arsenault commented.

"They could learn something."

Judge Arsenault sentenced Beresford residents Sylvain Roy, Gaston Chiasson, Gordon Couture on charges of break, enter and thefts at the Big D restaurant and the Knights of Columbus Hall, and an attempted robbery at a private dwelling on Hay Crescent in Parkwood Heights. Sylvain Roy was also sentenced on a break and enter charge involving an incident at Factory Tire.

Roy, 20, was given three months in jail for the July 8 Factory Tire break, five months concurrent for the July 15 K of C break, five months consecutive for the July 15 Big D break, and seven months consecutive for the July 21 Hay Crescent incident.

Couture, 20, was sentenced to two months for the Big D break, two months consecutive for K of C, and four months consecutive for his involvement in the Hay Crescent attempted robbery. He was also placed on two years' probation.

Chiasson, 19, was sentenced to five months for breaking into the Big D restaurant, five months concurrent for K of C, and seven months for Hay Crescent, along with two years' probation.

A fourth man, Roger St. Onge, pleaded guilty Friday to the Big D and Knights of Columbus breaks, and was remanded in custody until Aug. 15, when he will be sentenced.

When St. Onge, who has a lengthy list of prior convictions for similar charges, mentioned hashish and alcohol were at the root of his problems, Judge Arsenault said it serves as an example to those who think of hashish and marijuana as "light drugs."

"It shows hashish is serious," he said.

It wasn't the first time Judge Arsenault has lectured on the peril of drugs.

Two Allardville men who faced break and enter charges last month were also given a stern warning against the addictive power of drugs, including hashish.

BIG CAKE FOR BIG CELEBRATION

New Brunswick Day was celebrated locally with activities held at the Bathurst Arena on Monday, where a cake-cutting ceremony at noon kicked off an afternoon of live entertainment and games for children. Shown cutting the cake is city councillor Gordon Kenny (left), while Frank Branch, Nepisiguit-Chaleur MLA and Speaker of the House, looked on. (Northern Light Photo)

A large fish story

Silver Points
By SONIA-SIMARD CORMIER
News from 25 years ago.

Aug. 11, 1966

"Scotland may claim its Loch Ness monster and dragons may still snort arrows of flame in England, but Bathurst can boast of not only sheltering a phantom ship but also hosting a rare and horrifying fish." Such was a claim made in this newspaper 25 years ago.

Under the headline Fish or Fowl? the creature was described as weighing "about 300 lbs. and was three feet long, two and a half feet wide and a foot thick. It appeared to be all head."

The strange specimen was eventually identified as a member of the species known as Ocean Sunfish (Lovus Sunis) and while it was recognized as a resident of the Atlantic Ocean, it seldom swims into coastal waters.

Clearly this is one episode in Bathurst's history I must have blocked out of my memory — and with good reason, I might add.

Other than the aforementioned visitor, which had washed up on shore, it was a pretty quiet week in Bathurst.

But then, that is usually how things are during the summer vacation season, which brings me to my next topic. The following is what seemed to be an advertisement for a thankless job but turned out to be...well, read on.

"Help wanted for two weeks of hard, outdoor labor, 12 to 16 hours per day. Experience helpful but not necessary. Automobile needed plus a willingness to drive hundreds of miles per day. Working conditions are rather crowded; temperatures sweltering, sunshine intense, with occasional heavy rains, gales, thunder, lightning, etc.

"Many hazards are involved. No time off for meals, coffee breaks or chats. No wages or salary. Applicants must agree to pay all expenses. No others need apply.

"What is this? A slave labor job? It may be, but it's commonly called a vacation"

I'm sure I'm not alone in thinking this could very well have been an ad which ran just prior to this year's vacation, and which was answered by many — yours truly included.

A P.J.'s by any other name...

Sitting Back
With GREG MULOCK
Personal opinion from the managing editor

The Inishowen Tour has come and gone, leaving many pleasant memories in its wake. (It's true, however, that some of those who took in the musical festivities were disappointed that the song selection did not include more traditional fare, but so it goes).

Some of the visiting Irish folk were particularly taken with a local watering hole, P.J.'s Pub. The bar's name was taken from a literary work by the great Irish writer James Joyce, and the Irish visitors, it turned out, were familiar with the original pub.

Proprietor Steve Lavigne said he is looking forward to having photos sent to him, of the Irish P.J.'s.

TRAVELLING GRANDSON

Scott Barr will have plenty of tales to tell his grandparents, the next time he comes to Bathurst to visit them.

Scott, 15-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Scott of Rough Waters Drive, is presently in South Korea, for the 17th World Scout Jamboree.

His father Keith is also there as a leader. There are more than 300 Canadians at the event, which has a total registration of 20,000.

The 10-day jamboree is being held at Mount Sorak National Park, on the eastern coast of South Korea.

Lobbying paid off on issue of Village Bridge closure

Lobbying has paid off for downtown merchants who were concerned about the impact a major repair plan on the Village Bridge would have had on their business.

"The Department of Transportation has agreed to postpone the work until next year," said the city's human resources director, Tracy Branch.

"The bridge is not being closed."

Local merchants feared their businesses would suffer if the DOT closed the bridge for three weeks this month to carry out repair work, as was the plan.

Merchants feel the community has not yet fully recovered from the recession, and, in particular, recent labor strikes at Brunswick Mining and Smelting.

Through the Downtown Bathurst Revitalization Corporation, the merchants asked city council to try to convince the DOT to put off the work until a later date, to allow the economy to recuperate.

Taking heed of their concerns, City Manager Bob Bouchard travelled to Fredericton last week to speak to DOT officials on behalf of the city.

"They were very cooperative, very sympathetic," Mr. Bouchard told The Northern Light last week.

As a result of the meeting, the work, which involves repairing expansion joints on the bridge, has been postponed until next year.

"They said they had had a tough year because of the mine strike and all that," Transportation Minister Sheldon Lee said in a telephone interview, adding, "We had the go ahead from the community (to do the work); but they recognized that there are other problems, and we're willing to go along with them."

Mr. Lee noted the work will "definitely have to be done" at some time, although the bridge is sound.

"Everyone agreed the work is necessary," he said.

"We'd like to do it next year."

Park expanded

A $250,000 expansion project was recently completed at the Bathurst Industrial Park, providing the park with complete water and sewer services.

"The project has been carried out," said Don Bishop, manager of the Chaleur Regional Development Commission.

"It leaves us with a park that is serviced."

The work was completed June 31, under a cost-sharing agreement between the federal and provincial governments, and the CRDC.

It involved extending the park's water and sewer lines to a one-kilometre area, at Industrial Avenue and the Hall Court extension, which was previously without water and sewer services.

Although the hook-up is complete, Mr. Bishop noted paving still remains to be done in the same area.

That should be carried out in the foreseeable future, he said.

SQUIRE GREEN GOLF COURSE COMPLETED BY FALL '92

Forty-five per cent of new home starts in Bathurst this year have taken place at Squire Green Golf and Country Estates and Squire Park.

Developers of the property believe that trend will continue, and at the same pace, as the public becomes more and more impressed with its potential.

"Ten new home starts since May, 1991 is a strong indication that our development is quickly becoming the location of choice for many new home buyers," said Bob Campbell, marketing director with the Squire Green Development group.

"Prospective buyers are visiting in ever-increasing numbers. Everyone is impressed with the development and we expect several more homes started in the next few months."

The subdivision, located on 300 acres of land just off Riverside Drive and looking out over the Bathurst Basin, is geared toward affordable family living, offering 297 spacious building lots in a unique recreational setting. Amenities include a substantial play area available to children, a 30-foot width around the perimetre of the property for bicycle and hiking trails, three lakes, horseback-riding facilities and--the high point for the golf enthusiast--the scheduled completion in Sept., 1992 of the nine-hole golf course.

The average price of homes being constructed in the subdivision is approximately $130,000, although the price range above and below is quite considerable. The cost for a home, including land and all services, begins at around $89,000, and the sky is the limit in the other direction. Lots start at $17,000, with waterfront lots available for up to $50,000.

Buyers have the option to build their own home or, if they wish, choose from the hundreds of building plans available through Squire Green and let them handle the construction of your dream home.

Among the important safety features installed by developers of the $40 million property is a state of the art gateway, which will ensure that the CN Rail crossing poses no problem whatsoever.

The flashing signals and protective gate arms installed by construction crews from CNR offer full protection when trains are using the crossing. The developer has borne the full cost of installing this safety equipment.

Construction began on Phase One of Squire Green Golf and Country Estates in 1990, and so far 72 building sites have been completely serviced for city water and sewage. According to Squire Green officials, "over 5,000 feet of waterline, 5,000 feet of sanitary sewer line, 3,000 feet of storm sewer line and 35,000 feet of conduit for telephone, hydro and cable has been installed."

Also, more than 1.25 km of new roadway has been constructed with asphalt surface and concrete curbs.

The jewel of the project, the golf course, is also well on its way towards completion.

Construction is well underway on the golf course, with all nine holes cleared and grubbed. Grading operations are presently being undertaken to shape the fairways to the architect's design. Company officials hope to have all the grading, including green construction, tee construction, completed during 1991.

The course includes a number of picturesque views from elevated tees and greens as it winds its way around the perimetre of the housing development.

MODERN DESIGN

The golf course is described by Squire Green officials as "of a modern design, which offers several options to the golfer." The nine-hole layout can be played at either 3,100 yards in length, or at 3,480 yards when using the back tees.

This makes the course slightly longer than the back nine at the neighboring Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club course.

The course was designed by Ward Northrup of Florida, partner to Bob Murphy, a reknowned golfer-commentator on ESPN, the American sports network. Involved in golf course design work for more than 30 years, Ward's wealth of experience is revealed in the clever design and the layout of Squire Green Golf Club.

CARD OF THANKS

ARSENEAU - We wish to thank all who have helped us, been so kind and generous to us during the sickness and death of Peter Arseneau, husband & father. We thank especially our neighbours & friends, the pastor, Rev. Lévi Arseneault, the Sisters of Charity, Dr. R. D. Hennessey for his many house calls and care, the V.O.N. nurses, Dr. B.S. Satya, the nurses in I.C.U. & on the 3rd floor for their care & attention. We appreciate your visits to the funeral parlour, masses, flowers & donations.
Wife Doris & family.
Sister Ursulita, Hector, Mary and Eva join Doris & her family in thanking all these persons who loved their brother, Peter.

COMEAU - The family of Gaston Mathieu and Blondine Comeau sincerely thank all for their flowers, masses, visits & assistance at the funeral of Gaston Mathieu. The family deeply appreciates your affectionate thoughts. Thank You.

LAGACE - LAVOIE - La famille de feu Rita Lagacé-Lavoie désire remercier tout ceux & celles qui ont, d'une façon ou d'une autre, exprimé leur sympathies pour leur mère.

IN MEMORIAM

BOUCHER - In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Leeroy, who left us so suddenly on August 8th, 1981.

Beautiful memories woven in gold.
This is the picture we tenderly hold.
Deep in our hearts your memory is kept;
To love and cherish and never forget.
A loving son and brother, true and kind
No one on earth like you we'll find.
With farewells left unspoken
You quickly slipped away.
When God needed you,
He put his arms around you and
Whispered "Come to Me".
Lord, keep Your arms around him,
And keep him in Your care.
Make up for all he suffered
And all that was unfair.
God knows how much we miss you,
Leeroy, as it dawns ten years today
It broke our hearts to lose you.
But one thing makes us glad.
That you chose to share with us your beautiful smile and those precious years we had with you.

A loving son and brother, gone but never forgotten by your love ones. We sadly miss you, Mom & Dad, Sandra & Normand, Pauline.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

OFFRE D'EMPLOI

Une entreprise de la région est à la recherche d'un technicien en génie civil. Expérience serait un atout. Cette personne devra être autonome et avoir de l'initiative. Appelez:

1-764-5588

INSTRUCTEUR POUR BLOC D'APPRENTISSAGE EN CUISINE

Le Collège communautaire du NB - Bathurst est à la recherche d'une personne qui s'occupera de la formation pour le bloc 1 et bloc II d'apprentissage en cuisine. La personne serait en fonction du 11 septembre au 17 décembre 1991 à titre d'employé occasionnel.

Le poste

Ce poste posera un défi à une personne intéressée à la formation des adultes dans le secteur de la cuisine. La formation complémente l'expérience pratique et prépare les apprentis pour écrire leurs examens à la fin du bloc. L'enseignant suivra un programme pré-établi pour chaque bloc en cuisine. L'enseignant donnera une partie théorique et une partie pratique dans chaque bloc.

Le titulaire

Doit avoir complété son cours de cuisine de base et/ou cuisine avancée, détenir son certificat de compagnon en cuisine; avoir au moins 3 ans d'expérience comme cuisinier après avoir complété son compagnon. Avoir enseigné à des adultes serait un atout. La connaissance du français parlé et écrit est essentielle.

Le traitement

Les appels d'offres scellés et adressés à PAROISSE SAINT-NOM-DE-JESUS, a/s Rév. Gérald Boudreau C. P. 90, Beresford, Nouveau-Brunswick, E0B 1H0 et marqués "OFFRE - PRESBYTERE DE BERESFORD, BERESFORD, N.-B." seront reçus des entrepreneurs généraux avant 15h00, heure locale, le 22 août 1991, auquel moment le dépouillement public aura lieu au Presbytère de Beresford, Beresford, Nouveau-Brunswick.

Les entrepreneurs généraux peuvent se procurer les documents de mise en adjudication au bureau de JACQUES BOUCHER ARCHITECTE LTEE., 1850 boul. Vanier, Suite 202, Bathurst, Nouveau-Brunswick en déposant un montant de Un Cent Dollars ($100.00) comptant ou chèque certifié payable à Jacques Boucher Architecte Ltée. Le montant déposé sera remboursé lorsque les documents seront retournés en bon état au cours des trois semaines suivant la fermeture des appels d'offres. Si les plans ne sont pas retournés au cours des trois semaines, le dépôt de $100.00 ne sera pas retourné.

Les offres soumises par les entrepreneurs généraux doivent être accompagnées d'un cautionnement d'offres au montant de vingt milles dollars ($20,000.00) établi à PAROISSE SAINT-NOM-DE-JESUS. L'entrepreneur dont l'offre aura été accepté devra remplacer ce cautionnement par un cautionnement d'exécution des travaux au montant de 50% de la valeur du contrat et un cautionnement pour le paiement de la main-d'oeuvre et des matériaux au montant de 50% de la valeur du contrat. Le cautionnement d'offre pourra être remplacé par un chèque certifié au montant de $20,000.00.

RCMP investigating incidents of vandalism

Vandals visited the property late Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, causing damage to the property each time, said John Carey, owner of the property.

Friday night a $1,400 plate glass window was shattered in the restaurant, and culprits tried to break into the place through a side door, although an alarm apparently scared them off.

Mr. Carey said that on Saturday evening someone had tried to cut down one of his flagpoles, the one used to hoist an Acadian flag, and were almost halfway through the wooden pole when they left the scene. A brand new axe was found next to the flagpole, which was subsequently turned over to the RCMP on Tuesday to aid in their investigation.

Mr. Carey told The Northern Light that, after finding the axe, he proceeded to hide in nearby bushes in hopes of catching the culprits.

Mr. Carey hoped religious leaders in the area would broach the subject in their respective parishes, to try to put an end to these acts of vandalism.

Mr. Carey was also threatened during the past few weeks for flying American and Acadian flags, with an anonymous caller even threatening to set fire to his place.

THE OFFICIAL SOFT DRINK of Coca-Cola CLASSIC OF SUMMER

Stock car racer hits stride

Sitting in 12th place in the Sportsman class points race at McKay's Speedway, the Big River driver finished a respectable sixth in the Second Annual Moosehead Brunswick 100 Saturday at the Douglastown track, earning him $400 in the biggest race of the season.

"The car is working the best it's worked all summer," he told The Northern Light following the race.

"That's what made the difference Saturday," he said, adding one or two blowouts a night was commonplace the last three times out on the track.

Chisholm qualified for seventh spot in the lineup for the 100-lap feature race, thanks to a third place finish in the first preliminary race of the evening.

TOO FAR BACK

Another local racer, Kirk Jardine, began the six-car consolation race midway through the night by taking an early lead, with a fourth place showing needed to qualify for the feature.

After an early collision which sent his car into the infield, the speedster got back into his groove and finished in the required fourth place position, qualifying him for 23rd spot in the 26-car feature event.

However, driving hard to overcome an almost insurmountable disadvantage, Jardine was involved in a wreck on the first turn about a quarter of the way into the race to end all hopes of a high finish. He ended up in 24th place, worth $110.

Tires were a focal point for Jardine as well. He also purchased new tires recently, but their hard rubber wouldn't grip the track sufficiently.

Tim Rodgers of Boundary Creek came all the way from ninth position to earn the $1,000 top prize in the event. He also won another $225, $5 for each lap he led.

A grand total of $8,500 was up for grabs, with almost 1,000 people taking in the night of racing.

Bathurst Alpines the missing link in hockey league

Out Of Bounds
By JIM COUTURE
Northern Light Sports

It has come to my attention that the Miramichi Packers and the Campbellton Tigers are leaving the New Brunswick Senior Hockey League to join the Chaleur Senior C Hockey League.

If it comes to pass--and there's no good reason it shouldn't--then the league would expand to six teams, with the Shippagan Merchants, Chaleur Roc-Etoiles, Tracadie Alpines and Bouctouche J-C's returning to the fold. And there's even talk an entry from Richibucto may also be interested.

I don't know about you, but the only thing I see missing in this scenario are the words "Bathurst Alpines". Just thinking about it reminds me of times many years ago when the Bathurst Arena headlined the Alpines for what was the only ticket in town on a Tuesday night.

It would be nice to sit and watch a Bathurst-based team involved once again in a top-notch hockey league, which is what this league features now. Gone are the days when this league was where old hockey players went to finish out their careers. Some of the best hockey talent in the province can be found in the Chaleur league now, and the level of talent--as well as the level of fan interest--keeps growing year after year as people recognize this fact.

But I guess I'm dreaming in technicolor when I think Bathurst would support such a team without benefit of a new civic centre, and I don't much blame them. I do, however, blame the people who consistently undermine the efforts of others trying to get that much-needed civic centre constructed.

I know I should let sleeping dogs lie, but here goes: I believe it's time to start building the thing rather than continue shooting the concept down.

Enough is enough; build it already. There's going to be people complaining before, during and after construction, and probably again 10 years from now when a traffic jam sets their mouths a-squawkin' tunes like "I told you so" and "See, we were right".

There is no such thing as a perfect civic centre. Either the toilet paper holders will be too high, there won't be enough No Smoking signs, or the accoustics will be slightly out of whack. But one thing that will be perfect is the setting for a quality hockey team Bathurst can once again be proud of.

Let's see now: we would them have a civic centre to be proud of, a hockey team to boast about, and a concert facility second to none on the North Shore.

Ever hear of pride in your community? I think the first step towards that goal is to construct a proper civic centre for this bustling city of 15,000 once and for all.

After all, we could probably go through 50 site selections and every one would be considered totally wrong by at least one person, and probably by the same one person each and every time.

Build it and they will come. They, in this case, means dollars, tourists, dollars, paying customers, dollars, hockey teams, dollars, concerts, dollars, conventions, dollars, expositions, etc, etc. etc.

Get the picture. Okay, then get to work.

Interest growing in Red Cross Multi-Sport Relay

All indications are that the first Red Cross Multi-Sport Relay--slated for Aug. 17 at Causeway Park--will be a popular event.

"Quite a few people have expressed an interest to participate, actually," said Ginette Morrison, helping out with the organizational aspect of the fundraiser.

Modelled after a similar event organized by the Red Cross on Prince Edward Island, the Multi-Sport Relay consists of a 25 kilometre canoe/walk or run/cycle relay through Bathurst, said a release.

The objective of the relay, which begins at 10 a.m., is to provide a healthy recreational activity in conjunction with the city's Silver Jubilee celebration, as well as to raise funds to support the humanitarian services offered by the Red Cross.

The course route involves about 3.2 kilometres of canoeing on the Bathurst Basin, a 6.8 km run or walk, and a 15 km cycling race from King Avenue along the bypass to Vanier Boulevard, then along Ryan Avenue to Coronation Park.

Registration is $100 per six-member team and $35 per two-member teams.

There will be eight different categories of competition.

For the family, junior, and challenged athlete categories, participants can collect pledges per kilometre or per minute instead of paying the registration fee.

A special feature of the event is the planned-time concept. Team members are asked not to bring watches. Each participant will plan his or her time for each leg of the race, and the team and participant whose actual time comes closest to the planned time without going over is the winner.

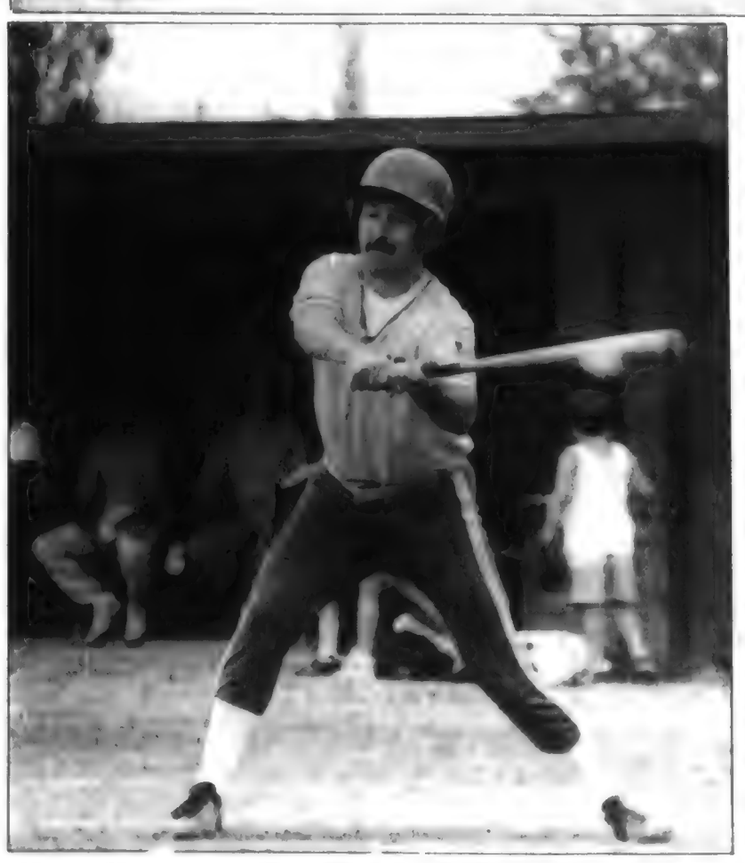
No one person will be walking, running or canoeing more than 3.4 kilometres, so there's plenty of opportunity for just the right amount of recreation.

Red Cross organizers are currently recruiting volunteers to be part of various committees. Service clubs are also being approached to sponsor certain activities during the relay. Anyone interested in helping out or sponsoring a team or activity is asked to call 548-2824.

An awards ceremony will be held at the Bathurst Curling Club at 8:15 p.m. on the day of the relay, followed by a social at 9 p.m., with the band RISK providing the entertainment. Tickets for the social are $4 for participants and $6 for the general public.

Oldtimers ball tourney postponed

The sky and its generous outpouring of rain were declared champions of the Fourth Annual Beresford Sanford Boudreau Memorial Gentlemen's Baseball Tournament played this weekend in Beresford.



Games were rained out on Thursday, Friday and Sunday to cause the postponement of five games. According to organizers Monday night, options are being explored to hold the remaining games, with a decision rendered within a few days.

Yet to be played is the consolation final in the Oldtimers division, where the Bathurst Moosehead Jets were to do battle with Caraquet Moosehead Dry.

Both semi-final games in the Oldtimers division are also among the ones yet to be played, with one game pitting the defending champion Neguac Merchants against the Petit Rocher Braves, while the other will see the Beresford Aces up against the Belledune Blues.

Bowling anyone?

A youth bowling tournament is set for the Bathurst Bowlarama Friday morning, part of the Bathurst Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department's summer program.

The event is for boys and girls between the ages of six and 18, and will begin at 9 a.m.

Registrations will be accepted at either the city department, or at the Bowlarama immediately before the start of the tournament.

Colorful field found for softball tourney

The New Bandon Softball Association's Mixed Softball Tournament is set to kick off tomorrow Thursday at the Janeville ball field.

The three-day tournament will see 16 mixed teams throughout the area battle it out for the $500 in championship money, and the $300 available to the runner-up.

Rules stipulate that five women must be on the field at all times, with lob pitches the norm.

And the field lined up for the event--divided into four divisions--is a colorful one indeed.

Division One will include Pokeshaw Rock, the Funtimers, the Oddballs, and the Bananaheads. Division Two will consist of the Oldtimers, Roadhouse, Mainville Maulers. and The Right Spot.

Taking part in Division Three action will be the Wild Goose, Blair Daley, Union Centre, and B&M Cleaning Supplies, while Division Four will consist of the Pokeshaw terminators, La Butts, the Garboons, and the Goodtimers.

Midget T-Birds on the playoff trail

The road to the provincials is set to begin for the Midget T-Birds of the Bathurst Minor Baseball Association.

The T-Birds quest for a berth in the provincial showdown begins Friday, when they host Chatham in the first game of their best-of-three Zone Final series at 7 p.m. at the Coronation Park Senior Field.

Game two is slated for Chatham on Saturday, while the third and final game, if necessary, will be held in Bathurst beginning at 1 p.m. Sunday.

In house league action, the Horizon Carpet Phillies outgunned Jim Walter's Yankees 20-13 on July 29 in a Squirt division matchup. Jean-Michel Theriault led the winning attack with a double and a single, while scoring two runs in the process. Dane Frenette put identical stats together for the Yankees.

The Cardinals blanked the Expos 4-0 in a Mosquito division matchup July 30, with Justin Legendre stroking a double in a winning cause. Eric Roy struck out three from the mound for the Expos.

The Expert Fence Pirates doubled the West End Alignment Dodgers 6-3 in a Squirt division game played July 31. Leading the Pirates' offence were Gregory Scott, with two singles and one run scored, and Matthew Garrett, with a triple and a single. Chris Brown led the Dodgers' attack with a single and one run scored.

The first of two games played Aug. 1, a Mosquito division game between the Indians and Giants, was called due to rain with the score tied 0-0. Bud Williams had struck out three Giants before the rains came, while Jennifer Vienneau stroked a single on the Giants' behalf.

Melissa Daigle poked three singles to lead the SGD Concrete A's to an 8-5 decision over the Massé Hardwood Cubs in a Squirt division matchup that same day. Bruno Levesque, with a double and a single, and Joshua Abernethy, with two singles, led the Cubbies' attack.

Coulombe earns Gowan Brae title

Gowan Brae Ladies Club

The Men's Gowan Brae Amateur took place this weekend at the local club. After 36 holes of play the host club's Ricky Coulombe earned the championship trophy by shooting a 77 on Saturday and a fine three-under-par 69 on Sunday.

This popular tournament saw 220 players from around the province and across the country compete for prizes in four divisions.

Junior golfers have a busy schedule of events for the month of August. The North Shore/Gowan Brae Field Day is set for tomorrow Thursday. The Junior Club Championship will be played Aug. 13 and 14. The Junior Awards Banquet will be held Aug. 14 beginning at 6:30 p.m. All parents are encouraged to attend. Tickets for this event are available at the club for $2 apiece.

The Mother and Daughter Tournament is slated for Aug. 18. The final of the four North Shore Junior Field Days, the Miramichi Invitational, which also doubles as the Junior North Shore Championship, will be held Aug. 22.

This Friday Gowan Brae will be hosting the Provincial Family Classic Tournament. On Saturday, teams of 10 male and 10 female golfers will be participating in the North Shore Championship at the Miramichi Golf and Country Club.

Gowan Brae ladies are reminded to submit their entries for the Best Ball Tournament that will be played Aug. 17.

In Evening Ladies' Day play July 30, prize winners were Pat Edwards, Cathy Pratt, Bonnie Vanderpluijm, Rolande Godin, Fran Glover, Irene Legacy, Donna McKay, Sue Wiley, Valerie Dimitroff, and Clara Goguen.

The Morning Ladies' Day events will now have both 18- and nine-hole matches. Please take note that because of the Junior Club Championship next week, Ladies' Day wil be held on Monday morning, Aug. 12, instead of Tuesday.

The annual Leach Mixed Tournament being played this Sunday will have a new format--a three- and four-team scramble. A casserole supper will follow. Entries should be submitted with handicaps by tomorrow Thursday.

Beach volleyball

A beach volleyball tournament will be held at Atlas Park in Pointe Verte Aug. 17 and 18, and everyone is welcome to attend.

Organizers are searching for a maximum of 16 three-member teams--either male, female or mixed--and at least 19 years of age.

The registration fee is $15 per team, and there are many prized available to be won.

To register, or for more information, contact either Alain Cormier at 783-2018 or Allan Lagacé at 783-7278.

The Bathurst Horseman's Club held a Circuit Show recently at its Munroe Street headquarters, with local rider Isabel Michaud capturing the High Point Western Performance crown. Aubé nabs equestrian crowns

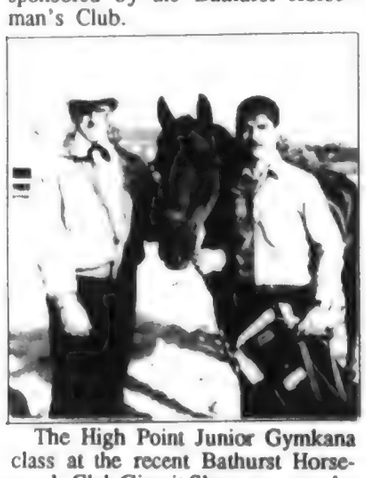
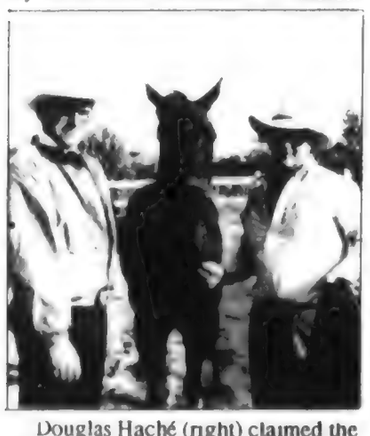
There were 44 titles up for grabs among the approximately 30 participants attending the show, held at the club's Munroe Street headquarters.



Leading the way was Lucille Aubé, who took both the High Point Western Performance and the High Point Open English classes. She won the titles riding Classic Reward.

The High Point Pony Gymkana title was claimed by Marilou Savoie aboard Sweet Tany Girl; Romeo Duguay took the High Point Junior Gymkana title aboard Dudes Lazy Boy; High Point Western Performance titles were won by Martine Chiasson, aboard Angie's Miracle, and Isabel Michaud, riding Gabs Good Chance; and Douglas Haché claimed the High Point Senior Gymkana crown riding Miss Last Reward.



Judging the event was John Perkins of Hampton, Gabrielle Frenette acted as ring mistress, and Anita Dubé was the secretary.

The next circuit show to be hosted by the Bathurst Horseman's Club is set for Sept. 8 at the same locale.

The club would like to thank the sponsors, the ring crew and volunteers who helped make the show a success.

Bantam T-Birds come close to title once again

The Bathurst Bantam A T-Birds baseball team put together another stellar performance over the weekend, earning a bronze medal finish in the eight-team Woodstock Invitational.

The T-Birds started the tournament off Friday with a convincing 16-4 win over Florenceville, a game in which pitchers Denis Lavigne and Todd Kenny combined to strike out 10 and allow only six hits.

Top hitters for the T-Birds were Joey Thibodeau, Jason Roy, Todd Kenny and Jason Vautour, each with a double and a single.

Joey Thibodeau and Roddie MacKenzie combined to strike out 12 batters and allow only five hits in game two against Sherwood, P.E.I., leading the T-Birds to a narrow 5-4 win.

Clay Wesenberg stroked a double and a single, and Jason Vautour a double to lead the T-Birds' offence.

The T-Birds suffered their only loss of the preliminary round-robin to host Woodstock, an 11-9 decision Saturday. Sharing mound duties for the local squad were Todd Kenny, Jason Brown, Sylvain Guignard and Clay Wesenberg.

Leading the hitting department were Roddie MacKenzie, with a home run, double and single; Jason Vautour, with a home run; and Joey Thibodeau and Clay Wesenberg, each with a double and a single.

The Miramichi squad handled the T-Birds 9-3 to head off into the final, despite strong pitching performances by Roddie MacKenzie, Sylvain Guignard and Clay Wesenberg.

Top local hitters in the game were Denis Lavigne, with three singles; and Sylvain Guignard and Denny Duguay, each with a double.

Bathurst played Woodstock for third place Sunday afternoon, gaining a bit of revenge thanks to a 7-6 victory. Handling the mound duties for the T-Birds were Denis Lavigne, Sylvain Guignard and Joey Thibodeau.

Leading the hitting attack were Joey Thibodeau, with a home run and two singles; Denis Lavigne, with two doubles; and Clay Wesenberg, with a pair of singles.

Playoff series decided in Restigouche loop

The Restigouche Intermediate Baseball League has determined which teams will play which in the playoffs, although it does get slightly complicated at times.

The league features teams in three different provincial classifications--Intermediate A, Intermediate B, and Junior B--thus making the playoffs an affair pitting teams within their own class.

Listed as Intermediate A teams are the pennant-winning Eel River Crossing Alpine Expos, with a 17-2 won-lost record; the Beresford Schooners, in second with a 14-6 slate; and Dalhousie, which finished fourth in the seven-team league with a 9-8 record.

The Eel River entry gets a bye into the zone final, while Beresford and Dalhousie squared off last night in Beresford in their best-of-seven semi-final series to determine the other finalist.

Intermediate B teams in the league include Campbellton, third place finishers with an 11-10 slate; the Belledune Mooseheads, fifth at 8-12; and Atholville, which finished at 2-18 to end up in last place.

Campbellton awaits the winner of the best-of-seven semi-final series between Belledune and Atholville to see who they'll face in the zone championship. Belledune drew first blood in the series with a 15-5 decision Sunday evening in Belledune. Game two was played Monday night, although results were unavailable at press time.

The Beresford Junior Bees is the only Junior B entry in the league, thus earning an automatic berth in the provincial showdown slated for later on this summer.

Sharks terrorize ball league

The C.J. Sharks went two-for-two in the win department this past week in New Bandon Men's Softball League action.

The Sharks began the week with a narrow 8-7 victory over Knowles Brothers, with Clinton Jagoe earning the mound win and Kirby Daley the loss.

Harry Knowles was the leading hitter for the winning side with a triple and a single. Knowles Brothers was led by Hancey Miller's double and single.

It was Hornibrook Construction's turn to defeat Jay's Place on Aug. 4, although this time the game was played. Hornibrook won the contest 9-4 thanks to John Morrison's pitching arm. Matthew Daley was tagged with the loss.

Kirk Knowles, with a triple and a double, and Scott Good, with a home run and a single, were the top batters in the winning lineup, while Percy Clouston stroked a triple and Charles Scott a double in a losing effort.

The late game had the C.J. Sharks defeat Sealy Enterprises 8-2, with Clinton Jagoe tossing the winning pitches and Blair Sealy getting tagged with the loss.

Donnie Scott poked a triple and a single to pace the winning attack, while Keith Sealy nailed a homer and a single to lead all Sealy Enterprises batters.

BATHURST MINOR BASEBALL'S

Player of the Week

Gregory Scott

The Bathurst Minor Baseball Association Player of the Week this time around is Gregory Scott, and there's no doubt why.

Gregory, 8, a member of the Squirt division Pirates, pulled off a rare triple play last week while playing third base. He made a diving catch on a line drive, then tagged out runners at third and second who were caught off their bases.

Coaches commented that the young ball player, playing in his first year of minor baseball after four years of t-ball, is a very fast learner and a consistent hitter.

The son of Harry and Georgette Scott of Bathurst, Gregory also enjoys playing hockey, soccer, volleyball and tennis, and collects hockey and baseball cards as a hobby.

Joe Hachey

The Committee to Elect Joe Hachey would like to remind all Bathurst area residents who are members of the Bathurst Liberal Party that a nomination convention to elect a candidate for the forthcoming provincial election is to be held at the Bathurst Arena, Sunday, August 18, 1991.

All members are entitled to participate and vote in a secret ballot.

The election committee is proud to support JOE HACHEY, an individual who has been involved in every aspect of community living in the Bathurst area for the last two decades. He has shown leadership, dedication and committment in every aspect of community life.

We have no doubts that JOE HACHEY'S record of leadership in civic life, sports and recreation will make him a strong and dynamic candidate as a member of the Provincial Government Cabinet when Premier Frank McKenna selects his Cabinet Team after the pending election.

Le comité pour élire Joe Hachey veut rappeler à tous les résidents de Bathurst, membres du parti libéral, que la convention de nomination pour élire le candidat pour représenter la circonscription de Bathurst lors de la prochaine élection provinciale se tiendra à l'aréna de Bathurst, le dimanche 18 août 1991.

Tous les membres peuvent participer et voter lors d'un scrutin secret.

Notre comité d'élection est très fier de supporter Joe Hachey, un individu impliqué dans la communauté de Bathurst, sous tous ses aspects, au cours des deux dernières décennies. Tout au cours de ces années la communauté de Bathurst a pu constater son leadership, son sens des responsabilités et son ardeur à compléter ses dossiers.

Il n'existe aucun doute dans notre esprit que son leadership antérieur tant sur les plans civil, sportif et récrétif fera de lui un candidat émérité (fort et dynamique) pour faire partie du cabinet du Premier Ministre Frank McKenna, lorsque ce dernier choisira son équipe de ministres après la prochaine élection.

ASSOCIATION LIBÉRALE FÉDÉRALE COMTÉ DE GLOUCESTER

'Plaques' playoffs now underway

The quarter-final playoff matchups are all set in the Fabrication of Plaques City Softball League.

Fifth place C&G Smith Trucking will meet fourth place Brasserie O'St. Pierre in one of the best-of-seven series, while sixth place Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters will tangle with third place Bistro Terrasse in the other. Both series got underway Tuesday at the Bosca-Buraglia field in East Bathurst.

B.J. Furs and Penguin Club, first and second place finishers respectively, earned a bye into the semi-finals.

The final regular season games of the season were played during the past week, starting with the July 29 10-6 victory by B.J. Furs over Bistro Terrasse. Eddy Couture tossed the winning pitches in this one, with Robbie Arseneau tagged with the loss.

Andy Chan nailed a home run, a double and a single to lead the winning side from the plate, with Roger Arseneau hitting a pair of singles in a losing effort.

The late game saw Penguin Club keep pace with the league leaders by edging C&G Smith trucking 10-9. Danny Daigle was the winning hurler, with Carl Smith nailed with the loss.

Leading the winners from the batter's box were Terry Paré, with a home run, double and single, and Roger Chamberlain, with a triple, double and single. Pacing the C&G Smith Trucking attack was Kevin Peters, with a double and two singles.

Marc-André Comeau tossed the winning pitches for Brasserie O'St. Pierre on July 30 as they defeated the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters 20-11. Gilles Couture was tagged with the loss.

Ricky Hondas stroked a triple and a single to lead the winning side, with Terry Chiasson getting a double and two singles on Penguin Club's behalf.

Bistro Terrasse edged B.J. Furs 8-7 in the only match played July 31, with Robbie Arseneau tossing the winning pitches and Louis Couture the losing ones.

Brasserie O'St. Pierre defeated the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters 16-10 in the final game of the week Aug. 1, with Alfred Arseneau the winning pitcher and Roger Haché tagged with the loss.

Track meet tonight at ESN

The Provincial Twilight Series track and field meet will be held tonight behind Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit, and all are welcome to take part.

Co-sponsored by Athletics Canada and Atletics New Brunswick, and held in conjunction with the city's Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department, this event is designed only to present an opportunity for exercise and to test an athlete's skills against others. There are no prizes offered.

The event is open to people of all ages. Organizers will be seeding competitors according to their ability.

Track events include the 200-, 800-, 3,000- and 4x100-metre relays, while field events will consist of the long jump, discus and javelin.

The event will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., with registrations accepted prior to the start of competition. A $1 registration fee will cover the cost of all track events, the same fee charged for all field events as well.

Teams needed for mixed volleyball

The city's Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department wishes to inform the public that it's not too late to take part in its annual Mixed Volleyball Tournament.

The event, slated for tomorrow Thursday at Coronation Park from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., is for anyone between the ages of 14 and 18.

Teams will consist of six players, of which at least two must be female.

Registrations can be made at the Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department today Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and again tomorrow Thursday from 8 a.m. to 8:45 a.m. There will be a registration fee of $6 per team.

For more information, please call the city department at 548-0410.

MVP FOR JUNE

The Most Valuable Player in the South Bathurst Alpine Softball League for the month of June was Etienne Pitre (right), a pitcher with league-leading Robertville Roi du Poulet.

Pitre was on the mound for four wins in the month of June, with no losses during that time, and also helped his own cause with a .571 batting average.

Presenting a spring/fall Alpine jacket to Pitre for his outstanding play is league president Bob Sullivan, on behalf of local Moosehead Breweries representative J.P. Picard.

Female boxer begins career

On The Ropes

By "Wild" BILL HUDON

A female boxer's dream came true.

She was involved in her first fight in Sydney, N.S. last week, winning a three-round decision over Jenny Reid of Kingston, Ont.

She is the first lady ever to be registered as a boxer with the association. There are other women registered, but as members, not boxers.

Robitaille is no starnger to the man at the top. Just last year, during a New Brunswick Amateur Boxing Association board of directors meeting in Fredericton, we had turned our thumbs down on her request to be registered, but today it's a whole new ball game. She is a boxer, but can only box with other girls. And why not? We have girls in hockey, wrestling and baseball, why not boxing?

Oh yes, I almost forgot, Robitaille is originally from Edmonton, Alta., now living in Fredericton. Her coach is Doug Hamilton, a good friend of mine who is a coach with the Fredericton Amateur Boxing Club.

New Brunswick held its first ever Pro-Am card in Moncton Sunday.

For those of you who don't know what a Pro-Am is, it's professional and amateur boxers competing on the same card.

Like I said above, it's the first time we've ever had one of these in New Brunswick. Yours truly worked the Amateur portion of the card as a judge.

I met a former young boxing lion from Bathurst last week. I bumped into young Pat O'Neil while he was home on vacation. Pat is no stranger to the sport of boxing. He did very well with the Bathurst Boxing Club. He fought eight times, and went to the Canada Games in 1987.

But you're not involved with boxing forever; school comes first. Have a good day, Pat.

Oh yes, I almost forgot. Pat is a member of the Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department's summer staff. Hey boss, don't mess around with Pat.

"Wild" Bill Hudon is a member of the Canadian Boxing Hall of Fame and the Bathurst Sports Hall of Fame.

Jays and Angels triumph

The Blue Jays and the Angels highlighted Beaver division action this week in the Bathurst Minor Baseball Association with a pair of victories each.

The Jays trounced the Twins twice, the first of which was a 7-4 victory thanks to the pitching arms of Kirk Doucet and Jamie Doucet. Brian Jagoe was tagged with the loss.

Leading the Blue Jays from the batter's box was Justin Kane, with a double and a single. Greg Allain stroked a triple to lead all Twins' batters.

Justin Kane went the distance in the mound for the Blue Jays in win number two over the Twins, a 9-6 victory. Scott Petrie was the losing hurler.

Leading the Jays' offence were Jean-Pierre Goulard, with a ho' run; Serge Duguay, with a triple and a single; and Kirk Doucet and Jamie Doucet, each with a double and a single. Headlining the Twins' attack was Brian Jagoe, with a double.

The Angels' Timothy Basque also went the distance in the first of two victories over the White Sox during the past week, a 7-4 decision over fellow hurlers Bruno Doucet and Jean-Lou Roy.

Leading the Angels from the plate were James Vienneau, with a triple and a single; and Neil Daigle, with a double.

Scott Donnelly was the winning pitcher in the Angels' 13-1 rout of the White Sox in their second matchup, with Jason Taggart and Bruno Doucet tagged with the loss.

Dempseys celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary

Family and friends of John and Frances Dempsey recently gathered in Pokeshaw to celebrate the couple's 50th anniversary.

An afternoon mass was held in their honor at St. Simon-St. Jude church in Grande Anse, followed by a supper and dance at the Pokeshaw-Black Rock Recreational Centre.

Their oldest son, Jack, who acted as master of ceremonies for the event, acknowledged visitors from Vermont, Maine, Massachusetts, Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

All eleven of the Dempsey family, nine sons and two daughters, were present for the celebration along with 21 grandchildren, Mr. Dempsey's two brothers, Bill and Lawrence, and nine members of the O'Hearn family.

A poem, which paid tribute to the couple's achievements over the years, was recited by their nephew, Larry Dempsey, while Jodie Grant spoke on behalf of all the grandchildren.

Clarence Fournier and Alcide Boudreau, along with Joseph O'Hearn, provided an evening of guitar and fiddle playing.

In addition to the well wishes from their many friends and relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey also received letters of congratulations from the Governor General of Canada, the Premier of New Brunswick, and Speaker of the House and Nepisiguit-Chaleur MLA Frank Branch.

Unexpected surprise at camp

From my Window

A bird watcher's observations
By MARY GAUTHIER

Ronald had an unexpected surprise last Sunday at our camp. We were poking along the shoreline and up flew a rather drab brown bird.

I assumed it was a young gull. Minutes later, two more birds flew from the same brush pile. One landed just over our heads; it was a young American bittern, our famous bird we have at Daly Point. Quite a few Daly Pointers heard him this past spring as he calls for a mate sounding like an old-fashioned water pump.

We had come upon a mother and her two young. We continued on our way and the three of them returned to their shoreline spot.

We also saw several broods of ducks. One red-breasted merganser mom had 27 ducklings with her. What a sight to see them running along the water, here, thereand all over.

Early Saturday morning I saw a black duck and her young. It was very misty, and with some imagination they could have been a river monster. They were slowly swimming along, mom first and then nine large ducklings, or a large head and nine humps, twisting and winding its way through the fog.

I hope everyone's hummers are back. My three are constantly at the feeders after being scarce for the past two weeks.

Note Thanks to Vinna Taylor for dropping off an article on the Birdman of Saskatchewan. I really appreciate and enjoy people who take the time to come to my house or call me, when they want to share a bird story or interesting article.

Gloucester Gourmet

As a busy homemaker, Martha Hudon has elevated her cooking skills into a fine art.

At least that's the opinion of her husband, "Wild" Bill Hudon, who is the popular boxing columnist for The Northern Light.

When Martha isn't walking for exercise, tending to the administrative duties at the Bathurst Boxing Club, or attending national boxing events, such as the Canada Games, with her husband, she tends to his appetite.

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI
1 large can tomato sauce
1 lb hamburger
1 chopped onion
½ chopped green pepper
mushrooms
1-2 drops tabasco sauce
salt and pepper

Mix the ingredients, the quantities of which can be varied to taste, and cook at medium heat for one hour.

Every month, a draw will be held, with one of our Gloucester Gourmets for that month winning a cake from Jamieson's Save-Easy in the Place Bathurst Mall. To enter, simply submit a recipe along with your name and telephone number and The Northern Light will make arrangements to get you into the Gloucester Gourmet column for your chance to win! Our winner for the month of July is Mrs. George Crowther.

BRANCH CITED FOR TEACHING EXCELLENCE

Gary Branch (right), a teacher and guidance counsellor at Superior Junior High School, has been awarded the NBTel Award for Excellence in Teaching. The award was presented by NBTel representative Brian Reid during the New Brunswick Teachers' Association annual dinner, recently held in Fredericton. The citation stated "Gary Branch is a model of the role teachers play in today's society. He is a doer, but more importantly, he encourages his students and colleagues to be doers as well. By example, Gary encourages all those he touches to become involved, to be a positive influence on their surroundings, and to encourage and help others to succeed."

Wine regions to visit, near and far

Travel Today

By VINCENT EGAN
Travel Columnist
Thomson News Service

Ever since the ancient Persians learned to ferment grapes and produce wine, the art of wine-making has been spreading throughout the world.

Many of the most productive vineyards are on sun-splashed hillsides, so it's hardly surprising that the wine regions are always among the most attractive areas of the producing country — whether you love wine or never touch it.

--Ontario: The Niagara peninsula is notable for the variety of its wineries, all in one of Canada's most scenic areas. The large, century-old, vine-covered Bright's winery in Niagara Falls contrasts with the smaller, modern Inniskillin winery on the outskirts of Niagara-on-the-Lake (site of the summer-long Shaw Festival). In the aptly named community of Vineland, the local winery has its own restaurant, and a cottage on the estate has become a bed-and-breakfast home.

By following a sign-posted route, motorists can move between the heights of the Niagara escarpment and the sunny, sheltered regions close to the Niagara River and Lake Ontario, stopping to visit wineries as well as farmhouses selling fresh produce. In St. Catharines, the 10day Niagara Grape and Wine Festival will begin Friday, Sept. 20.

--British Columbia: The ingredients here are attractive communities such as Kelowna, the lakes, the mountains surrounding the Okanagan valley, and the variety of fine foods — local fruits and vegetables, British Columbia salmon — that are served with the local wine. This year's Okanagan Wine Fstival takes place Oct. 4 to 13.

--Northern California: Two side-by-side valleys yield excellent grapes and fine wines. While the name of the Napa valley may be better known, the neighboring Sonoma valley is more attractive, both in scenery and in the 30-plus well kept wineries that tourists may visit.

In contrast wit the womewhat nondescript town of Napa, the town of Sonoma evokes images of Old Mexico, with its mission church, its leafy central plaza and its adobe barracks.

For a free guidebook, write to Sonoma County Visitors Bureau, 10 Fourth St., Santa Rosa, Calif., 95401, telephone 707-528-7520. This year's vintage festival in Sonoma takes place Sept. 28 and 29.

--New York: The Finger Lakes region, southeast of Rochester, is dotted with wineries large and small, on the hillsides of the 11 narrow lakes. The village of Hammondsport on Keuka Lake is home to well-known wineries not far from the picturesque village square. The New York State Wine Festival is being held this weekend in Buffalo.

Some of North America's best-preserved towns from the 18th and 19th centuries are on the shores of the Finger Lakes — for example, Geneva on Seneca Lake. Not far away: Elmira, where Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) spent several summers; Ithaca on Cayuga Lake, site of Cornell University, and Corning, with its famous glass museum.

--France: The Burgundy region, some 80 km south of Paris, is green and rolling, made all the more pleasant by the abundance of excellent country restaurants. The very names of the towns, such as Beaune and Nuits-St.-Georges, are music to the ear of wine-fanciers.

France's other great wine region is Bordeaux or, to be more accurate, Aquitaine — the Atlantic coastal region of which the ancient city of Bordeaux is the heart. It's onely three hours from Paris by express train. The region is flatter than Burgundy, but no less pleasing to the eye, with its nob;e chateaux that have given their names to renowned wines. Example: Chateau Lynch-Bages outside the town of Pauillac in the Medoc district, which has an elegant restaurant and where educational courses are held frequently for wine professionals as well as amateurs.

-- South Africa: The Wine Route, in Cape province, traverses the broad, fertile valleys of the Berg, Eerste and Bree rivers. Stellenbosh, best preserved of the towns founded by the Dutch East India Company, is noted for its university, its oak-shaded streets and its many nearby wine estates. Another sizeable city is Paarl, where the giant KWV co-operative offers especially interesting winery tours.

TRAIN RIDE

--Spain: Sant Sadurni d'Anoia, in northeastern Spain, only a short train ride from Barcelona (site of the 1992 Summer Olympics), is a centre for the production of naturally sprakling wines. The biggest winery here is Freixenet (a Catalan name, pronounced "fresh-net"), a century-old.

Businessman at odds with Canada Post

Allegations that Canada Post is squeezing the life out of courier and flyer distribution companies are being felt locally.

"They're out to destroy our industry," said Gary Winsor, owner of the Bathurst companies Impression Printing and Budget Delivery.

Canada Post has been accused of unjustly squeezing out competitors by slashing prices on priority parcel and unaddressed mail delivery.

It is allegedly doing so by cross-subsidizing those markets with monies culled from its other, non-competitive products and services.

"(The cost of) post office boxes and stamps will be going up again; I blame that on cross-subsidizing," Mr. Winsor said.

Canada Post has a monopoly on letter-distribution services, but competes with private companies for distribution of flyers and delivery of priority parcels.

However, the crown corporation's alleged cross-subsidizing activities have caused the private firms to feel they are losing their ability to compete.

Mr. Winsor's solution has been to set up his own mailbox system, in order to get his flyers out to the public.

Previously, he had subcontracted to Canada Post, which distributed his Budget Delivery flyer packages to post office boxes and households.

However, changes the corporation made to its discount rate system for high-volume delivery firms such as his have forced him out.

"It caused my rates to go up thirty per cent," he said, referring to his loss of eligibility to receive discount rates, because of the changes.

In the past six weeks, Mr. Winsor has set up 200 boxes in various locations throughout the north shore. By this winter, he hopes to increase that number to 1,000. Door-to-door delivery is also used in some areas.

The system is working, creating jobs and putting money back into the community.

"The money spent at the post office will now be spent in the local economy," Mr. Winsor noted, adding fees paid to Canada Post do not return to the community, but quickly end up in Ottawa.

Although the box system is all he can do "to stay in the ball game," Mr. Winsor agrees with the recommendation from the Coalition of Canada Post Competitors, that a regulatory body be set up to serve as a watchdog over the now unregulated crown corporation.

"(The cost of) post office boxes and stamps will be going up again; I blame that on cross-subsidizing."

The Coalition, which represents newspapers, couriers and distributors, has led the fight against Canada Post. Their allegations, including the charge that Canada Post doctored its financial books to show a larger profit, have been documented in a report titled Analysis of Canada Post Performance.

In a release from Ottawa, the Canada Post Corporation dismissed the charges as "utter nonsense."

"The (Coalition) itself has conceded that its claims are unsubstantiated," it noted, adding the allegations have been presented without evidence.

In the release, Robert Sirois, Canada Post's vice-president of marketing and sales, said the corporation sets its prices in response to the competitive forces in the marketplace.

"The claims made by the group about cross-subsidization and disguised financial losses are nothing short of utter nonsense."

The release noted Canada Post has only about 25 per cent of the unaddressed advertising market across the country, adding advertisers are attracted to Canada Post mainly because the corporation delivers to all households.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

In response to the charge of shady accounting practices, Canada Post made public the auditor's report from its 1990-91 financial report.

The release quoted from the report, in which the auditor concluded that the financial statements were fair and accurate.

Further, it was noted the allegations made by the Coalition against Canada Post are nothing new, but have never been proven.

LARGE or small, we can handle it all.

"If you take away a person's ability to work, you might as well take away his reason for living."

These words were spoken by Majella Haché of Robertville who has regained an active life thanks to the Job Creation program offered by the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission.

Mr. Haché lost the use of his legs following a vehicle accident in 1971. After many years out of the workforce, the CEIC program helped him obtain employment at Northcoast Electronics, a Bathurst firm.

This program enabled Mr. Haché to obtain training as an electronic maintenance technician, and to gain work experience.

Mr. Laurier Dumaresq, owner of Northcoast Electronics, is very satisfied with Mr. Haché's work. The program also enabled the firm to adapt their premises to Mr. Haché's needs.

Another benefit of the program is that it helped Mr. Haché regain his confidence. He now believes he is ready to respond to the needs of the job market.

Mr. Haché says that he can finally live a normal life. Now 50, he says that being confined to his home was the cause of a great deal of stress. It was difficult to set long-term goals.

"When we work, we can also dream," he concluded.

Mr. Haché's case shows the difficulties faced by handicapped persons. One of the objectives of the C.E.I.C. is to offer programs which will help them adapt to the needs of the job market.

SMI could be reopened in October

The SMI Industries Inc. plant in the industrial park in East Bathurst could reopen as early as October.

In a published news report last week, a plant official was quoted as saying SMI "could re-open in October, but won't be back at full capacity — depending on contracts we get — until 1992."

The company went bankrupt in March, but it was announced last week the Toronto Dominion Bank has accepted an offer to buy the plant. The bank accepted a bid from an unnamed Montreal firm, which will rename the plant SMI Automotive Inc.

SMI will continue to manufacture runway sweepers and snowblowers, and perhaps go into the manufacture of air conditioning units, said plant manager Gerald Pettigrew.

When the company went under in March, it owed $7.6 million to the Toronto Dominion Bank, and about $4 million in goods and services bills to various companies in Canada and the United States.

By PAUL BAGNELL
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

A 55-year-old priest who says he's never been one for politics has spent almost two years there. A former coach of Poland's wrestling team is in his 10th month. A third man, after three years, recently became something of a national folk hero.

Many come to Parliament Hill duo demonstrate, but few take it on as a daily vocation. For those who do, an unshakeable confidence that their lonely demonstrations will eventually make a difference is the key prerequisite.

And if ever creeping doubt was beginning to take hold, it surely vanished in July when one of their own — self-styled corruption fighter Glen Kealey — scored a smashing success in an Ottawa courtroom.

What does it take to keep coming back day after day with your placards, leaflets and hopes?

"Truth," says Kealey, still basking in the flood of recognition he has received since being given the go-ahead to lay criminal charges against 13 prominent Tories and three RCMP officials.

"Nuts don't sustain themselves over any period of time," Kealey says "The crazies, they come and go. But those people who believe in what they know to be the truth have no difficulty with hanging tough."

A little money also helps. Kealy, 50, says he has survived on donations — $3,200 in 1989, $5,000 last year and $6,000 so far this year — and free accommodation from supporters.

Czeslaw Pieszkor quit a well-paying job in British Columbia to come to Ottawa close to a year ago and says he's still getting by on his savings.

TORTURED TALE

From 1970 to 1980, Pieszkor coached Poland's national wrestling team, accompanying some of the country's best athletes to Olympic Games in Munich, Montreal and Moscow.

These days, he spends up to 10 hours a day, seven days a week, demonstrating on Parliament Hill.

Pieszkor, 56, says he was unfairly convicted of arson in a New Westminster court in 1985. An appeal to the B.C. Supreme Court was denied because he was late in filing the documents, he says.

Until the arson charge is expunged, Pieszkor says he will not be allowed to contact his two children, who live with his ex-wife in Victoria.

In fractured English, and with a sheaf of documents in his hand, Pieszkor eagerly goes over the whole tortured tale; the accusation that he set a neighbor's house on fire; the safe-deposit box with $500,000 in rare Polish coins; the lawyer who, he says, took advantage of his lack of English to trick him into signing over his life savings.

"I want ot clear my name," he says to a visitor on a blistering summer afternoon, the 25th day of the 10th month of his protest. he holds up pages of a petition now bearing the names of 2,600 sympathetic passers-by. When he reaches 5,000 names, he says, Justice Minister Kim Campbell will have little choice but to order a new trial.

"This is power," he says, waving the petition. "Hey, this is Canada, not Russia. This is democratic country. Has excellent constitution."

When Rev. Tony Van Hee arrived in Ottawa in September 1989 to begin picketing daily against abortion, he likely had no idea what he was in for. The Jesuit priest has since been jailed twice for his silent demonstration and been whisked in and out of the national media spotlight.

RULES CHANGED

Twice during his time on the Hill, the rules governing demonstrations have been made more restrictive, once by the government and once by RCMP officials. Both times, Van Hee has refused to comply.

In June, he won a significant victory. An Ottawa judge acquitted him of obstructing a peace officer, a charge laid by the RCMP three months earlier when Van Hee carried an anti-abortion placard beyond a crowd-control barrier on the Hill and quietly refused to move back.

Judge Paul Belanger called the charge "arbitrary, unnecessary and unjustified.

"If freedom of speech is not patently and conspicuously seen to be cherished (on the Hill)," Belanger asked, "how can it meaningfully be seen to be protected and cherished anywhere else in Canada?"

975 Sutherland Ave.

My name is Snoopy, and although it's not a very original name, I am somewhat of an original dog.

I'm a five-month-old male terrier, beige in color, and have an all-around good disposition. The original thing about me revolves around my paws, one of which is shaved. The reason for that is because I was biten by a big dog, and the veterinarian had to shave the fur off so he could stitch me up.

I know it sounds painful, but I didn't complain once; that's just the kind of hound I am.

GOOD ONE DEAR, GOOD ONE

Former city councillor Stephen Brunet played a practical joke on his wife Joan Sunday, acknowledging her 40th brithday celebration by placing Bart Simpson cut-outs around the couple's home, each with various slogans about her age. Stephen, a shop teacher at J.G. Chalmers Junior High, spent many hours in his woodshop to complete the practical joke, with the help of his daughter Stephanie and student Randy Goldrup. The joke was part of a family tradition, which calls for family members to embarass, in a lighthearted way of course, those turning 40 years of age. Joan, a registered nurse, was greeted by family and friends from Bathurst and the Miramichi on Sunday at her Riverside Drive home.

SINGING WITH THE IRISH

Bathurst musician Dennis Leger took the stage with the Jubilee Singers and Our Lady of the Rosary Choir, as part of the local entertainment during the Inishowen Tour show at the Bathurst Arena July 31. The Inishowen Tour featured about 100 artists from Ireland, and was in Bathurst July 31 and Aug. 1 The tour itself was in New Brunswick from July 18 to Aug. 4. The July 31 show at the Bathurst Arena featured a number of local entertainers, making the evening a multicultural event.

Choir from Belgium to sing

A boys choir from Belgium will perform in Bathurst next week, in conjunction with the city's 25th anniverary celebrations.

Know as the Petits Chanteurs de Waterloo, the boys choir will perform at Bathurst High School Aug. 15. The concert starts at 8 p.m., and admission is $5 for children and adults.

The choir is comprised of children, aged eight to 14 years, who are recruited from schools in Waterloo, Belgium. The group is known internationally for its exceptional musical renditions of classical works by Mozart and Haydyn, and works by contemporary arts like Gershwin, Corboz, and Ramirez.

The choir coming to Bathurst consists of 35 children, of whom the youngest is 10-years-old, and 15 adults, under the direction of the choir's founder, Bernard Pagnier.

The choir was founded in 1974. The local appearance is sponsored by Chorale Voidunor and the Bathurst Silver Jubilee Committee.

Tickets are available in advance from any member of the Chorale Voidunor, or the Silver Jubilee committee. Tickets will also be on sale at the door.

Bad year for concerts

The inaugural concert season at Magnetic Hill is a wash-out, but New Brunswick isn't the only place where touring acts are having times tough.

The Aug. 8 issue of Rolling Stone contains a detailed report on how poorly some top-rated pop and rock artists are doing on the road this year. One of those mentioned is Whitney Houston, who was to have played the Moncton concert site this month.

The article says the Grammy Award-winning singer drew only 9,500 fans to a concert in Miami, in an arena with a capaicity for 16,500 people. She fare no better in Austin, Texas (5,500 in a 17,500-capacity facility), or in Birmingham, Alabama (4,649 at a 19,000-capacity coliseum).

The unprofitabale touring season is blamed in the article on the poor economy, and the fact so many acts are on the raod at the same time.

Houston, Rod Stewart, The Beach Boys, and Peter Paul and Mary were all scheduled to play Magnetic Hill. The Beach Boys cancelled first, but slow ticket sales for the other acts eventually led to an announcement Aug. 1, that all three remaining shows were off.

"It is evident the recession has won," said promoter Frank J. Russo in a release.

"Very slow ticket sales for our Whitney Houston performance, on top of the cancellation of our Beach Boys show, has made it impossible for us to proceed, and has destroyed our marketing credibility for the season."

Meanwhile, Bathurst too has felt the brunt of the current recession, in terms of live music. Glass Tiger cancelled its Bathurst stopover at the local arena last week, and advance ticket sales were reportedly less than 50.

Unlike Platinum Blonde, a group that didn't exactly sell out its Bathurst concert in 1988, Glass Tiger is hardly a hasbeen act: their latest single was No. 5 on the Much-Music video chart last week.

MUSICAL FRIENDS

John Vienneau and his band performed in the Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit cafeteria July 30, as part of Seniors' Day in Bathurst. They were the opening act for Les Violoneux Du Bon Vieux Temps, a traditional French folk group from St. Pierre and Miquelon islands. Consisting of a guitarist, an accordion player and three of the only remaining fiddle players on the islands, Les Violoneux Du Bon Vieux Temps are currently on a Maritime tour. The tour is part of a cultural exchange between the St. Pierre and Miquelon islands Cultural Centre, and concert organizers from the Provincial Cultural Societies Council, with assistance from the Société Culturelle Régionale Népisiguit. Shown are guitarist Aldeo Robichaud (left) and John Vienneau.

J. L. CONVENIENCE VIDEO REVIEW

By MICHAEL J. BOURGUIGNON
Northern Light Staff

Postcards from the Edge

The underbelly of Hollywood stardom is tastefully exposed in this film, written by, and based on the life of, Carrie Fisher.

Meryl Streep (She-Devil) plays an actress teetering on the edge, burdened with problems ranging from a nasty drug habit, to an alcoholic mother, a sleazy quasi-boyfriend and pressures at work.

Shirley MacLaine (Steel Magnolias) puts in an emotional performance as the mother, and Dennis Quaid, although not at his best, is believable as a manipulative sleazeball. Remember his portrayal of a crooked Cajun cop in The Big Easy? Same thing.

Postcards From the Edge, aside from having what could be considered a witty title, is mostly serious fodder, with clever, essential dialogue.

Those who don't go in for real-life stories as Postcards presents will still find something to appreciate here, whether it be the fine acting of Streep and Gene Hackman, or the musical contribution of Canadian rockers Blue Rodeo.

Masters of Menace

Imagine Animal House on motorcycles.

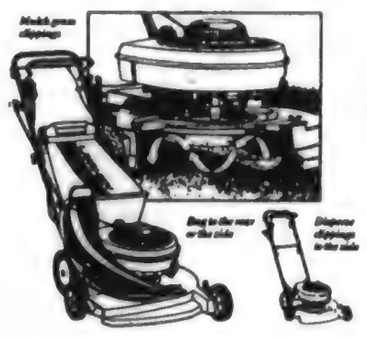
On its own, Masters of Menace is just another low-rate, cheap gag biker film. It's about a motorcycle club called the Road Masters, who violate parole to travel to Las Vegas, where they plan to bury a fallen brother.



On the run from the law and an overzealous district attorney, they get into the typical road movie situations along the way: strip clubs, food fights and beer parties.

The difference is the producers somehow managed to snag a few big ticket actors for small cameo appearances.

Jim Belushi is briefly hilarious as the biker who dies, John Candy appears as the driver of a beer truck, and a bloated Dan Aykroyd is a former Road Master and daredevil has-been, with Cheers' George Wendt (Norm) as his manager.

Take them away, however, and you've got a clunker.

Crenna and Carroll star in police drama

In the TV movies "Double Take" and "Internal Affairs," New York City detective Lt. Frank Janek (Richard Crenna) battled police corruption while solving grisly murder cases. When a recently appointed black police commissioner is murdered, Janek reunites with his partner (Cliff Gorman) to uncover the crime in the 1990 sequel "Murder in Black and White" (CBS, Aug. 4). The commissioner's widow (Diahann Carroll) figures prominently in this third installment of the crime drama, when she and Janek develop a strong attraction to each other.

• Melissa Gilbert stars in the 1990 drama "Joshua's Heart" (NBC, Aug. 9) as Claudia, a young woman who falls in love with a man and finds herself becoming deeply attatched to his son, Joshua.

Former Exile singer now solo act

J.P. Pennington--Whatever It Takes

J.P. Pennington is yet another to leave a successful band and seek a solo career. He is the second to leave the country rock group, Exile. Les Taylor preceded him and is having mild success, but unlike Taylor's recent album, Pennington's debut contains better meterial.

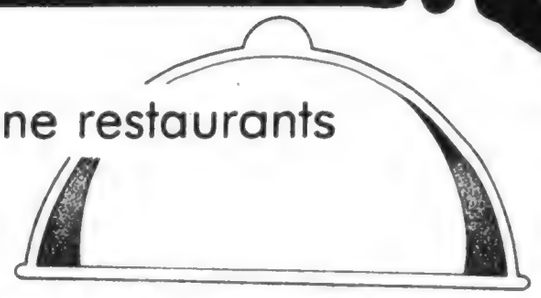
As lead singer, lead guitarist and primary songwriter, for Exile, his catchy lyrics and supercharged rhythms kept the group at the top of the charts. "Whatever It Takes" introduces a familiar, proven artistic voice with a strikingly different approach.

From R&B to reggae, from blues to boogie, the musical flavors on "Whatever It Takes" all rest on a bed of country music that reflects Pennington's life as a musician. The album is filled with great sounding songs, but the ones most likely to have chart action are, "Night Is Falling (In My Heart)," "Watcha Trying To Do," "You Gotta Get Serious" and "Blue Highway", with the ballad "Old Familiar Ring" being the best cut.

If I was to pick the second single release, I's have to say "You Gotta Get Serious." The title track and debut single is leading the way for Pennington's new solo career, and by the sounds of things, Pennington still has what it takes!.

BIRTHDAYS

One of Nashville's most successful contemporary songwriters and producers, Rodney Crowell was born Aug. 7, 1950 in Houston, Texas, and moved to Nashville in the early '70s, determined to become a songwriter.



Rodney's luck change when a chance meeting with Brian Ahern, former husband of Emmylou Harris, led to a move to California where he joined Emmylou's Hot Band in 1975.

Staying with the band for over two years, he wrote several songs before embarking on a solo career in 1977, and coming up with the critically acclaimed Ain't Living Long Like This album. In 1979 he married Rosanne Cash (daughter of Johnny) and went on to produce successful albums for Rosanne as well as himself. Rodney Crowell celebrates his 41st birthday today Wednesday.

Until next week, keep whistling.

Joe Jackson is still on his mark

Joe Jackson--Laughter & Lust

Joe Jackson has always been known for his musical integrity — no easy feat in these times of sponsored tours and corporate radio. From his pure pop days of Look Sharp, through the hopped-up jazz of Beat Crazy, to the cinema noir quality of Night And Day, Jackson has made music from the heart, not from conversations with his accountant.

Many records later, Jackson is still hitting his mark: Laughter And Lust is one of the better discs of 1991. There's driving rock on the sardonic "Obvious Song," and more of Jackson's finely-honed wit on "Hit Single." Jackson perhaps shines brightest on the quieter moments: "The Other Me" is a poignant look at a failing relationship, that rings truer than any hokey power ballad you'll hear in the Top Ten.

Adult music of the highest quality.

(A&M Records)

The Corndogs--What The Hell Is Going On?

A band from the Hamilton, Ont. area, The Corndogs have produced a fairly satisfying debut, but don't look for any of the grungy guitar rock implied by the name.

While basically an alternative rock group, The Corndogs have a strong white boy funk edge, particularly on tracks like "No Boss No Paycheque" and "So Many Of Us" — they even cover Sly Stone's "Africa Talks To You." Margo Timmons of Cowboy Junkies shows up for a duet on the ballad "Fly Away," and "John Nothing" is recommended listening for anyone who ever hated their roommate.

Your Week Ahead Horoscope

Forecast Period: August 11 - August 17, 1991

ARIES Mar. 21-Apr. 19 — Take the time to do that redecorating that you have been avoiding. Superior gives you new opportunities to show your creativity.

TAURUS Apr. 20-May 20 — Secrets that you have hidden for many years deserve to be told. Be careful when discussing family matters with outsiders. Use discretion.

GEMINI May 21-June 20 — By working in harmony with peers you will succeed in your endeavors. Your accomplishments will be rewarded.

CANCER June 21-July 22 — Daydreams will not get the job done. If your mind is not involved in work, plan to take time off for relaxation. Then prepare to double up when you get back.

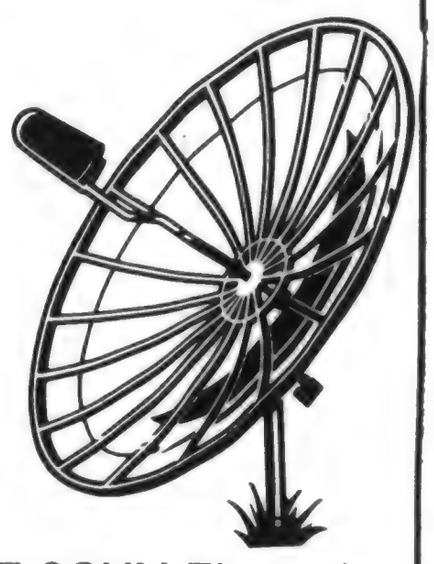
LEO July 23-Aug. 22 — Investments should be left to one better qualified to handle them. Companionship of unexpected guest lifts your spirits and surprises both of you.

VIRGO Aug. 23-Sept. 22 — Steer clear of mate. His or her mental condition will only serve to further deteriorate the relationship. Time away from each other would be good right now.

LIBRA Sept. 23-Oct. 22 — Excitement abounds at work. Do not indulge in the rumor-mill but do not be surprised if what you hear is true.

SCORPIO Oct. 23-Nov. 21 — Tackle that problem that has reared its ugly head and get it behind you. Dine out to celebrate your success.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22-Dec. 21 — A career move may be just what you need to release your creative juices. Be candid with management. Stick to your guns.



CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 19 — New and influential contacts will be made through old friends. A big breakthrough will put you in the spotlight. Keep ideas on marriage to yourself.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 18 — Privacy may be what you want but companionship with one who is very special is what is needed. Domestic problem arises; don't neglect responsibilities.

PISCES Feb. 19-Mar. 20 — Pay attention to the lines of communication at work. You may be overlooking an obvious problem. Be discreet.

Mrs. Irma Doucet of Bathurst, looked over some switchboard equipment Aug. 9, used many years ago by her late husband, Vincent A. Doucet. The equipment is part of the Bathurst History in Review heritage display at the Nepisiguit Centennial Library, running through until the end of August. About 50 people from the region donated old paintings, photographs and articles — including the switchboard, in use for many years at the recently-demolished W.J. Kent and Co. Ltd. store on Main Street. The exhibit was organized by the Bathurst Heritage Trust Commission to help celebrate New Brunswick Day. Vincent A. Doucet was a yard agent for the railroad for 46 years.

Grits make choice Sunday

The successor to Bathurst MLA Paul Kenny will be chosen Sunday afternoon, when the Bathurst Liberal Association holds its nominating convention.

"I'm sure he will have some remarks," association President Albert Lavigne said of Mr. Kenny, who is expected to speak at the convention. The convention is slated for 2 p.m. at the Bathurst Arena.

For health reasons, Mr. Kenny is not reoffering in this year's provincial election, expected in late September or October.

In the race to succeed Mr. Kenny as the bearer of the Liberal colors for the riding of Bathurst are businessman Joe Hachey and city councillors Gordon Kenny and Marcelle Mersereau. Another local businessman Keaton Davis was to have also sought the nomination, but has since withdrawn his name.

Each candidate will have 15 minutes "to do their thing," Mr. Lavigne said, after which their names are officially entered into the race by way of a motion. Voting will start after the speeches.

The executive of the Bathurst Liberal Association has invited New Brunswick Premier Frank McKenna to attend the convention as guest speaker.

There are 4,600 Liberals eligible to cast their ballots Sunday. Those who wish to vote must be present for registration, which begins at 10 a.m. and continues until 2 p.m.

Candidates still campaigning hard

Liberal hopefuls are campaigning hard this week, putting in as much legwork as possible before Sunday's Liberal nominating convention.

"I'm campaigning full-blast," said Gordon Kenny, who has been concentrating on meeting Bathurst constituents by going door-to-door.

"I've covered a major portion of the city," he said, adding he will cover the remaining areas in the final days leading up to Sunday's convention.

The Liberal nominating convention for the riding of Bathurst is set for 2 p.m. at Bathurst Arena. A candidate will be chosen at that time to run in the provincial election, to be held in late September or October. A date for the election has yet to be set by Premier Frank McKenna.

The incumbent MLA Paul Kenny is a Liberal, but he announced earlier this year that he is not seeking re-election.

Gordon Kenny (no direct relation) said he is optimistic, largely because of the campaigning work his supporting team has been doing on his behalf.

He also judges the reception he has gotten from the community as a positive one, and is hoping those who have pledged their support are all present when it comes time to vote.

"If I'm going to win this, people have to be there to cast their ballots," he said.

Mr. Kenny has been an executive director of the Bathurst Liberal Association for 13 years, and is a member of city council. He considers that experience an asset that would work in his favor on the provincial scene.

In addition to his work on council, Mr. Kenny is a psychologist.

Businessman Joe Hachey has also been busy pounding the pavement.

"I've knocked on thirty per cent of the doors in the city," Mr. Hachey told The Northern Light Friday.

On Saturday, he will tend to the last minute details of "making sure all is set," and preparing his speech to be delivered at Sunday's convention.

His campaigning, which he said has taken him to all corners of the city, has also allowed him to renew old friendships and forge new ones.

"I'm having fun," he said.

Mr. Hachey is also a long-time Liberal, and is well-known in local sporting circles.

He is presently employed as leasing manager of Harbourview Place, for A.C. Mallet Management.

Marcelle Mersereau, regional director of the Department of Health and Community Social Services, and a city councillor, took a different track toward meeting the public.

She sponsored a performance of the Bathurst Community Band at a picnic in Coronation Park last Saturday, where she hoped to "let people know who I am," and hear concerns and input from the public.

She has also been canvassing by telephone and going door-to-door.

Council opts to reduce hours noise bylaw in effect

By MICHAEL J. BOURGUIGNON
Northern Light Staff

After a long stint on the back burner, the city's noise bylaw was finally amended Monday, from 24 hours a day to nine.

"Some time ago, (city) council thought to change it; but at the time, the third reading was delayed," city manager Bob Bouchard told Monday's regular meeting of council.

The bylaw, originally intended to prohibit offending noise between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m., was changed in the late 1980s to cover the day's full 24 hours. This was due to pressure exercised on council by various constituents.

Council looked at reducing the hours again in late 1990, but the third reading and enactment of the bylaw amendment was put off, because of difficulties the police have had in enforcing the 24-hour noise restrictions.

A bylaw must be given three readings in open council before being enacted.

The third reading was finally approved Monday, covering the hours from 10 p.m. to 7 a.m., but not with the unanimous consent of council.

Councillors Marcelle Mersereau, Harvey Boucher and Gordon Kenny all voted against it, leaving councillors Ross Aube, Ken Frenette, Gerry Doucet and Claire Wilt to carry the motion.

Deputy Mayor Bob Anderson did not vote, as he was chairing the meeting in the absence of Mayor Kevin Mann. Councillor Keith Loupelle was also absent.

The main concern troubling Mrs. Mersereau was the lack of protection for such people as shiftworkers who sleep during the day — a concern that councillor Harvey Boucher, himself a shiftworker, has trumpeted in the past.

Mrs. Mersereau also expressed some doubt as to the city's ability to effectively monitor noise, and to enforce the bylaw.

Deputy Mayor Anderson said this last observation was "right on the money," adding councillors are not "naive enough to think people will not contravene" the bylaw.

REACTING

"We react to the complaints that we get, and that's all we can do," Mr. Anderson said.

Councillor Claire Wilt reminded council that police lack the manpower and equipment to patrol 24 hours a day, which is why she voted in favor of the reduced hours.

"Leave it be," councillor Gordon Kenny said, adding the current 24-hour bylaw gives shiftworkers some legal recourse should they experience difficulties with noisy neighbors.

Concern for shiftworkers was considered at the time to be the main reason for the switch to 24-hour coverage, but councillor Ken Frenette indicated the real cause of the problem was a feud between two local families, "which has since cooled down."

NEVER IN FAVOR

Mr. Frenette noted he had never been in favor of changing the bylaw to 24 hours.

Councillors Ross Aube and Gerry Doucet were also of the opinion that a family feud was at the root of the issue, and both voted in favor of the amendment.

Councillor Aube said the amended bylaw seems to address all problems that could possibly arise with regards to noise.

Mr. Doucet further told The Northern Light that he failed to see much of a noise problem in the city beyond incidents between neighbors.

"These things will always come up; It's more of an individual thing," he said, adding, "I didn't see any really big problem."

"I could live with the bylaw either way."

STOLEN CRYSTAL RECOVERED

BNPP Detective Gerald Francoeur (right) and Johnson Van and Storage Ltd. worker Daniel Loster checked boxes Monday containing $280,000 worth of stolen crystal, found in a warehouse on Horizon Street in Beresford recently. The crystal, stolen from an Ottawa warehouse last August, has resulted in one Beresford man being arrested Monday. The unidentified man was released Tuesday, although Det. Francoeur said charges may still be laid against the individual within a couple of weeks. Charges may also be laid against persons in Ottawa by the Ottawa Police Force in relation with the same incident. The crystal was recovered July 25, when BNPP officers visited the warehouse armed with a search warrant.

Boat still adrift in Bay

One boat was still missing Tuesday after high winds and waves took its toll on the Jacquet River shoreline early Sunday morning.

Three boats were dragged out to see when the inclement weather ravaged the coast and caused their anchor ropes to break, although two have been recovered.

According to Jacquet River resident Jim Flanagan, the boats were all anchored, one on shore and the two others offshore.

One of the boats was found soon after the storm broke, slightly battered but repairable. Another was located near Black Point, a small municipality about 10 kilometres north of Jacquet River.

The third boat, an 18-foot wooden fishing boat, white except for a black bottom, and complete with a 20-horsepower Johnson outboard motor, has not yet been located.

The missing boat belonged to Joel Hickey of Jacquet River, and anyone with knowledge of its whereabouts is asked to contact Mr. Flanagan at 237-2369.

Caring for Our Water

SAVING WATER

The biggest reductions in domestic water consumption can be made in your own backyard.

- Water garden in evening so less water is lost to evaporation.
- Water roots not leaves, or use drip irrigation system for flowers and vegetables.
- Avoid watering lawn; it won't need cutting so often either.
- Collect rain water in a barrel and use in garden; the demineralized water is also great for your steam iron.
- Wash car less often, and use a bucket.
- Never hose down your walk or driveway – a broom will do the job just as well.

Belledune gets sewerage

Three years of hard work by the Belledune village council has paid off.

It was announced Monday night that the village will receive 80 per cent of the funding requirements needed to install a sewerage system throughout much of Belledune.

Details of the funding were presented at a press conference in Belledune, at which time Restigouche East MLA Rayburn Doucett was on hand to represent the provincial Environment Department. Mayor Andy Flanagan and other council members were also present.

The Environment Department will pay 80 per cent of the $2.5 million cost to install the new system to serve residents of Upper Belledune, from the Belledune Thermal Generating Station to the border with Jacquet River.

The agreement covers a period of two years. Next year, 1992, will see the completion of all engineering work, and the system should be fully installed by the end of 1993.

Mayor Flanagan, in a telephone interview Tuesday, said the announcement fits in well with plans he has for the village, which has a population of approximately 600 people.

"If you're trying to develop a municipality, the first thing you should do is develop its infrastructure," he said.

The village will have to apply to the Capital Borrowing Board for the remainder of the cost of the sewerage system, estimated to be about $400,000, although Mayor Flanagan doesn't believe it will result in increased taxes.

"It'll balance itself off with the increased tax assessment from the (Thermal Generating Station) plant," he said.

The announcement is also good news for landowners and prospective buyers in the area, as the new system will permit reduced building lot sizes which will improve the availability of building lots in Belledune.

Mayor Flanagan explained that without the need for septic systems, which usually need almost an acre of land to be viable, the size of a building lot could therefore be considerably smaller — up to three times smaller.

Mayor Flanagan said council will continue working towards getting a similar system installed in lesser-populated Lower Belledune.

COURTHOUSE WORK IS ON SCHEDULE

Reginald Haché of Blanchard Ready Mix was among the workers tending to renovations at Bathurst courthouse last week. The Robertville resident was cleaning cement-pouring equipment when this photo was taken, Aug. 8. When the work, which began late last year, is completed, the courthouse will house four courtrooms and administration areas for Trial and Family Court Divisions of the Court of Queen's Bench and the Provincial Court. Crown prosecutors, probation officers, the sheriff and the rentalsman will also have offices in the complex. Judges' suites will be available, and barristers will have a library lounge and changing rooms. In addition, the day-holding area will be replaced by a modern detention centre. City building inspector Julien Cormier reported Monday that the ongoing, $5.6 million project is proceeding according to schedule.

No immediate answers on water issue

The Parkwood Heights area has a real problem with low water pressure, but the city of Bathurst has no immediate answers.

"We already put in a list of million-dollar problems," said city manager Bob Bouchard, explaining the city's capital works budget has to first be put toward fixing "broken parts" of the city's water system.

"There's so much else that has to be done," he said adding major problems exist that have to be given precedence.

At Monday's regular public meeting, councillor Claire Wilt said she had received numerous complaints about inadequate water pressure in Parkwood Heights homes, which are serviced by the city's water reservoir in West Bathurst.

The 730,000-gallon reservoir also happens to serve the town of Beresford, which brought up questions on how to best deal with the Parkwood Heights problem.

At peak times, 70 per cent of the booster station's capacity goes to Beresford, city engineer Maris Freimanis said.

The city has a water-servicing agreement with the town, which pays about $140,000 for the service.

Councillor Ken Frenette wondered if the problem in Parkwood Heights would still exist if it were not so.

He suggested the city open up discussions with the province and the town prior to the next round of budget talks, to see if a funding compromise can be met.

He noted he has nothing but praise for Beresford Mayor Réal Boudreau's successful lobbying for government funding to develop services in the town, but added, "We should start doing the same."

Mr. Freimanis said a new water line needs to be installed to coorect the Parkwood Heights problem, but that option also comes without guarantees.

The last time such a project was discussed, in 1985, the cost was estimated at $500,000 to $600,000. In today's figures, the cost would be higher.

The project would also mean a hike in water rates for the city of Bathurst, but city manager Bob Bouchard pointed out other major problems have to take precedence.

Meanwhile, councillor Ken Frenette was told projects he has been waiting to see completed are still in the planning stages.

Councillor Frenette wanted to know why a promised storm drain has not yet been installed on King Avenue in South Bathurst, and why a catch basin to stop water from overflowing onto the same street has also apparently been left by the wayside.

Mr. Frenette noted money had been budgeted for the storm drain two years ago, and that funds have also been put aside for the catch basin.

PRIVATE PROPERTY

Both matters are being addressed, city engineer Maris Freimanis told him.

In the case of the storm drain, Mr. Freimanis pointed out the area to be served is on private property, and that the land owner's permission is needed before the work can be carried out.

He said negotiations are ongoing, and a report will be made to council at a later date.

Tender calls for the installation of a catch basin are also forthcoming, with the actual work scheduled to be incorporated with other capital projects.

CERTIFICATES AWARDED FOR HIRING STUDENTS

NDP nominate Aug. 25

The local New Democratic Party Association has set a tentative date for its nominating conventions in the Bathurst and Nepisiguit-Chaleur provincial ridings.

One candidate for each riding has been found to vie for a seat in the upcoming provincial election election, said local NDP organizer John Gagnon.

The tentative date for the nominating conventions is Aug. 25 and Mr. Gagnon said both the Bathurst and Nepisiguit-Chaleur nominating conventions could merge as one event.

Mr. Gagnon could not divulge the names of the candidates just yet, because others may in the running for the candidacies as well. However, he told The Northern Light Tuesday that an announcement will be made within the next week regarding all potential candidates.

Provincial NDP leader Elizabeth Weir is expected to attend the convention, as well as Roger Clavette, provincial NDP secretary.

Presentation won't be reheard

George (Buster) Astle has more to say on the civic centre issue, but he likely won't be saying it directly to city council.

"They don't want any more information," he told The Northern Light, following an unsuccessful attempt to be heard at Monday's regular public meeting.

Mr. Astle had earlier been refused permission to address council Monday, having already been given an opportunity to do so at a July 8 meeting.

Mr. Astle told The Northern Light he had additional information to present in support of Billy White's Wharf as the ideal site for the city's proposed multi-million dollar civic centre.

At the July 8 meeting, he outlined what he sees as the superior qualities of the property in comparison to the proposed Douglas Avenue site.

He had more to say Monday, and did not let the lack of council's blessing keep him from speaking up.

At a point in the meeting that would have allowed time for public presentations, had there been any, Mr. Astle stood up in the public gallery and demanded to know why he was denied permission to speak.

Deputy Mayor Bob Anderson responded quickly to the outburst, ruling Mr. Astle out of order.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Astle, but I will not entertain any discussion at this time," Mr. Anderson said.

The city clerk informed Mr. Astle that the matter had been put on the agenda of the in-camera session following the public meeting.

Town council addresses bad condition of roads

By MURIELLE PITRE
Special to
The Northern Light

Bad road conditions were a hot topic on the agenda of Monday night's Beresford town council meeting.

The meeting lasted almost two hours as the Mayor, Réal Boudreau, along with town councillors and the town administrator, Norval Godin, discussed which roads should first be upgraded, and at what cost.

Mrs. Theresa Martin who resides on Marie Avenue in Beresford, presented council with a petition asking for the construction of a permanent road, between Marie Avenue and Foulem Subdivision.

She said such a road would reduce winter accidents, in view of a blind hill that makes exiting Marie Avenue a dangerous feat in slippery conditions.

A temporary gravel road had once existed in this area, and was popular with residents.

Mayor Boudreau said a paved road was being considered, and assured The Northern Light a decision would be made within the next couple of weeks.

Anther road-related project on Monday night's agenda was Gagnon Road. The facelift of Gagnon Road, which leads to l'Abécédaire Elementary School, would include a lane for pedestrians which would permit the students to walk to and from school in less danger. This project was approved by council at Monday's meeting, and is expected to start sometime this fall.

Also discussed at Monday's meeting was snow removal on Jacques Cartier Drive. The Town of Beresford refuses to handle snow removal on Jacques Cartier Drive, because the road is considered privately owned. This will continue to be the case until the residents agree to having the road meet the town's standards. If the residents should agree, the cost would be between $2,000 to $3,000 for each resident, to have the road widened.

One Jacques Cartier resident, Lawrence Arsenault, appeared before council Monday night, making a public plea for snow removal. He said he is prepared to take legal action, and indicated he is willing to spend his retirement savings to bring the Town of Beresford to court over the matter.

In other town council news, construction to make the Beresford Arena accessible to wheelchair users will be underway shortly. Bayshore Constructions was awarded the tender for the renovations, which are expected to cost $11,569.

Council will ask the Richelieu Club if they would be willing to make a contribution towards the creation of a park on Rue Principal, between the Metro Gas Bar and Beresford Shopping Mall.

Mayor Boudreau said the park would not be built for at least another year, but would prove to be a definite asset to the community.

City housing starts lagging

Bathurst and Moncton were the only New Brunswick cities still lagging behind last month as the province's other cities reported an increase in housing starts.

"Except for the Moncton and Bathurst areas, all other centres experienced a year over year increase in the number of residential units constructed," said a release from the Canada Mortgrage and Housing Corporation.

Preliminary figures released last week indicated housing starts rose by 11 per cent from 157 units in June to 174 units in July.

July's housing starts were also better this year than in the same month last year, with Bathurst and Moncton being the lone exceptions.

There were 14 housing starts in Bathurst last year, compared to 17 for the same period last year.

Moncton's figures were 18 last month and 22 in July, 1990.

Saint John's starts were reported at 61 this July and 50 last; while Fredericton's figures were 48 and 8; Campbellton's, 10 and 0; and Edmundston, 23 and 9.

"We can expect to see further gains in the new home construction industry as the economy continues to pick up," senior market analyst Bruce Read, said in the release.

It was noted, however, that on a year-over-year basis, the total urban housing starts in New Brunswick remained 18 per cent below last year's level.

From January to July, 1991, Bathurst had 79 starts, Moncton had 181, Saint John had 211, Fredericton had 192, Campbellton had 15, and Edmundston had 52.

The figures for the same period last year were Bathurst, 84; Moncton, 274; Saint John, 328; Fredericton, 142; Campbellton, 15; and Edmundston, 44.

Mulching program discussed

City councillor Marcelle Mersereau was in a holiday mood Monday, but her festive plans will require the approval of her fellow councillors.

Mrs. Mersereau updated plans to start a mulching program to get rid of Christmas trees after the holiday season.

She said a local shopping mall has expressed interest in hosting the event, which would see residents deliver their trees to a set location to be mulched.

The mall would look after most of the details, with the committee looking into the plan itaking care of monitoring the event and disposing of the mulch.

The idea has been successfully used in other New Brunswick cities, but Bathurst's Silver Jubilee celebrations this past winter included a massive bonfire at Causeway Park that attracted a large crowd.

Mrs. Mersereau suggested mulching as an alternative at a January council meeting, and got the support of all but one city councillor.

As of Monday's meeting, councillor Ross Aube had not changed his stance, reiterating past comments in support of burning the trees.

A bonfire is something that can be enjoyed by everyone, he said, especially children.

He said he hopes council will have an opportunity to further discuss the issue, which it will. Mrs. Mersereau said she would report back to council at a later date, to present further developments and to ultimately see if the idea meets with the approval of a majority of councillors.

HOT OFF THE PRESSES

Eric Cormier was among 18 children taken on a tour of The Northern Light offices on Aug. 7, organized by the Parks, Recreation, and Tourism Department's summer staff. Eric is the four year-old son of Regis and Nancy Cormier of St.Anne.

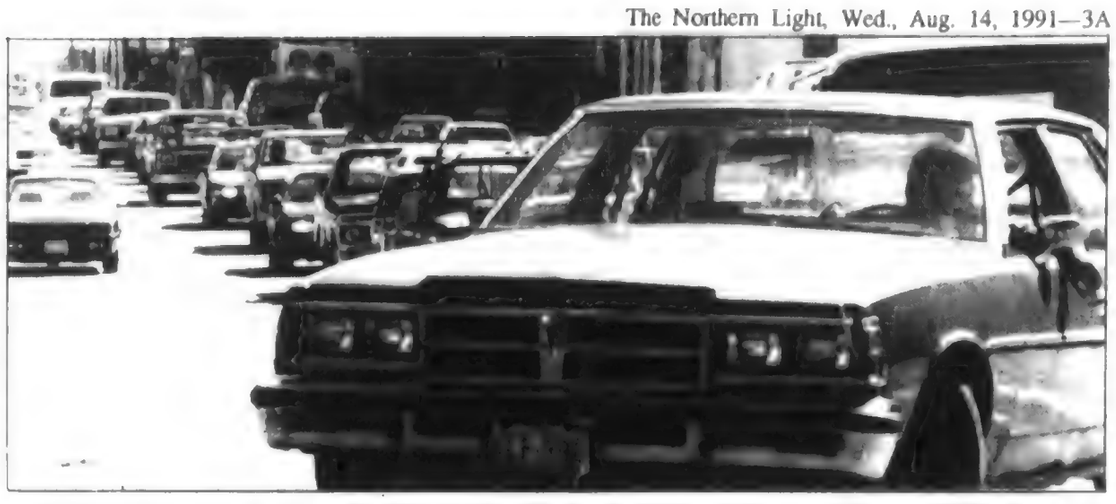
Councillors won't chair commissions

City councillors have no quarrels with a policy prohibiting them from chairing city commissions.

"I see our positions on these city commissions as a liaision, and simply as a liaison, between those commissions and council," councillor Ross Aube said at Monday's regular public meeting.



The policy had been previously brought forward by councillor Keith Loupelle, who was absent from the meeting. Councillors decided to discuss the matter anyway, and soon voted unanimously in favor of it.

Councillor Claire Wilt was somewhat confused as to the definition of a commission, saying she had chaired a committee to organize Canada Day celebrations. She wondered if the policy meant she could not do so in future. Deputy Mayor Bob Anderson explained the policy refers only to city commissions, such as the Bathurst Aquatic Commission, and not to special committees.

A councillor's role as a liaison is to keep council informed of a commission's activities, and to ensure that decisions are made in accordance with council directives and policies.

Councillor Aube noted it is difficult to do so while also serving as commission chairman, and councillor Marcelle Mersereau further pointed out the difficulties that could arise at budget time.

She referred to the possibility of councillors having a "vested interest" when it comes time to discuss funding for city commissions.

Traffic was slow in the downtown area Aug. 7, as motorists on Murray Avenue were rerouted along St. George Street while a downtown construction project was underway. Work crews installed water services at the Nicolas Denys monument site on the corner of Main Street and Murray Avenue, as part of a major overhaul being carried out at the site. Once finished, the Nicolas Denys monument will be surrounded by seating areas, landscaping and a water fountain. (Northern Light Photo)

Development work at monument site continuing until month-end

Development work at the corner of Main Street and Murray Avenue should continue for the next couple of weeks.

"It's really going to enhance that intersection," said Downtown Bathurst Revitalization Corporation executive director Mal Rogers.

Mr. Rogers was referring to an improvement project being carried out on the delta where the Nicolas Denys monument is located.

The plans include granite curbing, a seating area and sidewalk, landscaping improvements, and the installation of a drinking fountain.

The latter caused traffic to be rerouted Aug. 7, while work crews were hooking up water services. Traffic in the downtown area, along St. George Street and Douglas Avenue in particular, was slowed somewhat during the day. However, Mr. Rogers said the remainder of the project will not necessitate further traffic disruptions.

"That's the last time we'll have to do that," he said.

The work began last month, as part of an overall improvement scheme that will include sidewalk work on Douglas Avenue.

Mr. Rogers said the work is being considered a Silver Jubilee project, and should call for a ribbon-cutting at the Nicolas Denys monument as early as next month.

The enhancement of that particular intersection should create "a nicer entrance into the downtown area," Mr. Rogers noted, adding, "It was there before, it was small; and there were a couple of dead trees on it."

Eventually, the DBRC hopes to also implement a "historic walk" through the city that would include a stop at the monument.

It's a plan that has been talked about on various occasions over the last few years, and Mr. Rogers said no definite plans have yet been made.

Such a project would involve the distribution of brochures depicting various points of historic interest, including the monument and the waterfront.

Mr. Rogers noted a small plaque may also be erected at the intersection of Main and Murray, commemorating the fact that the corner was once the site of a horse trough, where locals gathered to wash their horses and chat.

Acadian celebration on Thursday

Bathurst Acadians won't have to travel out of town tomorrow Thursday in order to celebrate National Acadian Day.

Les Dames d'Acadie de Bathurst, looking to organize something locally rather than travelling to Caraquet and Upshore municipalities, is organizing various activities to commemorate the day.

A service at Holy Family Church on St. Peter Avenue gets underway at 4:30 p.m., followed by a Tintamarre from the church at 6 p.m.

A tintamarre is a form of parade, where "people make the most noise possible using pots, pans, etc." said Denise Ouellet, a member of Les Dames d'Acadie de Bathurst.

The Tintamarre will then wind its way down to Coronation Park, where participants are encouraged to bring a picnic, with music and refreshments provided.

Guest speakers at Coronation Park will include Dames d'Acadie president Monique Levesque, Bathurst city councillor Claire Wilt, a representative of the Silver Jubilee Committee, and possibly Real Gervais, president of the New Brunswick Acadian Society and a Bathurst area resident.

Tories trying to outhustle the upstarts

Political Scene

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

A month or so ago, officials surrounding Prime Minister Brian Mulroney were wringing their hands over remarks the Boss made in Tokyo about Ontario's budget deficit.

They were not only wringing their hands, they were falling over themselves trying — unsuccessfully — to invent new methods of damage control.

Now, as party officials watch the prime minister glad-hand his way through 2,500 Tory delegates, they must wonder why they fretted. As it turns out, the remarks about Japan's alleged preoccupation with Ontario's finances may be the best thing Mr. Mulroney has going for him right now.

Considering all the problems he faces these days, that might not be saying much. But it's something. For once, at least, Mr. Mulroney can say "I told you so." And there hasn't been much of that lately — not while the polls say he's the most unpopular prime minister in surveyed history, and while his party wallows at 16 per cent on the popularity charts.

Never before has a major federal party staged a national convention while sporting these despairing levels of unpopularity. But, if it weren't for those Tokyo comments, things would seem even worse for Mr. Mulroney.

MUCH CHANGE

In Canadian politics, as we are reminded with monthly frequency things change rather rapidly. And when the prime minister brought his political domestic wars to Tokyo, it was considered highly insensitive, if not suicidal, for him to take on the popular NDP government of Ontario.

With the federal NDP running neck and neck with the Liberals atop the charts, and with NDP parties leading the polls in both Saskatchewan and British Columbia, what could a disliked Tory leader possibly gain by lashing out at the Ontario party?

As said, much has changed. Since the Tokyo incident, the popularity of the Ontario government has dropped dramatically, if not drastically. Furthermore, party officials in Saskatchewan and British Columbia have been so busy dissociating themselves from Ontario's financial frolics, they can't even see the province any longer.

To top it off, the latest Gallup poll informs us the popularity of the federal NDP has taken a free fall. While the Liberals, perhaps because leader Jean Chretien hasn't been seen lately, have shot up to 40 per cent. Audrey McLaughlin's NDPers have dropped to 22 per cent.

If she looks down, she now can see Mr. Mulroney.

TIMING RIGHT

It comes at a good time for the prime minister. With the Reform party making such a surge in the West — and a good portion of the East — the Tories must find some way to outhustle these upstarts. And, while pinko-bashing represents a natural start, it would be a high-risk venture if Premier Rae and his followers could do no wrong in Ontario.

Furthermore, it wouldn't help if NDPers in other parts of the country thought he could do no wrong.

Mr. Mulroney knows, better than most, that thrashing the socialist hordes has traditionally been the greatest morale booster available to a Tory leader. And, never more than now has there been the need for a boost, with so much valuable western turf being invaded by the socialist-bashing Reformers.

Without the traditional restrictions of the Tories — who, like the Liberals, try to be all things to all people — the Reformers had a clear advantage in this respect.

But no more, at least not for the moment. What Mr. Mulroney sees is an NDP party he can finally attack with delightful abandon — the type of abandon that brings Tories to their feet — a rare sight of late. No more of this on-the-other-hand nonsense. At last a glittering opportunity to let fly at political enemies, without fear or text, and without seriously endangering Tory candidates in Canada's biggest province. Outreform the Reformers, so to speak.

Who ever said politicians don't pay attention to polls? Not Brian Mulroney.

EDITORIAL

Please, no illusions

This Sunday will be an enjoyable one for political aficionados.

Whoever is chosen will have his or her work cut out for them. Granted, the riding has traditionally voted Liberal, which means the odds are in favor of Sunday's victor eventually making it to the Legislature. That's not an endorsement, that's a political fact of life in Bathurst, as past elections have shown. (The only Progressive Conservative elected in these parts since the Fifties was Roger Clinch, who ran federally in 1984.)

But we are not talking about getting elected. The work we are referring to is getting Bathurst in on the Grit gravy train. Perhaps that's a blunt turn of phrase, but let us call a spade a spade. We did not get an East Bathurst bridge where it should have been built (it's true that decision was made by the previous Tory-led government). There is still no commitment on a new four-lane Village Bridge. We need a civic centre, and we will need a fair-sized chunk of provincial monies to build it. And we still have miles to go in our fight to have equal health care services here in the Northeast, although great gains have been made in recent years.

Yes, there is much to be done for the riding, and it will take every ounce of working energy an MLA has to get results. Especially since whoever wins on Sunday will be a relative newcomer to the ways of political power in Fredericton, no matter what any of the candidates may like to believe about his or her abilities. Until they get to Fredericton, and are in the actual corridors of power, they are outside looking in.

It should also be noted all this lobbying is in addition to the one hundred and one concerns of constituents, that an MLA must address on an almost daily basis. And we won't even mention the ribbon-cuttings, family gatherings, and community events an MLA is expected to appear at. But of course no matter how hard the politician works, there will still be those who look at an MLA with scorn and derision, from media types to opposition MLAs (which there will likely be after the next election), to dissatisfied constituents.

Being an MLA is a thankless and tiring job, but it is an important one. Let us hope Sunday's victor is up to the challenge, and bears no false illusions.

On Saturday last, the new station hotel built by Jack Doucet was sold to Azade Landry, the purchase price, subject to mortgages, etc., being $3,400. Several well-known business houses were after the hotel as a possible location for the conduct of their business but Mr. Landry succeeded in buying the property at the above mentioned figure.

In the meantime, Mr. Landry has not formulated any plans for the use of the building and it is just possible that he may sell it again at a considerable profit as it is generally conceded that it was a bargain at that price.

Among the many improvements being made in Bathurst this year, one of the most outstanding is the new cement and granite wall fronting the old Anglican cemetery on Douglas St. As was noted some time ago, the cemetery was cleaned of accumulated vegetable growth and many of the family plots and monuments were straightened up and generally improved.

Now, under the direction of a special committee of which Mr. G.W. Ellis is secretary, a substantial and ornamental wall of granite with a cement base is being constructed. This wall will make the fine old property present a neat and dignified appearance and no doubt when all the improvements contemplated by the relatives of the former prominent citizens who rest there are completed, this old historic property will be one of the showplaces of the town.

Upwards of 500 guests at the Soldiers' Comforts' Dance held at the Barbecue last Friday night made it one of the most outstanding social events here for a long time. Charlie Chamberlain who appeared as featured vocalist with Don Messer's orchestra received a great ovation from his hometown.

The barbecue was attractively decorated in patriotic scheme with flags and V-for-Victory banners tastefully and cleverly arranged.

Proceeds of the dance will be devoted to a fund for the purchase of cigarettes and razor blades for Bathurst soldiers overseas.

August 1971

Tuesday, Aug. 24, 1971, will long be remembered as the day Canada's Governor-General Roland Michener and his gracious lady took over the city of Bathurst and the citizens took them to their hearts.

The vice-regal party arrived in their private car at the CN station shortly after 7 a.m. and not long after the governor-general took advantage of Coronation Park with its quarter mile track and completed five laps. He also engaged in calisthenics and chatted with RCMP security personnel accompanying him.

Later, Mayor and Mrs. W. Blair Orser met the Micheners privately in their rail car and then accompanied them in a procession.

Both the Janeville Elementary and Parkwood Elementary Schools, currently under construction in District 42, are really beginning to shape up.

Students are expected to enter the Janeville school for the first time in November of this year. Construction began in April of this year with cost expected to total $1.7 million.

As for the Parkwood school, which will cost approximately $2.4 million, plans are to have it completed for and ready to receive students in September 1982.

Union leader clarifies news story

Aug. 12

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter with reference to an article printed in your weekly on Aug. 7. It concerned local contract talks between three trade unions and their employer, Stone-Consolidated Inc. The heading of the article read "Settlement at paper mill reached by compromise," and indeed this was the case.

However, other points in the article were not entirely factual and others may have been understood in a way which they were not intended.

Firstly, I would like to point out that the mediated talks were held right here in Bathurst and not in Fredericton, as your paper would have us believe.

Secondly, the members of Local 1505, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, did not vote overwhelmingly in favor of accepting the agreement. Your paper reported 76 per cent in favor, which is correct, but you could hardly call that overwhelming. It makes the point that at least one quarter of our membership is not satisfied, and that all parties must work hard to show that this was as good an agreement possible considering all the circumstances at this time.

Lastly, a comment that I was given credit for was either taken out of context or completely misunderstood. Of the dozen or so outstanding items that had to be "hashed" out, as your scribe puts it, there was no clear-cut "winner" if you will. These items were negotiated and each side had to soften their stand so that an agreement could be reached and a strike avoided.

"If media people find it hard to get comments from those of us involved in this sort of thing, then it is probably because what we actually say and what we are given credit for never seem to jive."

After reading the article, one would come to the conclusion that the items of contention were resolved in favor of the union. This is not so, and I would like this cleared up. It has left some of our members confused, and has probably caused its share of embarassment. For this, I would like to apologize, but at the same time point out that it is not something I said.

In closing, I would like to say that if media people find it hard to get comments from those of us involved in this sort of thing, then it is probably because what we actually say and what we are given credit for never seem to jive. All this does is confuse people and frustrate people like myself.

Full potential of park not realized

Aug. 10

Dear Editor,

This weekend past many people in Bathurst were in receipt of a publication simply called New Brunswick Day, which was enlightening as regards affairs province wide.

One very interesting item was the article on Atlas Park in Pointe Verte, only 20 minutes drive from Bathurst. I have been there several times and highly recommend it for what it has been transformed into, namely an area of outstanding beauty enhanced by many amenities, well organized and so very neat and tidy. Since it was proposed and developed by the residents of the area, it surely must stand as a prime example of community spirit and enterprise.

It would seem that Bathurst, now celebrating its 25th anniversary as a city, does not share the same esprit de corps in that despite the so-called Coronation Park being given to the city many years ago, little or nothing has been done to enhance it and make it worthy of the name "park."

Seemingly some time ago, an effort was made and a tennis court and small swimming pool were installed, together with a soccer pitch which would now be a danger to life and limb if used as such. But that is all.

With its waterfront and proximity to the proposed new civic centre, would it not be a credit to the city and those who live in it if the whole area could in some way be developed, and its full potential realized in a similar manner as Atlas Park in Pointe Verte? Perhaps one of the many de facto of aspiring politicians in our area could devote some time to this deserving project.

In lighter vein, perhaps a start could be made by removing a sign which adorns the Tennis court fence. This says "Singles 75¢, Doubles $1.00" and it is beside another notice which says "Singles 75¢, Doubles $1.00". Most confusing to the uninitiated.

Knights gearing up for Bay Breakfast '91

Aug. 1

Dear Editor,

From the publicity already made, you are aware that a CAT-Scan unit for the detection of cancer will be installed at Chaleur Regional Hospital in Bathurst, and be in operation in 1992.

The cost of such an installation is very high and the CRH Foundation has been created with an objective of $2.5 million to cover expenses not normally covered by the various governments.

Bathurst Council 1935, Knights of Columbus, supports this initiative and with the support of other councils in the Chaleur Region will organize a Bay Breakfast, which will be held Sept. 6 on the grounds of the Bowlarama on Tetegouche Hill.

Cancer is presently very prevalent in our province, and this CAT-Scan will serve all the population of northern New Brunswick and the Acadian Peninsula.

It is to the interest of all of us to support this project, and we invite all business in the region to participate. We appeal to them to help us financially to cover the expenses of this breakfast.

We rely on your generosity to make this a huge success.

Please make your donation payable to Chaleur Bay Breakfast, c/o Bathurst Council 1935, P.O. Box 201, Bathurst, N.B., EOB-3Z2. If requested, an official receipt issued by the CRH Foundation will be forwarded for donations received.

Child's family says thanks for all the support given

Aug. 9

Dear Editor,

We, Annette Theriault and Ricky Lagace, are the parents of five-year-old Melissa Theriault, who is suffering with Wilms Tumors in her lungs and kidneys.

She was admitted to the Izaak Walton Killam Children's Hospital in Halifax May 16 and she was operated on May 17. They removed her right kidney and the two to three pound tumor. The operation took nine hours.

She received 22 radiation treatments and is still having chemotherapy for 54 weeks. Melissa is now home with her family in St. Anne and doing lots better. Thanks to all your prayers and support, but prayers should not stop. She's gaining weight to be herself again. She also lost all her hair but is still pretty.

Now she's receiving her treatment in Bathurst, and Extra Mural will see her too. She will return to Halifax Sept. 3 for a check-up; we hope everything will be good.

We would like to thank all the family and relatives and friends who have supported us. Also, for those who have made it to the bingo and those who have bought tickets for the leather chair. Just to let you know you'll always be on my mind.

Anyone who gave a donation and would like to talk with Melissa you could call at 547-1983.

Thank you!

Annette Theriault

Two and a half year-old Anna Branch, daughter of Robert and Michelle Branch of Bathurst, is shown getting fingerprinted by Bathurst Lions Club treasurer Glynn MacDonald recently, as part of the service club's identification program. The Lions Club processed more than 350 children this past weekend at the Chaleur Centre mall — complete with fingerprints and other identifyable characteristics — which were then turned over to the parents in case their child ever went missing. Looking on is RCMP Cst. Michel Landry, one of the volunteers helping the Lions Club with the program.

Fingerprinting program for youngsters proved a success

"It might be feasible twice a year," said Lions Club treasurer Glynn MacDonald, considering more than 350 children were processed Saturday.

The community service on the part of the local service club, in cooperation with the RCMP and Chaleur Centre staff, provided parents with a two-page form indicating a number of indentifying statistics needed in case of their child's disappearance.

The 14 volunteers manning the booths Saturday afternoon took children's fingerprints — or palm prints, if under two and a half years-old — and information such as height, hair and eye color, nationality, sex, any identifyable feature or scar, and even had a place reserved for a photograph.

Among the 350, there were people from France, British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario, Fredericton, Saint John and throughout the Chaleur region taking advantage of the service.

No date for overpass completion

The Bathurst-Janeville overpass will soon be ready to open.

The 19-kilometre stretch, which runs perpendicular to St. Mary's Avenue in East Bathurst, will be ready sometime this fall, district highway engineer Michel Lacroix said.

He did not offer a precise date, but other reports say the work should be completed by the end of September.

The overpass is an extension of Highway 11, running from Bathurst to Janeville, and connecting with the main road through Janeville just before the Canobie Road turn.

The construction of the new bypass began late last year, and Bathurst MLA Paul Kenny said at that time the work was necessary to avoid the creation of a cul-de-sac at both ends of St. Mary's Avenue. Such a situation would result in a "tremendous loss to the city for plowing, maintenance and busing students."

Remaining work on the overpass includes the completion of the approaches, as well as paving and the laying of asphalt, Mr. Lacroix said Monday. The connection at the old Highway 11 is also incomplete.

Local newsman going to Fredericton

Sitting Back
With GREG MULOCK
Personal opinion from the managing editor

The local media is losing a member of good standing.

Dave Crase, newsman with CHSJ-MITV television, is moving to Fredericton next month, to head up a new MITV bureau.

"It's going to be a big change....I'll be based in the press gallery at the Legislature," he said Friday.

Both CHSJ and MITV are owned by Irving, with MITV presently having bureaus in Moncton, Saint John, and Halifax.

Dave came to Bathurst in June 1984, from CFAN radio in Newcastle. He started here with CKBC radio and joined CHSJ-TV in the spring of 1986.

"I sort of regret leaving after seven years; You get to know a lot of people," he said. He noted two of his children were born in Bathurst, four-year-old Scott, and daughter Krista, three. (Dave and his wife June's eldest child, eight-year-old Adam, was born in Newcastle).

While in Bathurst, Dave played softball and was a volunteer member of the Bathurst Fire Department.

He reports for work in Fredericton in mid-September. There is no word yet on his replacement.

RECKONING

Sunday is the day of reckoning for Liberals in the electoral riding of Bathurst, as a couple of front-page stories this week duly note.

MLA Paul Kenny is retiring from provincial politics, which has opened the door for some new blood. We've got three candidates offering Sunday, each very different in style, but each intent on bearing the Grit flag in this fall's election.

And, as anyone with any degree of interest in matters political knows, whoever wins the Liberal nomination has a better than average chance of being the next MLA for Bathurst. The city has a long-standing tradition of voting Liberal, and there is no indication that is about to change.

Or is there? There appears to be a growing sense of being taken for granted here in the Chaleur Region. That is, we always vote Liberal and what have we got to show for it? Certainly not a new Village Bridge, and certainly not much else, in terms of big-ticket items.

Governments butter ridings where they need to buy votes. And if Bathurst always votes Liberal, why spend money here?

Building a new hospital was an uphill battle

Silver Points
By SONIA-SIMARD CORMIER
News from 25 years ago.

Aug. 18, 1966

As Bathurst settled into its role as the seventh city of New Brunswick many improvements were sought for the area. Among these were a request sent to Fredericton for a new hospital to accommodate the ever-increasing population. But as many will remember,it was a long and often frustrating pursuit.

An example of this came in the week of Aug. 18 when yet another delay regarding Chaleur General Hospital (now a regional institution) was announced by Hon. Min. W.W. Meldrum. In a letter addressed to the steering committee for the new hospital, the minister advised that a new hospital for Bathurst would only be considered once a new Public Hospitals Act was proclaimed and its regulations approved. The expected date for this was to be Janunary 1967.

Well, we finally did get a new hospital and learned the value of persistent lobbying, a lesson which has proved invaluable in securing other facilities and services for this often neglected region of New Brunswick.

While some dedicated citizens were trying to secure a new hospital, another committee was devoting many hours to the amalgamation of several school districts under one umbrella, that of District 4. Although this district is now divided into two districts, French (41) and English (42), the move, almost 25 years ago, was thought necessary in order to better answer the needs of the student populace.

In order to make the transition, an interim school board, chaired by R.C. Eddy, was formed and given the mandate to carry out the amalgamation and prepare a first budget for the new district which would come into effect July 1, 1967.

All this business talk might lead you to believe that Bathurst wasn't much of a fun place. Not so as those who took part in the greased-pig contest at the Gloucester County Exhibition can attest. Winners in the 1966 event were Susan Aubie and Roger Arsenault of Reese Lane. Second place went to Raymond and Carla Jennings of St. John Street; third spot to Stephen Aubie and Alice Lavigne of South Bathurst; fourth to Linda and James Chiasson of King Avenue; and fifth place went to Jean-Guy and Rachel Boudreau of St. Andrew Street.

I don't imagine these winners, at the time aged 10 to 12, thought anybody would remember but as the event was sponsored by The Northern Light, it has been duly recorded in our archives for future generations to note.

Sidewalk installation continuing

Work continues on the installation of brick sidewalks in a number of places downtown.

The work is part of the capital works summer program, undertaken by the Downtown Bathurst Revitalization Corporation.

Brick sidewalk construction continues on both sides of the street from the Royal Bank to Murray Avenue, said DBRC executive director Mal Rogers. An extension is planned from the corner of Main Street to the Harborview Place entrance on Harborview Boulevard.

Construction of a brick sidewalk on both sides of Douglas Avenue, from Main Street to the site of the proposed civic centre a block away, is scheduled to begin soon.

In total, the aforementioned work, to be completed by mid-September, will cost about $386,000, which includes wages paid to 22 workers under the Section 25 program.

The DBRC's involvement with the federal Challenge '91 program has seen six students hired for 10 weeks this summer. Three of those hired alternate their days between the Vanier Boulevard and Main Street Tourist Information Bureaus, while the others are conducting land use surveys and producing a booklet on vacant space downtown.

Mr. Rogers also mentioned that efforts continue to instruct DBRC members about development incentives through the federal/provincial Cooperation Agreement on Urban Economic Development.

The Facade Improvement Program is one of three available under the agreement, one which would enable a downtown business to apply for 40 per cent of the cost of improving its facade, up to a maximum of $40,000. A number of people have already applied.

Monies are also available under the Parking Lot Development Assistance Program, which would aid downtown businesses in enlarging or repairing parking spaces next to their establishments.

The third program is designed to identify specific sites which would enhance the downtown area. The program provides an incentive for developers to develop downtown properties by funding 20 per cent of the cost of doing so, up to half a million dollars.

Upgrading at the airport underway

Numerous facilities for both the travelling public and aircraft operators will be in place by the end of this year, with the assistance of a Transport Canada grant, said a release.

The work includes upgrading the public parking lot to an asphalt finish, with additional lighting and fancing; the aircraft parking area will benefit from additional flood lighting, to assist passengers and workers alike during nighttime operations; and a walk-through metal detector has been installed at the screening point prior to boarding the aircraft.

Fencing is being installed around the perimeter of the runway to restrict access to the airport by vehicles and animals, and various other projects are also on the go including the installation of pilot-controlled airfield lighting, relocation of obstruction towers, runway repairs and upgrading of aircraft feulling systems and baggage receiving area.

Another project that is ongoing is brush cutting, fencing and landscaping, with the assistance of Employment and Immigration in the form of a Section 25 program. This has created employment for seven people for a period of 16 weeks.

All of these projects will increase the safety, security and efficiency of airport operations, said the release.

STREAMLINED

From a financial point of view, the Bathurst Regional Airport Commission is operating in a more streamlined and efficient manner, compared to previous years.

This has been achieved by consolidating numerous contracts that the BRAC had with various outside agencies, to hire a full-time employee to perform general maintenance duties.

It is now projected that the airport commission will complete the current fiscal year 36 per cent below budget.

This could not have been achieved however, without the support of the airport employees as a group, said a release.

The Commission is presently reviewing tariffs and fees in place at other airports in order to increase revenue.

The release noted that the volume of passengers at the airport is slightly up over last year's figures, and he volume of cargo which is transported by air has also increased over the same period last year.

Not guilty plea entered

A local woman faces a charge of possessing property allegedly stolen from a hotel where she was formerly employed.

Jacqueline Vienneau, a former employee at Keddy's Hotel and Convention Centre, pleaded not guilty in provincial court Monday to a charge of possessing silverware belonging to the hotel.

The silverware, the value of which did not exceed $1,000, was allegedly found in her possession this past June, while she was employed at the hotel.

The case will go to trial in provincial court Nov. 13 at 9:30 a.m.

In other court news, a St. Anne's resident was handed a $500 fine after pleading guilty to a charge of retaining liquor for sale.

Undercover RCMP officers had purchased liquor from Daniel Christie, resulting in the seizure of 101 bottle of various brands of beer and six bottles of various brands of alcohol.

Christie had been convicted of a similar offense in April, 1990.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Alan Haggarty, a 1991 Bathurst High School honors graduate, has been awarded a Harper J. Kent scholarship, valued at $1,000. This fall, he will be attending the University of Guelph in Guelph, Ont., where he will study toward a bachelor of science degree. Alan, the son of Ida and William Haggarty of North Teteagouche, has also been nominated by the University of Guelph for an $8,000 Canada Scholarship.

Alcida runner aiming for track and field gold

André Roy was a little late getting started on his training regimen, but now that he's in full stride he's zeroed in on his prey.

"I'm aiming for a medal...preferably gold," said the 17 year-old Alcida native, who left Aug. 8 for Toronto to attend his second National Legion Track and Field Games in three years.

The games, which run from Aug. 9 to 15, bring together the best young athletes from throughout the country, and are organized locally, provincially and nationally by the Royal Canadian Legion.

André's hopes of striking gold at the national event are certainly not beyond the realm of possibility, as the local speedster won silver in both the 400 and 800 metre sprints two years ago at this same event. This year, however, he'll be putting all his energies towards the 400 m event only.

"Because I started training too late," is the reason he gave for foregoing the 800 m event. "Now I'd be ready, but when I was qualifying I had only three weeks training."

Another reason is that he wasn't even thinking about running competitively this year.

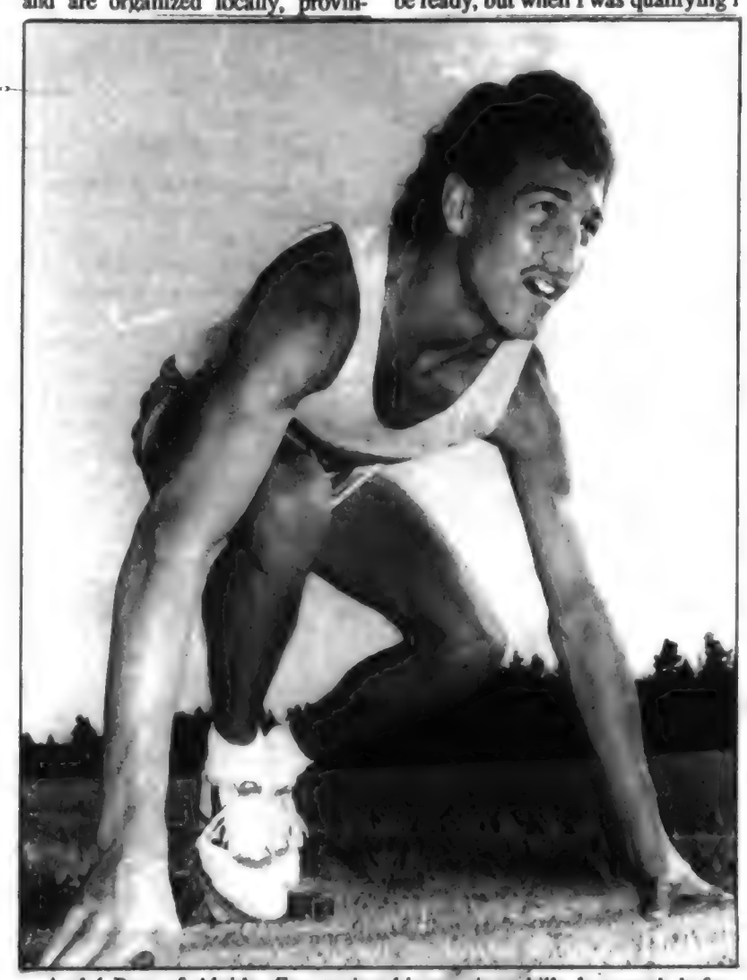
André took in the Regional Legion Track and Field Games in Tracadie early this summer as coach of the Chaleur Jeux d'Acadie team, and, through the prompting of organizers, decided to see if he would qualify. With absolutely no training until then, he won the 400 m event in a respectable 55 seconds flat.

After getting back into his training schedule, he then took in the classification meet in Oromocto, to determine who qualifies for the Provincial Legion Track and Field Games. He crossed the finish line in 52.6, good for another first place finish and a berth in the provincial games.

But before the provincials he'd try his luck at a meet in Saint John, where he ran the 400 in 51.8 and added another gold medal to his rapidly-growing collection.

At the provincial legion meet, held in Oromocto July 20, he ran a 52.2, good for first place once again and close enough to the standard to qualify him for the nationals.

André then decided the field in the Atlantic Coast Games in Saint John on Aug. 3 would serve as a good tune-up for the nationals, with the field strong enough to push him below the 51 second mark for the first time this season. He won the race, clocked at 50.6, one-tenth of a second slower than the Canadian record in the 17 and younger Juvenile category.



He believes he'll have to do better if he wants to win gold at the upcoming nationals.

"(In Toronto) I'm aiming for 48 or 49 (seconds)," he said, virtually certain it'll take a time of below 50 seconds flat to even come close to winning a medal.

The Grade 12 Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit athlete won't be hanging up his cleats after the Legion games no matter how he does, as the 1993 Canada Summer Games in British Columbia are in his sights.

André is among 110 young runners now being scouted by Athletics New Brunswick for the 40 spots available on Team New Brunswick.

"That's my next goal."

Answers sought regarding California Cuties' no-show

The California Cuties were a no-show for an exhibition softball game Saturday night in Bathurst, and organizers want to find out why.

The Cuties were scheduled to play an all-star team from the Parkwood Schooner-Pizza Delight Softball League at 7 p.m. at Coronation Park. However, after 45 minutes and still no Cuties, organizers refunded money to the estimated 200 fans who braved the rain to attend the game.

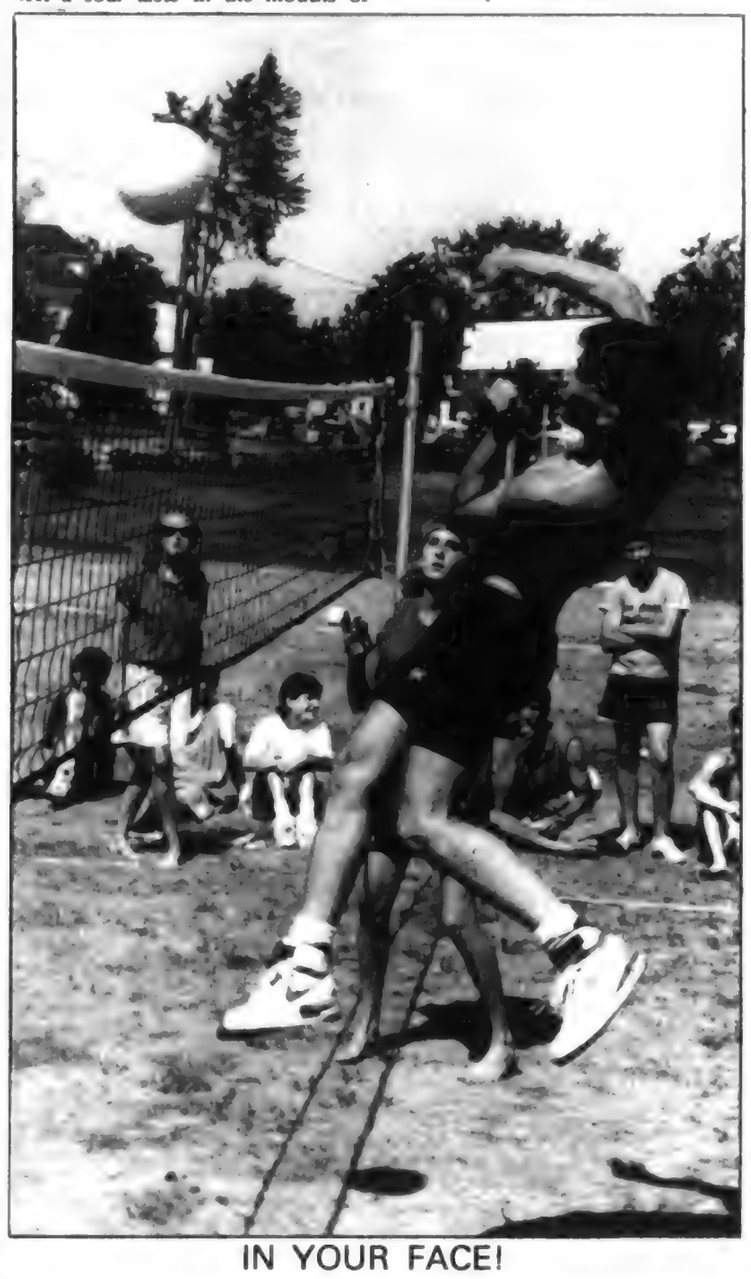
The California Cuties are a four-man novelty softball team out of California, which tours the province each year playing exhibition games against local talent. Bathurst has been a regular stop for the team for many years.

Organizer Arnold Watson was still looking into the matter Monday when contacted by The Northern Light. He said the last contact he had with the group was in May, when they forwarded advertising material.

Without a doubt, the no-show has left a sour taste in the mouths of many.

"I certainly wouldn't be putting up the opposition next time around," said Peter Assaff, president of the Parkwood Schooner-Pizza Delight Softball League.



The event was not a complete washout however, as many fans leaving Saturday night refused their refund. Proceeds from the event — $154 in total — were handed over to the Kidney Foundation.

Red Cross Relay meeting tonight

The Red Cross Multi-Sport Relay, slated to begin at the Causeway Park this coming Saturday, is gearing up to be a tremendous success in its first year.

A press conference was held at the Atlantic Host Inn Friday, where organizers outlined the various aspects of the event, held in conjunction with Bathurst's Silver Jubilee celebrations and set to get underway at 10 a.m.

Letters have been sent out to various business groups and organizations calling for registrations to the event, with about a dozern teams already signed up and many more expected by tonight's deadline.

"As we get closer to the deadline there should be more team's registering," said Craig Carleton, spirit committee chairman for the event, during the press conference.

A Booster Night and information session is slated for tonight Wednesday beginning at 7 p.m. at the Bathurst Sports Chalet on Golf Street for anyone interested in taking part, volunteering or just to find out more about the event.

Modelled after a similar event organized by the Red Cross on Prince Edward Island, the Multi-Sport Relay consists of a 25 kilometre canoe/walk or run/cycle relay through Bathurst.

The objective of the relay is to provide a healthy recreational activity, as well as to raise funds to support the humanitarian services offered by the Red Cross.

The course route involves about 3.2 kilometres of canoeing on the Bathurst Basin, a 6.8 km run or walk, and a 15 km cycling race from King Avenue along the bypass to Vanier Boulevard, then along Ryan Avenue to Coronation Park.

Registration is $100 per six-member team and $35 per two-member teams.

There will be eight different categories of competition.

For the family, junior, and challenged athlete categories, participants can collect pledges per kilometre or per minute instead of paying the registration fee.

A special feature of the event is the planned-time concept. Team members are asked not to bring watches. Each participant will plan his or her time for each leg of the race, and the team and participant whose actual time comes closest to the planned time without going over is the winner.

No one person will be walking, running or canoeing more than 3.4 kilometres, so there's plenty of opportunity for just the right amount of recreation.

Red Cross organizers are currently recruiting volunteers to be part of various committees. Service clubs are also being approached to sponsor certain activities during the relay. Anyone interested in helping out or sponsoring a team or activity is asked to call 548-2824.

An awards ceremony will be held at the Bathurst Curling Club at 8:15 p.m. on the day of the relay, followed by a social at 9 p.m., with the band RISK providing the entertainment. Tickets for the social are $4 for participants and $6 for the general public.

Beach volleyball

A beach volleyball tournament will be held at Atlas Park in Pointe Verte this Saturday and Sunday, and everyone is welcome to attend.

A full complement of eight teams have registered already for men's portion of the tournament, with another two teams needed to fill the ladies' draw. Paticipants must be at least 19 years of age.

The registration fee is $15 per team, and there are many prizes available to be won.

To register, or for more information, contact either Alain Cormier at 783-2018 or Allan Lagacé at 783-7278.

POWER PADDLE'S PRIME PERFORMERS

Downshore ball title to Roadhouse

Roadhouse breezed through the New Bandon Mixed Softball Tournament field over the weekend to emerge as champions.

Roadhouse defeated the Garboons 9-8 in eight innings Sunday to clinch the title in the 16-team event, with Kathy Knowles credited with the pitching victory and Coleen Ellis the loss.

Roadhouse made it into the final with a 5-4 victory against Union Centre in the semi-final, with Knowles picking up this victory as well. Barb Whalen was tagged with the loss.

The other semi-final saw the Garboons hammer the Oddballs 16-7, with Coleen Ellis earning the pitching win and Jeff Wiseman credited with the loss.

A home run hitting contest was also held during the course of the event, with Kevin Caissie winning the male portion and Tracy Knowles the top female slugger.

Kathy Knowles stomped across home plate to complete an inside-the-park home run Sunday in Janeville, during the final of the New Bandon Mixed Softball Tournament. Knowles and her Roadhouse teammates claimed the championship with a 9-8 victory over the Garboons in the final, with Knowles going the distance on the mound. Still waiting for the ball is the Garboons' Marlene Hornibrook.

Teams from Campbellton and Newcastle competed along with the local swimmers, with teams from Moncton and Chatham unable to attend.

The entire team had a very successful day in the water, with all 37 members contributing towards winning the overall title with 506 points. Campbellton placed second with 376 points, followed by Newcastle with 69.

Local swimmer Celine White shared a trophy for Best Overall Female Swimmer in the event with Jessica Belanger of Campbellton. She claimed gold medals in all three races she participated in in the 13 and 14 year-old division.

Medal winners in the 10 and younger age class were Angela Scott, Yves Duguay and Daniel Duguay, each with a gold, silver and bronze; and James MacDonald, with a silver. Melanie Sue Caron and Daryll Dezan each posted three top 10 finishes.

Medal winners among 11 and 12 year-old girls were Kim Tremblay, two gold and a silver; Sara Seperich, one gold; Karen Stever, gold, silver and bronze; Lise White, silver and two bronze; Heather Nelson and Marie-Hélène D'Amour, silver and bronze; and Jennifer Carkner, silver.

Jolyane Aubé was the only gold medal winner among local 11 and 12 year-old male swimmers, with other medals won by Robert Doucet, two silver; André Basque, silver and bronze; Denis Boudreau, silver; and Roger Melanson, bronze. Fane Dezan finished the event with three top 10 placings.

Besides White, others winning medals in the 13 and 14 year-old age group included Jean-René Cormier, gold and silver; Lloyd Lavigne, gold and two bronze; Nadia Cormier, gold; Chantal Doucet, two silver; Michel Doucet, one silver; and Linda Carrier, one bronze. Three top 10 finishes each were secured by Lisa MacDonald, Cindy Chiasson and Michelle Ouellet.

The 15 to 17 year-old open class saw Shawn Tremblay and Tanya Fisher emerge with two gold medals and one silver each, with other top placings belonging to Ravi Sankaran, gold and silver; Monique Cormier, gold and two bronze; Jean-Francois Mallet, two silver and one bronze; and Satyendra Satya, one bronze. Richard Doucet had one top 10 finish.

This coming Saturday the Aqua Ducks will be competing in the Provincial Summer Swim Team Championships in Campbellton.

LOOKING BACK

The Aqua Ducks won their first meet of the season in late July--the Miramichi Irish Festival Swim Meet held in Chatham--outdistancing three other swim teams in the process.

Among the top swimmers in this competition was Daniel Doucet, named the best 10 and younger swimmer after finishing first in the freestyle, butterfly and backstroke.

Kim Tremblay was named best swimmer in the 11 and 12 year-old age class after placing first in the freestyle, butterfly and individual medley, while Celine White earned the same honor in the 13 and 14 year-old division after winning the freestyle, back crawl and individual medley.

Top three finishes in the 10 and younger age class were attained by Angela Scott, second in both the butterfly and breaststroke; Melanie Sue Caron, third in the backstroke; and Jason Theriault, second in both the backstroke and butterfly.

Top 11 and 12 year-olds included Karen Stever, first in breaststroke, second in the individual medley and third in the backstroke; Lise White, third in the freestyle; Robert Doucet, second in both the butterfly and individual medley races; and André Basque, second in the breaststroke.

Top 13 and 14 year-olds included Chantal Doucet, second in the breaststroke and third in the backstroke; and Kirk Ellis, third in both the backstroke and breaststroke.

Leading the 15 to 17 year-old age class were Tanya Fisher, first in the individual medley and second in both the breaststroke and butterfly strokes; Shawn Tremblay, first in butterfly, second in the individual medley and third in the freestyle; Jean-Francois Mallet, second in the breaststroke and third in the butterfly; and Eric Landry, first in the backstroke.

Those not winning medals but helping gain the necessary amount of points to claim the overall title included Jolyanne Aubé, Kim Theriault, Deby Theriault, Roger Melanson, Michel Doucet, Jennifer Carkner, Cindy Chiasson and Linda Carrier.

Gowan Brae juniors take top four positions

The third leg of the North Shore Junior Golf Championships was held at Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club last week, with local golfers shooting the top four scores.

Mark Brewster claimed the Low Gross for the Field honors among the boys' draw, with Jennifer Sweet doing likewise in the junior girls' field

Low Net for the Field among the boys was won by Steffan Loupelle, while Sarah Eddy claimed the girls title.

Katie Christie and Jane Murphy swept the top two positions respectively in the Junior and Juvenile Girls low gross category, with Kara Neumann claiming the low net title.

Top finishes in the race for low gross among Juvenile boys went to Mark Deveaux, second; Yannick Lang, third; and Jon Clinch, fourth.

Top low gross finishers among the Midget boys were Jordan Hachey, second; and David Cavalero, third; with Chrissy Loupelle finishing second in the Midget girls low net category.

The top four low net awards among 12 and younger girls were claimed by local golfers Jill Chettiar, first; Audrey Bourque, second; Carolyn Williamson, third; and Jennifer Tower, fourth; while top placings in the low gross category went to Sara Massé, second; Kelly Sweet, third; and Nat Mean, fourth.

Jeff Sweet took top honors in the low net category for boys in the same age group, with Matthew Ross finishing third and Ian Willett fourth.

The final round of the North Shore Junior Golf Championship is scheduled for Aug. 22 at the Miramichi Golf and Country Club.

Sponsoring the event was the local McDonald's Family Restaurant outlet.

Top local winners in the third leg of the North Shore Junior Golf Championships, held at the Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club Aug. 8, were Mark Brewster (left) and Jennifer Sweet, each winning Low Gross for the Field honors. About 127 juniors from throughout the North Shore area participated in the tournament. The fourth and final leg of the event will be played at the Miramichi Golf Club Aug. 22. Mark, 18, is the son of Dave and Cheryl Brewster of Bathurst, while Jennifer, 16, is the daughter of Charles and Barbara Sweet of Bathurst.

Golf title to Coulombe

The Gowan Brae Amateur held Aug. 3 and 4 proved to be another successful tournament hosted by the local club.

Besides once again booking the maximum amount of golfers, it attracted golfers from as far away as Baden Hills, Germany, not to mention Calgary, Toronto, Nova Scotia, Yellowknife, N.W.T. and throughout New Brunswick.

Rick Coulombe, the 1990 New Brunswick men's amateur champion, added his home course title to his many victories on the province's links with a 146 total over the two rounds. After shooting a 77 the first day, Coulombe came back with a solid 69 en route to the championship.

Other top Division One golfers from the local club were Robert Beaudet, first low net with a 141; and Mark Brewster, third low net with a 145.

Taking the third low gross title in Division Two was Placide Legacy with a 164 total, with the third low net title in the same Division going to Claude Willett Jr., with a 142.

First low gross in Division Three belonged to Joe Deveaux with a 164 total. Third low net went to Paul Lepage with a 145.

Second low gross in Division Four belonged to Clarence Blanchard, with a 185.

Tough fight ahead for Tyson

Out Of Bounds

By JIM COUTURE
Northern Light Sports

Mike Tyson has a fight coming up which he just might lose, no matter who he punches out.

Apparently, a contestant in the Miss Black America Pageant has accused the former Heavyweight boxing champion of rape, a very serious charge with some serious consequences attached if convicted.

"If convicted" are the catch words here. People keep saying that celebrities don't get any special treatment in court, but it's a time-honored tradition to give people like Tyson breaks when it comes to sentencing. It's not right, but that's usually how it goes.

Sure, if convicted he'll probably spend some time in jail, but most of his sentence will probably include stays in treatment centres, hefty fines and a few thousand hours of community service.

I don't mean to belittle the victim's case, because I--as well as most of the rest of the world--don't know the full story. What I do know is there are many people out there who will readily lend their names to scandal in order to gain fame and fortune.

For a perfect example, there's another Miss Black America contestant suing Tyson for--you ready for this--$100 million. Why, you ask, is she demanding such an enormous sum? Well, because he fondled her behind.

A few questions came to mind when I read about this. First off, why $100 million? Why not $1 million? Must be because her butt--as well as the rest of her, I presume--was voted best in her particular state. Inflation is getting out of hand, don't you think?

I think I see her reasoning behind asking for such an exorbitant amount though. It's just like asking your parents for money--the more you ask for the higher they'll be willing to settle for. I used to do that with my parents...wait a second, I still do that, but I usually start around $20 and hope for the best.

Anyway, I think $100 million is a little too big a sum to be tossing around when you're talking about someone placing a hand on someone else's behind. If he had used both hands I'd understand, however it's still a few million more than what I'd be willing to pay.

The rape charge, on the other hand--pardun the pun--is a serious one, much more so than other brushes with the law Tyson has been through.

However, if convicted the judge may just make an example of him and send him away for a long time, which is what he deserves if he did what he's accused of.

Softball playoffs begin

The playoff quarter-finals have begun in the Fabrication of Plaques City Softball League.

Brasserie O'St. Pierre is off to a healthy start, grabbing a 2-0 lead in its best-of-seven series with C&G Smith Trucking. Bistro Terrasse and the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters are tied 1-1 in their series.

The week began with Brasserie O'St. Pierre defeating C&G Smith Trucking 13-2 on Aug. 6, with Marc-André Comeau notching the win and Carl Smith the loss.

Leading the O'St. Pierre attack was Roger Ouellette, with a triple, double and single, while Ricky Hondas led all C&G Smith Trucking hitters with a pair of singles.

Bistro Terrasse drew first blood in its series with the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters in the late game, winning 14-6 behind Robbie Arseneau's pitching arm. Jean-Claude Rioux took the loss.

Top hitters for the winning side were Alan Leet, with a triple and two singles; and Andrew Fournier, with three singles. Leading the Firefighters was Roger Boudreau, with a double and a single.

Brasserie O'St. Pierre upped its record to 2-0 Aug. 7 with a 9-0 whitewash of C&G Smith Trucking. Alfred Arseneau gained the victory from the mound, with the loss handed to Carl Smith.

Roger Ouellette was the big hitter in the winner's lineup, stroking a triple, double and single to lead all. Kevin Peters poked a single to lead C&G Smith trucking.

The Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters closed off the week by evening up its series with Bistro Terrasse, thanks to a 10-3 victory Aug. 8. Jean-Claude Rioux claimed victory this time around, with Robbie Arseneau tagged with the loss.

Danny Boucher laced a triple and two singles to lead the winners offensively, while Alan Leet stroked a pair of doubles to pace the losing offence.

UP...UP...AND AWAY!

Steve Boudreau was among many youngsters skateboarding at the Beresford Arena recently, where ramps have been set up and supervisors provided by the Beresford Parks and Recreation Department. The arena is open to skaters Tuesday to Friday evenings, and Sunday, from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Day passes are available at $2 apiece, with memberships for the summer priced at $20, and both are available at the door. Steve, 13, is the son of Cletus and Edith Boudreau of Beresford.

Trying to revive Special Olympics in this region

Local Special Olympic Games may reawaken after three years in a dormant state, but it'll take a cooperative effort by many to bring the project to light.

Organizer Geraldine Mason is presently recruiting volunteers and coaches to help achieve that objective, the last of which was held in 1988.

"Even one hour a week would be a tremendous help to us," she said during a recent interview.

The Special Olympic Games were created to promote the development of year-round programs in fitness, recreation and sport for mentally handicapped people.

Those who qualify at the regional level will have the opportunity to take part in the provincial Special Olympic Games, scheduled for January, 1992.

Mrs. Mason is also being kept busy contacting as many potential athletes as possible. During coming weeks she'll be going through lists of former competitors and others she believes would be interested in taking part in such an event.

The games are slated for sometime in September, with a definite date to be set during an upcoming meeting.

Bowling, figure skating, speed skating, cross country skiing, snowshoeing, swimming and floor hockey are the sports in which the athletes will be competing in.

For more information on the Special Olympic Games, contact Mrs. Mason at 546-1127.

SPECIAL PROGRAM

In the meantime--Aug. 16 and 17 to be exact--a Special Population Aquatic Sports Workshop will be held at Fredericton's Craft Aquatic Centre, sponsored by the provincial Department of Tourism, Recreation and Heritage.

The two-day event will concentrate on small craft aquatics, including canoeing, kayaking and rowing, and is also open to recreational professionals, volunteers and parents.

For more information, contact Geraldine Mason at 546-1127.

Playoffs over for Bantams

Things started off alright for the Bathurst Bantam T-Birds at the Zone Playoffs held on the Miramichi over the weekend, but they didn't finish well at all.

The zones, where the top two teams among the five attending would earn a berth in the provincials, began with the T-Birds defeating Chatham 3-2 Friday night, thanks to a 17-strike out performance from Joey Thibodeau.

Then the bottom fell out, with the T-Birds losing their next two games and a chance at the provincial title. Also eliminated from the five-team event were Moncton and Riverview.

On Saturday, Newcastle scored once in the top of the seventh inning to push the game into extra innings, then scored six runs in the top of the ninth to secure the victory.

Roddie MacKenzie, Denis Lavigne, Joey Thibodeau and Todd Kenny all had a hand in pitching duties.

Later that day the T-Birds met a determined Chatham squad, which ended Bathurst hopes with a 10-0 trouncing.

Chatham and Newcastle will now represent the zone in the provincial championship.

The White Sox have taken the early lead in the Bathurst Minor Baseball Association's Beaver division house league playoffs.

The Sox posted victories in its first two games of the four team, double round-robin playoffs, and are followed by the Blue Jays, 1-0-1 won-lost-tied; the Angels, 0-1-1; and the Twins, 0-2-0.

The Blue Jays began the playoff schedule on the right note, with a 5-4 victory over the Angels on Aug. 6. Serge Duguay and Kirk Doucet combined from the mound to earn the victory, with Timothy Basque accepting defeat.

Leading the Blue Jays from the batter's box were Kevin Glazier, with a home run; Jamie Doucet, with a triple and a single; and Jean-Pierre Goulard and Marc-André Boudreau, a single each. Leading the Angels' offence were Timothy Basque, with a double and a single; and Michael Goyette, with one single.

Bruno Doucet and Jean-Lou Roy combined their pitching arms to lead the White Sox to their first victory of the playoffs, a 9-8 decision over the Twins on Aug. 7. Kyle Jamieson and Marc Doucet were tagged with the loss.

The White Sox' second win of the week was also a 9-8 decision over the Twins, also played Aug. 7 and again featuring Jean-Lou Roy and Bruno Doucet on the mound. Scott Petrie suffered the loss.

The Blue Jays and the Angels played to an 8-8 tie in the final game of the week, played Aug. 8. Kirk Doucet, Jamie Doucet and Serge Duguay shared mound duties for the Blue Jays, while for the Angels it was Scott Donnelly and Timothy Basque.

Leading the Angels' offence were Michael Goyette, with a double and a single; and Timothy Basque and Jonathan Hayes, each with a pair of singles. Pacing the Blue Jays' attack were Marc-André Boudreau, Jean-Pierre Goulard, Serge Duguay, Denis Theriault, Justin Kane and Bradley Cavanaugh, each with a single.

The season is winding down for Mosquito and Squirt division teams in the BMBA, with four games played during the past week. There are no playoffs in these divisions.

The Giants blanked the Expos 3-0 in a Mosquito division matchup played Aug. 6.

Jennifer Vienneau powered the way to the win with a three-run home run, while Eric Roy and Lise Glazier led the Expos with a single each.

Edgar Doiron stroked a pair of singles and scored four times to lead the Massé Hardwood Cubs to a 22-16 victory over the Horizon Carpet Phillies in a Squirt division game played Aug. 7.

Patrick Duguay stroked a home run and a single and scored three times in Jim Walters Yankees' 11-7 victory over the Expert Fence Pirates in Squirt division action Aug. 8.

The late game saw the Cardinals defeat the Indians 6-2 in a Mosquito division matchup, with Jeff Boudreau lacing a couple of triples to help in the win.

PLEASE NOTE

The season-ending Bathurst Minor Baseball Association Field Day will be held Aug. 24 beginning at 9 a.m. at Coronation Park for all youths involved in minor baseball during the past season.

Prizes, trophies, medals, ribbons and certificates will be awarded during the field day, with many games and activities planned to keep the masses occupied. A barbecue will also be held, and there is no charge for any of the aforementioned activities.

Bowe among best boxers

On The Ropes

By "Wild" BILL HUDON

Last weekend was a great one on the tube for boxing fans.

Heavyweight Bert Cooper is still at it. He won a TKO (technical knockout) over Anthony Wade in the eighth round.

Cooper, at 34 years of age, has fought them all, but never a world champion. Yes, you are right, he's the one who put a roadblock in Willie Dewitt's boxing career.

Also last weekend, young unbeaten Heavyweight Riddick Bowe of Brooklyn, N.Y. made it 26 straight by stopping Bruce Seldon in the first round. Bowe said he hopes to contend for the title soon, and I for one will say that Bowe is one of the best young lions in boxing today.

Canadian boxer Donovan (Razor) Ruddock is making a lot of noise these days. He wants to fight the European and Commonwealth Heavyweight champion Lennox Lewis. I say Lewis is not ready for guys like Ruddock and Tyson, but I could be wrong.

What does Father Clement's Holy Angels Church in Chicago have to do with boxing? Well, on Nov. 13, 1987, at the De Paul University Alumni Hall in Chicago, all the proceeds from a professional boxing show promoted by Don King and Ernie Turrel went to the Holy Angels Rebuilding Project. The project was established to help rebuild Father Clement's church, which was destroyed by fire.

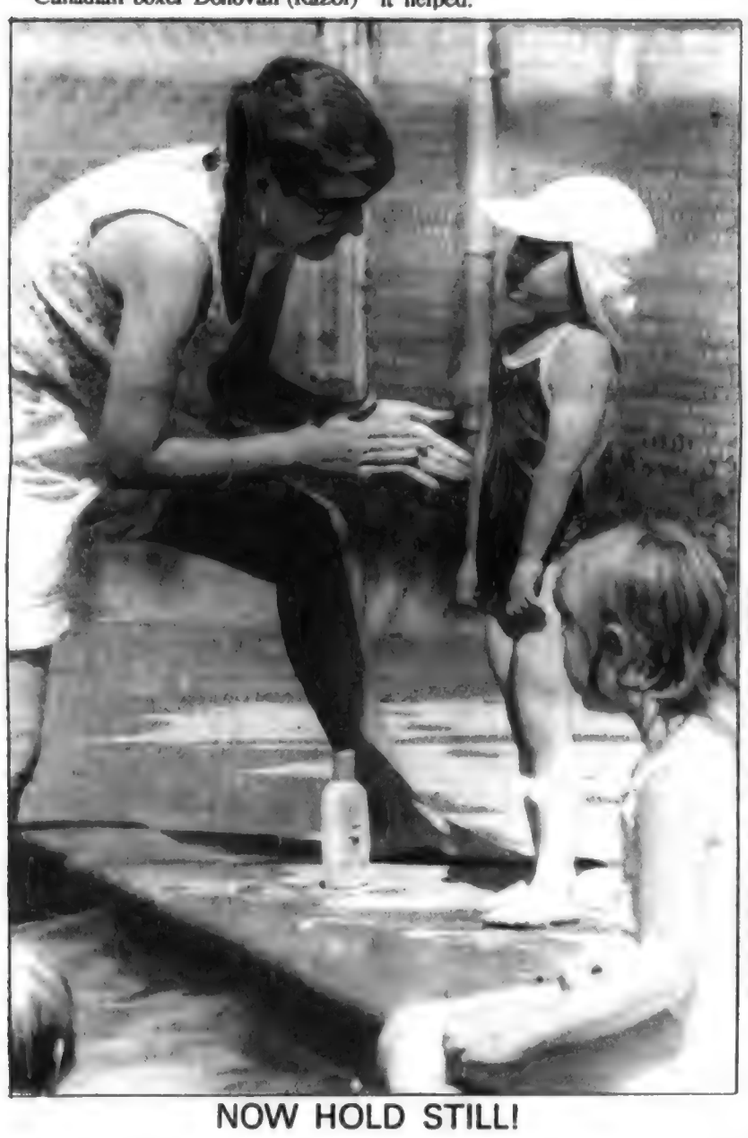
Father Clement, who has been at the helm of Holy Angels Church for 17 years, gained national fame in 1981 by becoming the first Catholic priest to adopt a child.

I will put it this way, boxing can help a lot of people, and at the same time it can destroy a few. In this case it helped.

NOT PICKY

Last week at the fights in Moncton I bumped into Moncton Times sports editor and columnist Eddie St. Pierre. After a good hand grip he asked me if I ever see Gene LeBlanc around. He told me he was a good friend of Gene's and told me to say hello for him.

Eddie is not too fussy about who he has for friends. Sorry about the low blow, Gene. Have a good day.



Oh yes, I almost forgot. Eddie asked me why you weren't at the Slow Pitch Tournament in Moncton.

OPENING SOON

On the local scene, the Bathurst Boxing Club will open Aug. 26, Monday through Friday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. behind city hall on St. Andrew Street. Just ask for Nick or Fred.

See you guys as the gym Aug. 26.

"Wild" Bill Hudon is a member of the Canadian Boxing Hall of Fame and the Bathurst Sports Hall of Fame.

NOW HOLD STILL!

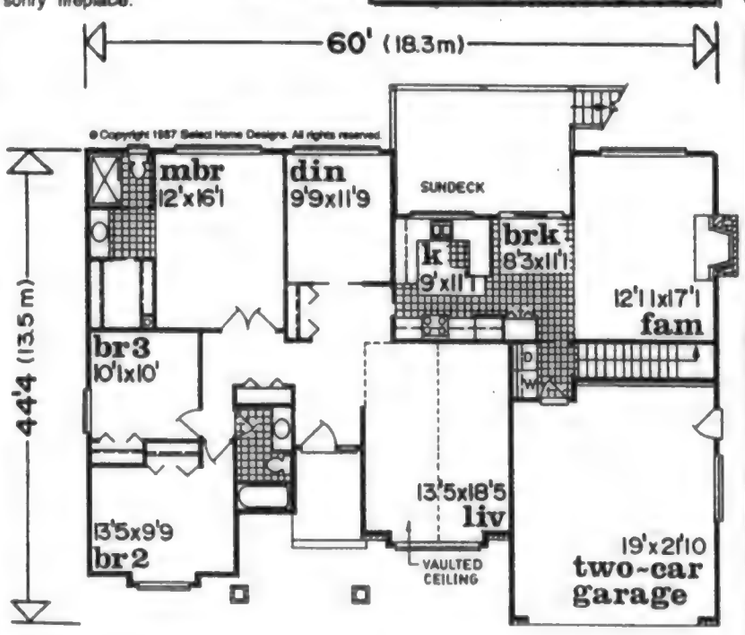
BOLD PORTICO ENHANCES STATELY RANCHER



Stately elegance characterized by an unusual roof design, portico and large box windows makes this 1,803 square foot rancher a truly unique family home. The expansive portico, which provides a weather protected entry, opens to a main foyer. The foyer spills to a spacious living room and cross hall dining room. The multipaned, transom windows accentuate the living room's vaulted ceiling creating an atmosphere ideal for formal entertaining.

The informal area of the home revolves around a spacious kitchen, breakfast room and adjacent family room. The U-shaped kitchen, with abundant counter and shelf space is open to the breakfast room. Wide sliding glass door from the sundeck opens to the breakfast room, expanding the living space outdoors. The large family room is warmed by a masonry fireplace.

The three bedrooms are positioned away from the noisy traffic area. The master bedroom features an ensuite with walk-in closet and shower. The two additional bedrooms share a main bathroom with soaking tub.

Future expansions is easily accommodated in the full basement. Plans offer a choice of foundations, including a full basement or crawlspace.

Send for Canada's largest plan book with over 500 home plans, including a wide variety of architectural styles, from luxurious brick manors to affordable bungalows, only $8.95 including shipping and GST. Record single

Bowling Update

By EDWARD CHAMBERLAIN

A new record single was rolled at Chaleur Family Lanes last week.

Guy Landry, a member of the Chaleur Family Lanes men's team, rolled a record 179.

The Monthly Mixed Money Tournament was held last Sunday at Chaleur Family Lanes, with Lawrence Couture's team finishing in first place with a 2,091 pinfall after five strings. Members of his team included Daniel Couture, Denis Basque, Tammy Doucet and Joyce Gallant, and they shared $120 for the win.

Finishing one pin behind was the team captained by Melvin Harris. The team, consisting of John Gray, Rina Aubé, Serge Gionet and Rachelle Roy, received $100 for its effort.

Rina Aubé was the top bowler of the day among the ladies with a 121 single, while Arthur Chamberlain was the top male bowler with an impressive 150 single.

The next Monthly Mixed Money Tournament is scheduled for Sept. 8 beginning at 10 a.m.

Bowling will again be included in the 1991 Labor Day festivities, with a tournament scheduled for Chaleur Family Lanes on Sept. 2 beginning at 1 p.m. Registration is $10 per team, plus strings. There will be three divisions--men's, ladies and mixed--and 14 teams will be accepted on a first come, first serve basis. If you wish to enter a team, contact Edward at 548-4455 before Sept. 1.

Gymnastics coach needed

Club Rythmique Chaleur is presently seeking a qualified rythmic gymnastics coach, or any person 16 and older willing to become a coach.

Experience in this sport is not necessary, but a background in either gymnastics, dance or ballet-jazz would be an asset.

Clinics will be given in order to familiarize anyone interested in basic movements and coaching techniques.

For more information, contact Lise Ouellette at 548-5948 or Danielle Butt at 546-8583.

BATHURST MINOR BASEBALL'S

Player of the Week

Michael Goyette

Michael Goyette, an eight-year member of the Bathurst Minor Baseball Association, is this week's Player of the Week.

Michael, 13 year-old son of Marcel and Julie-Anne Goyette of Bathurst, is a second baseman with the Beaver division Angels. He stroked a single and a double, producing three runs batted in, during an 8-8 tie with the Blue Jays during the past week.

The Grade 8 J. Gordon Chalmers Junior High School student collects baseball cards in his spare time, as well as practise playing the many musical instruments he's become so adept at.

Parkwood ball teams priming for playoffs

The Wild Goose Guzzlers and Brasserie O'St. Pierre were the top teams stats wise in the Parkwood Schooner-Pizza Delight Softball League this past week, each winning two games.

The Goose edged the Big D Blues 8-7 on Aug. 6 for their first win of the week, with Herbie Scott the winning pitcher and Danny Cormier the losing one.

Jarvis Chiasson led the winners from the plate with two doubles and a single, while for the Blues it was Hermel Arsenault, with two singles to his credit.

Victory number two came in the first game played Aug. 7, a 9-4 victory over Techno 90. Herbie Scott was again victorious in this one, with Christian Doiron going down to defeat.

Leading the Goose from the plate was Vance Scott, with a double and a single, while for the losing side it was Robert Chiasson, with a triple and a single.

The week began Aug. 5, however, with Techno 90 hammering the Uptown Club 10-2. Jocelyn St. Pierre was the winning pitcher, with the loss handed to Roland Boudreau.

The late game saw Brasserie O'St. Pierre narrowly defeat the Big D Blues 5-4 for their first win of the week, with Paul Aucoin registering the pitching win and Miles Coombs the loss.

Wayne Lord stroked a double and a single to lead the winning side, while Blair Gauthier put the same stats on the board on behalf of the Blues.

Brasserie O'St. Pierre edged the Right Spot Classics 10-8 in the late game Aug. 6, with Pat Murphy tossing the winning pitches and Roger White the losing ones.

Dave MacDonald stroked a home run and a single to pace the winner's attack. David Murphy poked a double and a single to lead the losing side.

The Right Spot Classics closed off the week Aug. 7 with a 16-9 thumping of the Uptown Club, with Leslie Smith the winner and Dave Tardiff tagged with the loss.

Marc Theriault hit a home run and two singles to lead the winners from the batter's box, while Wayne Firlotte stroked a triple and a double to lead the Uptown Club.

PUMPING UP

Robert Doucet of the Bathurst Fire Department performed a few bench presses with the help of fellow firefighter Robert Langlais last week at Fitness World. The two are part of the fire department team which has challenged the Bathurst Police Department to a weightlifting competition dubbed the Battle of the Badges, slated for P.J.'s Pub Aug. 24. All proceeds from the event will be handed over to the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada.

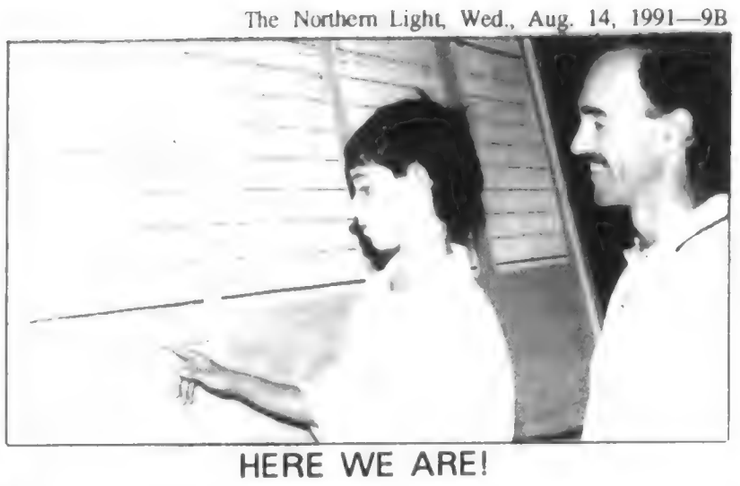
Cycling tour here tomorrow

Petit Rocher will be invaded by more than 100 cyclists tomorrow Thursday, as the Atlantic to the Lakes Cycling Adventure comes through the area.

The three-week adventure is sponsored by the Christian Children's Fund of Canada, and will see cyclists 18 and older travelling from Halifax, N.S. to Toronto, Ont., a distance of 2,118 kilometres.

The cyclists are scheduled to arrive in Bathurst at approximately 11 a.m. Thursday, and in Petit Rocher around noon.



The group began its trek on Aug. 11 in Halifax, and is expected to arrive in Toronto Aug. 31.

LINING 'ER UP

Quintin Sullivan had visions of a strike when he let loose with a ball at a local bowling centre Friday, during a Youth Bowling Tournament sponsored by the city's Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department. About 20 children from ages six to 18 took part in the event. Quintin is the eight year-old son of Aldora Sullivan of Bathurst.

HERE WE ARE!

Ian Willett, nine, and his father, George, of Bathurst are shown checking results at the completion of the Provincial Family Classic Golf Tournament, held at the Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club Friday. About 60 teams from across the province took part in the tournament.

DRAW WINNER

The B.J. Furs entry in the Fabrication of Plaques City Softball League held a draw recently on a pair of fur mitts and Moosehead Breweries products to raise funds for its operation. Winning the fur mitts, donated by B.J. Furs of Petit Rocher and valued at $300, was Jonathan Roy of Robertville, while the winner of the Moosehead products was Gordon Chamberlain of Bathurst. Shown from left are Pat Devereaux, league vice-president and treasurer; Marie-Lise Roy, accepting the fur mitts on behalf of her brother; and Fernand Boivin, representing B.J. Furs. Missing from photo is Gordon Chamberlain.

Visited castle on the Rhine

Over The Back Fence

By ELEANOR A. SCOTT
Call 548-5080 after 6 p.m.

Theresa Duguay and her husband Gerry, Calgary, Alta. are visiting his mother Linda Duguay and other family members.

Jill Weldon, her husband Larry and daughters Christine, Allison and Katie are visiting her mother Elizabeth Lewis. They are currently residing in Tsawwassen, B.C.

Shirley Ivan, Laurie Boucher and Richard Husameldin have returned to Bathurst following a three-week visit to Europe.

After flying to Paris, they traveled on by rail to Torre Melinos, Madrid and Barcelona, Spain.

They then took a Mediterranean tour where they visited Nice, France, Rome, Italy, and the Vatican Museum's Sistine Chapel; enjoyed a gondola ride an the canals of Venice; visited the Berlin Wall and had their passports stamped with the old DDR stamp used at "Checkpoint Charlie"; visited a former death camp at Dachan, and the famed Isle of Capri.

RHINE

On the Rhine River, they stopped to visit an old knight's castle at Marksburg. The only historic castle completely intact, it features a display of armored soldiers beginning in Grecian times around 600 B.C., and continuing through Roman times until the time of the crusaders.

Upon their return to Paris they visited the Louvre to view the "Big Three" in the art world, the Mona Lisa, Venus DeMilo and the Winged Victory of Samothrace.

In Montmartres they visited the famed Moulin Rouge Windmill and Sacred Heart Church.

Their advice to anyone traveling Eurrail is to pay the extra and go first-class.

Last week it was omitted that Deloria Blackett attended the Bridgewater Agricultural Exhibition. She also enjoyed the Rumrunners--Tales of Rumrunners and Ghost Ships at a dinner theatre in Lunenburg. She visited the Bluenose II in Halifax.

Also it was the Vadis and not the Cadis that returned home from India last week.

If your contribution didn't appear this week, please don't despair: we often carry news over into the following week's column!

Gloucester Gourmet

Movies, music and drama are some of the interests that keep Tina White's attention when she isn't managing downtown's Subway restaurant.

A lover of the beach and all things of summer, she has also been a singer with the Friends in Song Glee Club for the past year or so.

As for her cooking skills, they are not restricted to submarine sandwiches, as the following recipe demonstrates!

STIR FRY

2 lbs steak or chicken
1 green pepper, chopped
1 medium onion, chopped
2 cans mushrooms
2 medium tomatoes, cut into wedges
soya sauce

Fry bite-sized portions of steak or chicken for 15 minutes on medium heat. Add green pepper, onion and mushrooms, and cook until onion is transparent.

Add soya sauce gradually, and to own taste. Place tomato wedges on top, cover and steam for five minutes. Serve with rice. Serves two.

Every month, a draw will be held, with one of our Gloucester Gourmets for that month winning a cake from Jamieson's Save-Easy in the Place Bathurst Mall. To enter, simply submit a recipe along with your name and telephone number and The Northern Light will make arrangements to get you into the Gloucester Gourmet column for your chance to win!

New Chamber manager sets goal of upping membership

Formerly an assistant manager at the Household Finance Corporation office on Main Street, Mrs. Kersys started Aug. 6 as the Chamber's new manager.

Former manager Colin Taylor recently stepped down, but remains on the Chamber's board of directors as secretary.

While Mrs. Kersys admitted to "just getting my feet wet" when interviewed Friday, she did single out two issues she'll be addressing before year's end. The first was to increase membership in the 180-member strong organization, while the second involves meeting as many members as possible. She wants their feedback on various subjects important to the business community.

"It would be nice to get more members, more people involved," she said.

Mrs. Kersys will soon get a chance to do both, as one of the organizers of the Jubilee Classic '91 Golf Tournament scheduled for Sept. 13 at Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club.

The event, organized by the Chamber and the Chaleur Regional Development Commission, and part of the city's Silver Jubilee Celebrations, will serve as both a get together for members and non-members of the chamber and as a fundraiser.

Mrs. Kersys is presently hard at work finalizing details for the event, which she hopes will attract 144 golfers.

The chamber's Silver Jubilee Draw will be held during the golf banquet that same evening, and tickets for each event — $30 for the golf tournament and $20 per ticket for draw — are available through the chamber office at 498 King Ave.

Mrs. Kersys brings with her a healthy background in both administration — from her duties at HFC — and in tourism, which should both prove helpful in her capacity as manager.

The Montreal native, who moved to Bathurst with her husband last year, was involved in fundraising as a former director of the Beaches National Cycling Race on Prince Edward Island a few years ago, a job which gave her plenty of insight into fundraising and tourism matters.

Gets lesson in global marketing

"It was to make young Canadians more aware of the global economy and how it works," said Rachelle, who is the 17-year-old daughter of Rodrigue Pitre and Yvette Frenette, and will be entering Grade 12 at Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit this fall.

Rachelle was given a lesson in global markets when she participated in the Global Vision project. The month-long program included instruction in economics in Kingston, Ontario; and a two-week visit to Europe.

The Global Vision program is a Canada-wide pilot project designed to produce a "trade corps" of young Canadian, said a release.

The idea behind the project is that Canada's success in the international market will depend on how well the youth of today is prepared to take on tomorrow's opportunities.

Rachelle was one of 80 Canadian youth involved in the project, chosen based on her academic achievements in high school, and an essay she wrote.

The program started July 2, when the participants travelled to Kingston for courses on market globalization, and how it affects Canada as a world trading partner.

It enabled Rachelle, who hopes to study either economics or politics after high school, to learn how Canada "can be more comptetitive; how we can have a (competitive) edge."

She also learned how government and the private sector work together, since the program was jointly funded by business, government and private individuals.

The European excursion included stops in London, England; France and Belgium, with a day trip to Switzerland and Monaco.

The group was given a look at the European economic market through visits to various economic conferences and Canadian embassies, and a project whereby they compared European prices to Canadian prices.

What will your retirement income be?

Money Talk
By GARY LeROUX
Chartered Financial Planner

From time to time it is worthwhile to take a look at the purpose of Retirement Savings Plans. Such a review reveals that virtually all RRSP investors overlook the fundamental intention of this wonderful instrument.

Almost all RRSP investors assume that a large compounded asset will be created and thereafter invested at today's double-digit interest rates for a comfortable retirement. However, markets rarely accommodate the majority view and today's interest rates are extraordinarily high by any historical measurement. RRSPs are intended to provide retirement income!

Parliament intended that retirement savings plans answer two critical questions: What will I have, and what will it earn? Does your RRSP answer both these questions? In virtually all cases the answer is no.

What counts in retirement is retirement Income! An unhedged reliance upon stock market averages or wishful thinking leaves the investor with no real idea of actual retirement principal, and no idea of retirement income. Retirement savings bonds directly address this risk.

Retirement savings bonds provide government-guaranteed retirement principal, and a pre-set government retirement income. In addition, retirement savings bonds are bought at a substantial discount to face value, and your funds compound at market rates (approximately 10.77 per cent at time of writing) to your chosen income commencement date.

RSBs are liquid, tradeable, and eligible for RRSPs and RRIFs. These bonds offer great advantages over lesser quality investments such as annuities which are not government-guaranteed, provide less income and generally call for the surrender of principal.

RSBs come in a variety of maturities. Here's one example: You select a RSB with 15 years of compounding, followed by fifteen years of income. At a constant 10 per cent compound rate, a $24,350 investment quadruples to $100,000 principal by year 15. Based on a 10 per cent yield, this $100,000 provides $10,000 a year in income from year 16 to year 30. That amounts to $150,000 of guaranteed retirement income. At the end of year thirty, your investment, which is then worth $100,000 matures and is yours to re-invest.

The total return on your initial investment of $24,350 is $250,000 — or more than a 900 per cent return government guaranteed.

CANADA GEESE BEFRIEND BOY

Five-year-old Eric Ward made some feathered friends at Pokemouche River last month. The resident of Ottawa, son of Danny and Sharon Ward, was visiting his grandparents, Fred and Shirley Ward and Eddie and Clara Savoy. A flock of Canada geese were in the vicinity, and came near him for a "visit," when he started feeding them a loaf of bread.

Truck stolen from parking lot

Crime Stoppers

On May 10, a 1988 Ford F150 4-wheel drive pick-up was reported stolen from the Bathurst Mall parking lot.

This vehicle was maroon-colored and had a New Brunswick license plate number, CN6-673. This vehicle contained a considerable amount of personal items and tools, a .308 rifle and a Motorala cellular telephone.

This whicle was not recovered to date.

Anyone knowing anything about this crime or any other crime is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477. If your tip leads to an arrest, you may qualify for a cash award.

Call now. Remember, you do not have to give your name.

HOOPING IT UP

Saul's latest thriller too predictable

Book Review

By DAVID HUGHES
Thomson News Service

John Saul's latest novel Darkness (Bantam Books, 341 pages, $19.95), has many of the features of his earlier works.

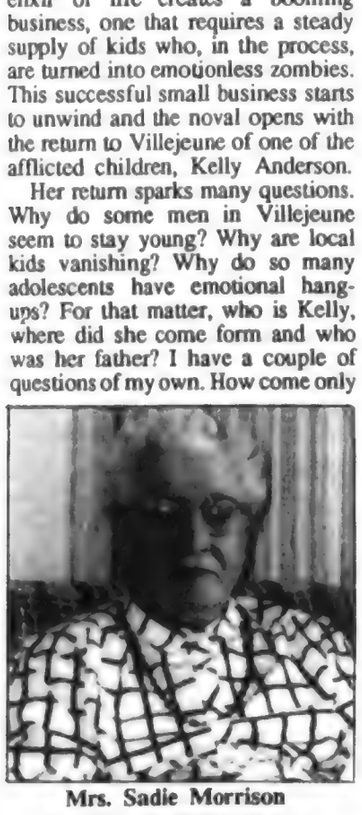
Starting with his first best seller, Suffer the Children, written in 1977, Saul has created a string of horror thrillers that revolve around children.

The plot of Darkness is characteristic of his approach. It is set in Villejeune, an Everglades swamp settlement fast turing into a Disneyland suburb. In it lurks a genius who has discovered that the thymus gland of a child, extracted and injected into an adult, keeps the lucky recipient from aging. The discovery of this elixir of life creates a booming business, one that requires a steady supply of kids who, in the process, are turned into emotionless zombies. This successful small business starts to unwind and the noval opens with the return to Villejeune of one of the afflicted children, Kelly Anderson.

Her return sparks many questions. Why do some men in Villejeune seem to stay young? Why are local kids vanishing? Why do so many adolescents have emotional hangups? For that matter, who is Kelly, where did she come form and who was her father? I have a couple of questions of my own. How come only men seem to have access to this elixir of life and, above all, why does no one notice all this before the heroine appears? Regardless, the novel revolves around the search for answers by caring parents, a conscientious police chief and above all a pair of confused teenagers.

MISUSED SCIENCE

Those who have read some of Saul's earlier work will recognize his facination with stories of children abused, possessed, haunted and imbued with evil. In many ways, Darkness is another in a chain of repetitively plotted novels. However, this one does not deal with the supernatural — with vampires and demons — but with misused science and blighted emotions.



HAS STRENGTHS

Despite its predictability and simplicity, Darkness has its strengths. Saul does a workmanlike job. The noval may lack deep emotion, complex characters and evocative language, but it is a competent, straightforward adventure story.

It reeks of evil and malice and evokes the miasmic swamps of the Everglades, complete with the obligatory appearance of alligators and snakes. The ending is predictable but satisfying — light triumphs over dark, the gallant teenagers destroy the villain, rescue his hapless victims, regain their stolen emotions, and are reunited with their caring parents.

That is the problem. Perhaps Darkness is too predictable. Conceivably, Saul needs to break away from his tested and successful formula. Certainly his many fans will find this a satisfactory read in the classic John Saul mode, but I for one look forward to his unquestioned talent being used in a work that does not, once again, revolve around children.

David Hughes is an avid reader of science fiction and fantasy. A scolar of the Univeristy of Cambridge, he has taught in Britain and Canada, and is a past-president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation.

Mrs. Sadie Morrison
95TH BIRTHDAY

Recent visitors at the residence of Ruby Clark were Ken and Beth Bonnar, and their sons Evan and Brendon from London, Ont.

While here, Ken, a grandson of Sadie Morrison, helped Mrs. Morrison celebrate her 95th birthday July 7. Mrs. Morrison received gifts and good wishes from friends and relatives in Bathurst, Ontario, the United States, and Germany.

Also visiting his mother, Mrs. Emily Sargent, was Donald Goldrup and his wife Mary, from Boulton, Ont. Donald is also a grandson of Mrs. Morrison, as is Terry Morrison of Toronto. Both men were on hand for the birthday celebration of cake and tea.

BOYS CHOIR FROM BELGIUM IN CONCERT THURSDAY NIGHT AT BHS THEATRE

The stage will be set tomorrow Thursday, at Bathurst High School Theatre, for a performance by a boys choir from Belgium. The Petits Chanteurs de Waterloo is known internationally for its exceptional musical renditions by Mozart and Haydyn, and works by contemporary artists like Gershwin, Corboz, and Ramirez. The choir, consisting of 35 children and 15 adults, is appearing in Bathurst under the sponsorship of Chorale Voidunor and the Bathurst Silver Jubilee Committee. The concert, in conjunction with the city's Silver Jubilee celebrations, will begin at 8 p.m. with tickets available at the door, for $5 for both children and adults.

Kelly Willis--Bang Bang

She's a soft spoken, delicate woman with a big rough voice. She's a youngster, only 22, yet she prefers songs packed with age-old wisdom. Her songs swagger with natural confidence, yet she contends she's still developing as an artist. If that's the case, then Bang Bang is one heck of a work in progress.

As with her critically acclaimed debut, Well Traveled Love (reviewed Nov. 14, 1990 in the The Northern Light), Kelly continues to provide prime dance music--Texas Roadhouse style. Sawdust will fly on the uptempo tunes; bodies will mold together on the ballads. For Kelly, singing the music she loves is something she's learned to trust.

She joined her first band at the age of 16 with an impromtu performance of an old rock-a-billy song. (For some reason, I feel it could have been a Wanda Jackson tune.) Later, after she followed her band to Austin, her blend of rock-a-billy abandon and hard-country emotions caught the ear of singer Nanci Griffith, who led producer and MCA A&R chief Tony Brown to this provocative, young talent.

Kelly still follows the same instincts, singing what feels right rather than adapt to the whim of fashion. "Baby Take A Piece Of My Heart", the album's first single, is a sly toe-tapper. The album also includes a beautifully aching version of "The That Love Forgot," an evocative ballad co-written by Kostas and Mas Palermo, drummer in Kelly's band, Radio Ranch.

The title and current single "Bang Bang" may not be much on lyrics, but it's catchy and will get you on the dance floor. It's a rousing rock-a-billy tune recorded by Janis Martin in the 1950's that Kelly has been performing since she started fronting bands at the age of 16 in Virginia.

Until next week, keep whistling.

Skid Row--Slave To The Grind

Along with Guns 'N' Roses, Skid Row are the hard rock heroes of the day, and this new disc should boost their careers even higher into the platinum stratosphere.

Slave To The Grind, the band's second release, comes lashing out of the speakers like a chainwhip. "Livin' On The Chain Gang" and "Riot Act" are state of the art metal, full of blistering rage and boilermaker guitar riffs. Such titles exemplify the prevailing attitude here: this band has a mighty chip on its collective shoulders. Most of the songs, written by bassist Rachel Bolan and guitarist Dave (Snake) Sabo, seethe with an adolescent's sense of rebellion against the world's injustices. And on tracks like "Mudkicker" and "The Threat," there's no question Skid Row means it.

No wonder they're so popular: rebellion has always done well at the rock and roll cash register, from Elvis to the Stones to the Clash.

Welcome to the club, boys; Mastercard, American Express and Visa accepted.

Crowded House--Woodface

Once upon a time there was a band from New Zealand called Split Enz. The leader was Tim Finn, and his baby brother Neil was in the group. When the band broke up, Neil started his own band, called Crowded House. Tim eventually rejoined his brother, in time for House album number three which is the subject of hand.

Maybe it's because Tim Finn is now singing and writing with the band. Maybe it's because the last record, Temple Of The Low Men didn't sell as well as the debut, so the lads are trying harder. Whatever the case, Woodface is Crowded House's finest music to date. A stunning work that draws heavily from a Beatles influence, it is not so much a collection of songs, but rather a mosaic of finely-crafted pop. From "Chocolate Cake"'s jab at trash culture, to the harmonies and stylish rock guitar of "Italian Plastic," Woodface is an exercise in masterful songwriting: precise hooks, witty and intelligent lyrics, seemingly effortless arrangements.

Your Week Ahead Horoscope

Forecast Period: August 18 - August 24, 1991

ARIES Mar. 21-Apr. 19	Go to that gathering you have been avoiding. Join the club, delve into philanthropic organizations, whatever it is that interests you - go for it.
TAURUS Apr. 20-May 20	Your creative and artistic talents are about to be put to the test. Taking your time and really becoming involved in this "hobby" could mean additional money for the future.
GEMINI May 21-June 20	You may have to decide between romance and career. Something will keep you and loved one apart, regardless.
CANCER June 21-July 22	Health problems lie on the horizon for someone special in your life. Be there for moral support. Don't over-react.
LEO July 23-Aug. 22	Do not be disappointed if your proposals are overlooked. Your time has not yet come. Seek respite with one who loves and accepts you for what you are.
VIRGO Aug. 23-Sept. 22	New relationship is about to begin. You will accidentally come across new facts on an old project that will spur on your involvement.
LIBRA Sept. 23-Oct. 22	Your energy may be zapped. Time for a rest from all problems at home and at work. Take time off for yourself.
SCORPIO Oct. 23-Nov. 21	Spend more time on that project you have been overseeing. It will take more than just your observation to get it on its feet. Get involved.
SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22-Dec. 21	Financial problems will arise if you do not curb your tendencies to overspend. Your attention may be required for more than personal matters.
CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 19	Avoid the telephone. Good news will arrive in person. Romance proceeds as expected. Hold on to your dreams.
AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 18	Your temper may cause irreparable damage to one you love. Stay calm and allow your heart to do the thinking this time.
PISCES Feb. 19-Mar. 20	Concentrate on budgeting your finances. An important decision must be made immediately. Take your time and consider the consequences of your instincts.

J. L. CONVENIENCE VIDEO REVIEW

By GREG MULOCK
Managing Editor

Misery

Another Stephen King novel turned into a movie, but the results are better than average. (As a long-time King fan, I still shudder when I think about the film treatments of Pet Sematary and Graveyard Shift — and not because they were scary.)

James Caan (Alien Nation) is writer Paul Sheldon, who winds up in the twisted care of Annie Potts (Kathy Bates) after a car accident. Potts is Sheldon's number one fan, and has no intention of letting her idol go.

If this sounds like a comedy, be warned it isn't. In a performance that won her an Oscar, Bates makes her character, a celebrity's worst nightmare, come to life with terrifying fury. It is an intense portrayal of a deranged mind, with Caan holding his own as her unwilling patient (actually, this is one of Caan's best roles in a while, and could help him make a comeback).

Some of the book's violence has been trimmed by acclaimed screenwriter William Goldman (an amputation scene, and an equally horrible bit involving a lawnmower), but Misery is still not for the squeamish. The suspense remains fully intact, however, and the fear of the captive patient is felt with claustrophobic intensity.

Keep in mind this is essentially a two-character movie, which means those with limited attention spans could soon become bored, despite the creeping sense of horror.

Not Without My Daughter

Contrary to what you might expect, this is not just a movie for those who enjoy soap operas, or those made-for-TV melodramas that show up on Sunday Night At The Movies

Sally Field plays an American woman married to an Iranian. Together with their young daughter, they return to his homeland for a visit. To her horror, she learns they are not going to go back to the United States.

Based on a true story, Not Without My Daughter is a disturbing look at a woman caught up in circumstances not of her doing. Thanks to a heartfelt performance from Field, we feel the woman's emotional pain and sense of betrayal, as she copes with an abusive husband, government red tape, and open hostility towards Amerians.

An inspirational drama that rises above cheap sentiment.

THANKS A LOT, BOB

Hurricane Bob blew down many trees early Tuesday morning as it past the region. Donald Roy and Andre Roussel, residents in an apartment building on St. Patrick Street awoke Tuesday to find a huge tree covering their cars that were parked in the back yard. Firefighters were at hand with chainsaws to clear away the tree and branches from the vehicles. Mr. Roy's car was spared major damage, apart from a few dents; however, Mr. Rousselle (shown here with Bathurst firefighter Jean-Claude Dumas) was not so fortunate.

CIVIC CENTRE

Hunt begins for funding

The search has begun for government funding for the city's proposed regional civic centre.

It was announced at a press conference Tuesday at city hall that the federal government has already been approached, and Bathurst MLA Paul Kenny has begun lobbying the provincial government on the city's behalf.

"I was speaking to Deputy Premier Paul Lordon, and he looked favorably towards funding this project," Mr. Kenny said at the press conference. He said he also spoke with Premier Frank McKenna Monday morning, in an effort to set up a meeting concerning the issue.

The amount of $5,017,000 has been identified as the portion of the total that would be required from each of the federal and provincial governments, as well as the City of Bathurst.

The $5,017,000 total is in 1992 dollars, up from an earlier figure of $4,733,000 due to a six per cent provision due to inflation. Of that amount, $3,960,000 will have to be borrowed by the city, with almost $1,060,000 expected to be raised through corporate sponsors, businesses, service clubs, professional groups, and individuals, as well as through various fundraisers.

A further $1.5 million will have to be borrowed by the city to convert the existing city hall offices into a police station, bringing the city's total contribution to $5,460,000.

Meanwhile, the option to purchase the Douglas Avenue site for the construction of the civic centre has been extended until the end of September, pending government funding.

The cost of acquiring properties on Douglas Avenue is $1,099,400, which has been calculated into the total cost of the civic centre.

Neither Mayor Mann nor Mr. Kenny would speculate as to when an answer would be forthcoming from either government.

The current plan for a civic centre was unveiled in the spring by a Halifax consulting firm hired for the task.

The centre will include two ice surfaces, canteens, and meeting rooms.

It is generally accepted that such a facility will greatly add to the quality of life in the Chaleur Region.

Storm not as severe as expected but it won't be forgotten by some

Mrs. Odette Doucet of Dunlop North is not apt to forget Hurricane Bob.

The storm, with winds gusting to almost 100 kilometres per hour and tossing around more than four centimetres of rain, levelled 30 to 40 trees in her woodlot early Tuesday morning.

"It's like a bulldozer came here and pulled all the trees down. It's awful...," she said, during a telephone interview Tuesday.

To add insult to injury, three trees fell down on power lines during the night, cutting off power until 11 a.m. Tuesday

Mrs. Doucet said that when she looked out the window at 7 a.m., it looked "like an apocalypse."

Harold Gammon, local weather observer with Environment Canada, said Tuesday that the winds did not reach the expected heights announced in weather reports Monday, nor did it rain as hard as predicted.

By 6:30 a.m. Tuesday, 30.8 millimetres of rain had fallen, and Mr. Gammon estimated another 10 millimetres had come down after that. Weather reports indicated the area was in for about 100 millimetres of rain.

According to Mr. Gammon's computerized anemometre, an instrument which measures the velocity or pressure of the wind, the highest gusts of wind were clocked at 89 kilometres per hour at 7:54 a.m., a far cry from the 100 to 120 km/h gusts predicted late Monday night.

Nevertheless, the winds and torrential rains were enough to knock down power lines all over Gloucester county, keeping NB Power crews busy much of Tuesday.

According to Deputy Chief Aldeo Robichaud of the Bathurst Fire Department, trees falling on power lines disrupted power on Bridge Street in East Bathurst around 9:30 a.m., and on Craig Avenue, off Youghal Drive, around the same time.

In Petit Rocher, at least three boats were capsized by the storm's waves, including two fishing craft and a pleasure vessel

Hurricane Bob also caused about $30,000 in damage to a home on Ruisseau Street in Pointe Verte.

High winds swept away the roof of André Lagacé's home, destroying furniture and causing cracks in walls.

An insurance company representative commented that Mr. Lagacé's home bore the worst property damage he had seen in the region in 17 years.

Bathurst residents stranded in USSR

Brian Creary

A group of young people from Bathurst are in the midst of the current political turmoil in the Soviet Union.

Seven members of the Bathurst Christian Fellowship Church are presently in Estonia, a republic of the Soviet Union, and that's where they'll stay until the political situation improves.

"They're all calm and well taken care of, but they can't move," said Lynn Creary of Bathurst, who received a call from her son Brian Monday evening.

Brian Creary, Mark LeBlanc, his wife Christine LeBlanc, Shannon Murray, Colleen Theriault, Angie Mazerolle, and Fred Jennings left Aug. 5 for a one-month stay in the Baltic republic. They are among 125 Canadians taking part in Estonia '91, a project sponsored mainly by the Apostolic Church of Pentecost.

The main purpose of their voyage was to give the people of Estonia an increased exposure to the bible, seeing as how Communist policies were loosening their oppressive grip on Christian practices in the recent past.

However, a self-appointed State Emergency Committee, comprised of top hardline Communists, overthrew President Mikhail Gorbachev Monday and announced they were in power. The committee immediately imposed partial martial law across the country, especially in the three Baltic republics which had recently voted strongly in favor of independance from the Soviet Union.

"The troops have moved in," Mrs. Creary said.

She told The Northern Light that the 60 or so other Canadians with the Bathurst group were supposed to fly out of Moscow next Tuesday, but the recent developments have altered those plans dramatically.

She said the group now plans on trying to head across a narrow section of the Baltic Sea to Finland by way of ferry, although ferry service has been interrupted since the coup.

Brian told his mother he'd be in touch as soon as any new developments occurred.

Mrs. Creary, however, is not worried about her son's fate.

"We figure if the Lord brought them there, he can bring them out," she said.

ACADIAN PICNIC

Seven year-old Elaine and her sister Lise Arseneault,4, were at Coronation Park for a family picnic Aug. 15, as part of the local celebrations for National Acadian Day. The picnic followed a march from Holy Family Church to the park, and was organized by Les Dames d'Acadie de Bathurst. An estimated 300 people participated in the march, which was in the form of a tintamarre, where participants made as much noise as possible using pots and pans. Elaine and Lise are daughters of Edmond and Claudia Arseneault of Bathurst.

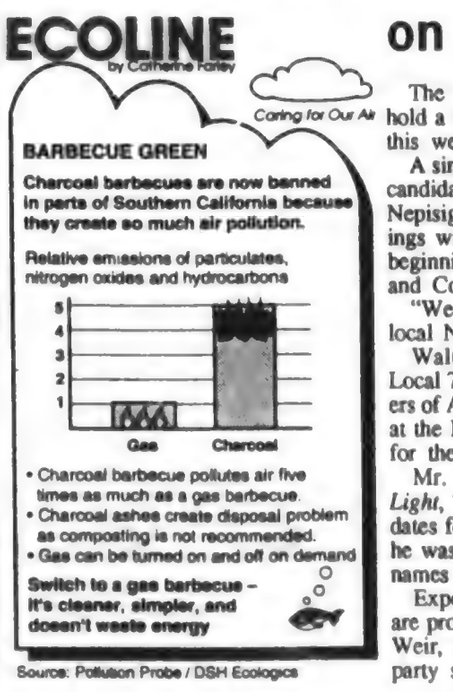
Search and Rescue annual on weekend

The New Brunswick Ground Search and Rescue has chosen Bathurst as the backdrop of its 1991 annual meeting.

All activities will take place this weekend at Heritage Tent and Trailer Park on Bridge Street and are open to the public, said chief coordinator Mike Landry of Bathurst.

The meet opens Friday with registration and a get-acquainted period for the 150 to 200 members and their families who are expected to attend. The members represent 11 teams from across New Brunswick.



Saturday will be taken up by such events as orientation, water boiling and canoe obstacle course competitions, as well as demonstrations by the RCMP helicopter, and the Bathurst Fire Department's jaws of life. A downhill rope-climbing competition will also take plcae, as well as a dog search exercise.

Supper and a bonfire will follow.

Sunday morning will see more competitions, with the meet coming to a close around noon.

The purpose of the annual meet is to "keep us in practice," Mr. Landry said, adding the activities help keep the members in tune with new techniques.

It is also a family-oriented weekend, with most members bringing their families along. It is being held for the first time in Bathurst, to commemorate the city's Silver Jubilee anniversary, Mr. Landry said.

NDP nominate on Sunday

A single convention to select NDP candidates in the Restigouche-East, Nepisiguit-Chaleur and Bathurst ridings will be held Sunday afternoon beginning at 2 p.m. at Keddy's Hotel and Convention Centre.

"We expect a fair crowd," said local NDP organizer John Gagnon.

Walter Gauthier, president of Local 7085 of the United Steelworkers of America, representing workers at the Belledune Smelter, is looking for the nod in Restigouche-East.

Mr. Gagnon told The Northern Light, "we're certain to have candidates for all three ridings," although he was not at liberty to divulge the names of any other candidates.

Expected to attend the convention are provincial NDP leader Elizabeth Weir, as well as provincial NDP party secretary Roger Clavette.

THE LADY IS A WINNER

The death of Lionel Comeau of Montreal and formerly of Pointe Verte occurred Aug. 13, 1991, at Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal, at the age of 53.

Born in Pointe Verte, he was a son of Evangeline (Roy) Comeau and the late Onesime Comeau.

Other than his mother of Foyer Notre Dame de Lourde, Mr. Comeau is survived by one brother, Herman of Schreiber, Ont.; six sisters, Mrs. Eveline Godin of Bathurst, Mrs. Hernie Bayington (Patricia) of Toronto, Mrs. Kenneth Steffler (Rose) and Mrs. Livain Boudreau (Jeannette), both of Beresford, Mrs. Medric Lagace (Yolande) and Mrs. Evangeliste Boudreau (Marie-Anne), both of Pointe Verte; and several nieces and nephews.

The body rested at Verret's Funeral Home, Nigadoo, with funeral service held Aug. 17 at St-Vincent de Paul R.C. Church, Pointe Verte.

Interment in the parish cemetery.

Interment in the parish cemetery.

OBITUARY

Father Gordon H. Fournier

A Bathurst-born Catholic priest, Father Gordon H. Fournier, whose outstanding and colorful career spanned the church, communications and other fields of useful endeavour, died Mon., Aug. 12, 1991, in St. Petersburg, Fla., after a long illness. He was 82.

Father Fournier was a son of the late Henry and Marie Comeau Fournier. After studying philosophy at St. Thomas College, Chatham, N.B. and theology with the White Fathers in Quebec City, he was admitted to the novitiate of the Society of White Fathers in Algiers, North Africa, in 1931, and ordained at Carthage on June 29, 1936. His first solemn high mass was celebrated in his home church, Our Lady of Mount Carmel, East Bathurst, in July 1936.

With his knowledge of French and Kiswashile, an East African language, Father Fournier taught for several years in the novitiate and high schools in Africa. In 1940, he was assigned to his order's headquarters in Alexandra Bay, New York, as a public relations liaison, which also took him to Washington, D.C. A two-year chaplaincy with a medical expedition in Africa was followed by further missionary work in Tanzania. In 1970, on home leave, he was appointed assistant priest in Incarnation Parish, Sarasota, Fla., which posting he held until shortly before his death.

As a youth, Father Fournier excelled in hockey in Bathurst and the popularity he achieved in this way under the nickname "Ti-Bonne" survived the years. Consequently, he was always warmly welcomed by many friends in all denominations when he was able to return here occasionally to visit his home and family.

Public relations tasks stateside for the White Fathers kept Father Fournier from spending his entire ministry in his beloved Africa. In the mid-50's he established the White Fathers' House in Los Angeles and the Foundation for All Africa, a people-to people program at Brooklyn Heights, N.Y., in behalf of African students in America and sent five American doctors to Africa.

Father Fournier was executive director of the Foundation and its president, Robert Kennedy, requested that he be one of four representatives sent to East Africa by the Kennedy Foundation to select 300 students to study in the U.S. In 1970 he undertook a public relations job for Conference of Bishops of East Africa in Canada and the United States.

A member of the National Press Club and the N.Y. Explorers' Club, he contributed to Worldmission Missionary Review when it was edited by Fulton Sheen and had published articles about Africa.

In 1978 Father Fournier received the U.S. Navy's Distinguished Public Service Award for his work with a medical science group expedition which he accompanied on a long African safari in 1948. "Father Fournier became a heroic figure and virtually a legend among the multitudes of the continent," the Navy citation read. "He symbolized the pioneering and civilizing influence of Christianity in a lofty degree."

On that same safari Father Founier guided well-known American playwright and movie producer Arch Oboler and party through several sections of the continent and gained knowlege in the art of shooting and producing films. This expertise he was to use to future advantage in his own motion picture projects for international consumption.

Father Fournier fought personal battles in Africa with malaria, almost complete blood-poisoning, etc. Stomach surgery and a heart attack suffered shortly after he arrived in Sarasota prevented his return to Africa where he had so many happy memories. Nevertheless, he retained his missionary status with this idea in mind.

Surviving Father Fournier are five sisters, Mrs. Helen Levesque, Mrs. Mabel Ross and Ms. Frances Fournier, all of Bathurst; Mrs. Albina Burlingame of Rochester, N.Y. and Mrs. Louis Robichaud (Yvette) of Moncton, N.B.; a brother, Rev. John Fournier CSB, of Toronto; and a foster-brother, John Coombs, of Janetville, Ont. He was predeceased by two brothers, Hector and Walter Fournier, both of Bathurst.

A funeral mass for Father Fournier was celebrated Aug. 18 in St. Petersburg, Fla., where burial also took place. A commemorative service will be held in his native church, Our Lady of Mount Carmel, East Bathurst, at a date to be announced.

Support mounts for forest idea

Interest continues to grow in the Chaleur Botanical Forest proposed by a local businessman.

A meeting Aug. 13 at the Beresford Municipal Building, attracting representatives of five municipal governments in the immediate area, has resulted in the approval of the concept by all.

René Pratt, who originated the idea, and Auguste Gallant were the representatives of the Chaleur Botanical Forest steering committee present at the meeting. The meeting served as a briefing to Beresford Mayor Real Boudreau, Petit Rocher Mayor Gerald Mallais, Pointe Verte Mayor Maxime Lejeune, Nigadoo Mayor Don McGinn, and Bathurst city councillor Claire Wilt.

"They endorsed the project in principle," Mr. Pratt said, adding comments regarding his idea were all positive.

The Chaleur Botanical Forest would consist of as many trees as possible from the eight forest regions of Canada — Boreal, Coastal, Subalpine, Mountain, Columbia, Deciduous, Great Lakes, and Acadian — which would all be located on one parcel of land yet to be decided upon. The trees would then be divided into mini-parcels, where many species of birch, pines, elms, maples, etc., would be grouped together.

Mr. Pratt said the municipal representatives will now report back to their respective councils, and hopes are high that all municipalities will embrace the project and give it its utmost attention.

"We needed to make sure the mayors were aware of it, because this project is for the good of the whole region," he said.

The meeting with the municipal representatives comes on the heel of the group's first meeting at Mr. Pratt's home recently, where about 20 people showed up interested in the project. A steering committee was formed during the meeting, with Mr. Pratt elected as its first chairman.

The next step for the steering committee is to go before the Nepisiguit Economic Conference coming up in October, and try to get all involved to stand together and make this project a reality.

"I would like to see this project become the priority of the conference," Mr. Pratt said.

Mr. Pratt will also meet with representatives of the Beresford Chamber of Commerce Sept. 4 to brief that particular group. A representative of the Bathurst Chamber of Commerce stated in an earlier report that his organization supported the idea in principle.

Others contacted by the steering committee seeking their help include Acadie-Bathurst MP Doug Young, who's taken the concept through proper federal government channels; and the Stone-Consolidated Inc. pulp and paper mill.

Anyone interested in helping out in any way towards the creation of this project are asked to contact Mr. Pratt at 548-8359.

Acadie-Bathurst MP Doug Young (right) took time to chat with Gerald Chiasson of Bathurst last Saturday, while visiting the City Farmers' Market on Main Street. Even in the summer, Mr. Young is always on the go, but never too busy to speak to his constituents, or, in the case of Mr. Chiasson, an old friend.

Summer doesn't mean vacation for local MP

By MICHAEL J. BOURGUIGNON
Northern Light Staff

A member of parliament's work is never done.

Acadie-Bathurst MP Doug Young may not have to sit in the House of Commons year-round, but the summer months find him being anything but idle. Meeting the people of the riding, attending special events and addressing the concerns of his constituents is an ongoing obligation that doesn't recognize seasonal change.

"It's a totally different kind of busy," he told The Northern Light over breakfast last Friday.

As Liberal Finance Critic — not to mention his position on the Public Accounts Committee, "two of the busiest committees in the house," — Mr. Young's time is well-occupied with parliamentary duties in Ottawa.

He still makes it a point to return to his riding every week, meaning he is travelling back and forth on a regular basis during the on-season.

The travelling does not end when the Legislature locks its doors in mid-June, however.

When The Northern Light spoke to him, Mr. Young had just returned from the Atlantic caucus in Prince Edward Island.

His weekend agenda included meetings in Bathurst, as well as in Shippegan, Tracadie and Caraquet.

Add to this the constant globetrotting from his office in Ottawa, to his office in Tracadie and — when he finally takes some time off — to his cottage in Bathurst, and one can see Mr. Young is a busy man.

As the summer draws to a close, Mr. Young noted he has had to be in Ottawa every week except two.

Part of what keeps him busy are the festivals, ribbon-cutting ceremonies and other events he is constantly asked to attend.

Over 40 festivals have taken place in the riding this summer, Mr. Young said, making it difficult to attend them all.

PART OF THE JOB

But he tries, not just because they can be an enjoyable way to involve his family, but because they, too, are part of the job.

"If I'm not exposed to the people, I can't listen to (their concerns)," he said.

Conflicts often arise when he is asked to take part in simultaneous celebrations, such as Canada Day and Remembrance Day, in several different communities.

For this, he keeps notes on where he was at the time last year, and makes sure every community in the riding eventually gets equal time.

Accessibility is important, but the people of Acadie-Bathurst don't generally wait until the next festival before letting Mr. Young know exactly what is on their minds. When he returns from a few days of being away, he is often faced with a dozen telephone calls to return.

In fact, about 95 per cent of an MP's work is done over the telephone, Mr. Young said.

"I try to have my staff do as much as they can," he said of his three full-time helpers.

At least two days a week, however, he tries to set aside a couple of hours to return the calls that require his personal and immediate attention.

VARIOUS CONCERNS

Their nature varies, but they often revolve around problems his constituents are having with one situation or another.

Unemployment Insurance problems, student loans, funding for community projects; these are but a sampling of the concerns brought to the MP's attention on a regular basis.

He further pointed out the Acadie-Bathurst riding takes in the Tracadie, Shippagan, Caraquet and Grande Anse areas, not just the city of Bathurst.

It's not a huge area, but moreso than those of some of his colleagues in Ottawa who "can walk through their constituency" of some three or four city blocks.

So the demands on his time rarely cease, a fact he accepts as part of his job — but one that causes difficulties as well.

Finding time to spend with his family is perhaps the greatest of these; but he intends to do his best to rectify the situation later this year, when his wife and their three children, Jessica, Alexa and Douglas Jr. move to Ottawa to be closer to Dad.

"As much as I can, I try to sleep where my family is," he said, adding, "You have to keep your suitcase packed in this job."

Astle quits site fight

In this instance at least, George (Buster) Astle is accepting the old maxim, "You can't fight City Hall."

Mr. Astle said Monday he is abandoning his quest to have city council reconsider its choice of a site for a proposed Civic Centre.

Council has been negotiating a deal for property off Douglas Avenue, but Mr. Astle believes the White's Wharf site would be a better buy.

Mr. Astle, who regularly attends city council meetings and who has unsuccessfully sought a council seat four times, had lobbied to stir up interest in the other site.

However, he said Monday there has been little public support forthcoming. In addition, he received a letter from the city clerk's office, stating that in spite of his public presentation to council July 8, asking councillors to reconsider, council will proceed as planned.

"Since council has already ratified a decision to select the proposed site, they are prepared to proceed with their decision," said the letter, which Mr. Astle allowed The Northern Light to read.

"It has definitely been decided. There's no more room to debate, and the taxpayers will have to go along with that," Mr. Astle said.

He suggested that any citizens who share his views on the site should phone a city councillor. He added that he would be interested in finding out at city council's next public session how many phone calls were received on this matter, if any.

He would also like a straight answer on the price for the Douglas Avenue site, noting he keeps hearing $1.4 million and $1.5 million, for five acres of land.

He again noted that the cost of the White's Wharf site would be $1 million, for 13 acres.

Hornibrook to be acclaimed

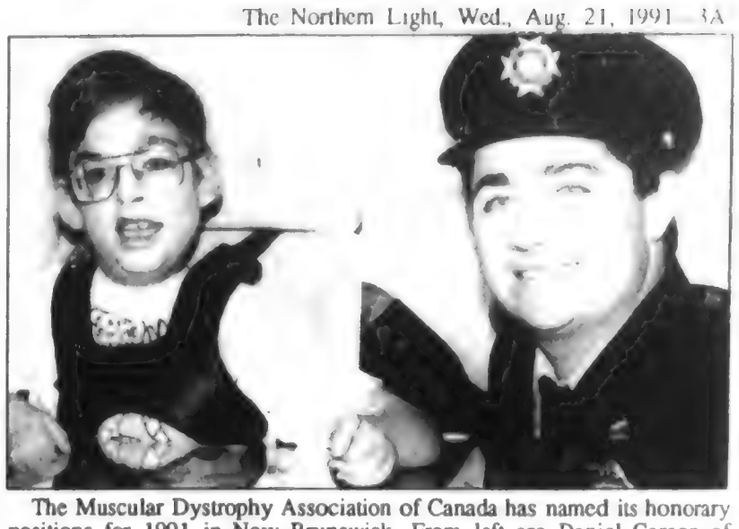
The nominating deadline came and went Monday, with no other candidate offering, thus Mr. Hornibrook will address his supporters tonight at the Allardville Recreation Centre as their candidate by acclamation.

Registration to the nominating convention gets underway at 6:30 p.m., followed by speeches from many of the top Progressive Conservatives in the province, beginning at 7 p.m.

Among those expected to attend are provincial Tory leader Dennis Cochrane; Shippagan PC Association president Alban Duguay; New Brunswick PC Association president Emilien LeBreton; Jean Gauvin, Fisheries Minister and Housing Minister in Richard Hatfield's former PC government; Emery Robichaud, vice-president of the N.B. Federal PC Association; and Leo Cormier, past-president of the Acadie-Bathurst Federal PC Association. Mr. Cormier will also act as chairman of the convention.

Mr. Cormier said in an interview Tuesday he expects a few hundred people at the convention, which will be used to showcase the local and provincial platforms of the Tories.



"We want to make sure the people of Nepisiguit-Chaleur have a choice," he said, referring to incumbent Liberal MLA and Speaker of the House Frank Branch, who has held the Nepisiguit-Chaleur seat in the legislature for the past 21 years.

ACADIAN PRIDE

Three-year-old Dominique Martel and his father, Gerry Martel of Bathurst, were among the 300 people in a parade to celebrate National Acadian Day Aug. 15. Organized by Les Dames d'Acadie de Bathurst, participants walked from Holy Family Church to Coronation Park. The event was in the form of a tintamarre, meaning the participants made as much noise as possible using pots and pans.

A 31-year-old Bathurst firefighter has been named to an honorary position with the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada in New Brunswick.

Donald Laffoley, a career firefighter with the Bathurst Fire Department for the past four years, has been named Honorary Provincial Chairman for 1991, said a release.

The post of Honorary Campaign Assistant has been given to Lois and Daniel Carson of Boisetown, the latter an eight-year-old boy afflicted with the disease.

In making the announcement, David Anderson, Atlantic Regional Director for the MDAC, explained that "all three individuals are expected to play a major role in our fundraising and awareness efforts throughout New Brunswick. One of their main duties will be to remind people of the upcoming Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day Telethon (Sept. 1 and 2)."

Mr. Laffoley was honored to be chosen for the position, and set his goals high for what he hopes to accomplish for the association.

"I was surprised. I never thought I was doing anything special. I felt I could be doing more," he stated in the release.

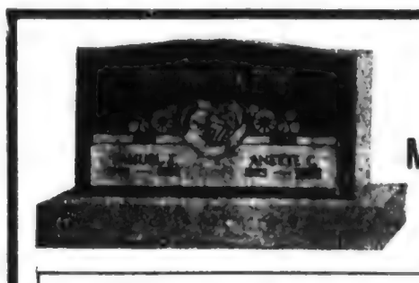
"We had a Shamrock campaign for the first time this year, our car wash is in the fall, and we're trying something new on Aug. 24. called the Battle of the Badges, which is a weightlifting competition between the firefighters and the police," he said.

Mr. Laffoley spoke highly of the association.

"It's for a good cause and it's not hard work," he said. "The need is there and fire departments and the Muscular Dystrophy Association have been tied together for so many years. If we were going to do something for an organization, Muscular Dystrophy is the one to do it for."

"My goal is to get more fire departments involved. It would be nice to get them to think about Muscular Dystrophy for about 12 months of the year, not just a couple of months before the telethon," Mr. Laffoley said, adding, "I'm always thinking or planning fundraising events."

SCHOLARSHIPS



Marc Frenette, son of Norma and Gerald Frenette of Beresford, achieved the highest Grade 12 academic average at Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit this past year, at 96.1. The accomplishment has earned him a $200 APEN scholarship. He has also won a Richelieu scholarship valued at $1,000, and a University of Ottawa entrance scholarship of $1,500, renewable for four years. Marc has also been chosen as a candidate for one of two $16,000 Rector's scholarships offered by the University of Ottawa, where he will begin pursuing a bachelor of social science degree in the honors economics program this fall.

Byelection many things to many people

Political Scene

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

One of the most perplexing questions in Canadian politics is why people vote a particular way in byelections.

No one, especially a politician, would ever admit to being perplexed, of course. In fact, they can scarcely wait to give you an answer.

Trouble is, each one has a different answer to the same question.

Take the latest provincial byelection, in the Quebec riding of Montmorency, where the Parti Quebecois broke a 20-year drought. You see, the party that Rene Levesque led to power in 1976 had never before won a byelection. It had fought, and lost, 35 successive campaigns.

So, what is the significance of the results? Well, it not only depends on who you ask, but also when you ask.

According to PQ Leader Jacques Parizeau, the outcome was a great victory for the forces of sovereignty. "This result will doubtless be reflected in the next general election, and then we'll be on the way to sovereignty."

To winning candidate Jean Filion, the victory proved that voters "haven't forgotten the humiliation of Meech Lake."

But that's not the way the Quebec Liberals — at least some of them — saw it.

"The constitutional question was totally irrelevant to it," said Communications Minister Lawrence Cannon.

REFLECTS ECONOMY

As far as Premier Robert Bourassa was concerned, his party's loss in Montmorency "surely reflects the economic and fiscal situation." He said the current recession played a large role in the campaign.

However, the premier seems to have had a change in viewpoint since the results came in. Prior to the vote, he said a Liberal win would represent a victory for this government's decision to hold a referendum on sovereignty. One could presumably take that to mean a Liberal defeat was a rejection of the referendum.

That's the beauty of byelection results. You can take them to mean anything you want.

What is clear, however, is that byelections traditionally tend to go against the party in power. It's an opportunity for voters to send a stiff message to their government without risking its defeat.

The vast majority of previous PQ defeats were during 1976-1985, when the party governed Quebec. There was one period during the Trudeau years when the governing Liberals lost 15 of 17 byelections.

And, if you wanted to know what message the voters were sending to Ottawa back then, you got 15 different answers.

ALWAYS THUS

It has always been this way. For example, look back to 1957, when John Diefenbaker's Tories defeated the long-governing Liberals of Louis St.Laurent. There's still no unanimity on why it happened.

Some historians claim it was Mr. Diefenbaker's campaigning ability; others blame the famous pipeline debate. Still others point to the 1956 Suez crisis and the government's failure to back Britain.

Then there was always "Liberal arrogance." That became one of the most popular explanations for all those Grit losses in Trudeau's time.

Just look at one man's explanations for the Tory victory of 1988. Prime Minister Brian Mulroney has offered a fistful of reasons why he defeated John Turner's Liberals. At various times, he said Canadians voted for free trade; or open government; or tax reform; or deficit reduction; or a modernization of the Armed Forces, or even more privatization.

And, oh yes, the voters were also letting it be known they wanted no part of Liberal rule.

Because the Liberals and New Democrats, when you combine their totals, collected more votes than the Tories, then-Liberal leader John Turner saw the results as a clear rejection of free trade.

OK, now back to Montmorency, and the message sent out by the voters there. Why don't you just pick the one you like best - everyone else is doing it.

Little River residents want new bridge

Aug. 19

Dear Editor,

Local residents of Little River Drive haven't blocked the road in their area, but CN is doing fine on its own.

The aging bridge, which was built in the early 1900's, used somewhere else and then transported to Bathurst to be used as a crossing for Little River, has certainly seen better days.

This bridge was fine in the horse and buggy era but today trucks haul 20 cords of wood. Gravel trucks haul 20 to 40 tons at a time. These vehicles — empty — weigh more the 10 tons, and the bridge is only good for six tons. This also means that garbage trucks, graders and front-end loaders for snow removal — something a resident of the area was told may not be done this winter — are all breaking the law when they cross the bridge.

Another overweight vehicle is the school buses, which means our children's lives are endangered every time they cross it.

CN has refused the Department of Transportation special permission to chip and seal Little River because of the weight restrictions. I personally have lost part of my livelihood because of a gravel truck and tractor I own. Should I cross the bridge with them I am breaking the law and I certainly cain't afford to pay a $57 fine everytime I do cross.

Where are the government and city officials, who 10 years ago promised they would try to get us a new bridge? There must be money somewhere. The city and provincial employees are not getting it. Maybe the federal government could spend a few of the millions that they seem to be collecting over and above what they predicated on their GST.

Maybe the money they are saving on the Village Bridge repairs and the chip and seal for Little River could be spent towards a bridge on level crossing. There have been residents of Little River before there was a bridge and at that time there was a level crossing. What ever happened to it? There was money for a level crossing in the Riverside Drive area before there were residents.

I spoke to the top officials of the Bathurst Fire Department and they informed me that they would break the law if there was a fire past the bridge on Little River. I commend them, but on the other hand they are breaking the law.

Do we the people of the City of Bathurst have to be lawbreakers in order to live here? I invite anyone, especially city management and government officials, to respond to our dilemma.

Support needed

It's time to get with the program.

We are referring to Tuesday's announcement, that the search for government funding for the proposed civic centre has officially begun.

That means it is more important than ever for various groups and organizations to get behind the civic centre project. To voice their support and do their bit in lobbying for this very important facility. Especially since council had made its decision on the site, and the deal for the purchase of the properties is expected to be wrapped up next month.

There are those who thought the proposed Douglas Avenue site was not the best. However, they are obviously a minority, as shown by the failed attempt by a concerned citizen to generate interest in an alternate site.

In short, now is the time to work towards making a regional civic centre a reality. The time for bickering and arguing is past.

Letter had misquote

Aug. 19

Dear Editor,

You were kind enough this week past to publish my article on Coronation Park and I am grateful. However, I am afraid you have me look a little foolish, in that you have misquoted me.

I typed that one notice board says Simples 75 cents, and the other says Singles 75 cents, whereas you have both notices saying the same thing, Singles 75 cents. I have included the article for your perusal, together with two others which are also flawed.

In no way do I seek to denigrate The Northern Light, which I think is an excellent publication. I hope you will not take offence at my remarks, which are intended solely for the good of The Northern Light.

Incident being blown out of all proportion

Aug. 14

Dear Editor,

We are presently in the midst of the summer months and it goes without saying that the bees are active once again. But do we have to be stung again?

There has been a nice picture of Carey's By The Sea in the L'Acadie Nouvelle recently and not one but three articles in this local paper. Could it be that this flag business is a cheap way to get advertising? It appears that all this fuss about a stolen flag and the so-called threatening phone calls is a cheap form of advertising.

We Canadians, especially those of us on the North Shore of this fine province are a tolerant lot. The two different cultures live side by side, and often as not intermingle in complete harmony.

When one flies four flags in a prominent location it is like waving red in front of a bull. I know, I've been there, but to take a flag incident and make a mountain out of a mole hill is, in my opinion, nothing short of sensationalism for personal gain.

Remembering The Generation

Silver Points

By SONIA-SIMARD CORMIER
News from 25 years ago.

Aug. 25, 1966

Ever wonder what Bathurst has to offer consumers? Well, an article which appeared in The Northern Light 25 years ago may well provide an answer which is just as appropriate today.

The story went like this. Upon returning from a shopping trip in a larger city, a consumer was overheard saying "Isn't it a glorious feeling to be among people you know and trust!?" The article went on to ennumerate 14 reasons why shopping locally was such a good idea. From convenience to choice to variety, nothing was omitted.

As we celebrate our city's Silver Jubilee, it might be a good idea to make a committment to support our community by shopping locally whenever we can. It's quite apparent from that particular article that although time passes, today's merchants are up against similar problems as those who operated businesses a quarter century ago. This of course has intensified with cross-border shopping, which is a problem even though Bathurst is quite a few hours from the nearest United States entry point.

Meanwhile, in 1966, if some businessmen were trying to drum up business, others were giving their services for free. Such was the case with barber John Scichilone, who donated 55 haircuts to boys attending that year's Lions' Fresh Air Camp. I don't know how many kids you'd get at camp nowadays if they knew a haircut was included, but in 1966 brushcuts were still requisite.

And while we're on the subject of young people, I wonder how many readers will remember the local rock band The Generation. I can't believe I'm admitting this but I do. Team members of this popular quartet were Bob Russel (lead guitar), Bernie Arseneau (bass guitar), Buck Hebert (rhythm guitar) and Paul Cormier (drums). The group's ability not only to perform good renditions of the songs of the day, but also to include some of their own compositions made them really popular with teens who followed the band wherever they played.

In an interview with The Northern Light, band members admitted there wasn't much effort being made to sell local groups to teens, with more attention being given to outside bands.

It would seem it's just like shopping locally; there's a certain lack of belief in the quality of our local products, be they merchandise, services or entertainment. Maybe this is something we should remember before we cross that "border line."

Enjoyed reunion

July 12

Dear Editor,

I would like to send along my sincere thanks to the organizing committee of the 10-year class of 1981 (Bathurst High School) reunion, for a job well done. My husband and I enjoyed all the activities and most of all, seeing everyone

70 YEARS AGO
August 1921

With the continued slump in the industrial situation here, it was only to be expected that a number of the young men thrown out of employment by the inactivity of the Pulp Mill and other concerns would take advantage of the opportunity now presented by the Canadian National Railway to go to the harvest fields.

Already several well-known youths have signified their intention to leave either on this week's "special," which leaves today, or on the one leaving later in the month.

Before the lists close, it is anticipated that there will be quite an exodus of prospective harvesters from the town. Wages are reported to be high at this season for such help, daily rates ranging from four to eight dollars and it is reported that 30,000 men are required.

Two automobiles and 92 and a half gallons of contraband alcohol were seized near here Saturday morning through the combined efforts of Preventive Officers, and Provincial and Bathurst police. The driver of one car was also arrested but later made his escape when released on his offer to guide the officers to the liquor cache they sought.

A search by the officers was rewarded with the discovery of a cache of 17 two and a half gallon tins of alcohol about a half a mile along the road from where the cars were stopped.

An imposing rectory has just reached completion at Beresford which is to have its first resident priest, Rev. Father Leon Gagnon of Grand Falls, who has been a curate in various parishes in the county for the last ten years.

The new building is the work of the parishioners who unselfishly contributed both the effort and means for its erection. They are to be congratulated for their fine workmanship.

Like ourselves, many people will be surprised that the population of the Town of Bathurst has increased by only 843 in the last ten years. From information obtained from Leo J. Melanson, 1951 census commissioner, the current population of incorporated Bathurst is 4,397 as compared with 3554 in 1941.

Gloucester County's population however, rose to 57,350, an increase of 8,000 in the past decade. Greater Bathurst, that is the town proper, East, South and West Bathurst, showed at 11,835, and the Parish of Bathurst at 8,770.

Other items of interest revealed by the census: East Bathurst has one of the greatest increases; there are 186 blind and deaf residents; 2,687 farm owners actively engaged in farming; and 1,492 persons engaged in fishing in Gloucester County.

Convention's over, but questions remain

Sitting Back

With GREG MULOCK
Personal opinion from the managing editor

The 1991 Liberal nominating convention is over and done with, but there are some interesting points to ponder in its wake.

To begin with, the winning candidate, Marcelle Mersereau, was not backed by the executive of the Bathurst Liberal Association. Subsequently, it remains to be seen what changes are wrought in that organization, as a result of Mrs. Mersereau's overwhelming victory on Sunday.

Patronage may well be a dirty word, but it is a fact of life in politics, and Bathurst is no exception to this rule. And, seeing how whoever's in the driver's seat calls the shots, it stands to reason that a different driver will have a different outlook, so to speak. One can expect to see some changes in board appointments and the like in the weeks and months ahead...

Also noteworthy is the number of city hall officials present at Sunday's convention, from both city council and the administration. Some were clearly backing the candidates of their choice, for whatever reasons. This would appear to be a questionable judgement call, in terms of partisan party politics and City Hall being a poor mix.

BIG DAY

Tuesday was a historic day in New Brunswick education: it was the first day of the province's new public kindergarten program.

Perth-Andover had the distinction of having the first students to enter the program (School down that way starts earlier, because of time off later in the fall to allow for the potato-picking season. I know, I used to live in Plaster Rock).

Anyway, the point is a local woman was among those present for the opening ceremonies. Doreen Young of Bathurst was there with Premier Frank McKenna and other dignitaries, in her capacity as president of the New Brunswick Home and School Association.

The public kindergarten program in Bathurst starts Sept. 10 for School District 41 (registration is Sept. 9), and Sept. 9 for District 42. The kindergarten classes will be housed in the various elementary schools of the two districts.

As for school, Grades 2 to 10 in District 41 start Sept. 3, and Grades 1, 11 and 12 start Sept. 4. In District 42, Grades 2 to 12 start Sept. 3, and Grade 1 students start Sept. 4.

NEW TALENT

Bathurst has always been known for its musical talent, and it's good to see that trend continuing with Wild Pitch.

A rock and roll band that's been kicking around for five years, playing private parties and the like, Wild Pitch is now making its way onto the local bar circuit. The band made a successful debut earlier this month at Pitcher's Pub, and will take the stage Friday and Saturday at P.J.'s Pub.

Wild Pitch is comprised of Brian Kenny, guitar and bass; Mark Hachey, bass and guitar; Paul Blanchard, drums; and Curtis Hachey, lead vocals.

The band, named by another local musician, John Mann, plays a mix of classic rock and current favorites.

1991 Liberal nominating convention for Bathurst riding

Mersereau will likely make it to Fredericton

By GREG MULOCK
Managing Editor

For the time being, Marcelle Meresereau's title will be city councillor, but that will likely change after this fall's provincial election.

Mrs. Mersereau, having won Sunday's Liberal nominating convention, has a better than average chance of winning the election and becoming the city's next MLA, because Bathurst has traditionally voted Liberal. And, in view of the likelihood of Premier Frank McKenna's Liberal government being re-elected, it is probable Bathurst voters will stick to their usual voting habits

Mrs. Mersereau, who will resign her post as regional director for the Department of Health and Community Services if elected, won a convincing first-ballot victory over her two opponents Sunday at the Bathurst Arena. She collected 608 votes, compared to 285 votes for local businessman Joe Hachey, and 262 votes for psychologist Gordon Kenny, also a city councillor.

There were 1,159 votes cast in total, with four spoiled.

It was expected by many in attendance that a second ballot would be likely, in view of what looked like a lot of support for the other candidates, particularly Mr. Kenny. However, noisy cheers of support and colorful placards and posters did not translate into actual votes.

Mrs. Mersereau, 48, attributed her victory to good organization and a good campaign team working with her.

Her ascent to public office has been rapid; she only gained her council seat in a byelection last November. The byelection was called in the wake of the death of city councillor Claude Mersereau, her husband's uncle. (The next municipal election is May 11, 1992, and another byelection this late in the three-year term of council is unlikely, should Mrs. Mersereau be elected to the Legislature).

She is married to Terry Mersereau, who owns a mineral exploration firm. A life-long resident of Bathurst, she resides in Doucet Subdivision. She and her husband have two children, a son at university in Moncton, and a daughter attending Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit.

Mrs. Mersereau was nominated by Jim Jessup, Mr. Hachey was nominated by Mrs. Donald (Mamie) McArdle, and Mr. Kenny was nominated by Sylvia Lavigne.

The arena had a festive atmosphere throughout the day. Balloons, buttons, and other campaign paraphernalia were on prominent display everywhere. Delegates washed down hot dogs with soft drinks, and enjoyed performances by the Bathurst Community Band, and local groups On Track and Calnan.

The arena was hot to say the least, and comments about the need for a civic centre were in Bathurst were frequent throughout the convention, on and off the stage.

The convention got underway with delegate registration at 10 a.m., and all was said and done by 5 p.m.

TORIES TOO

Dignitaries at the convention included Acadie-Bathurst MP Doug Young, Labor Minister Mike McKee, Fisheries Minister Denis Losier, Aldea Landry, minister of Intergovernmental Affairs, and Frank Branch, Nepisiguit-Chaleur MLA and Speaker of the House. Mr. Branch, speaking to The Northern Light, was one of many to note the number of prominent Tories on hand at the convention. At least two of them were voting delegates.

Retiring MLA Paul Kenny (no immediate relation to candidate Gordon Kenny) was given a standing ovation when he took the stage for a farewell speech. He was introduced as "The Gentleman Politician" by Albert Lavigne, president of the Bathurst Liberal Association.

Chief electoral officer for the convention was local lawyer Michael Gallagher, assisted by Richard Francoeur.

The singing of the national anthem was led by Bryanna White.

Retiring MLA defends Grit record in city of Bathurst

By GREG MULOCK
Managing Editor

"We've been able to achieve more in four years, than the previous government did in 17 years."

Paul Kenny

The retiring MLA for the city was in a fiesty mood at Sunday's nominating convention, held to choose the Liberal standard-bearer for this fall's provincial election.

In an address to the crowd of approximately 1,500 at the Bathurst Arena, Mr. Kenny denounced those who say the Liberal government has done nothing for the riding.

"We've been able to achieve more in four years, than the previous government did in 17 years," he said to great applause from the party faithful.

Mr. Kenny was commenting on a recent letter to the editor in The Northern Light, which criticized the Liberal government. The author of the letter accused the Liberals of doing little for Bathurst since the Grits took over from the Progressive Conservatives in 1987, except for work on the Bathurst Courthouse.

The MLA said it was not the Liberals who pledged that the courthouse would be renovated, but it was the Liberals who got the work underway.

Mr. Kenny cited the Workers' Compensation office on Main Street, upgrading of Chaleur Regional Hospital, and the Miramichi Avenue and St. Mary Street overpasses, among other examples of Liberal accomplishments in the riding.

He thanked voters and his family for their support during his 13 years in office, and said the fight must continue to have a natural gas pipeline extended from Quebec to Northern New Brunswick.

Mr. Kenny, 59, is retiring from political life for health reasons. His term of office officially ends when Premier Frank McKenna issues the election writ. The election is expected to be called for late September or early October.

The Premier himself was among Mr. Kenny's government colleagues who attended Sunday's convention.

Mr. McKenna, clearly in a campaigning mood, took time to praise Mr. Kenny, before launching into a brief but spirited election-style speech.

He described Mr. Kenny as sincere and caring, who always remembered the concerns of the ordinary person, because he was one himself.

The Premier said his government has made great progress in creating jobs since taking office in 1987, and held up a sheet of government statistics, although he chose not to read the figures aloud.

He said employement will be the chief issue in the upcoming election, and he pledged that his government will continue to work at job creation, "to make New Brunswick a have province."

Mr. McKenna left shortly after making his speech.

PROTESTERS

The Premier was greeted on his entrance to the convention by about 30 union members, gathered to protest the Liberal government's one-year wage freeze of public sector wages.

Those present included local representatives of the New Brunswick Nurses Union, the United Steelworkers of America Local 5385, Bathurst Ambulance Local 2940, and the Bathurst and District Labor Council.

Although the union members chanted and shouted at the Premier, he chose to ignore them, as he has done largely since similar protests began in the spring, when the wage freeze was announced.

The government has insisted that the wage freeze is a necessary cost-cutting measure, and the only alternative would be layoffs.

Development of city theme of speeches

By GREG MULOCK
Managing Editor

As is usually the case at political events, Sunday's speeches by the three candidates at the Liberal nominating convention were long on rhetoric, and short on detail.

The recurring theme though, was that Bathurst must take its rightful place in New Brunswick, as a place of development and commercial and industrial strength. This was the chief point reiterated in the three candidates' speeches.

Marcelle Mersereau, who won the nomination to become the Liberal standard-bearer in this fall's provincial election, said the city must pull together, "to make Bathurst happen. We need to foster a climate conducive to development and growth."

She said elected representatives and the public must work together to achieve this goal. She also cited the importance of ensuring proper health care and housing for senior citizens and the special population, and providing meaningful jobs for youth.

She said while Bathurst has been through some rough times, the community must pull together, and recognize each other's strengths and build on them.

Mrs. Mersereau also pledged to be a politician who listens to the concerns of her consituents. She recalled speaking with a man who was tired of politicians and broken promises. He told her he expected an elected representative to listen to the people and to level with them, and to open doors for Bathurst.

"That's what I expect of myself," she said.

Defeated candidate Joe Hachey's speech also noted the need for Bathurst to grow and prosper.

"Human and industrial resources here must be tapped," he said.

The other defeated candidate, Gordon Kenny, had a similar message. He said the city should not be shy in assuming a leadership role, to compete for a bigger piece of the pie.

RECEPTION HELD FOR MISS BERESFORD

A reception for Miss Beresford 1991, Sylvie Duguay, was held at the Beresford municipal building Aug. 11. Sylvie arrived back home July 24, following her participating in the 1991 Miss New Brunswick Pageant, held in Woodstock. She was presented with a electronic typewriter during the evening by Diane Ouellette, president of the last year's Beresford Groundhog Winter Carnival committee. The gift was from Sylvie's sponsors for the Miss 1991 New Brunswick Pageant: the Beresford Volunteer Firefighters, the Town of Beresford, Lucky Dragon restuarant, Beresford Sporting Association, and Dames des Pompier. The organizing committee who responsible for Sylvie's participation in the pageant was comprised of Diane Ouellette, Viola Leger, and Therese Blanchard. Sylvie, 16, is the daughter of Eldon and Noella Duguay of Beresford.

Course mandatory for drinking drivers

Provincial Court judges now have one less task to perform when sentencing a person for an impaired driving offence.

As of Aug. 1, a judge no longer has to include the probation order requiring that person to undergo a special education program on the dangers of impaired driving and alcoholism in general.

According to Aurele Doucet, regional coordinator for the Alcoholism and Drug Dependency Commission in Bathurst, a section which has been in the Motor Vehicle Act since approximately 1974, but never proclaimed, will make the course a prerequisite for reinstatement of driving privileges.

In announcing the details of the education program, Laura Freeman, acting chairperson of the commission, noted driving while impaired constitutes one of the most serious traffic safety problems in Canada. Each year, about 50 per cent of fatally injured drivers were legally impaired at the time of the accident.

As part of the continuing effort to make roadways safer and reduce the incidence of driving while impaired, Ms. Freeman said drivers convicted of impaired driving will have to attend a prescribed education course as a condition for the reinstatement of driving privileges. Courses will be delivered by the Centre for Education and Research in Safety. The ADDC will oversee the program.

Ms. Freeman outlined arrangements which have been made with the centre, including a three-hour session for the first-time offenders and an intensive weekend program for second and subsequent offenders.

"Effective Nov. 1, 1991, these courses will become mandatory for license reinstatement for both first-time and repeat offenders," she said.

"First-time offenders will be required to pay a license reinstatement fee of $170, while the fee for repeat offenders will be $370. The increase in fees will assure the education programs will be self-financed at no additional cost to the taxpayer."

Given 25-month term

A Paquetville man was sentenced to 25 months in jail Tuesday in connection with a recent break, enter and theft at Tower Jewellers on Main Street.

Prior to the sentencing, Tony Roussel had changed his election from judge and jury to Provincial Court judge, then pleaded guilty to the Aug. 8 incident. He was subsequently sentenced by Judge J. Frederic Arsenault.

Police investigating the incident found the Main Street store's front window shattered, and later apprehended Roussel based on witnesses' description.

Cpl. Peter Tremblay of the Bathurst City Police said fingerprints found at the scene matched Roussel's, and a sticker belonging to Tower's was found under one of his sneakers, in addition to glass fragments.

After questioning, he was transferred to Campbellton for psychiatric observation, having attempted suicide.

He was scheduled for release from hospital Aug. 15, at which time Provincial Court Judge J. Frederic Arsenault issued a warrant for his arrest.

Roussel appeared before Judge Arsenault again Aug. 16 for a bail hearing, and was remanded to custody until Tuesday.

Summer is now over for Bathurst student nurses

Registrations for the Bathurst School of Nursing were held Aug. 14 for second-year students, and Aug. 15 for first-year students. The students were at their desks first thing Friday morning.

BSN executive director Connie Morrison said last week there were 35 French and 36 English-speaking students enrolled as first-year students this year. There were 23 French and 22 English students enrolling in their second year of studies.

Furthermore, another 25 French and 29 English students registered for the 12-week preceptorship program, where nurses are teamed with a Registered Nurse for an in-depth nursing experience. Students taking part in this particular program do so at hospitals in either Bathurst, Caraquet, Tracadie, Dalhousie, Campbellton or the Miramichi, after which they're eligible to graduate in December of this year.

In January, the graduating students write their National Registered Nurse Exam. The local school has a long history of success with this particular exam, with both the French and English classes scoring an impressive 100 per cent success rate last year. That marked the eighth year in the long history of the school that the French class performed the feat, and the third time for the English class.

Mrs. Morrison said there were 114 applications received from French-speaking students wishing to enroll in the diploma program, and 160 English-speaking students, although budgetary considerations restrict the number of students.

"That's very normal," Mrs. Morrison said of the number of applicants compared to the number accepted.

FUNDING RECEIVED FOR FIRE HALL

The North Teteagouche substation of the St. Anne Regional Fire Department received $6,275 from the provincial Regional Development Corporation Aug. 6, to be used as a first instalment in an expected $34,800 RDC contribution for the construction of the fire hall, located besides the North Teteagouche Recreation Centre. The project is also being funded by the federal government ($73,480) and the provincial Municipal Affairs Department ($63,000). Construction began early July and is expected to be completed by November. The $262,000 project is headed by the St. Anne Regional Fire Department and the North Teteagouche construction committee. In photo from left are Regis LeBouthillier, project manager; Frank Branch, Nepisiguit-Chaleur MLA and Speaker of the House, who presented the $6,275 cheque; Jean-Maurice Savoie, secretary of the St. Anne Regional Fire Department advisory board; and Patrice Blanchard, St. Anne Regional Fire Department captain for North Teteagouche.

Convicted of fraud

A Bathurst man has been fined almost $3,500 and put on two years probation after pleading guilty to charges under the Social Welfare Act.

Wallace Devereaux, 34, pleaded guilty in Provincial Court Aug. 14 to defrauding the Social Assistance department of $3,333 between Oct. 1, 1989 and Oct. 1, 1990.

He was fined $100, placed on probation, and ordered to pay restitution in the amount of $3,333 by Judge J. Frederic Arsenault.

In other court news, the last of four young men has been sentenced in relation to two break, enter and thefts which occurred July 15.

Roger St. Onge, 19, of Beresford was sentenced in Provincial Court on Aug. 15 to eight months in jail for his part in the Knights of Columbus break-in in East Bathurst, and eight months concurrent for his part in a break-in at the Big D drive-in restaurant on Teteagouche Hill.

Judge Arsenault also ordered the youth to pay $87.50 restitution in relation to the Knights of Columbus incident, and $1,062 restitution for the Big D break-in.

Fund set up for blind man's operation

For the past 13 years, Réginald Arseneau of Petit Rocher has grown accustomed to a life of darkness.

He suffers from retinitis pigmentosa, an infliction that caused him to lose his sight at the age of 29, said a release.

A social worker since 1981, he has given him time to helping to solve the problems of others, and has campaigned to raise funds for the Mira Foundation, dedicated to the training of pilot dogs for the blind.

Now he is the one who is in need of assistance.

In April, Mr. Arseneau discovered that retinitis pigmentosa may be treatable, and that experimental treatment has already been done for some time in Cuba.

After forwarding his medical records, he was told by doctors several months later that he would qualify for treatment.

The treatment will consist of micro-surgery on the eyes, an electrical stimulation of the retina, an oxygenation of the blood, and 21 days of hospitalization at the Siara Garcia clinic in Cuba. He hopes to begin the treatment Nov. 4.

The Reginald Arseneau Fund has been established to raise the $15,000 the treatment will cost.

Already, several visually-handicapped individuals are impatient for the treatment to take place and for Mr. Arseneau's return, the release said.

In order to know more about what could be the first hope for sufferers of retinitis pigmentosa, the committee members for the Reginald Arseneau Fund encourage the public to support their efforts by donating funds at the Petit Rocher Credit Union, Account number 10696, or through the Reginald Arseneau Fund, P.O Box 504 Petit Rocher, N.B., E0B 2E0.

Summer Storms

Remember, during violent thunder storms, don't use the telephone, unplug TVs and stereos if they're fed by a roof-top antenna, stay away from open doors and windows, and don't take a shower or bath.

Training programs will be held for health and safety committees

Training programs for members of the Joint Health and Safety Committees of the Occupational Health and Safety Commission will be held in Bathurst in early September.

The full-day workshops are being presented from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on specified days by the education section of the New Brunswick OHSC, said a release. The purpose is to assist participants to develop or upgrade their activities in workplaces with 20 or more workers.

The workshops will introduce the structure of Joint Health and Safety Committees in areas such as inspections and audits, the Right to Refuse, accident investigations, health and safety record reviews, and committee responsibilities.

The workshops, slated for Bathurst Sept. 4 (English) and 5 (French), are free of charge.

To register, or for more information, please contact the OHSC, P.O. Box 6000, Fredericton, N.B., E3B-5H1. Or phone 453-2467 or, toll-free, 1-800-442-9776.

LOCAL BUSINESS MAN RETIRES

In 1970, Albanie Cormier and Ronald Cyr began a glass company, being one the first official glass companies in Bathurst, it was registered under the name of City Glass Ltd with equal partnership.

On July 29th, 1991, Albanie decided to retire and sold his shares to his business partner Ronald Cyr. Ron wishes to congratulate Albanie, for having managed this company for all these years, and to thank him for their partnership. Ron wishes Albanie continued good health and a long retirement.

Albanie also wishes to thank Ronald, his partner for the past 21 years, his devoted employees, his valued customers and his many friends for their continued support.

Together, Albanie and Ronald wish to thank you, the public, for your patronage. Being local businessmen, you supported us, as we hoped that you would and in turn, we gave you the service, that you knew, that we would.

Albanie invites you, to keep supporting this local independent glass company. The staff remains the same, which will guarantee you the same, first class service, that you have become accustomed to.

Albanie vous a rendu service pendant des annés avec son entreprise, City Glass LTd. Le 29 juillet, 1991, Albanie prit sa retraite.

Remercié par son adjoint Ronald Cyr, pour son dévouement envers leur association au travail, Ronald souhaite à Albanie, une bonne santé et une retraite bien méritée. Ensemble, Albanie et Ronald désirent remercier leur clientèle et espèrent de continuer à vous servir comme auparavant.

Transient classified display ad rate 69¢ per agate line. Minimum size one column inch (GST extra)

How To Write A Good Ad

1. Start your ad with the merchandise you are selling. This makes it easier for the reader to locate your advertisement.

2. Always include the price of the item you are selling. Many readers in Classified will not respond to an ad which does not include a price.

3. Place yourself in the reader's position. Ask what you would like to know about the merchandise you are selling. Include information such as brand name, colors and other specific descriptions in your ad and you will receive a quicker response from the reader.

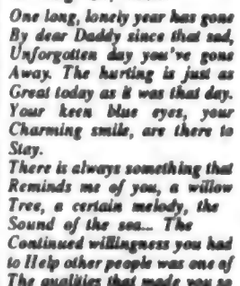
IN MEMORIAM

BOUDREAU - In loving memory of my dear father, Clifford, who passed away on Aug. 24, 1990.



One long, lonely year has gone
By dear Daddy since that sad,
Unforgotten day you've gone
Away. The hurting is just as Great today as it was that day.
Your keen blue eyes, your Charming smile, are there to Stay.
There is always something that Reminds me of you, a willow
Tree, a certain melody, the Sound of the sea... The Continued willingness you had to Help other people was one of
The qualities that made you so
Special to me.
But in my sadness, there are
Many special happy memories
Too. The joy of having been Given a Daddy like you was one
Of the greatest gifts that one
Could have. The least I can say,
I'll remember you always dear
Dad.
Sense of humour through
Sickness and pain, showed me
Again, the special kind of Person you were.
In Heaven, today, you live in
Joy and peace, no hurting, no
Pain. We will meet again, one
Day, where sad goodbyes never Occur...

Sadly missed and always remembered by eldest daughter, Annabelle.

NOWLAN- In loving memory of our two sons Roger & Robert who passed away Aug. 22, 1974.

Treasured memories
Keep you near
As time unfolds another year.
No lenght of time can take away
Our thoughts of you from day to day
No longer in our lives to share
But in our hearts you'll always be there

Sadly missed by Mom, Dad and family.

POIRIER- In loving memory of my dear father-in-law Romeo Poirier who died Aug. 22, 1990. On his soul Sweet Jesus, have mercy.

God saw you getting tired
When a cure was not to be.
He closed his arms around you
And whispered, come to me
So put your arms around him,
Lord
And give him special care,
Make up for all he suffered.
And all that seemed unfair

Always remembered by your loving daughter-in-law Rita and grandson Shawn.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

INSTRUCTEUR EN CUISINE

Le Collège communautaire du Nouveau-Brunswick - Bathurst cherche à établir un inventaire de personnes-ressources intéressées à l'enseignement dans la formation de courte durée en cuisine.

Ce poste posera un défi à une personne intéressée à la formation des adultes dans le secteur de la cuisine. L'enseignant suivra un programme pré-établi pour les divers cours en cuisine. L'enseignant donnera une partie théorique et une partie pratique.

Nous invitons les candidatures de personnes ayant complété un cours de cuisine de base et/ou cuisine avancé et possédant un certificat de compagnon en cuisine. La préférence sera accordée au candidat ayant un minimum de trois années d'expérience dans le métier.

EGALITE D'ACCES A L'EMPLOI

Stock car driver hits stride

Bathurst stock car driver Pete Chisholm earned a season's worth of respect in just one night of racing at McKay's Speedway in Douglastown Saturday.

The rookie driver, making a comeback this year after seven seasons away from the track, was the first driver this year to claim stock car racing's Grand Slam. Chisholm managed the feat by finishing first in all four races entered.

"Everything clicked, I guess," he said, not quite able to pin down any one thing that contributed to his successful outing.

Chisholm started things off by winning heat number one in his black '79 Monte Carlo. He followed that up by taking the Trophy Dash, reserved for winners of the first three heats, then the first semi-final.

He started in the fourth position in the lineup for each of his wins, except the Trophy Dash, when he started in the pole position.

For the stellar performance, Chisholm received two trophies, a case of oil, and $200 in cash. The 48 points accumulated for one day's work should also move him up many a notch in the points standings, where he sat in 12th place prior to the race with 139 points. Complete point standings were unavailable at press time.

This marks the first time since 1984 that Chisholm has raced on a regular basis, the last year Danny's Speed Bo. was in operation in Beresford.

That year he finished second overall in the points standings, but he admits the racing has gotten more sophisticated since that time.

"You can't really compare the two; it's a whole new style of racing. It's more professional," he said.

Chisholm is sponsored by Bathurst Mechanics Plus and Stothart's Toyota.

Deputy Police Chief Bernie Allain of the Bathurst City Police gave a little demonstration recently of what the Bathurst Fire Department can expect at the Battle of the Badges, slated for this coming Saturday at P.J.'s Pub and Fitness Centre. Allain is shown bench pressing more than 300 pounds, under the watchful eyes of fellow officers and team members Richard Lanteigne (left) and Mike Guitard. Other members of the police team include Lynus Buggie, Troy Clarkson, and Kevin Hovey.

Police vs firemen Saturday

A year's worth of bragging rights are at stake this Saturday when the Battle of the Badges is waged at P.J.'s Pub.

Beginning at 7 p.m., members of the Bathurst Fire Department and Bathurst City Police will wage a personal war through weights and endurance in an effort to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada.

And they're raring to go.

"We'll show up," said police team spokesman Cst. Mike Guitard, who's charges include Deputy Chief Bernie Allain, Sgt. Lynus Buggie, Cst. Troy Clarkson, Cst. Richard Lanteigne, and Kevin Hovey, a police recruit presently doing his on-the-job training with the city force.

Leading the firefighters into the weightlifting competition is Fred Morrison, the MDAC representative with the local fire department. His team will consist of Robert Langlais, Robert Doucet, Lucien Legacy, Roger Hachey, and Donald Laffoley.

The competition will be divided into three categories of exercise: bench press, leg extensions and arm curls. Those participating will be canvassing for donations and sponsorship, and will test their strength by performing as many repetitions as they can in one set.

In the bench press, participants will be expected to press the equivalent of their body weight; the leg extensions will be performed with half the individual's body weight; and the arm curls one-third.

Trophies will be awarded to winners in each category, with an overall Battle of the Badges Trophy presented to the team with the most repetitions overall. A trophy will also be presented to the team bringing in the most pledges.

"I think it'll go over quite well," Mr. Morrison said, adding, "If all goes well, we'll hold it again next year."

Mr. Morrison will be taking in the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon broadcast in Halifax, N.S. Sept. 1 and 2, and will present a cheque on the air.

Anyone who would like to contribute to the battle in aid of Muscular Dystrophy, please contact any of the aforementioned participants.

Top 20 is Coulombe's goal

The best New Brunswick has ever done in the team portion of the competition is fifth, and Coulombe hopes to move that distinction up a notch or two.

"Obviously we're going to try to beat that, but we'll see how it goes when we get there," he told The Northern Light during a telephone interview.

New Brunswick's Willingdon Cup team--which includes Jack Frank and Ed Reevey, both of Riverside; and Herrick Hansen of Aroostook--is an experienced one this year, with all players no strangers to top competition. Coulombe, Frank and Hansen are veterans of the golf links, longtime standouts in New Brunswick and many parts of the country, while Reevey honed his skills in the United States over the winter while on a golf scholarship and finished first in scoring in the team championship.

The team portion of the competition at the Royal Ottawa golf course will be held the first two days of the tournament--today Wednesday and tomorrow Thursday. Only the top three scores on each team count toward the team's standing.

The rounds played during the team portion of the event will carry over into the individual title hunt, added to the final two rounds Friday and Saturday to determine a national amateur champion.

Coulombe, the 1990 New Brunswick Amateur Men's Champion and the only returning member of last year's team, will be looking to improve considerably from his performance of a year ago, when he placed around 40th in the 180-man field.

"I'd like to finish in the top 20. That's my goal," he said.

New Brunswick's Willingdon Cup team finished eighth last year when the competition was held in Weston, Ont.

Lang 13th, N.B. ladies seventh

Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club junior Yannick Lang was the clearcut champ when it came to New Brunswick golfers at the national championship.

Lang finished in a four-way tie for 13th spot in the 1991 Canadian Junior Men's Golf Championship played last week at the Carleton Golf and Yacht Club in Manotick, Ont., only 13 strokes off the championship pace, to easily lead all New Brunswick golfers.

In fact, his closest rival was reigning provincial junior champion Jason Snow of Hampton, who finished 25 shots behind the eventual winner, Curtis Thompson of Victoria, B.C. The other New Brunswick golfers--Emmanual Thebeau of St. Ignace and Vance Fitzsimmons of Campobello--didn't make the final cut.

Lang finished the four-round event with an even 300.

GREBENC

The New Brunswick ladies amateur team also took on the country's best last week, settling for a seventh-place tie at the Canadian Interprovincial Ladies Golf Championship played in Winnipeg, Man.

The team, led by reigning provincial amateur champion Cathy Grebenc of Gowan Brae, finished the event with a 509 total after 36 holes, the same as Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Thibodeau to nationals

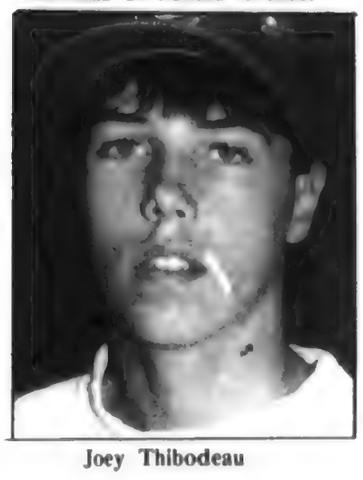
Chances are, it was probably the fact he struck out 17 of a possible 21 Ironmen hitters two weeks ago.



The local chucker, a top performer with the Bathurst Bantam T-Birds provincial team throughout the season, was picked up by Chatham and may start the Miramichi team's first game of the 1991 Baseball Canada Bantam National Championships in Dartmouth, N.S. The event begins tomorrow Thursday and runs through to Sunday.

Coaches of the Chatham team, which earned the right to represent the province by winning the Atlantic championship in 1990, may be sending Thibodeau up to face the tough British Columbia squad in the opening game for both teams.

Team New Brunswick is grouped together with B.C., Quebec and Newfoundland in Pool B, while Pool A consists of Nova Scotia, P.E.I., Ontario and the Prairies. Teams in each division will play a round robin amongst themselves, with the top two teams in each advancing to the crossover semi-finals.

The 15 year-old fireballer admitted to being "a bit nervous" about the prospect of going to his first national tournament.

Joey Thibodeau

Maher no stranger to nationals

Kerry Maher of the Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club may only be 18 years of age, but she's a veteran when it comes to national golf tournaments.

The team portion of the event is a two-round event which began Tuesday, while those two, plus a third scheduled for Thursday, will determine a national champion.

First Red Cross Relay a success

The Red Cross Multi-Sport Relay went over very well in its inaugural organization in Bathurst.

A total of 11 teams took part in Saturday's event, designed to increase physical fitness and raise funds for the Canadian Red Cross Society.

"The relay itself went better than expected," said organizer Cheryl Lavoie. "We were very pleased with the turnout."

The exact amount raised will be made public in the near future.

Winnng the Corporate division was the Brunswick Smelting team, which included Peter Maloney, Jay Hemmingway, Steve Cameron, Tom Killoran, Cameron Harris, and Ron Pentland.

The Mixed title was brought home by the Nini/Barnhill team, which consisted of Brent Nini, Marcel Lavoie, Arnolda Barnhill, Paula Guignard, Roger Frenette, and Ken Branch.

David Boudreau and Alyre Boudreau won the Male division, with the Female title earned by the Docking Doubles team of Anita LeBlanc and Lucille Letourneau.

Top individuals in each category, according to the planned-time format, was Joanne Saucier in the Female division, coming in with a time of 22:05 minutes (planned-time 25 minutes); David Boudreau in the Male division, with a time of 13:40 minutes (planned-time 15:30); Paula Guignard in the Mixed division, with a time of 30:27 minutes (planned-time 32:31); and Ron Pentland in the Corporate division, with a time of 24 minutes (planned-time 24 minutes).

Bistro eliminates Firefighters

The Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters are the first casualties of the Fabrication of Plaques City Softball League playoffs.

Bistro Terrasse eliminated them 4-1 in the best-of-seven quarter-final, while the other semi-final has Brasserie O'St. Pierre leading C&G Smith Trucking 3-2 as of Sunday. The teams were to resume their series Monday evening, although results were unavailable at press time.

Bistro Terrasse took command of the series Aug. 12, when a 6-3 victory gave them a 2-1 lead in the series. Robbie Arseneau was the winning pitcher in the contest, with Gilles Couture taking the loss on behalf of the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters.

Roger Arseneau was the big gun from the plate for the winners, with a pair of doubles and a single, while Roger Boudreau stroked a triple and a single in a losing cause.

C&G Smith Trucking doubled Brasserie O'St. Pierre 12-6 in the late game, with Carl Smith the winner and Fred Albert the loser. Brasserie O'St. Pierre leads the series 2-1.

Kevin Peters hit a home run and a triple to pace the winner's attack, with Fred Albert stroking a double and a single in a losing effort.

Bistro Terrasse took a commanding 3-1 lead over the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters with a 7-3 decision on Aug. 13, with Robbie Arseneau on the mound for the winners and Jean-Claude Rioux for the losing side.

C&G Smith Trucking evened its series at two games apiece with Brasserie O'St. Pierre thanks to a 10-6 victory in the late game. Carl Smith tossed the winning pitches in this one, with the loss tagged onto Fred Albert's hurling record.

Grant Smith, with a triple and two singles, paced the winning attack, while a single and a double by O'St. Pierre's Michel Charest was the best they could muster.

Bistro Terrasse won its series with the Bathurst Moosehead Dry Firefighters on Aug. 14, thanks to a 14-13 victory. Roger Arseneau was on the mound for the all-important win, with Roger Hachey going down to defeat.

Claude Carrier was the big gun in the winner's lineup, with a triple and a single, while Steve LeBreton stroked a double and a single for the firefighters.

Brasserie O'St. Pierre took a 3-2 lead in its series with C&G Smith Trucking Aug. 15 thanks to an 18-11 victory, with Fred Albert the winning pitcher and Carl Smith the losing one.

Michel Charest had a triple and a pair of singles to pace the winners from the batter's box, while Kevin Peters hit two doubles and a single for C&G Smith Trucking.

Wild Goose triumphs

The Third Annual Moosehead Softball Tournament was held over the weekend, with 14 teams competing for $900 in prize money.

The quarter-finals all began at 10 a.m. Sunday morning. The games had Nigadoo R.H. Frenette topping Brasserie O'St. Pierre 6-5 at the Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit field, the Wild Goose Guzzlers defeating P.J.'s Pub 14-6 at Centennial Park, B.J. Furs defeating the Big D Blues 10-6 in South Bathurst, and The Right Spot Classics tripling the Braves 6-2 at the Bosca/Buraglia field in East Bathurst.

The semi-final games began at 12 noon, with the Wild Goose Guzzlers trouncing Nigadoo R.H. Frenette 11-2 in the first game, played at Centennial Park; and The Right Spot Classics defeating B.J. Furs 15-9 in the second, played in South Bathurst.

Glen Morrison was the winning pitcher for the Goose in their semi-final win, with Rejean Hachey tagged with the loss.

About 200 fans showed up at Centennial Park field later that day to witness the Wild Goose Guzzlers walk off with a 10-1 victory over The Right Spot Classics and the championship.

New Bandon softball semis begin

Hornibrook Construction and Sealy Enterprises have taken early 1-0 leads in their respective New Bandon Sports Association Men's Softball League playoff series.

The best-of-five semi-finals kicked off at the Janeville field Sunday, with Hornibrook Construction hammering Knowles Brothers 13-3 in the first game. John Morrison tossed the winning pitches to start things rolling for Hornibrook, with Kirby Daley tagged with the loss.

Leading the winning attack were Scott Good, with a triple and a double, and Kirk Knowles, with a triple. Vaughan Daley poked a triple for Knowles Brothers.

Sealy Enterprises doubled G.N. Trucking in the other series opener 22-11, with Blair Scott tossing the winning pitches and Peter Knowles going down to defeat.

Only the top four teams in the six-team league made the playoffs, with Jay's Place and the C.J. Sharks eliminated.

Hornibrook Construction took the league pennant with a 15-5 won-lost slate, followed by G.N. Trucking, 14-6; Sealy Enterprises, 11-9; Knowles Brothers and C.J. Sharks, 8-12; and Jay's Place, 4-16. Knowles Brothers earned the final playoff spot because they won three of four meetings with the Sharks during the season.

Final games of the regular season were played last week, starting Aug. 12 when Sealy Enterprises doubled G.N. Trucking 8-4. Jeff Wiseman was the winning pitcher, with the loss handed to Benny Murphy.

Leading Sealy from the plate was Keith Sealy, with a double and a single, while for G.N. Trucking it was Todd Scott, with a triple.

Sealy Enterprises defeated Hornibrook Construction 8-4 Aug. 14 behind Jeff Wiseman's arm once again, with John Morrison accepting defeat.

Robertville Roi du Poulet wins South softball pennant

The 1991 South Bathurst Alpine Softball League pennant winner is Robertville Roi du Poulet, which finished the regular season with 19 wins and only five losses.

By finishing first, Robertville earns a bye in the first round of the playoffs. They then take on the winner between the Union Centre (12-12 won-lost) and Allardville Cultural Centre (10-14), who are battling it out in a best-of-five quarter-final.

After a slow start, the P.J.'s Pub Tomcats won 10 of their last 12 games to finish in second spot with a 16-8 record. They're now playing Pitcher's Pub and Eatery (6-18) in a best-of-five series, with the winner of this playing the winner of the other quarter-final pitting Nigadoo R.H. Frenette (14-10) against ATS Convenience Centre (7-17).

All playoff games will be played at the South Bathurst field from Monday to Thursday, and everyone is encouraged to come out and cheer for their favorite team.

Good luck to all.

RARE OCCURRENCE

It has never happened before.

There were 84 games in the South Bathurst Alpine Softball League regular season schedule--from May 27 to Aug. 15--and not one game was rained out.

Olympics deadline today

The city's Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department would like to inform the public that today is the deadline to register for the Junior Olympics, slated for tomorrow Thursday.

Registrations can be made through the Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department, located behind city hall on St. Andrew Street. Children from ages six to 14 are invited to take part.

The Junior Olympics will take place at the Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit track from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

For more information, contact the city department at 548-0410.

LOCAL SWIMMERS DISPLAY TALENTS

Many local swimmers attended the Atlantic Coast Games in Halifax, N.S. last week, and almost as many returned home with medals to show for it. Those attending were, front from left, Celine White, gold in both the breaststroke and individual medley, a silver in the freestyle, and three bronze medals in the relays; Karine Babineau, a gold medal in the breaststroke, a pair of silver medals in the backstroke and individual medley, and two bronze medals for her work in the relays; Tanya Fisher, a bronze in the relay; and Heather Gammon, three bronze medals in the relays. Back from left are Karl Babineau, four silver medals, one in the breaststroke, two in the freestyle, and one in the individual medley, as well as two bronze in the relays; Barrett Glasser, bronze medals in both the relay and butterfly; Ravi Sankaran; Shawn Tremblay; Michel Doucet, a bronze in the relay; Francine Nutten, two bronze medals in the relay; and Suzanne Pilon-LaFleche, coach.

Oldtimers tournament on

The Fourth Annual Beresford Sanford Boudreau Memorial Gentlemen's Baseball Tournament will finally be brought to a fitting conclusion this weekend.

The event, postponed two weeks ago due to inclement weather, will see five games played over the next three days.

The first game gets underway at the Beresford ball field tomorrow Thursday at 7:30 p.m., with the Belledune Silver Kings playing the Beresford Aces in the first of two semi-final tilts in the Oldtimers Division.

The Neguac Merchants play the Petit Rocher Braves Friday night, also at 7:30 p.m., in the other Oldtimers semi-final game.

Saturday at 12 noon sees the start of the consolation final in the Oldtimers class, with the Caraquet Mooseheads taking on the Bathurst Jets.

The Softball Challenge final between Petite-Rivière-de-l'Ile Bradors and Nigadoo R.H. Frenette will be held this weekend as well, although the exact time of the game was not determined by press time.

Alcida runner claims national bronze

The 17 year-old Alcida native won a bronze medal in the 400-metre sprint at the National Legion Track and Field Games held last week in Toronto, adding to the pair of silver medals won two years ago in the 400- and 800-metre sprints at the same competition.

André Roy

"This time it was a lot tighter. The competition was a lot tougher in the 400 metres," he told The Northern Light shortly after his return.

The local speedster clocked in at 50.24 seconds to earn his medal, less than a second behind the winning Quebec runner, who clocked in at 49.60 seconds.

The field was so fast, in fact, there was only a two-second difference seperating the entire eight-man field.

André was also a member of a 1,600-relay team which finished fourth.

He has now set his sights upon a tough training schedule for the coming winter, and will enter both the 400- and 800-metre races at the National Junior Track and Field Championships in Winnipeg, Man. next spring.

To qualify for the 1993 Canada Games in Vancouver--a goal he's dead set on accomplishing--André will have to better national standards of 48.9 in the 400-metres and 1:53 in the 800-metres within the next two years.

"If I can do that, I'm guaranteed to qualify for the Canada Games," he said.

Roadrunners among best

The Chaleur Roadrunners Club has been busy this summer, with most members of the running club attending meets throughout the province and finishing atôp many.

Mike Morton of Beresford was the most successful, winning a great majority of the Masters division races he's entered. The Masters division is for runners between the ages of 40 and 49.

Many of the club's 32 members also surpassed the 40-minute mark in 10-kilometre races this summer. Among them were Morton, Louise Dubé of Bathurst, Henri Founrier of Bathurst, Marc Landry of Bathurst, Serge Boudreau of Robertville, Claude Richard of Bathurst, Mario Boudreau of Nigadoo, Paul Morrison of Beresford, Cletus Chiasson of Bathurst, Robert DeGrace of Beresford, Gilles Cormier of Robertville, Roger Boudreau of Petit Rocher, Donald Mallet of Robertville, and Francois LeBlanc of Beresford.

Henri Fournier claimed first place in the Dalhousie Triathlon Sunday. Other top triathletes in the club include Pierre Laforest of Beresford, Donald Mallet and Louise Dubé.

The first, the Eel River Crossing 10K, is coming up Aug. 25, while the Charlo Fall Fair 10K is slated for Sept. 7.

Brewster, Eddy win Gowan Brae titles

Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club held its annual Junior Club Championship Aug. 13 and 14, with Mark Brewster and Sara Eddy earning Low Gross for the Field honors.

The Junior category had James Vienneau taking the low gross title, with Todd Pettigrew earning the low net portion. There were no Junior girls entered.

The Juvenile class saw Mark Deveaux and Jennifer Sweet take home low gross titles, with low net honors grabbed by Jon Clinch and Angie Ball.

The Midget division saw low gross prizes awarded to Kevin Hachey and Erika DeGrace. Low net titles went to Jeff Neumann and Chrissy Loupelle.

The 12 and younger class saw Natalie Mean and Audrey Bourque finish one-two in the race for low gross honors, while taking first and second low net titles were Katherine Eddy and Sara Massé respectively.

The boys 12 and younger class saw Jeff Sweet take first low gross and Marc Boudreau finish in the runner-up position. Low net honors went to Adam DeGrace, first; and Phillipe Massé, second.

Adam DeGrace laid claim to the putting title for golfers ages eight to 11; the 12 to 15 year-old portion of the event was claimed by Kevin White; and the 16 and older class was won by James Vienneau.

The chipping competition saw Ian Willett finish first among eight to 11 year-olds; Natalie Mean among the 12 to 15 year-olds; and Robbie Mean for those 16 and older.

Midgets fall in zones

Bathurst Minor Baseball Association teams were involved in plenty of action during the past week, but none moreso than the Midget T-Birds.

The provincial team took on Chatham in a best-of-three series to determine the northeast zone champion, and a strange series it was.

The T-Birds began with a 10-2 victory over Chatham on Aug. 9, with Jonatan Godin striking out nine and allowing only four hits over a full seven innings' work. He also helped his own cause by stroking three singles.

Chatham, however, bounced back with a trouncing of its own, a 10-0 blanking Aug. 10. René Dugas was the losing pitcher in this game, which saw Mark Deveaux and Jamie Knowles hitting a single each in pacing the T-Birds' offence.

The strange part of the series came in the final game, played Aug. 12, which eventually saw Chatham escape with a narrow 11-10 victory and a berth in the Provincial Midget Championships in Riverview.

Chatham set the tone early, driving in nine runs in the first inning on many errors by the local squad. Bathurst regrouped, however, to close down the Chatham offence until late in the game, where the Miramichi squad scored one each in the final two innings.

Meanwhile, the T-Birds were creeping back into the game, with one run in the first, one in the fourth, and four in the fifth.

With the score 11-6 in the bottom of the seventh and last inning, Bathurst started to push runs across quite freely, upping the score to 11-10 with loaded bases, two outs, and one hit away from winning the zone title. However, the last man popped up to end all hopes of a successful comeback.

BEAVER PLAYOFFS

The Blue Jays produced two more wins over the past week to up its record to 3-0-1 won-lost-tied and seven points, three up on its nearest rival. Rounding out the four-team standings are the White Sox, 2-2-0; the Angels, 1-2-1; and the Twins, 1-3-0.

The Angels earned their first and only win of the playoffs Aug. 12, a 10-5 decision over the Twins. René Mazerolle and Scott Donnelly were credited with the pitching victory, while the loss was shared by Marc Doucet, Scott Petrie and Brian Jagoe.

Leading hitters on the winning side were Timothy Basque, with a home run; and Michael Goyette and René Mazerolle, each with a single. Kyle Jamieson and Brian Jagoe each had a double in leading the Twins' attack.

The Blue Jays earned their first of two wins Aug. 13, an 18-7 victory over the White Sox. Serge Duguay and Jamie Doucet combined on the mound for the pitching victory, with Jean-Lou Roy accepting defeat.

Top hitters in the Jays' lineup were Serge Duguay, with a pair of singles; Jean-Pierre Goulard, with a double; and Justin Kane, Kevin Glazier and Brad Cavanaugh, with a single each. Jason Fortin stroked a single to pace the White Sox' offence.

The Jays defeated the White Sox again Aug. 14, this time by a 10-6 count. Serge Duguay and Kirk Doucet teamed up for the pitching victory in this one, with Jean-Lou Roy going down to defeat.

Brad Cavanaugh poked a triple and a single to lead the Blue Jays from the plate, with other hits earned by Kirk Doucet, a double; and Serge Duguay, Justin Kane, Denis Theriault, and Jamie Doucet, each with a single. Jamie Doucet poked a double to lead the Sox.

The Twins claimed their first win of the playoffs Aug. 15, a 3-1 win over the Angels. Kyle Jamieson and Brian Jagoe were the winning pitchers, with Timothy Basque and Scott Donnelly accepting defeat.

Kyle Jamieson and Ryan Buzzell stroked a single each in leading the Twins to victory, with James Vienneau hitting a single in a losing effort.

SQUIRTS

The Squirt division saw both its games played decided by only a single run.

Jim Walter's Yankees edged the SGD Concrete A's 15-14 on Aug. 14, led by Travis Dunnett's three singles and three runs scored. Gaston Guignard stroked a triple and two singles to pace the Yankees' attack.

The Massé Hardwood Cubs edged West End Alignment Dodgers 19-18 in a game played Aug. 15, thanks mainly to René Boucher. The young slugger hit for the cycle--a home run, triple, double and single--and scored four times in the process. Justin Cowan stroked four singles in a losing effort.

MOSQUITOS

While the Squirt division saw high scores, Mosquito division games were relatively low-scoring.

The Giants defeated the Cardinals 5-2 on Aug. 13 to kick things off, with Jackie Biseau leading the way with a triple and a double. Christian Lagacé poked two singles and scored once in leading the losing side from the plate.

The Indians blanked the Expos 3-0 on Aug. 15. Leading the Indians from the batter's box were Ryan Glendenning, with a double and a single, and James MacDonald, with a triple and a double. Ryan Power had a single for the Expos.

PROGRESS RECOGNIZED

The Club Sportif L'Etoile d'Or of Allardville and St. Sauveur, has been chosen as the most active snowmobile club in N.B. for the 1990-91 season.

They have been chosen for this award because of their increased membership (up 172 member in one year), the addition of a new clubhouse, and their diligent efforts at raising money to pay for it.

The prize of an Artic Cat "Kitty Cat" will certainly be a great asset to this club.

Finally, at this time, the New Brunswick Federation of Snowmobile Club's would like to thank Eastern Marketing for their many years of support.

Wild Goose Guzzlers waiting in the wings for opponent

The playoffs have begun in the Parkwood Schooner-Pizza Delight Softball League.

Brasserie O'St. Pierre opened the 1991 best-of-five quarter-finals on Aug. 12 with a 13-11 thumping of the Uptown Club, grabbing a 1-0 lead in the series. Paul Aucoin was credited with the mound victory, with Michel Vienneau tagged with the loss.

The Right Spot Classics edged Jim walters 6-5 in the opening game of their series Aug. 13, with Leslie Smith earning the win and Alan Furlotte handed the loss.

Mark Guignard led all Classics' batters with a triple and a single, with Marc Hachey doing likewise for the losing side with a pair of singles.

Techno 90 drew first blood in its series with the Big D Blues, thanks to a 9-4 decision in the late game. Christian Doiron laid claim to the pitching victory, with the loss going to Myles Coombs.

Robert Chiasson poked a triple and a single to pace the wining offence, while Pierre Daigle did likewise for the losing side with two singles.

Brasserie O'St. Pierre jumped out to a 2-0 series lead Aug. 14 with a 15-9 decision over the Uptown Club, with Paul Aucoin registering another win and Michel Vienneau another loss.

Jim Walters evened up its series with The Right Spot Classics thanks to a 16-4 victory in the first game Aug. 15, with Glen McLean tossing the winning pitches and Leslie Smith the losing ones.

Techno 90 is now one game away from clinching its series with the Big D Blues after defeating them 19-4 in the late game. Christian Doiron was the winning pitcher, with Pierre Daigle accepting the loss.

Roger Theriault was the big gun for the winning side, with two triples and a single to his credit, while for the Blues it was Jacques Boudreau, with a double.

The Wild Goose Guzzlers, winners of the regular season pennant, must wait for the quarter-finals to be over before finding out which team they'll play against in the semi-finals.

Willett wins on Miramichi

Tee Talk
By CHERYL BREWSTER
546-5306
Gowan Brae Ladies Club

On Aug. 10, the annual North Shore Championship was played at the Miramichi Golf and Country Club, and Gowan Brae was represented by teams of 10 women and 10 men.

George Willett won the men's crown with a score of 74. Other Gowan Brae men who won prizes included Jim Jessop and Oneil Lang in the Third Division, Jamie Melanson and Aurele Hachey in the Second Division, and Jean-Marc Fournier and Harold McLean in the First Division. The Gowan Brae men's team finished second behind the team from Restigouche.

The Gowan Brae ladies' team also placed second in the four-team event, behind the Miramichi team. Those winning prizes in the First Division were Madeleine Ferris and Margie MacDonald; in the Second Division, Valerie Frenette and Edythe Hatheway; and in the Third Division, Shelagh Eddy and Joan Callaghan.

Ladies' Day matches continue to be well-attended. Golfers taking home prizes on Aug. 12 included Dee Dee Davidson and Dorothy Berry for the longest drive, and Peggy Doucet and Jackie Doucet for the closest-to-the-hole.

Last week, Aug. 13 and 14, the Gowan Brae juniors held their 1991 Club Championship. The overall winner for the girls was Sarah Eddy, while Mark Brewster won the boys' title. Following the second day of play, an awards banquet, sponsored by Danny's, was held for all juniors and their parents. Prizes and awards for all of the 1991 season's junior events were presented.

Ladies are reminded that their monthly meeting will be held next Monday night, Aug. 26, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Gowan Brae Ladies Best Ball was held for the first time this past Saturday, and a successful event it was. Low Gross for the Field honors went to Twila Spicer and Gwen Bishop, with a score of 81, while Low Net for the Field was claimed by Mary Gavin and Shelagh Eddy.

Baseball Field Day Saturday

The Bathurst Minor Baseball Association's season-ending Field Day is slated for this coming Saturday at the Coronation Park Senior Field.

Players are asked to bring back their clean uniforms and hand them in at the door. Players will not be allowed to join in the many activities if their uniforms are not turned in.

The Field Day will consist of drills designed to test the basic abilities learned this summer--such as running, throwing and hitting--and certificates will be distributed to everyone. Trophies and ribbons will only be distributed to the teams involved in the BMBA program, which includes Squirts, Mosquitos and Beavers.

The times for each group are as follows:

--9 a.m. to 11 a.m.: Phillies, Pirates, Cubs, Yankees, Dodgers and A's.

11 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.: Dinner for Phillies, Pirates, Cubs, Yankees, Dodgers, A's, Cardinals, Giants, Expos, Indians, and Mosquito provincial team.

11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.: Cardinals, Giants, Expos, Indians, and Mosquito provincial team.

12 noon to 1 p.m.: Dinner for Twins, Blue Jays, Angels, White Sox, Beaver provincial team, Bantam B, and Bantam C.

1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.: Twins; Blue Jays, Angels, White Sox, Beaver provincial team, Bantam B, and Bantam C.

Bathurst Bushpigs cap a fine tournament season

Pig Press
By JIM DUNCAN
Bathurst Bushpigs Rugby Club

On their longest road trip this year, the Bathurst Bushpigs journeyed to St. Stephen to participate in the International Festival Rugby Tournament.

It proved a long (and wet!) day for all teams, but particularly for the host St. Stephen club. In a steady downpour, the Bathurst team bested their hosts by a converted try to an unconverted try: six points to four.

St. Stephen then lost to Woodstock, and Woodstock in their turn faced Bathurst. Jeff Bellen put the Bushpigs ahead by a try, but the conversion missed. Woodstock replied with a try and set the stage for a very unusual play. After a try, the scoring team places the ball at a point directly up-field from where the try was scored. The opposing team lines up along the goal line and must not make any forward or distracting movement until the kicker begins to move toward the ball. If the kick is successful, play restarts from the centre. A missed kick results in the ball being "dead" and a drop kick is taken by the receiving team from their 25-metre line.

What occurred here was that the Woodstock kicker paced back from the ball, stepped forward, changed his mind and paced back. Ever alert to the rules, Bathurst player-coach Derek Snow promptly charged the ball and beat the kicker to it!

Technically, the ball was "in play" as soon as the Woodstock player made a forward movement. Had Derek scored, I am inclined to think it would have counted. Any opinions out there? As a result, the game ended in a 4-4 tie, tying the tournament.

Despite the miserable weather, it was decided to play off Bushpigs and Wildmen over 20 minutes each way rather than sudden death or extended overtime. In the play-off, Bathurst's John Carrington scored a try which, when converted, gave the Bathurst side a 6-0 win and the trophy.

This pretty much concludes the Bushpigs' tournament season, and a fine one it has been. They now need a home for three tournament trophies: the beloved Squeeler Cup, the Irish Festival Cup and the International Tournament trophy.

Although I will not be here to participate, arch-organiser Roger Eddy is said to be putting together another in the highly-successful Pig Pubs for Aug. 31. Past participants need no telling, but with Oromocto in town that weekend there is sure to be a hot time in the old town that night.

South all-stars win provincial title

Bathurst has another provincial championship crown to its credit.

The South Bathurst Alpine Softball League all-star team captured the New Brunswick Orthodox Softball Men's B Division title in Salisbury the weekend before last.

After winning only two of four games in the round-robin portion of the event Friday and Saturday, player-coach Bob Sullivan had to guide his team through six games on Sunday in order to win it all.

Led by the pitching arms of Dale Hadley and Ronald Reigner, the offensive power of Laurent Roy, who had 10 home runs in as many games, and the all-around excellent play of Most Valuable Player Marc DeGrace, the Alpine all-stars started their Sunday quest at 10 a.m.

Every game was a do or die situation, and Bathurst came through in every game.

Their first victims were the Florenceville Mets, followed by a 12 noon encounter with Moncton Ed's Subs, games ending 10-2 and 12-5 respectively for the Bathurst side. The next team to fall to the wayside by a 9-0 score were the Moncton Rad Bucks.

To reach the final Bathurst had to beat the Moncton Sports Pub team, which they did quite easily by a 12-3 score.

To win the championship, the local all-stars had to defeat the Florenceville Schooners twice, due to the fact that the Schooners hadn't lost a game thus far in the tournament.

Bathurst easily won the first game 11-0, but really had to battle to win the championship game by a narrow 8-7 margin in their sixth game of the day, which ended at 10 p.m. Sunday evening.

Members of the provincial championship team were Dale Hadley (pitcher/outfielder), Ronald Reigner (pitcher), Etienne Pitre (pitcher/outfielder), Marc-André Chiasson (pitcher), Michael Legacy (catcher), Laurent Roy (catcher/outfielder), Denis Duguay (first base), Roland Frenette (first base/outfielder), Marc DeGrace (second base), Michael Frenette (third base), Alvin Sonier (third base/shortstop), Brian Lavigne (shortstop/catcher), Bernie Allain (outfielder/designated hitter), Harve Legacy (outfielder), Charles Comeau (outfielder), Emilien Duguay (coach), Ronald DeGrace (coach), and Bob Sullivan (coach/infielder).

On The Ropes
By "Wild" BILL HUDON

Wilf McCluskey of Prince Edward Island, an authority on boxing, says there was more than one Durelle leaving foot prints in boxing rings throughout Canada and around the world.

Yvon Durelle's nephew, Canadian Boxing Hall of Famer René Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., fought in rings all across Canada and the New England states from Sept. 25, 1965 to Dec. 18, 1970. He was the Canadian Light-heavyweight champion in 1968, and Maritime Light-heavyweight champ in 1970.

René was first introduced to the boxing trade by his father, Placide Durelle, Yvon Durelle's brother. René was trained by another great name from the past, Mike Clyne Cassidy of Chatham, who also left a few foot prints in Bathurst a few years back.

During the five short years René fought for money, he was engaged in about 35 fights, but they were all great fights. He fought Doug Hagan, Bob Croxon, Paul Kasper, and Gomeo Brennan, must to name a few.

René is now living in his hometown of Baie Ste. Anne, enjoying his life with his family and many friends.

Now, getting back to Mike Clyne Cassidy. He was inducted into the Canadian Boxing Hall of Fame last year in Moncton, the same night the man at the top was inducted. What a night. A night like this one only comes around once in a lifetime.

Just last week I was talking to a lady who's dad will soon be inducted into the Bathurst Sports Hall of Fame. She said she knew her dad was going to be very nervous, and also asked me if I would be there. I said yes, and I remind you people out there to be there as well on Nov. 5 to support your athletes.

Have a good day, Janet.

Last week The Northern Light had a visitor from Oshawa, Ont., and he was looking for the man at the top. Not long ago a lady sent me pins in care of The Northern Light, and now a visitor. What can I say; thanks for leading this guy to my door.

He said, "Bill, I found you", but I did not know this man from a hole in the ground. It's been 40 years--a long time--since I last saw this man, and only when he told me his father's name did I know who he was.

Alfred Pitre moved from Bathurst many years ago. He says he gets the Bathurst paper and always looks for my column. He also has a couple of brothers and sisters in Bathurst. His brothers are Alex and Doran, and his sisters' names are Patsy, Marie and Mildred. Alfred is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pitre of Bathurst. His father passed away a few years back, and his mother still lives in West Bathurst.

"Wild" Bill Hudon is a member of the Canadian Boxing Hall of Fame and the Bathurst Sports Hall of Fame.

California Cuties deserve to be banned from province

Out Of Bounds
By JIM COUTURE
Northern Light Sports

A move is on to ban the California Cuties from ever playing in this province again, and well it should be.

The Cuties missed no less than five scheduled games in northern New Brunswick during the past couple of weeks--including one in Bathurst--and a few more in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Apparently, no one from the team called to cancel, nor did anyone phone to give any kind of excuse whatsoever. In fact, the last time the local organizer heard anything from them was back in May, when they sent some advertising material.

Now we can't ground them--we don't even know where they are--but we can see to it that they never work in this province again. Although no one can stop them at the border and tell them they're not allowed in, Softball New Brunswick can send a memo to all its members and "recommend" they not bring them in. According to a Softball New Brunswick official I contacted Friday, that's exactly what's going to happen.

I know it's a drastic step for a team that's brought plenty of laughs and goodwill to this town--and many others throughout the country--but they most certainly deserve whatever they get. It's been a few weeks since their first no-show, and still no answers.

The fans are one thing; they lost out on a few laughs, got their money returned and went home a couple hours earlier than expected. But the real losers in all this are the charities that the proceeds are usually handed out to.

In Bathurst the receipts from the game were supposed to be handed over to the Kidney Foundation. Due to the generosity of a number of fans, the Kidney Foundation did get a little over $150, but it could have been considerably more.

Family gathering held in Canobie

Downshore Breezes

By SANDRA HORNBROOK
Correspondent
546-2832

On Sunday Aug. 11, several members of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Payne, Stonehaven gathered for a time of sharing and eating at the Canobie Community Centre.

Among those attending were Rocky and Francis Niceli of Rexdale, Ont.; Fred and Edith Pankiw and daughter Donna, Weston, Ont.; Bert and Isabel Vonkannen of Islington, Ont.; Harold and Edith Payne, Stonehaven; John and Vina Taylor, Bathurst; and Leigh and Eva Jagoe, Canobie.

On Aug. 10, the aforementioned attended the wedding of Harold and Edith's daughter Laurie to Clinton Conrad of Nackawic, which took place at Central United Church, Clifton.

Jason Smith, eldest son of Leeman and Marlene Smith, Clifton, has been doing a bit of travelling and sightseeing during his summer holidays. He visited his aunt, Lisa Roy, in St. Roumuald, Que., which is near Quebec City. While visiting Lisa, he travelled to Montreal to view an Expos' game and had lunch at the Mayor's house in St. Roumuald. Since returning to Clifton, Jason has also traveled to Prince Edward Island. Jason is sort of "hobbling around" these days due to an accident on farm machinery, at which time he tore some muscles and ligaments in his right foot. However, he will be ready to return to Janeville Elementary School Sept. 3, as a Grade 5 student.

Kelli Smith has returned to New Bandon following a holiday in Montreal.

Cliff and Ruth Hornibrook have returned to Scarborough, Ont. following a vacation at their summer home in Stonehaven. Joining them there were their son Jeff and his wife Cindy and infant son Kyle of Scarborough, Ont.; his daughter Terry, her husband, Arlyn Williams and children, Trudy, Amy, Erica, and Jeremy of Waterloo, Ont.; and daughter Kelly and her husband Jim Nuttall of Hamilton, Ont.

Jean and Brenda Aubury and daughter, Jennifer, of St. Constant, Que., have been visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Knowles, Clifton, as well as other family members there.

Larry and Carrie Wiebe of Edmonton, Alta. are visiting Ken and Deb McKay and family of Stonehaven.

Sandra Scott departs Friday for her missionary posting in Gabon, Africa. Sandra was the guest speaker at Bayview Pentecostal Church, Stonehaven this past Sunday evening.

A social time and farewell was held in the church basement following the service. Sandra, daughter of Rupert and Ruth Scott, Stonehaven, is a missionary with the Missionary and Alliance Church of Canada and has been with the Bayview Church for about a year. She will be greatly missed by everyone.

GUEST SOLOIST

Audrey Wallace of Truro, N.S. was recently a guest of Mrs. Dorothy Knowles Janveille. He was guest soloist at Central United Church on Sunday morning.

Recent guests of Elsworth and Alice Chapman, Janeville, and family were son Paul and wife Paula Chapman, and daughter Alyson of Kingston, Ont. Also visiting was their daughter, Brenda Lee and husband Jonathan Logan, and children Katie and Paul of Campbellton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lloyd of Boston, Mass. are visiting relatives in Bathurst and the Downshore area.

Rev. and Mrs. Donald MacDonald have returned to Clifton after a vacation spent in Dartmouth and Eastern Nova Scotia. They were accompanied by their grandson, Jonathan and Christopher Chiasson, who are spending the remaining of holidays here.

BUS TRIP

The Chaleur Evening Stars enjoyed their one day bus tour with Belly and Barbara Knowles to the Chatham Exhibition. Thirty-five members participated.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller and daughter of Caledon East, Ont. recently visited the former's mother, Mrs. Elda Miller of Janeville.

Mrs. Linda MacFarlane of Truro, N.S. recently visited her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Knowles, Janeville.

LOCAL GIRLS ATTEND TIM HORTON CAMP

Four little sisters from Big Brothers-Big Sisters Chaleur Region Inc. left Aug. 12 for the Tim Horton Foundation Children's Camp in Parry Sound. Ont., and are expected to return today Wednesday. Attending the camp this year were, from left, Natalie, Cathy, Sabrena and Julie. The opportunity for these children — all from single-parent families — to attend camp was made possible through the efforts of Tim Horton's Donuts in Bathurst, both outlets owned by Greg Ireland.

Kidney Foundation workshop

The Kidney Foundation is presenting a workshop in Bathurst Oct. 26.

The workshop is one of four planned throughout the province, said a release. The purpose is to help meet one of the prime objectives of the Kidney Foundation, which is to provide educational information to renal patients and their families.

Renal patients and their families, staff from the renal units and Kidney Foundation volunteers are encouraged to attend. As well as presentations of information, the workshops will allow for exchange ofideas and concerns.

Such topics as Transplantation; Effects of Dialysis on the Family; Job Opportunities for Dialysis and Transplant Patients; Sexuality; Recreation and Travel; Exercise; and the Role of the Kidney Foundation are some of the topics for discussion. Presenters will represent the medical profession, patients and family members, and the Kidney Foundation.

Two surprise parties held

Over The Back Fence

By ELEANOR A. SCOTT
Call 546-5680 after 6 p.m.

Jacques Hachey and family motored from Calgary to St. Peter Avenue via Florida, and are currently visiting his mother Mrs. Jeanne Hachey.

Kelly Thompson, St. John's, Nfld. is returning home to continue her studies at Memorial University, having spent six weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Daley, at their summer home, Salmon Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Daley and children Sean and Michelle have returned home to Cheltenham, Ont. following a visit to their summer home, Salmon Beach. They visited with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Daley and other relatives in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ward and family, Chatham are visiting Mrs. Yvonne Ward, Bridge Street. Also visiting their aunt are Arnold Trebos, his wife Mary and daughter Helen. Mrs. Ward has just returned home from a visit with her two children and grandchildren.

Joy Richardson and her friend Mike Taylor have returned to Coquitlan, B.C. following a two-week visit with her parents, Mike and Kathleen Richardson. Jay is beginning her second year in the nursing program at Simon Fraser University.

Kitty and Don Smyth, Timmons, Ont. and Murtle and Elwood Kirkpatrick, Morin Heights, Que. were recent guests of Kit and Gervais Gauthier at their summer residence Salmon Beach.

A surprise family party was held at Gowan Brae recently for Carl and Inez Hills, who will have been married 65 years this year.

Present were their six children Charles, Bob and Tom Hills, Mrs. Everett Jamieson (Thelma), Mrs. Clifford Boyer (Betty), and Mrs. Wilfred Fillmore (Joyce), their spouses and their families (grandchildren and great grandchildren).

They enjoyed a potluck supper and an evening of fun with music provided by the grandchildren who comprise the Boyer Band.

Another party was held at the Big River Recreation Centre to honor the 75th birthday of Edmund Aubie.

About 130 family members were present for the occasion including his son Robert, Toronto, Ont.; his daughter Patsy, her husband Jean Marc and their son Jonathan, Montreal; and his son Vic, his wife Denise and sons Trevor and Mitchell, from Penticton, B.C.

CEO VISITS

Mr. Edward L. Hennessey, chief executive officer of Allied Signals Inc. from Morristown, N.J. was in the Bathurst area recently, visiting with distant relatives.

Allied Signals is a multi-national corporation which ranks 28th in the Fortune 500. Its subsidiaries include Garret Aerospace and Bendix Corp. It employs over 6,500 employees in Canada alone.

Born in West Roxbury, M.A., Mr. Hennessey is the son of the late Celina (Lina) Doucet and Edward Hennessey. His mother was born in Newcastle, whereas his Doucet grandparents were Bathurst natives.

Mr. Hennessey arrived at Charlo Airport to visit with cousins Rev. Charles Picot, pastor at St. Thomas Aquinas in Campbellton, and Rev. Camille Doucet, Brewster, M.A. who was also in the Bathurst area. While in Bathurst, they visited the latters' parents and relatives.

Recent visitors at the home of Lillian and Edward Crowther, to help celebrate their 50th anniversary, were their son Daniel Crowther and his wife Carol Ann, and their daughter Kerstin, Fredericton.

Also home for the occasion was another son. Const. Paul Crowther and his wife Carolyn, Toronto, Ont. and their sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Ellis, Ladysmith, B.C.

The St. George's Anglican Church is once again holding an art workshop and flower festival. For more information please call Mrs. Doreen Young at 548-1703.

25 YEARS MARRIED

Bob and Dorothy Drysdale recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary among 30 friends and relatives gathered at their cottage near Peterborough, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Drysdale were married in Long Island, New York, and are the proud parents of two sons, Robbie and Ritchie. The couple is well-known in the Bathurst area, and more than half the guests in attendance had some connection to the city. All guests came equipped with camping gear for a most enjoyable weekend of celebration.

Open House

Friends and relatives of Angus and Grace Branch are invited to an open house to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at Danny's Colonial Room on Sunday, Sept. 1st from 2-4 p.m. Best wishes only.

34-2

Thank You

Clifford and Opal White wish to express their sincere thanks to their children, grandchildren, family and friends for the prayers, gifts, flowers, cards, letters, telephone messages etc. and to all who helped in any way making their 50th wedding anniversary a memorable day.

Gloucester Gourmet

Joan Brunet, a registered nurse working in the emergency department at Chaleur Regional Hospital, has little time on her hands for extravagant meals.

She is too busy studying toward her bachelor of nursing degree, through the University of New Brunswick extension program.

The wife of junior high school shop teacher Steve Brunet, Joan is also a homemaker and the mother a 12-year-old daughter, Stephanie. This week, she offers a quick and simple recipe for similar people on the go.

RICE CASSEROLE
1¼ cup rice, uncooked
1 can beef broth
a can onion soup mix
1 can sliced mushrooms, drained
1¼ cup butter

Place all ingredients in a casserole dish, and bake at 350 degrees for on hour. Makes an excellent complement to any meal, serving at least six.

Every month, a draw will be held, with one of our Gloucester Gourmets for that month winning a cake from Jamieson's Save-Easy in the Place Bathurst Mall. To enter, simply submit a recipe along with your name and telephone number and The Northern Light will make arrangements to get you into the Gloucester Gourmet column for your chance to win!

TO WED SEPT. 7

William and Ruth Martin of Bathurst are proud to announce the forthcoming wedding of their daughter Shelley to Blair, son of Derwyn and May Scott of Big River. The wedding will take place Sept. 7, 1991, at the First United Church on St. Patrick Street in Bathurst.

Council discusses dust problem

But despite councillor Harvey Boucher's past and continuing efforts to get an answer from the city, none was available at the Aug. 12 council session.

Mr. Boucher wanted to know who would compensate the homeowners whose houses have been soiled by dust kicked up by passing trucks. The trucks are being used in the construction of the nearby Bathurst-Janeville bypass.

He asked that the city turn to the provincial Department of Transportation for some commitment to clean up the homes. He was backed up by councillor Ken Frenette, who suggested discussions should be opened up to look into it.

However, city engineer Maris Freimanis said although he and District Highway Engineer Michel Lacroix have met to discuss the matter, no specific complaints have yet been reported.

The dust problem was raised in a council meeting last month, following a protest by Miramichi Avenue homeowners, and Mr. Boucher was told at the time the issue would be raised with Mr. Lacroix.

Owning a pet means responsibilities

A new puppy or dog needs to be kept clean, exercised, and fed. His health must also be checked, so get to know the veterinarian closest to your home.

Be sure to have your pet checked at two months of age, and your vet will advise you about needles, and spaying or neutering to prevent unwanted animals. (Overpopulation is very high in cats and dogs; not everyone who has puppies and kittens can find homes for them, and animal shelters are overrun with unwanted pets.)

Be sure you know the laws of your city concerning your pet. Your pet cannot run at large, he cannot bother your neighbor by ruining his property, or cause a disturbance by barking.

Be sure you have a licence for your pet, and if you plan on taking him travelling with you, have proof of vaccination etc.

Do not let your pet roam in the woods: porcupines, foxes, and even rabbits have rabies. Protect your pet by having a leash on him when going for a walk.

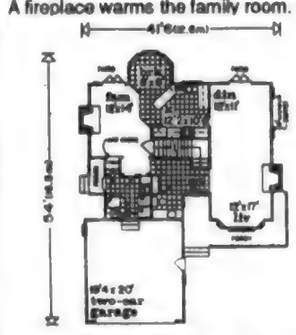
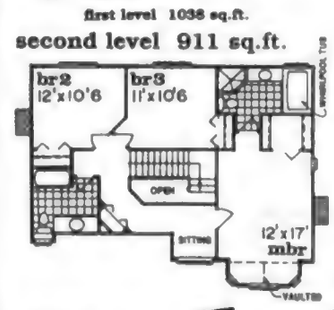
PLAN NO. 91-1931



GINGERBREAD FACADE ENLIVENS FAMILY HOME

Handsomely-ornamented exterior, including a covered porch with spindles, distinctive bay window and wood detailing, characterize this three bedroom design. The foyer spills to a living room with bay window and ajoining dining room; optional buffet nook may be built in the dining room. The french doors off the dining room open to the rear patio and enchances outdoor entertaining. The country kitchen with long, angled counter provides abundant counter space and quick service to the sunny breakfast bay. A fireplace warms the family room, which also offers an art niche and french door entry to the rear patio.

The staircase winds to a railed gallery which views the foyer below and offers a sitting area that can be used as a study or computer station. The master bedroom features a partially vaulted sitting bay, walk-in closet and ensuite with whirlpool spa and shower. The two additional bedrooms share a main bath with soaking tub.



The finished floor area of this charming home is 1,949 square feet. Plans offer a choice of foundations including a full basement or crawl space.

Smaller cities offer more than cheap land prices

Your Business

By DIANNE MALEY
Business Analyst
Thomson News Service

It's a typical Toronto morning, the air is heavy with heat, car exhaust and the sweet, sickening smell of garbage, I dodge beggars, men and women, old and decrepit, I spurn youthful panhandlers and step around drunks passed out on the sidewalk.

Walking with a friend east along Bloor Street toward Toronto's most fashionable shopping district, I turn away from yet another patch of vomit, close my ears to the din and wonder: "Why don't I move to Saskatchewan?"

"Sounds crazy," my friend replies.

Many Canadians would appear to agree. More people are leaving Saskatchewan than are moving to it. That explains why the mayor of one northern Saskatchewan town was giving away free plots of land a year or so ago.

NO JOBS

Saskatchewan has been afflicted by falling grain prices, high interest rates and relatively little secondary industry: in a nutshell, no jobs. The province's woes have been reflected in its real estate market. Earlier this year, Farm Credit Corp. reported the value of Saskatchewan farmland has tumbled by more than 40 per cent since 1984.

But cheap real estate prices spell opportunity. This week, the consulting firm Price Waterhouse said a Toronto company with 500 employees could save $33 million over 10 years by moving to Regina.

Better still, employees of that firm would enjoy a 75 per c: nt increase in disposable income - through lower taxes and living costs - by moving to Regina.

The study apparently was commissioned by a Regina business association. Members of the association were in Toronto Wednesday pitching the merits of moving to Regina to a group of Toronto business executives. The meeting was held in the SkyDome.

According to The Canadian Press, the people from Regina emphasized the good prospects the city offers for telecommunications companies.

"We can put forward a good, solid bottom-line case that should be interesting to them," said Ken Thomas of the Regina Economic Development Authority. No kidding. Whether Regina will sell or not remains to be seen.

GOOD MOVE

Still, the Regina group has the right idea. Cities across Canada are competing fiercely to win companies and agencies fleeing high Toronto real estate prices.

Smaller cities offer other things besides low land prices. Quality of life is generally better. People heading to the cottage on the weekend don't have to spend hours on a tangled expressway to get there.

As for me, I will probably continue to live in squalor in downtown Toronto awhile longer. So what if people are being murdered in Toronto at twice the pace of last year? And so what if you pay half a million dollars to live in a neighborhood besieged by junkies, prostitutes and drug dealers?

This is Toronto, the land of big business and big money. Why, in Toronto, we make so much money that after subtracting taxes and living expenses we have...er, nothing left.

Saskatchewan, be patient. Sooner or later, Torontonians will see the light.

HARD HAT PREVENTS ANOTHER SERIOUS INJURY

Wesley Lavigne, employed as a pipefitter with Stone-Consolidated Inc., was awarded the Gold Safety Cap Aug. 8. Mr. Lavigne received the award for his prevention of a fatal accident in March, when he was directing an air blast to clear a pulp plug with another employee inside a pulp drying tower in the C.T.M.P. mill. The incident occured when a weakened portion of a pipe 35 feet from the ground fell to the tower base and struck him on the head. The hard hat he was wearing is credited with saving him from serious injury. Shown from left are mechanical supervisor Ralph Milton; Mr. Lavigne, being presented the award by J.R. Miller, assistant manager in charge of administration; and Michael Aubie, safety and training co-ordinator.

Manufacturers squeezed by the over-valued dollar

By VIC PARSONS
Ottawa Bureau

You can't be competitive and productive when you've shut down the shop.

That's obvious. But it's a message that apparently isn't seeping through to some of Ottawa's economic decision-makers.

We have cabinet ministers running about the country urging Canadians to restrain their demands, to become more competitive and to take advantage of foreign trade opportunities.

Most prominent, naturally, is Trade Minister Michael Wilson, who told an audience recently that fewer than half of Canadian manufacturers export their products.

"The whole world is trading," he said. "Competition is tough. We did not make it that way and we cannot wish it away. A failure to trade is a failure to compete. And the inability to compete would mean failure in trade."

Now, no one can deny Canadian business and labor must become more competitive and productive, to face the onslaught of foreign rivals.

But the same government that preaches competitiveness has effectively tied the hands of manufacturers behind their backs by tolerating a high interest rate and over-valued dollar policy that robs Canadians of export sales.

The result is, domestic produces are hampered just when they need time adjust to the reality of free trade with the United States.

MESSAGE DELIVERED

The remarks last week of the chairman of Canada's largest carpet manufacturer, Peerless Carpet Corp., of Montreal, bring the message home.

Bram Garber told Peerless shareholders at their annual meeting that a lower Canadian dollar is critical to save both manufacturers and resource industries. The anti-inflationary policies of Bank of Canada governor John Crow, Garber added, were "curing the disease but killing the patient."

Tariffs on carpet imports, which once protected Canadian manufacturers, have been coming down at a rate of two percentage points a year, and in a few years will be eliminated. Still, it's likely the industry could have coped with the staged tariff removal.

What carpetmakers, and other manufacturers, do have trouble with is the extra burden of an artifically high dollar. Garber said a dollar in the 75-cent U.S. range would allow manufacturers to compete and increase exports. Unfortunately, the loonie is now trading above 87 cents U.S.

The problem, of course, is that a lower dollar would increase inflation, Public Enemy No. 1 in Crow's eyes.

Garber sees it differently. Even inflation would be preferable to the devastation the high dollar is wreaking, he said.

Well, why can't they just get with it and become more efficient and competitive? "We've rationalized, bought more U.S. and domestic production and cut costs to the bone," says Garber. And still losses mount.

INCREASED SHARE

In two years under the free-trade agreement, American competitors have increased their share of the Canadian carpet market to about 35 per cent from eight per cent. Aggressive U.S. price cutting has forced several Canadian firms out of business.

Four years ago, there were 23 Canadian carpet manufacturers. Today, there are 10, with Peerless being the biggest domestic survivor.

The unlucky 13 that disappeared will never have the chance to become more competitive. They are gone for good.

The carpet business is not the only one undergoing this transformation. Statistics Canada figures for July show there were 110,000 fewer manufaturing jobs than a year ago, and 400,000 fewer full-time jobs overall. The made-in-Canada recession that caused these losses, was deepened — if not caused — by high interest rates.

Ontario's residential furniture manufacturing industry has lost 8,300 jobs, or 27 per cent of its total, since the onset of the FTA, with high interest rates and the dollar cited as the prime job-robbers. Similar havoc has been caused in the steel, textile, trucking and footwear industries.

And the strong dollar, which enables Canadians to get more bang for their buck south of the line, has been a major boost to cross-border shopping.

What manufacturers need is breathing space, so they can join the battle for increased competitiveness. A lower dollar would go a long way.

PROVINCIAL FUNDING RECEIVED

Assistant city treasurer Kirk Knowles (right) is shown accepting the first installment of a $50,000 contribution from the provincial government from Bathurst MLA Paul Kenny last week. The $5,430 received from the Regional Development Corporation's Development Assistance Program will be used to install approximately 800 feet of gabions on Harborview Boulevard to secure the waterfront, to construct a walkway on the same, to repaint the Coronation Park senior ballfield fence, and to gravel and level walking trails in the watershed area. The $178,670 project will also see financing in the amount of $73,660 from the federal government, with the city contributing $55,010. Work on the projects will begin in the near future, and will employ eight people for 20 weeks.

CUPW'S commitment to our communities

The Canadian Union of Postal Workers is committed to the preservation of a public postal system. We believe that people in this country have the right to a postal service that:

- ☆ is accessible and affordable
- ☆ provides quality, efficient service
- ☆ offers improved and expanded hours, services and products
- ☆ is properly staffed
- ☆ as an employer, treats its employees with respect and dignity
- ☆ is service oriented rather than profit driven
- ☆ puts any profits that are made back into providing service
- ☆ is accountable to the public
- ☆ provides extended door-to-door delivery
- ☆ preserves decent jobs in our communities
- ☆ maintains a presence in rural communities

CUPW is committed to fighting against the removal of decent jobs from our communities and the creation of low-wage part-time work. In order to make our vision of the postal system a reality, CUPW is committed to:

- ☆ making this vision an issue in contract negotiations with Canada Post
- ☆ working with our communities to preserve and improve service and to keep jobs in the community
- ☆ working with the labour movement to have anti-scab legislation passed at all levels of government so that unemployed workers and youth are not exploited as scabs, and to maintain our right to collective bargaining free of government intervention
- ☆ continue working with like-minded groups such as the Pro-Canada Network, Rural Dignity, seniors groups, women's organizations, etc. to put forward alternatives to the Conservative agenda of free trade, privatization, deregulation and regressive programs like the GST.

Councillor questions way appointment was handled

City hiring policies were called into question at the Aug. 12 regular public council session.

Councillor Ken Frenette had no objection to Sgt. Bernie Allain's recent appointment to the position of Deputy Police Chief; but he was not satisfied in the way the appointment was carried out.

"The city should apply more tact in informing council," he said at last week's meeting, looking for answers as to why city council was not called on to approve the appointment.

He further felt that the unsuccessful candidates should have been informed of the appointment in writing, rather than hearing of it first through the local media.

He accused city administration of being trigger-happy in allowing the information to reach the press.

"Somehow, news carries very fast," city manager Bob Bouchard responded to the latter charge, adding the city "made all possible efforts to inform the applicants," and also telephoned councillors to inform them of the decision before it was officially made public.

He pointed out, however, that approval of lower-rank hirings is the responsibility of the city manager, not the council.

"The policy is quite clear," he said.

A committee of council is responsible for the hiring of the city manager, department heads are hired on the recommendation of council, and "any lower ranks are under the authority of the city manager."

Although councillor Frenette was successful in getting the matter adddressed as an item to add to the agenda, he had less luck with his concerns about the recent decision not to close the Village Bridge.

At the start of the meeting, when councillors are asked if they have any emergency items they wish to have addressed, Mr. Frenette said he objected to the manner in which city manager Bob Bouchard carried out lobbying in Fredericton to have the bridge remain open.

The bridge was to have closed for a three-week period this month for repairs, but the Department of Transportation in Fredericton agreed to postpone the work because of concerns that the closure would have a negative effect on the downtown business community.

Deputy Mayor Bob Anderson told Mr. Frenette he had put the matter aside to be discussed in-camera, following the public meeting.

THESE ONES DIDN'T GET AWAY

While on vacation last month, Cameron Jamieson (left), of Bathurst, and his son Robert, of Calgary, Alta., enjoyed a salmon-fishing expedition in British Columbia. The results were obviously favorable, as two of the big ones that didn't get away, shown here, weighed in at 32 and 30 lbs. The fish were taken near Gold River, Vancouver Island, with boat, equipment and expertise supplied by former Bathurst resident Lloyd Blackmore.

Motion on parking spaces going to Six Cities meeting

A letter from an Allardville resident asking for greater control of handicapped parking spaces was given full support by Bathurst city council.

"People who park in those spots, as far as I'm concerned, have no consideration for others," councillor Gerry Doucet told the Aug. 12 regular public meeting.

Councillors voted unanimously in favor of a motion to address the issue of able-bodied motorists who use handicapped parking spaces, at the next meeting of the Six Cities of New Brunswick Association.

Council was reacting to an information item on Monday's agenda. It was a letter from Elphege Plourde of Allardville to Premier Frank McKenna, in which Mr. Plourde called for tighter controls on parking abuses.

He suggested minimum $50 fines, loss of points on the offending motorist's driving license, and the authorization for commissionaires to fine motorists and have their vehicles towed away.

The letter also mentioned the need to have parking spaces for the physically handicapped in all public places, and for the spaces to be clearly marked with the national access sign.

The next Six Cities Association meeting is scheduled in October.

That we enjoy,
Hampers our insight
Of friends so thoughtful.

You see the light
That we are without,
You have it all within
When you are without light.

I dare see Ken McColm
As all of his peers do,
He enjoys every step
Until he returns home.

His purpose is great,
It is all seen within;
No matter what comes,
For the future he waits.

Editor's Note: the above poem was written by Dorothy Tremblay of Bathurst, and was inspired by Ken McColm's Incredible Journey. Ken is a blind writer from Bathurst, who is on a cross-Canada walk to raise monies for diabetes research.

BATHURST ANIMAL SHELTER'S
Pet of the Week

548-8537
975 Sutherland Ave.

I'm a one year-old female, and I come complete with a pleasing personality and a deep affection for children.

For more information, drop in at the Bathurst Animal Shelter for a personal showing. You won't be disappointed.

NEWFOUNDLAND SINGER VISITS BATHURST

Marc Gionet (left) of Allardville spoke with songwriter Lloyd Snow Aug. 15 at the Supermall. Snow, a country singer from Newfoundland, was in Bathurst last week with his wife Theresa to promote his independently-recorded cassette, Down East Boy (see this week's Country Corner column inside). Snow expects to release his fourth recording, Back To Yesterday, in September. He is planning a concert tour of New Brunswick next summer.

Greenwood teams up for duets with 10 of country's finest singers

Lee Greenwood--A Perfect Ten

On Perfect Ten, Lee Greenwood, shares the album with 10 perfectly matched duet partners, all of them female. They pair off on 10 perfectly chosen songs, each specially selected by the guest artist to sing with Lee.

The album also marks 10 perfectly successful years since Lee first stormed to country music stardom with his first single release, "It Turns Me Inside Out." Perfect Ten lets Lee return to the familiar turf of duets; his 1986 album, Meant For Each Other, was a collection of duets with Barbara Mandrell that produced the hits "To Me" and "It Should Have Been Love By Now." This new album lets Lee join with 10 artists, who's diversity of talent encourages Lee to show off how capably he can handle a variety of musical styles. Lee's old friend Barbara Mandrell returns to contribute the kind of lush pop-country song that the two do best. A similarly sophisticated, adult-country style is shared by Lee in his duets with Lacy J. Dalton, Marie Osmond and up-and-comer Cee Cee Chapman. Lee connects with the gritty voice of Tanya Tucker to bring out the stark emotion of a traditional country ballad, in "Were Both To Blame."

And, in a strikingly beautiful duet with new country star Suzy Bogguss, Lee explores pure romantic poetry in the album's first single, "Hopelessly Yours."

Lee leaps into a spirited, highly energized bluegrass romp with the female quintet Wild Rose, who provide the instrumentation for the fast-placed tune "The Will To Love." Lee also helps highlight the talents of a few new discoveries: He shouts with gospel fervor with the rocket-powered voice of Donna McElroy, sways into some breezy soul with Carol Chase and snaps into a jaunty love song with Karen Staley.

Some cuts may not sound country, and they are not, but they are there to show Greenwood's versatility in song. The collection is produced by Jerry Crutchfield, who worked with Lee from his first hit through his 1986 string of chart-toppers. Crutchfield and Greenwood reunited to work similar magic on last year's "Holdin' A Good Hand."

DOWN EAST BOY

On a local note, I hope fans of Newfoundland singer Lloyd Snow were able to get out to the Supermall last week, on Aug. 14 and 15. This was an opportunity to pick up a copy of his Down East Boy cassette, and get to meet one of the nicest couples to emerge from the Rock.

Lloyd and his wife Theresa were also in Campbellton last week, giving me the opportunity to meet someone I had been corresponding with for several months now.

I reviewed Down East Boy in The Northern Light of July 17. At that time I reported Lloyd would be in Bathurst Aug. 1. Well, when they got to Port Aux Basque the ferry was backed up for days; they finally ship their car on a freighter boat and followed.

Sometime in September, Lloyd will be releasing his second cassette, entitled Back To Yesterday. As soon as I receive my copy, I will be reviewing it in these very pages.

Until next week, keep whistling.

ELO returns minus Lynne

Electric Light Orchestra has been resurrected (they officially split in 1986, after 15 years together). That's right, you can thrill again to that glorious fusion of pop music riffs and classical instruments, a distinctive sound that frequented AM radio in the Seventies, when ELO was in its heyday.

The bad news, at least for purists, is Jeff Lynne is not on board. Now a full-time collaborator with the likes of Tom Petty and the Travelling Wilburys, Lynne obviously so need to look back career-wise. (Besides, his ELO background is quite audible in his current musical interests.)

To make a long story short, ELO without Jeff Lynne is like Pink Floyd without Roger Waters. Lynne was the chief singer-songwriter, although band drummer and co-founder Bev Bevan is still around, as are some other lesser-known ElO players.

The good news? Surprisingly, Lynne's absence isn't really felt. That trademark big production effect remains intact, as one listen to "Honest Men" will prove. There's even a full-blown rocker here, "Heartbreaker," that is a distant cousin to the guitar crunch of "Ma Ma Belle".

Anyway, sounds good to me.

(Attic/A&M)

Young Saints--Young Saints

Produced by Corky Laing (drummer for the Seventies hard rock group Mountain), the Young Saints' debut is a promising effort. Singer Robin Cook sounds like Tom Cochrane, but that's hardly a minus, and the lyrics usually have something to say ("My God's Bigger Than Your God"). A harmonica gives ""I Don't Need You" a nice garage band feel, and "Weight Of The World" is as good as radio-friendly rock gets in 1991.

Creedence tribute band returns to city Thursday

The Bohemian will rock Thursday night to the sounds of Creedence Clearwater Revival, thanks to the Bayou Boys.

The Toronto-based tribute act is returning to the local nightclub for its third appearance. The Bayou Boys last played Bathurst in December, and has consistently proven to be a popular attraction.

The four-man group does a first-rate job of recreating the distinctive sound of CCR, a band that came out of Oakland, California in the late Sixties, and dominated AM radio during its short-lived career.

Fronted by singer-guitarist John Fogerty, CCR played a brand of rock and roll that fused R&B, country, and the bluesy sounds of the bayou. Cuts like "Lodi" and "Proud Mary" have remained bar band staples over the years, and Bruce Springsteen has sung the anti-war anthem "Fortunate Son" in his concerts.

The Bayou Boys use theatre to help recreate the feel and imagery of CCR songs, which adds to the band's impact considerably.

Tickets are on sale for tomorrow night's performance in advance or at the door for $6 each, and showtime is approximately 10:30 p.m.

Rita McNeil concerts set

Maritime singing sensation Rita MacNeil performs Sept. 19 in Fredericton and Sept. 20 in Moncton.

The Home She'll Be Tour is sponsored by the ATV television network, said a release.

"This is a tour I've looked forward to for a long time," MacNeil said in the release.

"My work in other parts of the world has been taking me away so much, and I feel it is so important to stay in touch at home."

The singer recently toured Australia, where her hit "Working Man" went to No. 1, and she also played in the United Kingdom. There, during a concert at the prestigious Royal Albert Hall, she was filmed by the BBC as part of an upcoming CTV television special.

The New Brunswick concerts are at the Aitken Centre and the Moncton Coliseum.

J. L. CONVENIENCE VIDEO REVIEW

By MICHAEL J. BOURGUIGNON
Northern Light Staff

L.A. Story

This one has all the elements to make it worth watching by just about anyone.

Steve Martin is a disgruntled Los Angeles weatherman, whose life revolves around all that is reprehensible about the City of Angels.

He has a stuck-up, plastic-coated wife, a group of overly trendy friends, and he is completely miserable.

He ends up falling for an eccentric British woman, but isn't sure what to do about it until a roadside billboard sign takes up his case, flashing him messages and clues as to what to do next.

Heartwarming romance is intertwined with some of the most intelligent and effective comedy of recent times (Don't even bother comparing this one to Martin's previous effort, My Blue Heaven, which pales by comparison).

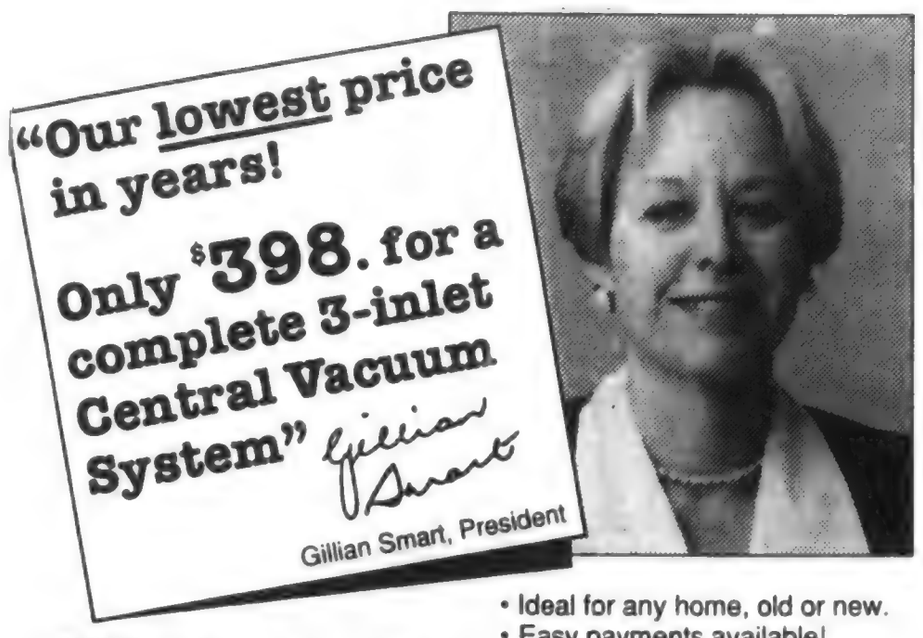
If L.A. Story does not make you laugh out loud at times, there is something desperately wrong. Most amusing is Martin's relationship with the sign, his laissez-faire attitude, and the send-up of L.A. culture.

Hamlet

Very little can be said about Shakespeare's oeuvre. One either enjoys the bard or does not.

The big question is whether Mel Gibson (of Lethal Weapon II extraction) is up to the task of playing the lead role with any sort of credibility.

Well, he is no Lawrence Olivier, but nor is he as out of place as Sylvester Stallone or Steven Seagal would have been, had they been put in his position.



Contrary to what most would have expected, Gibson does do the job well, although his intensity makes it look at times as if he is fiercely concentrating on making sure he does.

There are moments, however, where one must sit up and take notice, sit back again and decide Gibson really can act.

Whether Shakespeare is the stuff of feature films is another question altogether, and one wonders whether this film would have been seen by anyone at all had it not been for Gibson's presence.

There are some things that are just so much better in print.

SAY GOODBYE TO SUMMER

Lifeguard Nathaniel Mallet at his Youghal Beach post last week, watching beachgoers enjoy the remaining days of summer. Friday is the last day on the job for Nathaniel, 18-year-old son of Jean-Maurice and Lauriette Mallet of Bathurst, and fellow lifeguards Denis Guignard of Bathurst and Serge LeBlanc of Caraquet. The Labor Day weekend marks the unofficial end of summer, and this is certainly true in the Chaleur Region — no matter how warm September weekends get, there are few crowds at Youghal Beach after Labor Day. The three certified lifguards have been on duty daily at Youghal Beach since July 19, part of a program funded by the provincial Department of Parks, Recreation and Heritage. Each received 120 hours of training in order to become certified lifeguards.

Sea claims two boats

By JIM COUTURE
Northern Light Staff

The consequences were two-fold for two area fishermen who lost their boats during rough seas early Monday morning.

"My season's lost and so is my boat," is how Kermit Scott of Stonehaven summed up the incident, which saw two boats go down and one saved from the same fate by the Coast Guard.

Lost are Mr. Scott's 45-foot vessel, the Three Rivers; as well as the Miss Bonnie, owned by Tom Kenny of Canobie.

A third boat, owned by Romeo Poirier of Bathurst, was in the process of helping Mr. Kenny save his boat when it too began taking on water.

According to Mr. Scott, he and his crew of three were near the Miscou Island coast around 2 a.m. Monday morning, heading home with a load of herring, when the trouble began.

Heading over rough seas, he noticed his boat handling differently, and "the further we went, the worse it got."

Water then began coming in over the stern, prompting the crew to begin lightening the load. But within two or three minutes the water rose to about eight inches above the floor.

Mr. Scott believes a couple of strong waves may have damaged the boat below the waterline, although he could only speculate because his boat has not yet been found.

"To me, there had to be a reason for it to take on water that fast," he saidin a telephone interview Tuesday.

The last he saw of his vessel was two or three minutes after getting on one of the rescue vessels, when only the wheelhouse was showing.

The boat was still not located Tuesday, lost in about 70 feet of water. The insured vessel was valued at $80,000.

"It's gone, nobody can find it," he said.

Tom Kenny was in Caraquet inspecting his boat when The Northern Light phoned Tuesday. The boat was hauled ashore Monday night.

According to his wife Linda, he was fishing herring when he got caught between two other boats in the heavy seas near Miscou Island.

The boat began taking on water soon after the collision, possibly through a hole below the waterline, and the water pouring in was more than the pumps could handle.

They then got another pump from Mr. Poirier, but "by the time they got it going, the water was on the deck."

Mr. Kenny and his two crew members then climbed aboard another vessel, watching as his boat sunk in about 26 feet of water.

"From what he said last night, all the equipment will be ruined. It may or may not be fit to be used again," she said.

No postal strike here yet

As other postal union locals take their turns at a rotating strike, it's business as usual in Bathurst — up to a point.

"We're waiting for a call (from head office)," said Doug Bateman, a shop steward with Local 12 of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers in Bathurst. He spoke with The Northern Light late Tuesday afternoon.

On the surface, it would appear nothing has changed on the local front since CUPW called a series of rotating strikes at midnight Friday.

However, although customers continue to be served at Canada Post on King Avenue, not all the mail is getting through.

"There was no truck from Moncton today," Mr. Bateman said.

Normally, mail is sent to Bathurst via Moncton, but the southern New Brunswick city took its place on the picket line Tuesday.

The result, Mr. Bateman said, is that "there are a lot of people standing around here, doing nothing."

Local 12, which represents about 38 postal workers in Bathurst and Tracadie, has yet to be notified as to when it will be expected to strike; nor do the workers know at this point whether the rotating format will mushroom into a full-blown spontaneous strike.

According to a Canadian Press wire service story, Canada Post offered the union a 9.3 per cent increase retroactive to Aug. 1, 1991 and a 3.2 per cent increase on Aug. 1, 1992, plus a lump sum payment of $3,600 to each full-time employee.

Also at issue are service to the community, proper staffing and job security, a union spokesman has said.

Meanwhile, a release from the Department of Income Assistance said monthly assistance cheques for September, for those with the postal code of E2A, will be available Thursday and Friday at the first floor of Harborview Place, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

McKenna campaigning here

Premier Frank McKenna will campaign in the Bathurst and Nigadoo-Chaleur ridings tomorrow Thursday, said a release.

BAY BREAKFAST '91

Target is to clear bill on CAT Scan

The monetary goal for the third annual Bay Breakfast Sept. 6 is a hefty one and may be tough to reach.

But, if achieved, it will provide the people of the Chaleur Region with an indispensable tool in modern medicine — a CAT Scan unit — and one paid in full at that.

That's basically the goal of Bay Breakfast organizers this year, to make the final payment on the $120,000 needed to fulfil Chaleur Regional Hospital's funding requirement on the CAT Scan unit.

Since 1984, the provincial government has required hospitals to contribute 10 per cent of the purchasing cost of any major piece of hospital equipment. The CAT Scan comes in at around $1.2 million, and allows doctors to view the inside of the body without the use of surgery. It allows them to see the body in slices, and gives a three-dimensional image instead of the superimposed image of conventional x-rays.

Taking into account the $43,167 down payment made by the Bay Breakfast committee last year, this year's figure would almost have to double that to clear the bill — which is exactly what organizers plan to accomplish.

Jeremie Theriault

"I have a figure in my head...and it's a six-figure number," said Jeremie Theriault of Council 1935 of the Knights of Columbus in Bathurst, chief organizers of this year's Bay Breakfast.

"I hope we hit it, but I don't know. It depends on the public," he said. "We're keeping our fingers crossed that people will respond."

The Bathurst council of the Knights has taken over the Bay Breakfast responsibility from local businessman Jack DeHaitre, the driving force behind the event the first two years of its existence. The Knights are taking on the various duties associated with the community breakfast in conjunction with the Bathurst Bowlarama, The Northern Light newspaper, and CKBC Radio Atlantic, the local AM radio station.

About 15 knights have been working steadily on the project for some time now, and were expected to have things wrapped up Monday in preparation for the big event.

More than 1,100 requests for financial assistance have been sent out in the Chaleur region, and a further 1,300 such queries in the Acadian Peninsula, major users of Chaleur Regional Hospital services.

All food has been donated for the event, with 6,000 breakfasts expected to be served this year, compared to 5,500 last year. Kitchen duties will again be performed by hospital staff, under the guidance of Rose-Marie Fournier. Staff at CKBC will also be cooking, as will members of seven Knights of Columbus councils in the Chaleur region, hailing from Pointe Verte, Petit Rocher, Robertville, Beresford, Bathurst, East Bathurst and Allardville.

A bigger and better tent will be erected next to the Bowlarama on Teteagouche Hill for the big day, with a 250-person seating capacity. All cooking will be done under the huge tent, which is 1,500 square feet bigger than the one used last year.

The breakfasts — consisting of bacon, eggs, tea biscuits and coffee — will be served from 5 a.m. to 11 a.m., and are priced at $2 apiece, although people have been known to donate much more than that.

The Bay Breakfasts raised $17,008 in 1989, with about 4,000 meals served, and $43,167 in 1990.

Parade, picnic, games to highlight Labor Day

The Bathurst and District Labor Council is out to ensure all workers enjoy Labor Day to its fullest.

Participunion is once again the theme for Monday's celebration, with a parade highlighting this year's many events.

Registration of floats will be at 9 a.m. in Coronation Park, with the parade leaving the park around 10:30 a.m. It will proceed onto Douglas Avenue to Main Street, along to King Avenue, then onto St. Patrick Street to Murray Avenue, where it will then turn onto St. John Street and proceed back to Coronation Park for more festivities.

There will be free hamburgers, hot dogs, refreshments, and candy at the gazebo after the parade, at which time labor leaders and supporters of the labor movement will speak.

Trophies will be presented in various categories.

Weather permitting, games and sports events will take place at the park at 1 p.m.

A bowling tournament is also scheduled for 1 p.m., at Chaleur Family Lanes.

It's back to school!

Everything will soon be ready in the Chaleur Region for the the 1991-92 school year, which starts in School Districts 41 and 42 next week.

"We're organized and ready to go," said Romeo Cormier, superintendent of the District 41 French school board. He said only a few minor details need ironing out before all is ready for the influx of this year's pupils.

District 41 teachers were back in school Monday for a week-long series of workshops, meetings and professional development.

Grades 2 to 12 head back to school on the morning of Sept. 3 for a half-day, and then back permanently the following day.

Teachers will be contacting parents of Grade 1 students beginning Sept. 3 to brief them on when their child is scheduled to start, which could be either Sept. 3, 4 or 5.

"After those three days, they're in full swing," Mr. Cormier said.

Parents of children entering the kindergarten program will be contacted by teachers Sept. 9 and given necessary information, with classes for the five-year-olds beginning the following day.

The kindergarten students will follow the same program as Grades 1 and 2, in relation to the length of classes. Classes are set to begin at 8:45 a.m. or 9 a.m., and finish either at 2 p.m. or 2:15 p.m., depending on the school.

There are 16 classes reserved for the 285 kindergarten students signed up, with at least one class in every elementary school. Those with more than one class are Le Tournesol in Petit Rocher, with three; and Holy Family Elementary, Robertville School, l'Abecedaire in Beresford, and Notre Dame Elementary, with two each.

Kindergarten students will be provided with bus service if they live more than 0.3 kilometres from school. Buses will pick up the youngsters on the main route.

Teachers in District 42 English schools headed back to their classrooms Tuesday for the start of three days of in-service and planning.

Grades 2 to 12 head back to school the morning of Sept. 3, then return the following day to resume normal school hours.

Grade 1 students going to one of the city schools will be contacted by teachers on when they should show up for their first class of the year, based on a staggered entry system. The students will be going in either on Sept. 3, 4, or 5.

DIFFERENT SCHEDULE

Grade 1 students at schools on the outskirts of the city will see a different schedule for each. Teachers will be contacting parents to inform them on when to show up.

Kindergarten will also see a staggered entry system beginning Sept. 9, and they too will be contacted by teachers.

As in District 41 schools, the kindergarten program will follow the same class hours as Grades 1 and 2.

Among the last-minute tasks to carry out in the district are the installation of two mobiles at Mary Gosnell Elementary School for kindergarten classes, work which will be completed in time for the first day of classes.

Renovations to the roof at Bathurst High School, however, will only be completed by the end of September.

City firefighter will appear on telethon

Television viewers in the Bathurst area will get a chance to see a familiar face during the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day Telethon.

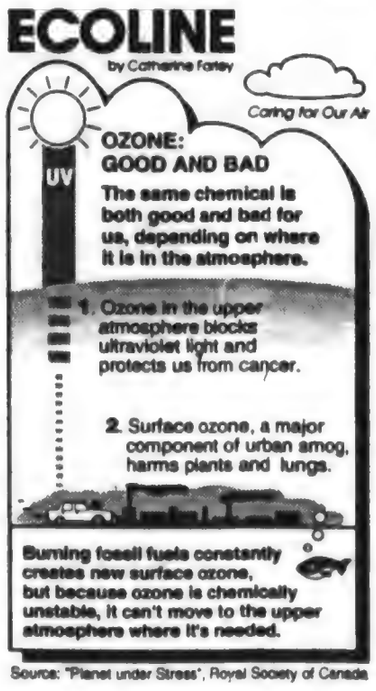
Donald Laffoley, a local firefighter and honorary campaign chairman for MD for New Brunswick, will take part in the Atlantic production of the telethon from the Atlantic Satellite Network (ASN) studios in Halifax.

The annual telethon to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy research airs from 10 p.m.Sunday to 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The Atlantic portion of the telethon will air twenty minutes after the hour, every hour, for about 25 minutes, Mr. Laffoley told The Northern Light Tuesday.

The production is designed to allow greater regional input from local fire departments, which have long been involved in raising funds for Muscular Dystrophy, and from corporate sponsors and clients involved with the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada, a release said.

As honorary campaign chairman, Mr. Laffoley acts as a liaison between northern New Brunswick's fire departments and the MDAC.



His duties during the telethon will include reading pledges that come in from the Atlantic provinces, as well as acting as co-host of the broadcasts.

"It'll be sort of a different aspect to be on the air that long," said the member of the Bathurst Fire Department, who appeared briefly on last year's telecast to present a donation on behalf of firefighters in New Brunswick.

Mr. Laffoley and his family leave Friday for Halifax, taking time to visit the city before Mr. Lafoley must get down to business.

His duties will begin Sunday with a "get-acquainted" luncheon, followed by pre-broadcast preparations, during which time he will be told exactly what is expected of him.

Mr. Laffoley noted this is the first year a firefighter from Bathurst has been chosen to help host the Atlantic telethon.

Pulp mill's CTMP plant closing

Stone-Consolidated Inc. will shut down its CTMP plant for the entire month of September, with about 25 workers directly affected.

However, according to mill manager Marcel Blackburn, this should come as no surprise to employees.

"We warned them there might be another shutdown, and here we go," he said Tuesday.

Both the pulp and paper mill and the Woodlands division were shut down from May 12 to June 9 of this year, affecting more than 1,000 employees.

The spring shutdown was chiefly attributed to a high inventory, while this one is due mainly to a poor newsprint market.

According to Mr. Blackburn, CTMP (Chemical Thermal Mechanical Pulp) mill employees have the option of either taking holidays or drawing Unemployment Insurance benefits. He noted that if employees opted for UI benefits during the last shutdown, and left their claims open, they would not have to go through the mandatory two-week waiting period.

Market improvements are not expected any time soon, with forecasts calling for slight improvements sometime in 1992, so another shutdown in the near future is likely.

UCT WINNER

Cindy Lanteigne, a Grade 6 student of Ecole Francois Xavier Daigle in Allardville, won the second prize of $50 in the Grades 4 to 6 category of the UCT International Safety Poster Contest. The annual contest was held in Little Rock, Arkansas in July, and was sponsored by the United Commercial Travelers of America. Cindy, 12, is the daughter of Denis and Ginette Lanteigne of Allardville. Cindy's poster had to win at the local and Atlantic levels, before being entered at the international level. She is shown receiving her cheque from Johanne Robbins, member of Bathurst Council 827 of the UCT. (Northern Light Photo)

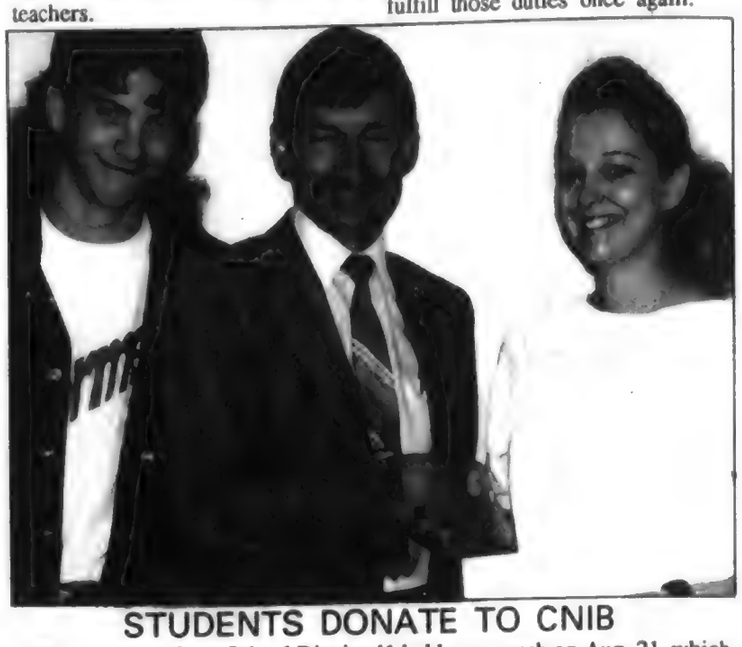
Dist. 42 manages surplus

The District 42 School Board will start the 1991-92 school year in the black.

A projected operating deficit of $30,000 was called for in March of this year, but that has since turned into a $94,000 surplus, said superintendent Emery Goguen. He was addressing the regular monthly meeting of the board of school trustees Tuesday night.

Three accounts were generally responsible for the unanticipated difference.

Electrical consumption was lower generally throughout the district, Superior Junior High School in particular. It's electrical costs alone were $20,000 less in the second year of operation than the first, accounting for most of the $30,000 savings.



Various grants replaced some regular expenditures, saving the District another $55,000, with a drop in fuel prices reducing the operating budget a further $7,000.

The District also had to spend $22,000 less on instructional material than anticipated, with various other accounts showing minor variations from projections.

Most of the extra windfall will be used towards the hiring of 2.5 teachers.

An overcrowded situation in a Grade 5 and a Grade 6 class at Parkwood Heights Elementary School necessitates the creation of another class, which will combine Grade 5 and 6 students.

The same situation affects Grade 5 and 6 classes at Coronation Park Elementary School, as it did last year, so a second teacher will be needed to fulfill those duties once again.

STUDENTS DONATE TO CNIB

Eight students from School District 41 held a car wash on Aug. 21, which raised $100 for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. The students have also completed a eight-week Work Oriantation Workshop summer program Aug. 23. The program was created by the federal government to encourage youths to pursue and continue their education. The students were also encouraged in the program to contribute to community needs, which inspired the car wash. Shown from left are Noel Andre Raiche, student; Gerard Lanteigne, regional case worker for CNIB; and group supervisor for WOW, Rachel Cormier. (Northern Light Photo)

Plan accepted for new school

The District 41 Board of School Trustees has cleared the first hurdle in its plans to build a new school in West Bathurst.

The first school board meeting for the 1991-92 school year, held Tuesday, saw trustees accept the architect's plan for the school.

Trustees were given an opportunity to view the plan, which proposes a 120-metre long, single-storey facility, with the possibility of a skylight.

The Bathurst West Elementary School will be situated off Sunset Drive, and will replace Ecole Notre Dame.

The latter school is located at what is considered a dangerous intersection at Vanier Boulevard and St. Peter Avenue.

The construction of the new school, which is tentatively scheduled to begin in April, 1992, will eliminate the need to lease the Ecole St. Famille building, which is owned by the Holy Family parish.

Before construction can begin, however, the school board must get the final go-ahead for construction and funding from Education Minister Shirley Dysart. Superintendent Romeo Cormier did not know the estimated cost of the project Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the plans for a gymnasium at Ecole Sejour Jeunesse in Petit Rocher were approved, with an estimated $914,000 needed for construction to begin next spring.

Tenders for the project should be called early next year, Mr. Cormier said. The project must also first get the nod from Mrs. Dysart.

N.B. election '91: parties start to gear up in region

PC Hornibrook is counting on voter awareness in rural riding

By GREG MULOCK
Managing Editor

Bob Hornibrook

People in 1991 are more informed and more politically aware, says the Progressive Conservative candidate for Nepisiguit-Chaleur.

Bob Hornibrook is counting on that increased awareness among voters to get him elected in the Sept. 23 provincial election.

Voters will no longer be satisfied with promises, and "a pothole filled every four years," said the Janeville businessman in a speech at his nominating convention last week.

Mr. Hornibrook, 58, was unopposed at the convention, held Aug. 22 at the Allardville Cultural Centre. The event was attended by about 50 people, including prominent Tory officials.

His speech was low-keyed and punctuated with humor. He has a folksy style of public speaking, which underlined his stated commitment to improving the quality of life in Northeast New Brunswick.

Saying he stood for the family unit, better education, and better roads, he referred to his Liberal opponent, Speaker of the House Frank Branch, as "a dinosaur" (Mr. Branch has been the MLA for Nepisiguit-Chaleur for 21 years).

"We are on the road to having another Conservative government in New Brunswick," Mr. Hornibrook said.

The vice-president of the Nepisiguit-Chaleur Progressive Conservative Association, he was accompanied at the convention by his wife Sylvie and daughter Elizabeth Ann (the couple also has two sons, John and Edward).

He is co-owner of Fleet Realty, president of Robert Hornibrook Enterprises Ltd. and owner of Main and King Convenience.

In his speech, he noted he lived in Western Canada from 1956 to 1973, and worked on behalf of the governments of former PC prime ministers John Diefenbaker and Robert Stanfield.

Mr. Hornibrook was somewhat overshadowed at his own convention, by the presence of Jean Gauvin. The colorful Shippagan politician, a former cabinet minister in the PC government of the late Richard Hatfield, gave an entertaining and strongly partisan speech.

He boasted that when the PCs were in power, five schools were built in the Nepisiguit-Chaleur riding: in St. Sauveur, Allardville, Grand Anse, St. Leolin, and Janeville. He noted that the incumbent, Mr. Branch, was not around the cabinet table when the decision to construct those schools was made.

"The PCs built schools in Nepisiguit-Chaleur, not because of Frank Branch, but because your kids needed some schools," said Mr. Gauvin, who is the PC standard-bearer for Shippagan-Les Illes in next month's election.

Also in attendance was provincial Tory leader Dennis Cochrane, a former Moncton MP who took over the party reins from Barbara Baird-Filliter this past spring, when Mrs. Baird-Filliter resigned because of a lack of support from within the party.

PEOPLE MATTER

Mr. Cochrane said he believes "the people must be listened to...Their ideas must be taken into account."

He said the Liberal government of Premier Frank McKenna talks about health care and education, but is preoccupied with "the bottom line."

"Yes, money matters, but sometimes people matter more," Mr. Cochrane said.

He had plenty to say about the Liberals' claim of having a balanced budget. The PC leader charged that in 1991, the provincial tax rate per person is $922 more per year than in 1987. He said federal transfer payments are up 26 per cent, and government expenses are up 32 per cent.

Mr. Cochrane charged that the provincial government's balanced budget was "just a matter of putting their hand in your pocket to make them look good."

"Did you hear Frank McKenna talk about that? Frank Branch? What else don't we hear?"

CoR wants Upshore candidate

Laurie Daley

The Confederation of Regions party is still looking for a Nigadoo-Chaleur candidate, having just placed candidates on the Bathurst and Nepisiguit-Chaleur ballots.

"We haven't given up on Nigadoo-Chaleur," said party president Laurie J. Robichaud, adding, "We could have a candidate in that area shortly.

Premier Frank McKenna has called a provincial election for Sept. 23, with Sept. 9 as the deadline for the registration of candidates.

Mr. Robichaud, of St. Stephen, was chosen to represent the CoR party in Bathurst, at a closed meeting held Aug. 21 at the Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18 Royal Canadian Legion.

Also nominated at the convention was Laurie Daley, 41, a stationary engineer at Stone-Consolidated Inc. A resident of Salmon Beach, he will run in Nepisiguit-Chaleur, and said in a release he is concerned about unrest between the French and English over language policies.

Mr. Daley is also concerned about wasting taxpayers' money, and the deterioriation of health care and education.

The party looked outside the city for its Bathurst candidate because "there is a lot of animosity toward the CoR party," in Bathurst, Mr. Robichaud said.

The CoR party opposes official bilingualism, and is viewed by some as anti-French. Mr. Robichaud, who is of Acadian descent, said the party felt he might have a better chance at acceptance from the local electorate.

"We understand we've got to accomodate as many people as we can, and that's what we're doing," he said.

Among the issues Mr. Robichaud plans to address are economic growth, and the need for a new highway linking the northern and southern portions of the province.

This would make northern New Brunswick more accessible, he said.

The educational system is another priority issue because some post-secondary technical courses offered here are only available in French.

The CoR party proposes rectifying the problem by amalgamating the French and English school systems.

"I don't think two educational systems are necessary," Mr. Robichaud said, adding, "We want to bring them back to a middle ground, where it's fifty per cent French and fifty per cent English."

PCs looking

The clock is ticking against the Progressive Conservative party, which has yet to find election candidates in Bathurst and Nigadoo-Chaleur.

"We have partial commitments, but there are still some obstacles," said George Dubé, president of the Nepisiguit-Chaleur Progressive Conservative Association.

A meeting of the PC association executive on Monday brought forth three people who have expressed interest in representing the party in Bathurst.

Mr. Dubé would not disclose the names, but sources indicate names being bandied about within the party include Hilaire Brideau, Bob Anderson, and city councillor Claire Wilt.

A nominating convention for the local PCs has been set for Sept. 5 at 7 p.m., at the Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18 Royal Canadian Legion.

There is also no word on a candidate for the riding of Nigadoo-Chaleur. Mr. Dubé said one potential candidate bowed out.

Duffy named

Former Bathurst mayor John Duffy has been named returning officer in the riding of Bathurst, for the Sept. 23 provincial election.

The election was announced Aug. 22 by Premier Frank McKenna, ending months of speculation. His Liberal government won all 58 seats in the 1987 election.

Mr. Duffy was appointed returning officer by the provincial Department of Municipal Affairs, and the returning office has been set up in his home at 441 King Ave.

The deadline for candidates to register for the election is Sept. 9.

Enumeration of voters will begin Labor Day, and Mr. Duffy said those seeking work as enumerators, or as deputy returning officers, should contact the office at 546-2249.

HEALTH A VITAL GIFT

Many changes have taken place in health care since 1991 when the first hospital in Bathurst was founded. These changes have led to a need for more human and material resources to offer specialized and ultra specialized services to the people of Bathurst, the Chaleur area and the Acadian Peninsula. As an institution, our hospital has a significant economic and social role to play which impacts all of region VI.

In the next 52 weeks, this column will be dealing with the different parts which are responsible for the functioning of a hospital like Chaleur Regional Hospital. We will be discussing a variety of topics: the hospital's mission and its regional role, administrative support services, nursing, medical specialties, volunteers, the hospital's Governing Board, the Foundation, and the capital campaign currently under way. We will also review Chaleur Regional Hospital's 20 years of operations as well as its upcoming 20th anniversary, to be celebrated February 2, 1992.

What started out as a hospital with 50 beds and five basinets is now, 80 years later, an acute-care hospital with 270 beds meeting modern health-care needs. Chaleur Regional Hospital serves over 93,000 people from the city of Bathurst, the Chaleur region and the Acadian Peninsula.

Chaleur Regional Hospital is part of this region's long history of health-care institutions, dating back to the turn of the century. Besides the Dunn Hospital, created in 1911, there was the Gloucester Hospital in 1924, the Hôpital Notre-Dame-de-Lourdes de l'institution Lady Dunn which opened in 1932 and operated as a sanitarium until 1974, the Hôtel-Dieu Saint Joseph in 1942 and the Hôtel-Dieu Annex in 1947.

In order to increase cost effectiveness and to improve the coordination of health care, the Department of Health requested the amalgamation of Hôtel-Dieu Saint Joseph, Hôtel-Dieu Annex and Hôpital Notre-Dame-de-Lourdes in 1968. On January 19, 1969, the three hospitals began operating under the name of Chaleur General Hospital. In December of that same year, construction of the new Chaleur General Hospital began, and, on February 2, 1972, the new hospital opened its doors. For 12 years, the hospital acted as a general hospital and, in 1984, it was recognized by the province as a regional institution.

Chaleur Regional Hospital's mission is to offer the best possible health care in the language of choice to each resident of region VI. The hospital recognizes the importance of promoting excellence and compassion in the services it provides. It believes in the personal dignity of man and the sanctity of life. As well, the hospital believes that society must create an environment in which patients are encouraged to take charge of their own health. The institution encourages its employees to develop their individual potential and recognizes their contribution to the quality of care at the hospital.

Because of its regional status, the hospital serves over 100,000 clients annually, 55% of whom come from outside the Bathurst city limits. The hospital acts as a consultation center for the Acadian Peninsula's three hospitals. Chaleur Regional Hospital not only offers regional health-care services but also provides administrative services to the Acadian Peninsula's three hospitals. Of the hospital's many services, it offers computer and laboratory services, dietary services to the Acadian Peninsula's three hospitals and acts as a regional consultation center in psychiatry. As for secondary and tertiary services (highly specialized services), the entire population of region VI is served by Chaleur Regional Hospital.

Chaleur Regional Hospital currently offers specialized services including audiology, otorhinolaryngology, obstetrics/gynaecology, high-risk pregnancy, internal medicine, neonatology, ophathalmology, pediatrics, surgical intensive care, thoracic and vascular surgery, and urology. Dermatology is a specialized secondary service that is now offered to the people of the region by Chaleur Regional Hospital.

The Department of Health and Community Services has recognized Chaleur Regional Hospital as the center for tertiary services in the northern part of the province. The hospital will work toward achieving the required new services in the next few years.

A hospital needs staff to provide top quality health care to the people served. In the next year, this column will take you on a journey through the hospital, introducing you to the faces and facilities. You will meet medical specialists and general practioners as well as the various health-care professionals who ensure quality patient care. We will also introduce you to the support staff who are critical to health care delivery. Be it the staff from Plant and Maintenance, Housekeeping, Food Services, Paramedical Services or administrative support services, all are essential to the patient's well-being. After all, the patient is a hospital's sole reason for existence.

You will also meet the volunteers who give their time for the benefit of Chaleur Regional Hospital. Everyone makes a significant contribution to the Hospital's functioning and development: the Ladies' Auxiliary, members of the hospital's Governing Board, members of the Foundation's Board of Directors, Volunteer Services and over 200 campaign volunteers.

Running a hospital that offers specialty services and that employs over 1,000 people is a multi-million dollar business. Chaleur Regional Hospital's budget this year will be over $42 million. (The government provides most of the funds required but, for several years now, only 90% of equipment costs are funded;) thus, the Chaleur Regional Hospital Foundation was created in May 1990 to provide financial assistance to meet hospital needs.

At the beginning of 1991, the Foundation decided to launch a major capital campaign to the tune of $2 million. The community will be asked to help finance health care, especially for the purchase of equipment that will keep patients closer to their families.

The community's contribution will also help recruit specialists and health-care professionals. The funds raised will contribute to a better quality of life for Chaleur Regional Hospital's patients and the citizens of this region.

Chaleur Regional Hospital is a vital part of the community as a health-care facility, major employer and multi-million dollar institution. Hospital staff and administration are proud of their facility and want you to be aware of how the health-care team works to provide you with the best service possible. The purpose of this series of articles is to introduce you to the services offered and the people who are responsible for making the system work.

NDP's Buttimer says civic centre is an election issue in Bathurst

By JIM COUTURE
Northern Light Staff

Colette Buttimer feels government is a business, and believes Premier Frank McKenna's Liberals are not good businessmen.

"The government is just like a business. You have to satisfy your customers in order to have them back," said the Salmon Beach resident, the New Democratic Party's candidate for the Bathurst riding in the upcoming provincial election.

The convention was held Sunday in Bathurst, attended by more than 40 party supporters.

Declaring his candidacy for the Restigouche-East riding at the same convention was Walter Gauthier, president of Local 7085 of the United Steelworkers of America, representing workers at the Belledune Smelter.

Mrs. Buttimer, 40, is a mother of two, and president of Local 1507 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, representing workers at Foyer Notre Dame de Vallée Lourdes in Bathurst. It was one of the organizations affected by the recent one-year wage freeze enforced on public sector employees by the McKenna government, one of the reasons she decided to try her hand at politics.

Colette Buttimer

Among her priorities if elected would be to finally get a regional civic centre constructed in her riding, an issue she feels would be resolve already if not for outside interference.

"If it wasn't for politics, the civic centre would be built already," she said.

Other issues of concern include funding for a four-lane Village Bridge and downtown development, as well as quality of drinking water.

Mrs. Buttimer will be facing Liberal candidate Marcelle Mersereau and Confederation of Regions party condidate Laurie Robichaud in the Sept. 23 provincial election.

Mr. Gauthier, 41, has worked for the NDP in the past, but this is the first time he has sought a nomination on their behalf.

His decision to enter the political arena was spurred on by others in the labor movement, and "a strong desire for a more just society."

He called on the government to stop playing election games and do what's right for the people of New Brunswick.

"We must all take control of our own destiny," he said. "Let us, with one strong voice, make that clear choice."

Mr. Gauthier will be facing veteran MLA and former cabinet minister Rayburn Doucett in the Restigouche East race.

Elizabeth Weir was supposed to attend Sunday'sconvention, but the timing of the election call last week disrupted her schedule. Premier McKenna announced the election Aug. 22, after months of speculation.

SUPPORT NEEDED

Replacing Ms. Weir as guest speaker was the president of the New Brunswick NDP Association, Gerard Arseneau, who called on those in attendance to do more for their party of choice.

He cited the need for more volunteers, noting that the party is lacking in support from people in the northern part of the province, especially Francophones.

He also expressed the need for more donations.

"We do have some (money), but we need more," he said. "These things depend on you."

National plowing event to be held here Sept. 25-28

The first Canadian Plowing Match ever hosted by New Brunswick was held in Bathurst in 1972, and a return visit is scheduled for late September.

The 38th Canadian Plowing Match and the 40th New Brunswick Provincial Plowing Match are slated for Sept. 25 to 28, bringing with it farm plowing professionals and amateurs from throughout Canada, said a release.

The event will be held on the Eddy Group land directly across from the Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit school on St. Anne Street, and at the Eudiste Fathers field about a kilometre up Middle River Road.

The New Brunswick Plowmen's Association is hosting the event, which will see plowmen from British Columbia, Alberta, Ontario, Quebec, Prince Edward Island, and New Brunswick taking part.

According to Murray Reid of Apohaqui, N.B., manager of the New Brunswick Plowmen's Association, this will be the first such competition in this area since 1984, when the provincials were held in Janeville.

Both events will follow the same judging format. Each competitor must plow from one to three plots of land, each 20 metres by 100 metres, with both tractors and horses used to pull the plows in seperate competitions.

"We do expect to have horse classes, although they'll be plowing smaller plots of land," Mr. Reid said in a telephone interview.

Judging will be based on straightness, open split, crown (starting furrow), uniformity of furrows, burying of grass or stubble, closeness and packing, ins and outs, and finish.

The Canadian championship is expected to attract two senior competitors and one junior — 21 and younger — from each province, while the New Brunswick championship will see about a dozen senior competitors and up to five junior entries.

The event will also include an agricultural equipment exposition on the sites, and a Queen of the Furrow competition for all women entered. The latter competition will be judged solely on the plowing capabilities of said women.

For more information on any of the events, contact Mr. Reid at 485-2009, or local directors Byron (Bud) Kenny, Murray Sealy, Rod Archibald, and Roger Kaye.

Mayor turns down overseas position

Mayor Kevin Mann confirmed Monday he will not be taking advantage of an opportunity to teach in Poland.

"That is not in our plans whatsoever," Mayor Mann told The Northern Light, adding the teaching position had been one of several options he and his wife, Rhona Francoeur, had been considering.

The couple had been approved to be among 20 Canadian volunteers set to teach English and French as second languages in Poland, under a recently-signed agreement between the Canadian and Polish governments.

Managed by the Montreal-based Solidarity Eastern Europe, the program would have seen the mayor and his wife leave for Poland next month.

"That was one of the avenues we were looking at," Mayor Mann said.

A spokesperson for the non-profit group had earlier told The Northern Light Mayor Mann was considered an ideal candidate for the program because of his extensive academic background.

However, Mayor Mann said Monday his wife plans to return to her nursing position at the Bathurst extra-mural hospital, having completed her studies toward a master's degree in nursing at the Medical University of South Carolina.

Multiculturalism a hard message to sell

Political Scene

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

One of the reasons, perhaps the chief one, why the government's multiculturalism ministry faces so much flak these days is because of the way it has been peddled to the public.

And if you doubt that the ministry is indeed under heavy fire, just remember that at that recent Tory policy convention in Toronto, delegates voted to abolish it entirely.

The government, which is not bound by party resolutions, won't scrap it, of course. Multiculturalism is much too sensitive an issue in this country.

It was precisely this sensitivity that gave birth to the program back in 1971, when the Trudeau government was under fire for apparing too preoccupied with official bilingualism and the whole English French equation. In order to make Canadians of other backgrounds feel their government cared about them, the multiculturalism program was launched.

Since the prime objective was to convince various ethnic communities their interests were being looked after, it was only natural the marketing of the program would distort its true purpose. So, from the beginning, there has been this widespread impression that the whole purpose of the multiculturalism ministry was to encourage, and susidize, new Canadians to maintain their original culture.

In other words, to ensure a continuance of hyphenated Canadians.

That, of course, is not what it's all about — at least not the bulk of it. It's just that, in order to appeal to various ethnic communities, government representatives have always emphasized this aspect of government spending.

Making announcements of financial help for ethnic festivals, and other events, are a politician's dream.

Consequently, there is a popular view that official multiculturalism does more to separate Canadians than it does to bring them together; that it actually discourages people from integrating. This was certainly the view of many delegates to the Toronto convention — despite the face it was the Mulroney government the elevated multiculturalism to the status of having a full-time minister.

And after listening to the Toronto delegates, one couldn't help wondering what the reaction would have been had successive federal governments kept the program under the umbrella of, say, a department of citizenship and immigration. Had governments emphasized the major parts of the program, which are designed to help new arrivals integrate into Canadian society, it's unlikely there would have been that vote in Toronto.

It certainly would not have been a hard sell. The fact is, in the last year, the government spend close to $100 million teaching new Canadians French or English, while only $5.5 million was used to subsidize the learning of other languages.

Multiculturalism Minister Gerry Weiner says he is disappointed with all the misconceptions and misunderstanding over what his ministry is doing. Virtually all of its resources, he says, are being used to promote harmony.

NOT SEEN

But this is not what the vast majority of Canadians seem to think. Virtually everyone who spoke on the subject to the Spicer commission on Canada's future said the multiculturalism program is divisive.

As the Spicer report said: "Participants told us that reminding us of our different origins is less useful in building a united country than emphasizing the things we have in common."

There is no doubt things have changed in Canada since the birth of official multiculturalism, Back in 1971, Canadians of European origin accounted for nearly 97 per cent of the population. Since then, there has been a vast influx of so-called visible minorities, who now account for nearly 10 per cent of the population.

With any major shift like this, there is bound to be accompanying changes in attitudes. And with the recession, high unemployment and the government's constant belt-tightening, it's easy for some to resent spending that to them, doesn't seem essential.

The multiculturalism ministry has clearly become a lightning rod.

Whether it should be drastically altered, or even abolished, is not the issue here. We're just making the point that, had successive governments not had vote-harvesting in mind when they peddled the multiculturalism program to various ethnic communities, the current backlash could probably have been avoided.

Not like it was

Another postal strike is underway, but it is irrelevant who is at fault, be it management or the workers. The bottom line is the inconvenience, to the general public and to the business community.

However, one cannot help but notice such a strike is not as disruptive as it once would have been. The postal service, rightly or wrongly, is no longer the lifeline of even rural communities. Modern communication means like FAX machines, and the rise in popularity of courier service, has reduced our dependence on the Post Office — and in some cases even replaced it. Cuts in postal services, and what has sometimes been inconsistence service, has resulted in people looking elsewhere to send letters, transport parcels, etc.

It wasn't that long ago that a strike at CN or VIA Rail caused great hardship to communities. Such a labor dispute would now be hardly noticeable to the average citizen.

The same could soon be said of Canada Post.

Says Liberal government losing, not creating jobs

Aug. 26

Dear Editor,

It's really amazing to see how many Department of Highway trucks are on the road in the last couple of weeks. Patch work is the name of the game — wherever there are too many holes, they use chip seal (corn flakes I call it).

I wonder why? Is there anything in the horizon?

Our premier said again that his main objective would be to create new jobs. I think it's bull; in my opinion, he created a lot of unemployment, creating hardship for the people, and even going as far as breaking contracts by freezing wages. Creativity all right. Why didn't he look after the jobs we had?

Examples of unemployment creation: closure of Caribou Mine, the bottling works transfer to Moncton, the transfer of the wholesale processing plant to Moncton, Brunswick Mining and Smelting layoffs, the closure of SMI Industries.

Off course, they blame it on the recession. What is the excuse going to be when the recession is over?

They know that a few promises will bring them in power again. I feel that we are not getting a fair share in the region. I hope that people will show him that we don't accept crumbs from the southern part of the province, and we don't accept being treated like second-class citizens.

Still wants a plebiscite

Aug. 26

Dear Editor,

I would like to reply to your article in The Northern Light of Aug. 21, where it stated that George Astle quit on the civic centre.

After having made a request to appear before city council at the council meeting of Aug. 12, with additional information which would substantiate my reason for White's Wharf as the best site for the civic centre, I was turned down by city countil and not allowed to speak.

When the appropriate time came at the meeting of Aug. 12, I asked why I was not allowed to speak. Council then made a motion that I sit down, keep quiet or I would be thrown out of council chambers. In other words, taxpayers are not allowed to disagree with city council regardless.

Also, I would like to add that I did not quit, city council only hopes I quit. Maybe a plebiscite on the next election ballot would be an idea.

Compliments letter-writer

(Editor's Note: This letter is in response to a recent letter from Bathurst resident Al Basque.)

Aug. 14

Dear Editor,

I would like to compliment the writer of this article (photocopy attached) for such great work, Mr. Basque did a lot of research to formulate this article and I am wishing him the best.

Being a constant reader of The Northern Light newspaper, I am delighted to read such a good article. To my estimate, Mr. Basque is almost one hundred per cent to reality and I will congratulate him for his work,

I will be delighted to have his mailing address and his phone number. My mailing address is Basil Losier, P.O. Box 715, Tracadie, N.B., EOC 2BO.

A double fire alarm for the same fire caused considerable excitement in town on Tuesday, when Mr. John Payne's store on Water Street was threatened with destruction.

The first alarm was sounded about 11 o'clock and when the firemen arrived on the scene, smoke was seen emerging through the shingle roof of the building. After cutting a whole in the roof, the firemen seemed to locate the source of the trouble and in a very short time thereafter the smoke subsided.

However, about an hour and a half afterwards another alarm was sounded and investigation revealed that the outbreak had occurred in the same place. As a result of this second blaze, the roof of the building was practically destroyed and the inside walls were also severely damaged.

Mr. Alvarey Frenette, for the past five years head baker of the Eastern Bakery here, has started a business of his own known as the Royal Bakery. The new bakery is equipped with modern and up-to-date machinery, a new oven which has been installed is of the very latest type, has a capacity of 150 loaves to each baking and is lighted by electricity.

One result of the Eddy-LaPerrelle strike is the curtailment of operations at the George Eddy Company Limited plant, the location at which C.G. Eddy began his career in the lumber business. These premises, as soon as adjustments can be effected, will be utilized as warehouses only, the operations currently being carried on there being transferred to the Laperrelle plant at West Bathurst.

This move has been under consideration for some time, advises Glendon Eddy, the strike "clinched the deal."

A proclamation by the High Sheriff of Gloucester County in 1912 launched legislation leading to the incorporation of Bathurst. The proclamation called for a plebiscite on May 30 of that year to determine whether the village of St. Peter should become a town.

It did. The vote was 195 for, 54 against. P.J. Burns became the first mayor of the new town and the eight alderman elected were W.J. Kent, F.O. Landry, Hermegilde Poirier, James Power, Gilbert Doucet, Lawrence DesRoches, Joseph Henderson and John J.S. Hachey.

From all outward appearances, the estimated 22,000 gallons of fuel of Bunker C. in the hold of the abandoned tanker Irving Lake, which has been a potential polluter of Bay Chaleur for the past eight years almost, is about to go up in smoke.

A J. D. Irving Co. Ltd. crew, accompanied by a Department of Transport representative, arrived in the city Tuesday armed with acetylene torches and and related equipment to burn out the cargo of oil.

There is still no indication, however, of what is to become of the vessel itself. Because of its deteriorating condition, it is a threat to the safety of young adventurers. Apart from that aspect, the derelict ship is an eyesore on the landscape.

Talk On The Walk

Question: How will the postal strike affect you?

Mae White
Bathurst

"As a senior citizen, a postal strike wouldn't affect me so much; however, any strike isn't nice, since it affects the whole community."

Richard Hachey
Dunlop

"Personally, a strike wouldn't affect me because I prefer to correspond to someone through other means. I'd rather call than write."

Ronald Daigle
Bathurst

"I don't see how it would affect me; if neccesary, I would use other means to send mail. It wouldn't be good news for pen pals."

Donald Tremblay
Petit Rocher

"A stike wouldn't stop the bill collectors; they will find me anyway. It may only create a loss in postal employment in the future."

Bob Metzler
Bathurst

"I ship packages through other means, because my business holds a small inventory. I think they should take away the "service" from the word "postal service."

Gilbert Jubinville
Bathurst

"I use the postal service too much for encouraging a stike. I think there have been too many strikes, especially in our region."

Joe Calderone
Bathurst

"Personally, a strike would not disturb me. It would be very discouraging for businesses (however), since it would only result in backlog."

Renée Robichaud
Beresford

"It's discouraging if I don't receive any mail, since I use the postal service often. I would put some things on hold because the courier service is too expensive."

Theresa Roy
Bathurst

"I'll miss the junk mail, which I enjoy in comparing prices and looking for sales."

Aug. 27

Dear Editor,

Hazen McCrea made an irresponsible accusation in last week's editorial (comment section), that Carey's By The Sea was guilty of cheap publicity and sensationalism over the destruction of the Acadian flag and our property (a $1,400 broken window, an attempt to chop down the Acadian flagpole, stealing the American flag, leaving damages, a threatening call and visit, etc.) You, Mr. McCrea, have insulted our integrity and degraded the importance of human rights.

Your energy would better be served at building unification of this great country and supporting patriotism, rather than throwing cheap, unfounded shots at people who have been wronged.

You border on defamation of character, and should have contacted the concerned and supportive RCMP, for the correct information.

An apology is expected to this proud Canadian and his family as well as to the Acadians, Irish, English and all those who proudly live in Canada, wanting only to maintain a little of their ethic heritage which is guaranteed under the Human Rights Charter.

We must all work at guarding this freedom. People such as yourself allow the incidents to take place with the pretense of "Oh, it's nothing!"

The only thing necessary for evil to triumph is for good men to say and do nothing.

Johnny Carey

Citizens will have their say at polls

Aug. 27

Dear Editor,

Well sir, a lot of things happened while I was on holidays and here's a few that came to my attention.

The Irish stopped fighting with each other, long enough to make a tour of New Brunswick for a month, singing, dancing, and playing their pipes and drums, and they seem to be such nice people too.

Then the Acadians had their feast day or holiday. The noise or din produced on that parade was enough to chase the Phantom Ship right out of the Bay.

So much for cultures. On Sunday Aug. 18, a candidate was chosen to represent the Liberal Party in the city riding. But, as I understand it, not all the liberal executive were in favor of the winning candidate, it seems. News reports have it that this candidate should be a "shoo-in" to be the city's next MLA. A few months ago, a petition was circulated and signed by hundreds and hundreds of taxpayers of this city. Of course, this petition wasn't recognized by city council, apparently due to this petition not being presented soon enough before a given meeting. Good excuse, I guess. Let's hope that the people who signed this petition remember it, and remember also, how the individual councillors voted on the civic centre issue. There is one place to repay them, and that's in the polling booth.

The current MLA Paul Kenny and city council are arranging to have a meeting with Frank McKenna regarding the proposed "Regional Civic Centre," and requesting a $5 million grant, being the Province's share in this white elephant.

You will notice they call it "regional," for a greater impact? Yes. It was said also "that if Frank McKenna wants to do something for Bathurst, he should do it now." I go along with that, but in a different way. If McKenna wants to do something for the citizens and taxpayers of Bathurst, and not for a few councillors and a few selected downtown businessmen, he will turn down their request and tell them to clean up their act.

The leader of the Liberal Party (and, we know who's running the Province, don't we?) has called on the other parties to run a clean election campaign and not to resort to "mud-slinging", as he called it, and dirty tactics. I'd say if he wants to stay clean, he shouldn't subject the Province to further debt, and neither should Bathurst when we're already $10 to 15 million in the red.

Editor's mailbag

Letters to The Editor are welcome, and should be addressed to Editor's Mail, The Northern Light, P.O. Box 416, Bathurst N.B., E2A 3Z3. All letters must be signed, and include the writer's address and a phone number where the writer can be reached during the day, for purpose of verification. Any letter submitted with a request for the author's name to be withheld will not be considered for publication. Anonymous letters will be discarded. Letters should be brief and to the point, sticking to one subject. The Northern Light reserves the right to edit all letters for length, libel, taste or non-verifiable information.

Liberal official responds to column

Sitting Back
With GREG MULOCK
Personal opinion from the managing editor

"Letters, we get letters..."

And lots of them, which is good because it means people are reading our publication. I received one Friday from Albert Lavigne, president of the Bathurst Liberal Association, written in response to my column in last week's edition.

The letter, which I was asked to reprint here, is as follows: "Greg, thank you for the opportunity to respond to speculations you raise about the Liberal party in Bathurst, in the Aug. 21 issue of The Northern Light, under your byline Sitting Back.

Because directors of the Bathurst Liberal Association chose to back candidates of their own choosing in the recent Liberal nominating convention, it dos not follow that directors and executive are not united behind the Liberal party in Bathurst.

I called for unity following the convention. Moreover, both defetaed candidates endorses Marcelle Meresereau at the podium as the new standard bearer for the Liberal party in Bathurst.

The directors and executive of the Bathrust Liberal Association are the officially constituted body representing the party in Bathurst. It would be incorrect to assume they will not support party efforts.

Let me make our position absolutely clear; the executive and directors of the Bathurst Liberal Association back Marcelle Mersereau in the general election.

Thank you Greg for allowing me space to clarify this question, Incidentally, I enjoy your column."

Thank you for the letter Albert.

WHERE IS IT?

I was recently told of tourists standing near the Village Bridge, gazing out over the Bathurst Harbor in search of the much-mentioned Phantom Ship.

They were slightly distraught, when a passerby informed them the odds were very much against them, of seeing the ghostly vessel — no matter where they stood. After all, they and other tourists have heard talk aplenty of the Phantom Ship, and were therefore led to believe the ship was something they could actually see, at any time or place.

Maybe that notion is a bit of a hoot to some people, but kindly keep in mind how stupid or smart you are, depends upon which side of the fence you're on. Furthermore, one hears a lot about Niagra Falls, and you can certainly see them. Ditto for the rocks at Hopewell Cape, and the CN Tower in Toronto.

Something to think about...

FIRE STATION VISITORS

Children from the Bo-Peep Day Care paid a visit to the Bathurst Fire Station earlier this month, and I'm told they enjoyed the outing immensely. I was asked to pass along a thank you to firefighters Jean-Claude Dumas and Eric Melanson, for making the visit a special one. (The young visitors were given a tour, and shown a short film on fire safety).

MISTAKE

In our Gloucester Gourmet column last week, there was an error in Joan Brunet's recipe. (The error was ours, not Mrs. Brunet's, just to make sure we're clear on that point).

The recipe calls for a quarter-cup of butter, not a cup and a quarter.

Stock car racing was once popular here

Silver Points
By SONIA-SIMARD CORMIER
News from 25 years ago.

Sept. 1, 1966

One thing can be said of the past 25 years in Bathurst, it certainly has not remained stagnant. Even amid recent hard times, growth has been continuous with signs of this obvious at every turn. Not only has Bathurst fared well economically, but it has also managed to grow beautifully.

For instance, how many remember the Harbourview Boulevard before the Nicholas Denys Building? The water almost went in the back door of businesses lining Main Street. Widening of the boulevard throughout the years gradually allowed more space for driving and parking. (I also remember dancing at sock-hops on the boulevard but then that's another story.) Anyway, even with this widening of the street and the eventual addition of the four-storey building, Bathurst Harbor has kept its scenic qualities with the new skyline created by the buildings adding to its beauty.

You may be wondering what all this has to do with 1966. Well, it all began with a headline which read "Broader Boulevard Prescribed By City Council." The council of the day gave its approval to extend and improve the boulevard, the cost of which ($10,000) would be covered by the city's parking meter fund.

Of course, this all seems irrelevant now as one can hardly compare today's thoroughfare with the original boulevard.

If some things have changed and improved others have all but disappeared. Such is the case with stock car racing which enjoyed a tremendous amount of popularity back in 1966. More than 1,500 stock car enthusiasts were on hand Aug. 28, 1966, at the Bathurst Speedway to watch eight local drivers vie for top honors on the grueling dirt track.

When the checkered flag came down it saw Alyre Hachey pilot to victory in his '49 Ford V-8 Flathead. Second place went to Murray (The Daredevil) Branch at the wheel of his '56 Ford V-8 while "coming up in third place, with a faceful of dust, was Allie McCarthy driving a six-cylinder '55 Chevy. Allie of course is now the publisher of this newspaper (sure hope I'm still around to write next week's column).

Located five miles outside of the city on the Salmon Beach Road, Bathurst Speedway was said to be the first recreational facility of its kind in the region, and it was hoped it would reduce the amount of squealing tires downtown.

Pair sent to Moncton following fire accident

Siblings Carol and Donald Carter of 1375 Bridge Street sustained mostly second degree burns during the incident, occurring the evening of Aug. 22.

According to their sister, Evelyn Carter, the two had stuffed garbage, papers and wood chips in a large barrel. They were in the process of setting fire to the contents when a gush of flames erupted from the barrel, setting both of them on fire.

She believes some of the debris destined to be burned bore some type of flammable substance, although she is unsure what kind.

"There was no explosion; it was kind of like a big gush," she said.

Carol Carter sustained mostly second-degree and some third-degree burns to 35 per cent of her body. The burns were concentrated on her right arm, body, and left hand.

Donald Carter received second-degree burns to 20 per cent of his body, mostly to his legs and stomach.

Both were immediately taken to Chaleur Regional Hospital, where they stayed until they were transported to Moncton the next morning.

Evelyn Carter said both are expected home shortly.

"They're doing exceptionally well," she said, after visiting the two Sunday.

UNION LABEL WEEK

Sept. 1 to 7 has been declared Union Label Week locally and nationally, to promote Canadian-made and Union-made products. It is organized nationally by the Canadian Labor Congress, Union Label Trades and Services Department. The Union Label Committee chairman in Bathurst, Leo Ryan, says if more people demand Canadian and Union-made products, merchants will have to supply them. Mr. Ryan (standing) is shown here with Mayor Kevin Mann, as the mayor recently signed a proclamation declaring Sept. 1 to 7 Union Label Week in Bathurst.

Buffet to benefit Foundation

P.J.'s Pub and Eatery will host an all-you-can-eat Indian buffet for $9.99, from 12 noon to 7 p.m., with all proceeds going toward the Foundation.

The $2 million campaign was launched earlier this summer, is focused around raising money to buy new equipment, replace old equipment, and build a chapel for hospital patients and their families.

Saturday's buffet, provided by Alpes Food Ltd., of Tracadie, will feature such dishes as samosa, butter chicken, roasted chicken, lentils, mixed vegetables, naan, rice and desserts.

Food specialist Ena Bhasin said Alpes decided to provide the buffet after being asked by a local organization to make a donation to the campaign.

"It just clicked in our minds," she said.

Garlic's Good Side

Once believed to fend off ancient demons, garlic may someday ward off modern killer diseases. Chopping, steaming or food processing triggers a complex sequence of chemical reactions in garlic that link it to the prevention of such diseases as cancer and heart disease.

CORN FOR FIT-NIC DAY

Jeannette Lagace of Pointe Verte was preparing the corn for those attending the second annual Fit-Nic '91 activity day, held at the Municipal Park in Pointe Verte Saturday. About 1,000 people participated in sport activities and entertainment. The event was organized by NB Power, to encourage friendly relations among Northeast communities sharing interest in the Belledune Generating Station project.

CARD OF THANKS

CORMIER - Hormidas Cormier would like to say a sincere thanks and appreciation to friends and the clergy for the many cards, flowers, gifts and visits while he was a patient in the hospital. Also to Dr. Eddie and Mazerolle, and nursing staff on 2nd & 4th floor at Chaleur Regional Hospital.

DUFFY- I wish to thank Dr. Carson, the nurses and staff of 4th floor East of the Chaleur Regional Hospital. Also to all those who visited me, sent cards, flowers or any other gifts. Many thanks. Pearl Duffy.

LANDRY - The family of the late Laurent (Lawrence) Landry wishes to thank the nursing staff of the Intensive Care Unit of the Bathurst Chaleur Regional Hospital for the tender care given to our dear one. Special thanks to Dr. Satya and his aides, we cannot forget nurse Helene Savoie who by her tact, proficiency and angelical kindness eased his pain and ours when the bitter end came. To Dr. A. Wade and his staff who for 8 years received Laurent every month, and with his guidance and medication has helped him lead an almost normal life till the last heart attack which came quite suddenly and ended it all. Dr. Wade, we will always be grateful for your dedication.
His wife, Florence and children: Florent, Martine, Corinne, Eric, Andrea, Conrad and Guy.

MOSES - The family would like to take this opportunity to extend their gratitude of appreciation to each and every person who assisted through this difficult time. Those who supported us through the lengthy hospital stay with visits, cards & encouragement; those who sent flowers, made contributions to the Canadian Cancer Society and those who assisted with baked goods & other foods. A special thank you to the doctors and nursing staff of the 3rd & 4th floors of the Chaleur Regional Hospital. Everyone was so patient and caring but there are always a few special people who make these times easier by giving that little extra, we will always remember your kindness.

IN MEMORIAM

JAGOE - In loving memory of Agnes Jagoe who passed away August 27th 1989.

Precious memories never die
As years go and and days go by.
Deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget.

Sadly missed by husband, children, grand children and great grand children.

VILLE DE BERESFORD
PUBLIC NOTICE

(by virtue of Section 25 of the COMMUNITY PLANNING ACT)

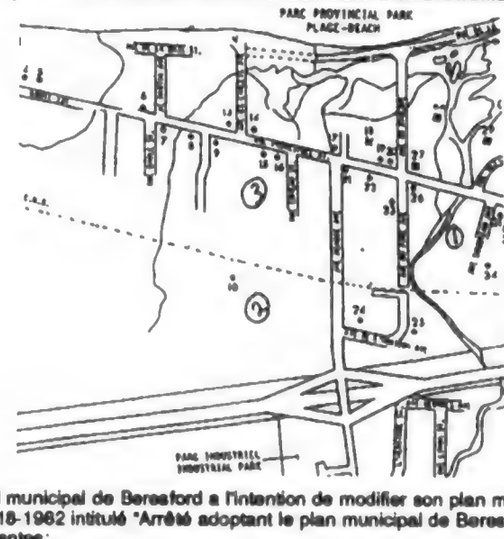
The Beresford Municipal Council is proposing changes to its Municipal Development Plan being by-law No. 18-1982 entitled "The Beresford Municipal Development Plan" for the following purposes:

1. To zone a parcel of land belonging to M. Gérald Frenette, situated on the North side of rue Boudreau just across from Villa Gagnon, from residential single-dwelling (R1) to institutional, for the purpose of establishing a transitory home for handicaped people.

2. To zone a few parcels of land situated on the North side of Avenue Acadie and bounded on the West by the CNR railroad tracks, from residential single-dwelling (R1) to camp ground (L3), for the operation of a campground together with a mini-golf and a repair shop for tents and etc..

3. To zone the properties on the North of Avenue Acadie, between the lands due to be zoned for a campground and a gas bar and convenience store (l'Exit), from residential single-dwelling (R1) to mix commercial and residential (M).

A meeting will be held on SEPTEMBER 09, 1991, at 7:30 p.m. at the Beresford Municipal Office for public presentation of the proposed modifications.



Any objections to the proposed amendment must be presented to Council in writing. All objections should be forwarded to the Town Clerk within thirty (30) days of the public presentation.

VILLE DE BERESFORD
AVIS AU PUBLIC

(En vertu de l'article 25 de la LOI SUR L'URBANISME)

Le conseil municipal de Beresford a l'intention de modifier son plan municipal étant l'Arrêté No. 18-1982 intitulé "Arrêté adoptant le plan municipal de Beresford" pour les raisons suivantes:

1. Pour rezoner le terrain de M. Gérald Frenette, terrain situé au nord de la rue Boudreau en face de la Villa Gagnon, de résidentiel unifamilial (R1) à institutionnel pour permettre l'établissement d'une résidence transitoire pour personnes handicapées.

2. Pour rezoner un bloc de terrains situé au nord de l'avenue Acadie à proximité de la voie ferrée du CN, de résidentiel unifamilial (R1) à terrain de camping (L3) pour permettre l'opération d'un terrain de camping avec activités connexes (mini-golf, magazin de réparation de tentes, etc.).

3. Pour rezoner les terrains du côté nord de l'avenue Acadie entre les propriétés prévues pour le terrain de camping et le dépanneur gaz bar (L'Exit) de résidentiel unifamilial (R1) à mixte (M).

Soviet delegation home Thursday

A group of Bathurst people stranded in the Soviet Union last week are now planning to return tomorrow Thursday.

They were among 125 Canadians taking part in Estonia '91, a project sponsored mainly by the Apostolic Church of Pentecost.

Estonia '91 is a church-building project, the purpose of which was to expose the Estonian people to the teachings of the Bible.

The group got caught up in the attempted overthrow of the government of Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev early last week.

A state of martial law was imposed by a self-appointed State Emergency Committee. However, order was quickly restored and the short-lived coup came to an end Aug. 22, when Mr. Gorbachev resumed power.

When the turmoil began, the Estonia '91 group made plans to make its way to Finland via ferry, when a scheduled departure from Moscow Tuesday seemed unlikely. However, ferry service was interrupted during the conflict.

Ms. Creary said her mother, Lynn, received a call from Brian on Sunday, saying that all was now well.

"He only got through for a few seconds, then the line was cut off," she said.

In those few seconds, however, he had time to let the family know the group would be returning as scheduled.

Joey Thibodeau

Silver medal at nationals

Bathurst's Joey Thibodeau has a silver medal to show for his pitching performance at the Canadian Bantam Baseball Championships held in Chatham this weekend.

But it could just as easily have been covered in gold.

Thibodeau hurled a four-hitter in the gold medal game against Ontario Sunday, but a pair of homers by Ontario shortstop Kevin Kim spelled defeat.

The silver medal, however, was enough to console the local hurler.

"I wasn't (discouraged), because we still finished second in Canada," said the 15 year-old, son of Rheal and Yvette Thibodeau of Donald Avenue.

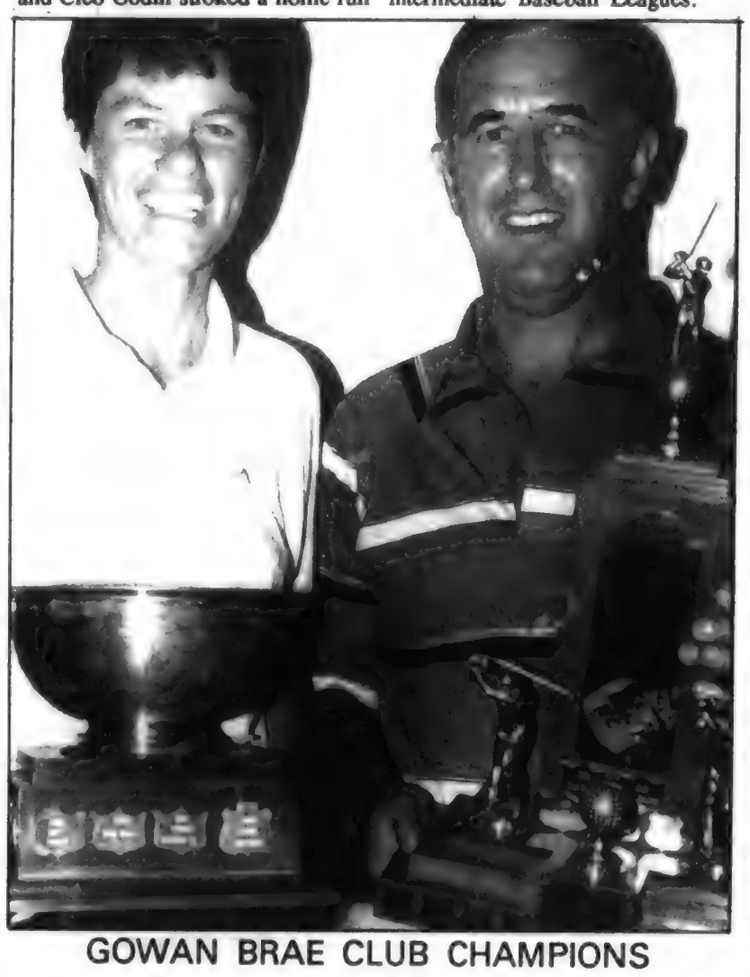
A member of the Bathurst Bantam T-Birds, Thibodeau was taking part in his first national championship as a pickup player with the Chatham Ironmen.

Thibodeau helped the Ironmen earn a spot in the crossover semi-finals by pitching four solid innings in a 6-5 victory over Quebec.

The semi-finals saw Team New Brunswick hammer Dartmouth, N.S. 12-2, while Ontario downed Quebec 5-0 in the other.

Schooners win...again

The Beresford Schooners overpowered the Eel River Crossing Alpine Expos Sunday to claim their fourth straight Restigouche Intermediate A Baseball League title.



The Schooners assaulted Eel River pitching for 15 hits to clinch the championship game 17-2.

Gilles Proulx led the hitting onslaught with a pair of home runs, a double and a single, while Eric Paulin and Cleo Godin stroked a home run and a single each.

Earning the pitching victory was Marc Guitard.

Taking part in the New Brunswick Intermediate A Baseball League championship will be the host Dalhousie Dodgers and yet to be determined winners of the Miramichi Valley and Southern New Brunswick Intermediate Baseball Leagues.

GOWAN BRAE CLUB CHAMPIONS

The Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club held its annual Club Championship this weekend, with more than 200 golfers taking part. Winning the 1991 championships were Kathy Grebenc, with rounds of 88 and 85; and Paul Hachey, who carded a 77 and a 71.

Police win "Battle" for MD

Police recruit Kevin Hovey stole the show, but the Muscular Dystrophy Association was the clearcut winner in the Battle of the Badges.

Hovey, doing his on-the-job training with the Bathurst City Police, claimed the overall title by winning all three categories in the showdown with the Bathurst Fire Department Saturday night at P.J.'s Pub.

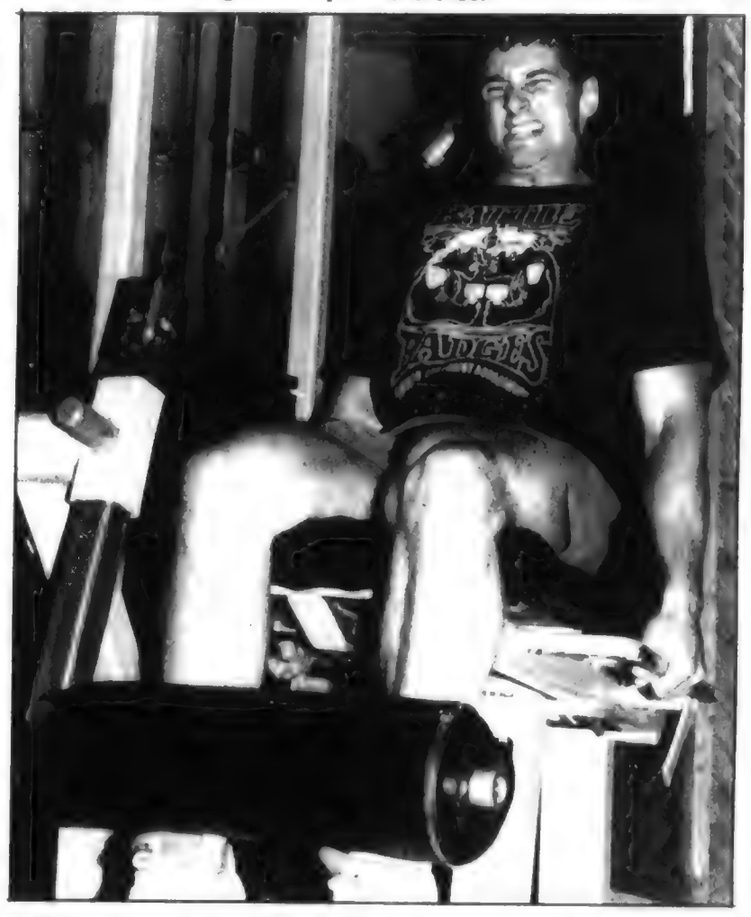
The Muscular Dystrophy Association was the winner, however, with more than $1,800 raised on its behalf.

"And I still have seven or eight pledge sheets out there," said Fred Morrison, a member of the fire department team and organizer of the event.

The Battle of the Badges is a friendly weightlifting competition, where competitors were asked to perform as many repetitions as possible in the bench press, leg extensions, and arm curls.

The police department team--Hovey, Cst. Mike Guitard, Deputy Chief Bernie Allain, Sgt. Lynus Buggie, Cst. Troy Clarkson, and Cst. Richard Lanteigne--won with 63 more repetitions than their fire department counterparts. The fire department team included Fred Morrison, Robert Langlais, Robert Doucet, Lucien Legacy, Roger Hachey, and Donald Laffoley.

The top fire department representative was Robert Langlais.



The money for the MDA was raised through pledge sheets, the passing of a hat during the competition, and sales of t-shirts and hats. Morrison, the MDA representative with the fire department, said the total for the association is expected to rise to almost $2,000, with some t-shirts and hats still up for sale at the fire department.

And the event will also certainly be held again next year.

"Oh yes, I challenged them personally," Morrison said.

Morrison will be heading to Halifax, N.S. Sept. 1 to present the cheque in person on the live broadcast of the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

Anyone interested in donating to the cause--or purchasing a t-shirt or hat--can do so by contacting Morrison at the fire department at 548-0430.

Kevin Hovey of the Bathurst City Police, busy working towards 200 repetitions--with 85 pounds of weights--in the leg extension portion of the Battle of the Badges. The event was held Saturday at P.J.'s Pub, pitting police against members of the Bathurst Fire Department in an effort to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Nationals tough on N.B. golfers

The national golf championships were not a friendly place to be last week for New Brunswick teams.

The provincial men's team finished in eighth place in the interprovincial team competition at the Canadian Men's Amateur Golf Championship, held at the Royal Ottawa Golf Club in Aylmer, Que.

The junior girls team finished seventh in the Canadian Junior Women's Golf Championship, played at the Pine Ridge Golf and Country Club in Winnipeg, Man.

Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club member Rick Coulombe, the New Brunswick Amateur Men's champion in 1990, was a member of the eighth-place team, but did not make the final-round cut in the individual title race.

Maher led all golfers from this province with a three-day total of 271.

Chance to test fly casting skills

The Nepisiguit Salmon Association will be doing its bit to promote the city's Silver Jubilee anniversary.

The salmon enhancement group is organizing a fly casting competition, scheduled for this Saturday at the Causeway Park.

Registrations for the event will be accepted prior to the start of competition, which runs from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and each participant will have three attempts to cast the longest fly.

The registration fee is $5 per person, and there will be many prizes available to be won.

Mixed playoff title to Doane Raymond

The Labatt's Commercial Mixed Softball League season came to a close Sunday with a playoff tournament.

The event was dominated by Doane Raymond with a 5-0 record, with runner-up honors going to the Chaleur Regional Hospital squad at 4-1. Green Thumb Landscaping finished third at 2-3.

The league, consisting of Canadian Tire, Chaleur Centre Cool Cats, Chaleur Regional Hospital, City Limits, Doane Raymond, and Green Thumb Landscaping, had already crowned Chaleur Rergional Hospital as its regular season champion with a 10-2 won-lost record.

Taking second place in the pennant race was Doane Raymond, also with a 10-2 slate. The hospital squad won due to a better head-to-head record. Rounding out the top three was the Chaleur Centre Cool Cats at 7-5.

The league would like to thank its major sponsor, Labatt's Breweries.

Bay of Chaleur soccer crown to Petit Rocher

Petit Rocher's Centre du Cyclisme men's team has captured the Bay of Chaleur Senior Soccer League's inaugural championship with a victory over the Campbellton Celtics Aug. 18.

After finishing the regular season in top spot with an 11-1 won-lost record, Petit Rocher took on fourth-place finishing Bathurst Blues (4-8 won-lost), an emotionally charged squad which came within inches of ousting the league favorites.

Ernie Boudreau potted two goals for Bathurst, while Roger Roy netted the lone Petit Rocher goal, as the Blues won the first game of the two-game, total-goal series 2-1.

The many fans on hand for the second game witnessed an intense flurry of action which, when the final whistle blew, had Petit Rocher ahead 2-1, thus tying the series at three goals apiece. Scoring for Petit Rocher were René and Guy Guerette, while Cleave Lavigne countered for the Blues.

Extra time resulted in another intense yet scoreless period of play. To break the deadlock, five penalty kicks from each team were required. Petit Rocher proceeded to squeak out a 3-2 advantage on the penalty kicks, earning it a place in the final.

In the first game of the championship series, Petit Rocher got off to a quick start and stole the first game from the Celtics by a score of 2-1, on goals by Darren Sturgeon and Eric Boucher.

In the second match, the Celtics struck early to pull even on the aggregate score. Petit Rocher could not be subdued for long however, as Sturgeon converted a magnificent Roger Roy cross ball and Boucher cracked the ball past the Campbellton keeper to put Centre du Cyclisme ahead by two goals on the aggregate score, with only 40 minutes of soccer left to play.

Campbellton's inability to score during the second half, despite continual pressure on Petit Rocher's back four, resulted in frustration and chippy play all around, which in turn yielded few quality scoring chances. The Celtics did manage to salvage a goal in the final minute of play, but the Bay of Chaleur Senior Soccer League title finally went to Petit Rocher based on an aggregate score of 4-3.

Season-ending awards went to Stephane Roy of Petit Rocher, the league's top goalkeeper, and Luc Roy of Petit Rocher, its top goalscorer.

The league hopes to be even stronger next year, with hopes of adding new teams and more interest. Anyone interested in playing can contact Brian Dwyer or Marc Arseneau in the spring.

IN THE BOX

Petit Rocher finished the year with a record of 29 wins, four losses and three ties, which includes all tournaments, exhibition games, league games, etc...Jason Bouma and Brian Dwyer of the Bathurst Blues will return to school this fall, and plan to continue playing varsity soccer...The Bathurst Phantoms soccer team will begin playing Sept. 5. Wayne Lord returns as coach after a year's absence, along with Dan MacDonald.

Larry Holmes should stay home and forget boxing

On The Ropes
By "Wild" BILL HUDON

Larry Holmes improved his record to 50-3 on his way back up the Heavyweight ranks, with a recent 10-round decision over a flabby fighter.

Holmes said after the fight with 250-pound Eddie Gonzales that it will keep his hopes alive for a title shot. Holmes, at 41 years of age and 238 pounds, said he can still win back the title.

I will stick my neck out a little and say Holmes was a great fighter. He almost broke Rocky Marciano's record of 49-0. Holmes made it 47 straight wins before he lost his title to Michael Spinks.

I could be wrong, but I say Holmes should forget the title; he will not win it back. On his comeback trail he has fought a bunch of nobodies. The guys he fights today could not hold his trunks up a few years ago. The Larry Holmes of today looks sluggish and not in top shape.

At 41, forget it Larry! I don't want to see this. I have seen Holmes fight many times, but today it's a whole new ball game. Some of you out there have seen him on his comeback trail, what did you see? Yes, you are right, you saw nothing.

Young Terry Norris of Mission Valley, California retained his Junior Middleweight title recently with a first-round knockout over Brett Lally of New York. Norris is the same guy who retired Sugar Ray Leonard and Donald Curry. He's the hottest fighter in boxing today.

Canadian boxer Shawn O'Sullivan is struggling on his comeback trail, losing a 10-round decision to Kevin Watts in Atlantic City, N.J. last week.

There's a tough man contest coming to the Miramichi Civic Centre in Newcastle Oct. 5, the first ever All-Canadian Tough Man Championships.

The event will include street fighters, martial arts experts, football players, ex-boxers, etc., and all will compete for the $5,000 top prize. The runner-up will get $2,500.

All fighters must be 19 or older, and to enter just call 753-5128 or write to Sports Productions New Brunswick, Box 297, R.R. #3, Rogersville, N.B., E0A-2T0.

Jeff Fenech did beat Azuma Nelson of Ghana for the Junior Lightweight title recently, as a few people mentioned to me, although judges called it a draw.

Just last weekend sports editor Jimmy Couture, who saw the Nelson-Fenech fight on the tube, told me Fenech should have won this fight. I was also talking to another man, David Kearns, manager of the Village Food Store, who also said the same thing.

I have since seen the replay of this fight, and I will agree with Jimmy and David's comments. You were right guys, Fenech was robbed.

By the way, Fenech is from Australia, and his record now stands at 27-0-1 won-lost-draw.

Chisholm makes it seven straight

It's not official, but Peter Chisholm has most likely set an all-time record at McKay's Speedway in Douglastown.

The local speedster won the first three stock car races he entered Saturday and, coupled with winning all four he was involved in last week, made it seven straight victories.

He won the first preliminary race after starting in the fourth position, then took the trophy dash from his starting position on the outside of the first row. He finished his fine outing with a win in the semi-final heat, where he had started way back in eighth place.

However, the streak was broken in the 25-lap feature. He had worked his way up to fourth from his eighth-place starting position only to get tangled up with another car and knocked off the track. The race didn't stop because the cars were not in harms way, so Chisholm got back into it and proceeded to work his way back up the field once more, making it to seventh place before the checkered flag came out.

Chisholm, who earned about $500 in prize money in just two weekends, credits a few adjustments and acquisitions for his recent surge on the Douglastown oval.

"We worked at the suspension a little bit, and the new tires also helped. The car is handling extremely well," he said.

Chisholm said the adjustments helped him hold the track when on the outside, generally considered the passing lane.

"A lot of guys stay on the inside and pass on the outside," he said, adding he seems to having an easier time passing cars with the newfound traction.

Chisholm is sponsored by Bathurst Mechanics Plus and Stothart Toyota.

Atlas Park to sink boat

The sinking of a boat is seldom a cause for celebration, but such will be the case this Saturday at Atlas Park in Pointe Verte.

In order to add to its scuba diving attractions, the Atlas Park Society, with the aid of professional scuba divers, will sink a 25-foot fishing boat in Atlas Lake. "Atlas I", as the boat is called, will be the first shipwreck at Atlas Park.

The sinking begins at 10 a.m. and should be completed by noon. Plans are to weigh down the wooden boat with rocks, and continue adding them until there's enough weight to make it sink.

The fishing boat is equipped with a cabin, which should add to the fun for scuba divers taking advantage of the park's facilities.

Atlas Park director Marc Doucet said a bigger boat may be sunk in the future.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Decaf

Decaffeinated coffee was introduced just before World War I. At least 97% of a coffee's caffeine must be removed to quality as decaffeinated. In contrast to as much as 155 milligrams of caffeine in a nondecaffeinated cup of coffee, a five-ounce cup of decaffeinated coffee contains less than five milligrams of caffeine.

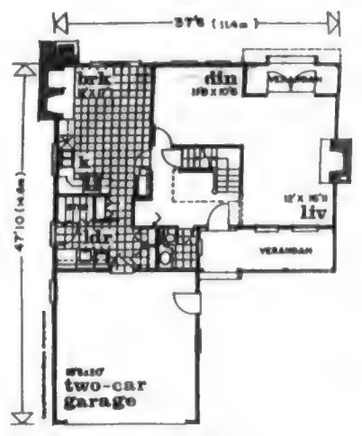
COSY FIREPLACE WARMS COUNTRY KITCHEN



A covered, railed verandah, multi-paned windows and dormer provide nostalgic charm for this three bedroom design. The carefully layout provides luxurious yet functional features within its 1,749 square feet.

Located off the two storey foyer are the large living and dining rooms with masonry fireplace and access to a rear covered verandah. Elegant French doors open to the verandah which invites quiet outdoor relaxation. The informal area of the home revolves around a huge country kitchen, efficiently designed with a handy pantry, roomy counters and large hearth fireplace with woodbin. This area offers abundant space for cosy family gatherings. A sliding glass walk-through opens to a rear deck, with built-in barbeque.

The winding stairway leads to a gallery overlooking the foyer. The master bedroom features a windowed bay, his and her wall closets and luxurious ensuite with corner positioned whirlpool spa and shower. The two additional bedrooms, each with abundant closet storage, share a large main bathroom with tub.

Future expansions is easily accommodated in the full basement. Plans offer a choice of foundations, including a full basement or crawlspace.

Devon Gagnon took a solid cut at the ball during a t-ball tournament held at the South Bathurst ball field Aug 21. About 70 youths took part in the one-day event, organized by the summer staff of the city's Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department. Devon, 8, is the son of Raymond and Pierrette Gagnon of South Bathurst. Shown is the background is catcher Eric Chamberlain, 6, son of Edgar and Joanne Chamberlain of Big River.

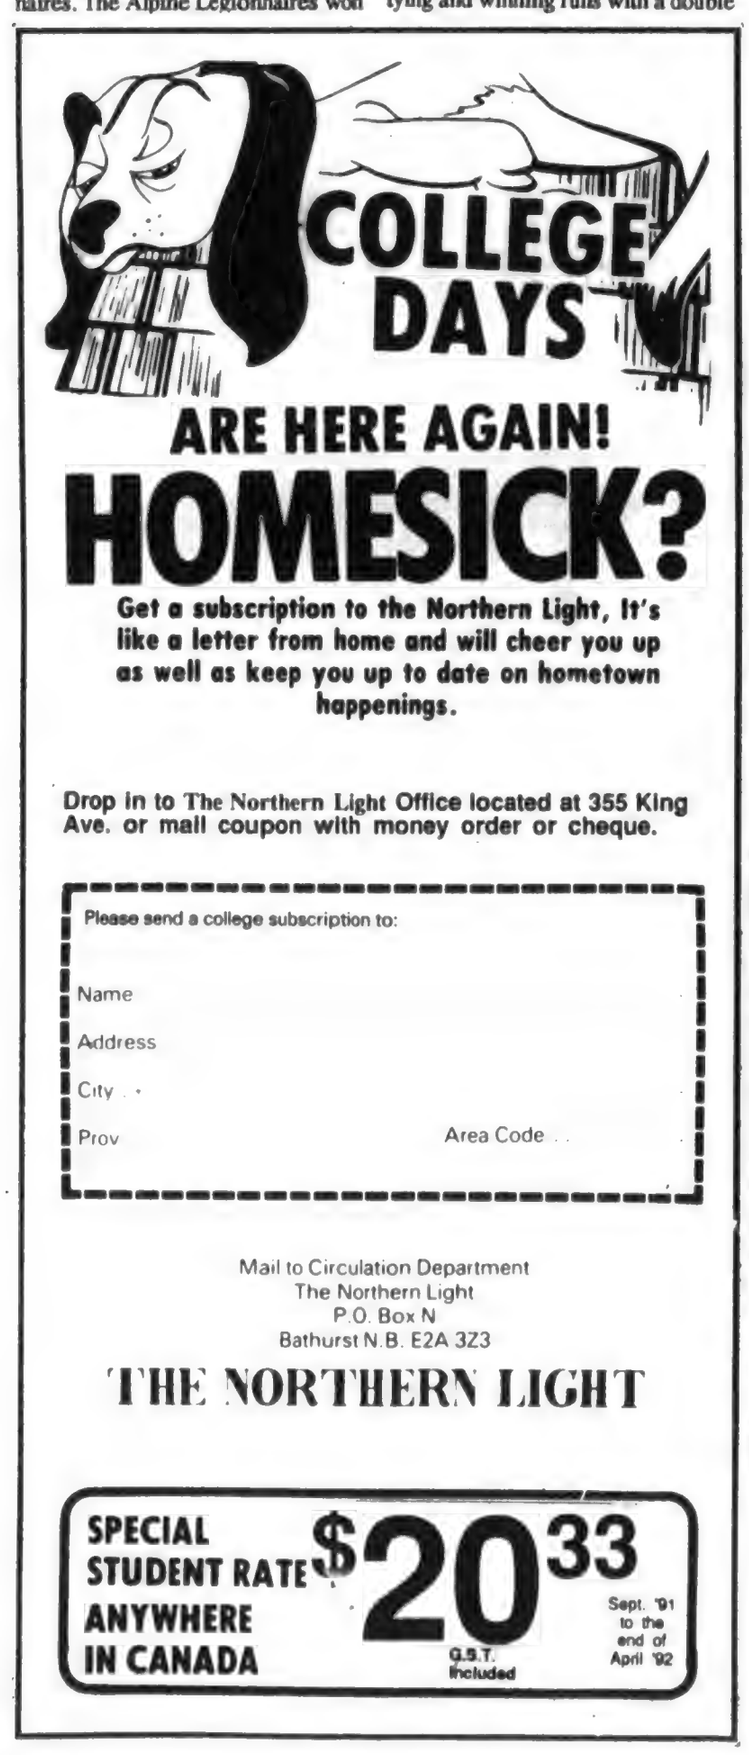
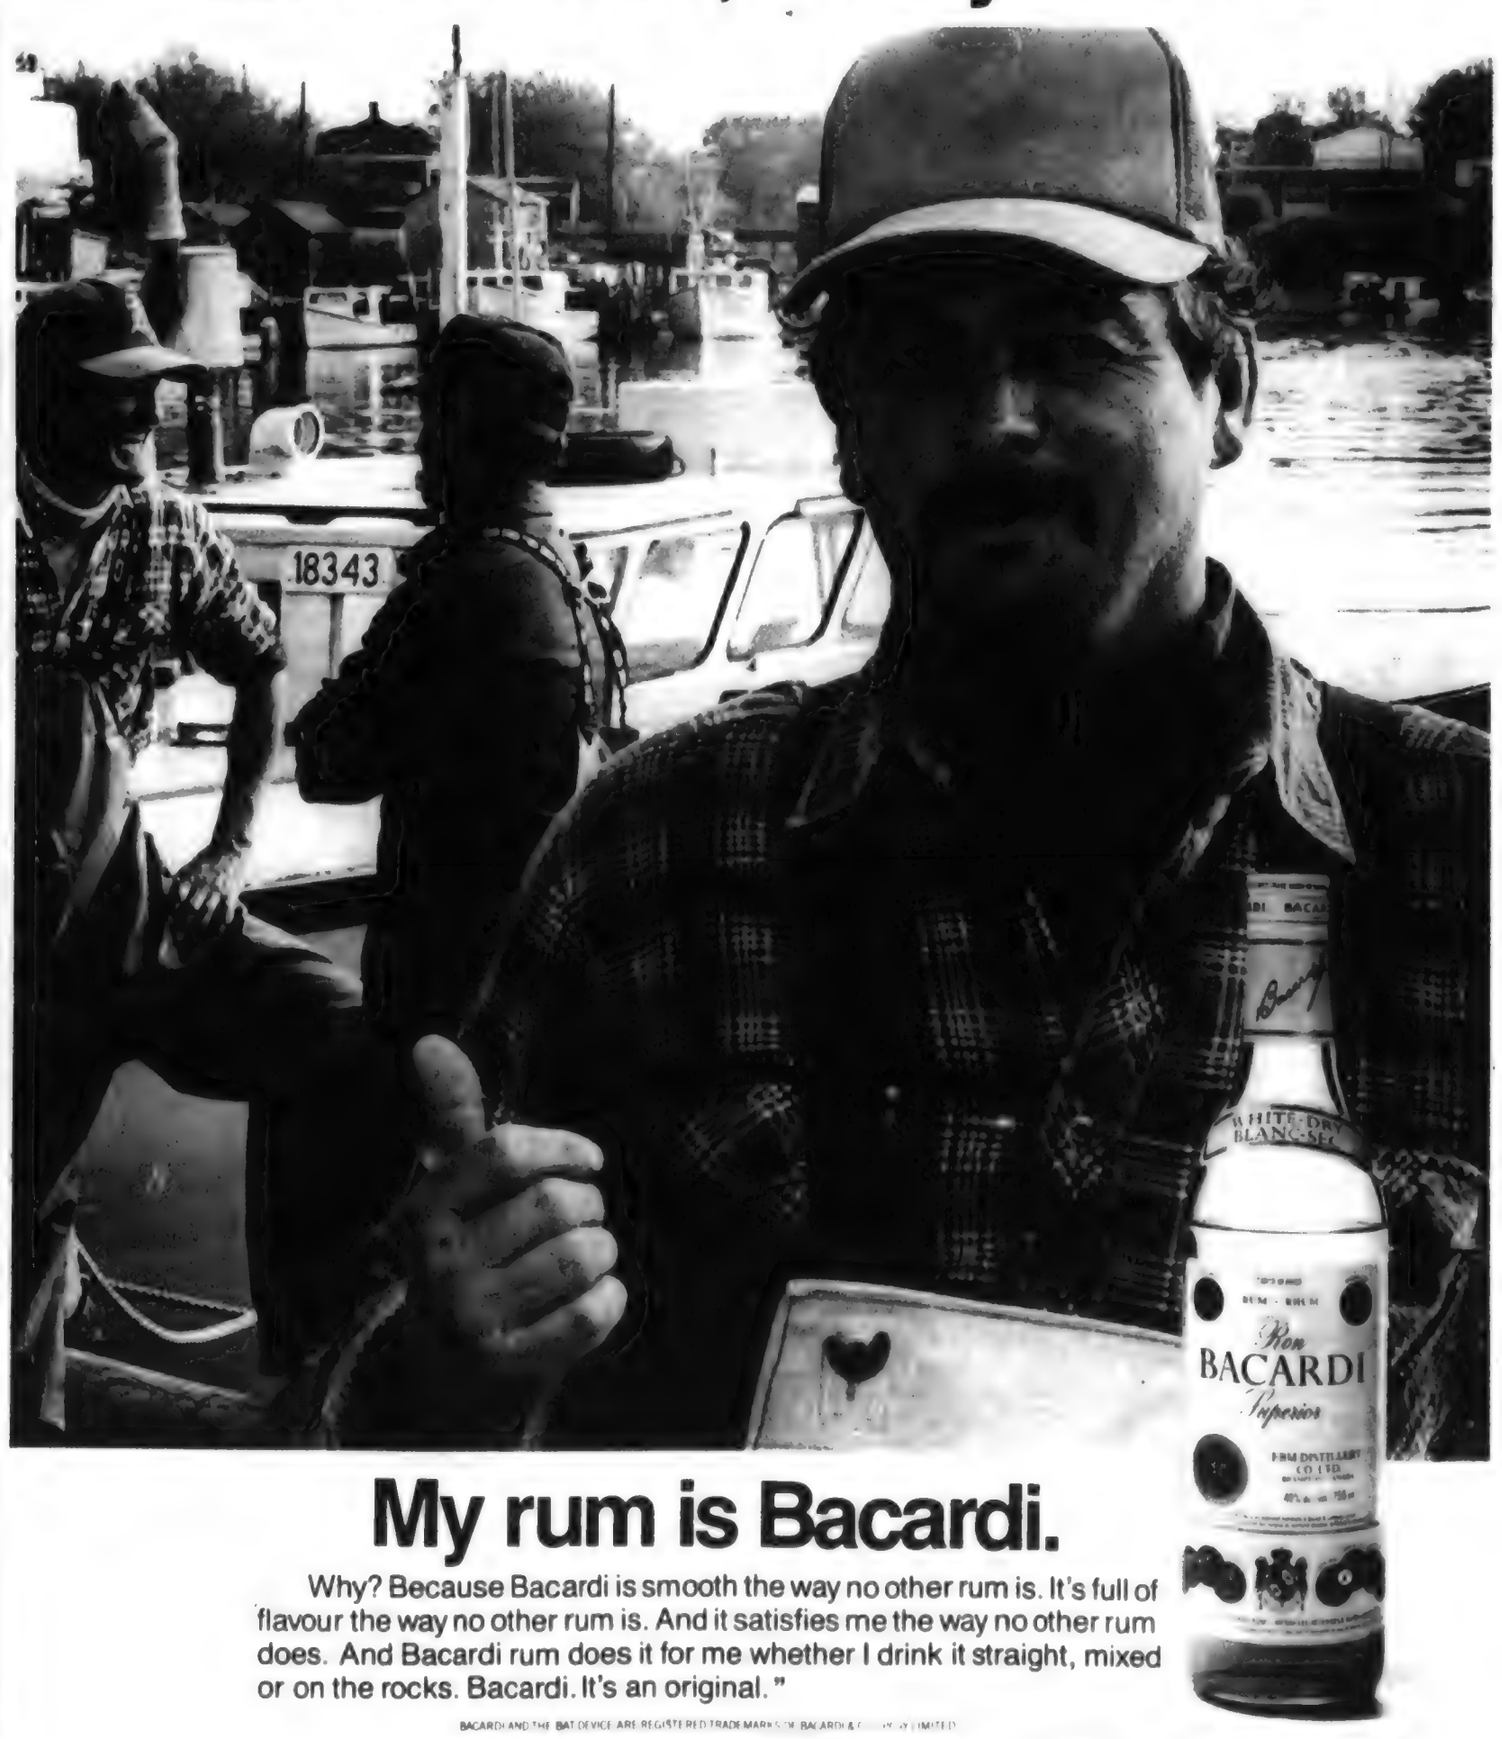
Alpine Legionnaires win softball laurels



The Alpine Legionnaires have laid claim to the Bathurst Oldtimers Softball League championship this weekend, going through a playoff tournament undefeated.



The Legionnaires made their way through the six-team field with an unblemished 5-0 won-lost record, earning it a semi-final berth against the fourth-place Schooner Legionnaires. The Alpine Legionnaires won that contest, as did the Moosehead Hustlers over J.C. Trucking, setting up the final game.

The Alpine Legionnaires found themselves down 8-1 after three innings, but fought back to eventually win the game and the league championship by a 9-8 count.

Roy Scott was the winning pitcher in the contest, and also drove in the tying and winning runs with a double in the bottom of the seventh inning. Darryl Knowles stroked two home runs to lead all hitters.

The Bathurst Alpines shuffleboard team claimed the championship title in the North Shore District Senior Shuffleboard Shoot Aug. 17 in Campbellton. The team thus qualified for the Provincial Senior Shuffleboard Championship, to be held Thanksgiving Day weekend in Kennebecasis. Members of the winning team are, front from left, Carol Gallagher, Biff Homiak (captain), and Betty Lovegrove. Back from left are Ken Shirley (co-captain), Joe Goyetche, and Roland Pelletier.

Alpines earn their trip to shuffleboard provincials

The Bathurst Alpines earned themselves a spot in the Provincial Senior Shuffleboard Championship, to be held in Kennebecasis this fall.

The Alpines won the North Shore District Senior Shuffleboard Shoot held at Branch No. 19 of the Royal Canadian Legion in Campbellton over the weekend, outdistancing five other teams in doing so.

Finishing second in the six-team event was Campbellton, followed by Bathurst No. 1. The top two teams advance to the provincial championship.

Members of the championship team, captained by Biff Homiak, were Ken Shirley, Roland Pelletier, Joe Goyetche, Carol Gallagher, and Betty Lovegrove.

Bathurst No. 1, captained by Melvin Spence, included Doris Alexander, Malcolm Legacy, Carmel Hachey, Lillian Gray, and Jean-Guy Fortin.

BATHURST MINOR BASEBALL'S
Player of the Week

Christian Lagacé

Christian Lagacé is the Bathurst Minor Baseball Association Player of the Week this week.

The 10 year-old member of the Mosquito division Cardinals stroked a pair of singles and scored once in a game played recently, and also made a few choice defensive plays.

In the off-season, the son of Clovis and Yolande Lagacé of North Teteagouche enjoys hockey, golf, swimming and badminton, and lists collecting hockey and baseball cards as his favorite hobby.

This marks the youngster's third year of organized baseball, and his favorite position is playing first base.

Christian will be entering Grade 5 this fall at Holy Family Elementary School.

PHILLIES WIN

Field day ends baseball season

The Bathurst Minor Baseball Association concluded its 1991 season Saturday with a field day, where youngsters bid farewell to the ball diamond for another summer.

The field day was for the more than 300 youths involved in BMBA action this summer, with prizes, trophies, medals, ribbons and certificates passed out to many. The event also featured games of skill, learned during the past campaign.

Trophies for Most Improved-Most Sportsmanlike Players in the Mosquito division were handed out to Ryan Power of the Expos, James Thibeault of the Giants, James MacDonald of the Indians, and Andy Brown of the Cardinals.

The Most Sportsmanlike Player with the Mosquito provincial team is Frederic Paillard, while the Most Improved Player with the same team is Michel Breau.

The Phillies were the field day champs in the Squirt division. Members of the team included Adrian Snow, Jean-Michel Theriault, Phillip Lavigne, Shawn Kane, Joshua Gray, Shane Cripps, Adam Chamberlain, Jamie MacLaggan, John Reinsborough, Chad Nelson, and Trevor Maher.

Most Improved-Most Sportsmanlike Players in this division were Jennifer Thibeault of the Cubs, Paul Roy of the Dodgers, Bradley McKay of the A's, Jean-Michel Theriault of the Phillies, Reuben Paul of the Yankees, and Crystal Anger of the Pirates.

The Blue Jays were the champions in the Beaver division, thanks to the work of Justin Kane, Serge Duguay, Denis Theriault, Kirk Doucet, Charles Tower, Jamie Doucet, Bradley Cavanaugh, David Blais, Marc-André Pinet, Marc-Andrew Boudreau, Paul Lennox, Michael Davidson, Ryan McIntyre, and Kevin Glazier.

Most Improved-Most Sportsmanlike Player awards in this division went to Paul Clement of the Twins, James Vienneau of the Angels, Denis Theriault of the Blue Jays, and Jean-Lou Roy of the White Sox.

The Most Improved Player among the Bantam B players was Neil MacLean, while the Most Sportsmanlike Player was René Ouellette.

The BMBA would like to thank the sponsors who made the field day the success it was.

Man from 'Down Under' robbed in Las Vegas bout

Out Of Bounds

By JIM COUTURE
Northern Light Sports

He did it again.

Whenever Don King is involved in a boxing match, you can almost smell the dirt.

Azuma Nelson, world Super-featherweight champion, defended his crown recently against the "Thunder from Down Under", Jeff Fenech of Australia.

Fenech had been praised as the best fighter ever to come out of kangarooville. Although he had never fought in the United States before, he managed to win two world titles and was after his third.

Guess he'll have to wait awhile.

Fenech is the only fighter I've ever seen who fights with the same intensity from round one to round 12, not slowing down a bit. He hammered Nelson throughout.

But what was the decision of the Las Vegas judges? A draw, with Nelson even awarded more points overall than the clear-cut winner.

Don King is behind it; I know he is. The overblown windbag was standing next to Fenech during the ringside interview saying "to all who would listen" how he was going to give him a rematch, how he wanted to show the world what a great fighter he was, and how he was basically going to handle everything.

I don't know how far down under you've been, Fenech, but I hope you know what kind of sleazebag you had talking on your behalf. Don't trust that guy any further than you can toss his fat butt.

The way I see it, Don King saw the dollar signs flashing as soon as he saw what kind of fighter this guy was. The guy is amazing. He has everything: hand speed, stamina, punching power, killer instinct, and a nose with the top half punched away. I mean, his nose looks like a small letter 'b'.

But King only saw the dollar sign. A rematch under him would make him rich, and signing him on for a few more fights will make him ever richer.

I think Don King selects the judges, pays the judges, sends them Christmas and birthday gifts, and even comes over on Sundays to wash their cars. I also think each of the judges has an earphone so King can tell them how to score the bout.

I can't prove it though, and that's a shame. Boxing would be a better sport without this guy.

If anyone out there knows of a good rumor I could spread around about him, I'd be much obliged.

Credit Union tournament slated for city

The Ninth Annual Acadian Credit Union Softball Tournament is set to get underway this weekend, with 22 teams from throughout the province expected to attend.

The tournament is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at Coronation Park, and will see 12 male and 10 female teams doing battle. The teams hail from the counties of Madawaska-Victoria, Restigouche, Gloucester, Westmorland, and Kent, as well as a few representing the Fédération des Caisses Populaires Acadiennes.

The ladies section will see the 10-team field divided into two divisions. Division A will include the Gloucester Populaires, Madawaska-Victoria Bravonnes, Westmorland Caps, Fédération Place de l'Acadie, and Gloucester NFS, while Division B will have the Gloucester Simic, Restigouche Les Intérêts, Westmorland Boomerang, Kent Kent, and Gloucester Acadiennes.

The men's draw is comprised of 12 teams, and those in Division A will include the Gloucester Guichets, Gloucester Les Coopérateurs, Madawaska-Victoria Brayons, Kent Kent Sud, Sacpa Rentes, and Westmorland REER A. Division B will include Gloucester Paiement Direct, Gloucester Acadiens, Restigouche Saumons, Kent Kent Nord, Fédération Techniques, and Westmorland REER B.

Chamber golf event slated for Sept. 13

A shotgun blast will get the Jubilee Classic '91 Texas Scramble golf tournament off to a booming start Sept. 13.

Beginning at 11 a.m. at the Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club course, the event is sponsored by the Bathurst Chamber of Commerce and the Chaleur Regional Development Commission.

There will be $45,000 in prizes available to be won, including a car for each of two golfers lucky enough to score a hole-in-one on holes number 3 or 15. One of the cars is compliments of Stothart Toyota and Kent and White Insurance, the other from Bayside Chrysler Dodge and Harrison, Midland and Walwyn.

The cost to enter this fun event is $30 per player, which includes a surf and turf dinner.

Closing date for entries is 4 p.m. on Sept. 9. For more information, or tickets, contact the chamber office at 548-8498.

All proceeds from this fundraiser will be turned over to the Bathurst Chamber of Commerce.

Semi-finals underway in Fabrication of Plaques softball

A few last-minute games set the semi-final stage in the Fabrication of Plaques City Softball League.

C&G Smith Trucking won the final two games of their best-of-seven quarter-final series with Brasserie O'St. Pierre to set the stage for the final four.

With Brasserie O'St. Pierre leading 3-2 in games, C&G Smith Trucking came back with a 10-6 victory on Aug. 19 to tie the series. Carl Smith was credited with the mound victory, with Marc-André Comeau failing to clinch the series.

René Mazerolle led all batters from the winning side of the field with a triple, double and two singles. Fred Albert was the top hitter in Brasserie O'St. Pierre's lineup with a double and two singles.

C&G Smith Trucking clinched the series with another 10-6 victory Aug. 20, with Carl Smith getting his second straight win and Fred Albert tagged with the loss.

Kevin Peters led the winners with a double and two singles, while Marc-André Comeau stroked a double and two singles to lead the losing side.

Penguin Club doubled B.J. Furs 12-6 in the late game to lay claim to the pennant. Both teams thus finished the regular season campaign with identical 16-4 won-lost records, but the Penguin Club took the pennant after having won three of four games against B.J. Furs during the regular season.

Danny Daigle was the winning pitcher in this game, with Terry Paré stroking a triple and a double and Marcel Thibodeau a triple and two singles to lead all batters.

The best-of-seven semi-final matchups have B.J. Furs taking on Bistro Terrasse, while the other sees the Penguin Club hosting C&G Smith Trucking.

B.J. Furs drew first blood in its series with a 19-9 victory over Bistro Terrasse on Aug. 21, with Eddy Couture earning the mound victory and Robbie Arseneau tagged with the loss.

Louis Couture had a fine night for the winning side, with a triple, three doubles and a single, while for the other side of the fie!d it was Roger Arseneau, with a double and a single.

C&G Smith trucking upset Penguin Club 12-6 in the first game of their series, with Carl Smith tossing the winning pitches and Louis Theriault credited with the loss.

"BATTLE" WINNERS

Kevin Hovey of the Bathurst City Police and Robert Langlais of the Bathurst Fire Department were the top weightlifters for their respective teams in the Battle of the Badges competition, held Saturday at P.J.'s Pub. Hovey was the overall winner however, winning all three segments of the competition--bench press, leg extensions, and arm curls. The event was designed to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, which it did in the amount of more than $1,800. From left are organizer Fred Morrison, Kevin Hovey, Moosehead Breweries representative J.P. Picard, Robert Langlais, and P.J.'s Pub owner Steve Lavigne.

Pitcher's Pub upsets P.J.'s

Only one game was reported in the South Bathurst Alpine Softball League this week.

Pitcher's Pub and Eatery upset P.J.'s Pub Tomcats 5-3 in the first game of their best-of-five quarter-final series, played Aug. 20.

Pitcher Alvin Sonier was given the most credit for the win, striking out six and walking none en route to victory. Roger Legere was tagged with the loss.

Leading the onslaught from the batter's box were Chris Edney, with a home run, and Bob Sullivan, with three singles. Bernie Allain stroked two doubles to lead the losing side.

Watchful Barkeeps

A training program that helps bartenders spot someone who's already had one too many is an effective way of keeping drunk drivers off the road. However, some taverns and restaurants hesitate for fear it will cut into their sales.

Decorating Tip

Give your home a quick facelift by decorating with sheets. They are a quarter of the price and double the width of most decorative fabrics. They are also easier to care for and come in a wide range of patterns and colors that cam be mixed and matched.

Semis underway in Parkwood

The Parkwood Schooner-Pizza Delight semi-final matchups have been determined.

Techno 90 will face the pennant-winning Wild Goose Guzzlers in one, while the Right Spot Classics will take on Brasserie O'St. Pierre in the other. Both are best-of-seven affairs.

Brasserie O'St. Pierre made its way into the semi-final by eliminating the Uptown Club in straight games in a best-of-five quarter-final series.

O'St. Pierre clinched the series Aug. 20 with a convincing 14-2 triumph, with Pat Murphy tossing the winning pitches and Dave Tardif tagged with the loss.

In the late game, the Right Spot Classics took a 2-1 lead over Jim Walters in their quarter-final series with an 11-5 win. Roger White was the winning pitcher in the game, with Alan Furlotte going down to defeat.

Danny Deschenes was the leading hitter for the winning side with a home run and a single, while Glen McLean took the same honor on behalf of Jim Walters, with a pair of singles.

The Right Spot Classics clinched the series three games to one on Aug. 22 with a an 11-2 victory over Jim Walters. Greg MacDonald was the winning pitcher, with the loss handed to Glen McLean.

Jeff Gregson led the way in the series-clinching victory with a home run and two singles. Brent Keddie paced Jim Walters' attack with two singles.

Techno 90 made it three straight wins over the Big D Blues in the late game, winning 9-8. Christian Doiron helped send his team into the semi-finals with his pitching heroics, while the loss, his final one of the year, went to Myles Coombs.

Techno 90 takes on the Wild Goose Guzzlers in the second game of their series tonight at Centennial Park beginning at 6:30 p.m. Tomnorrow Thursday sees the Guzzlers and Techno 90 play their third game at 6:30 p.m., while Brasserie O'St. Pierre and the Right Spot Classics hit the field for game number three as well, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

TRAVELLING IN STYLE

A Bathurst wedding on the weekend had an old-fashioned flavor to it, thanks to local resident Joe Kennedy and his horse-drawn carriage. Lyne Doucet of Bathurst and William Kiedaisch, from the state of Connecticut, were wed at Sacred Heart Cathedral on Saturday, then driven to their wedding reception in the carriage. Lyne, 26, is the daughter of Maurice and Aline Doucet of Bathurst.

Guilty of possessing weapon, breaching probation

A man who pleaded guilty to breaking into his ex-wife's home, being in possession of a weapon, and breaching probation, has been sentenced to seven months in jail.

George McNaughton was arrested by BNPP regional police force officers and was bound in leg irons for his appearance in provincial court Monday, when he pleaded guilty to all three charges.

Crown Prosecutor George Chiasson said McNaughton entered his ex-wife's home in Beresford Aug. 23, armed with a large stick.

He told provincial court judge J. Frederic Arsenault the stick was not intended to harm his wife, but rather to beat and kill a dog he was told she had acquired.

Earlier this year, McNaughton was convicted and served 30 days for threatening to kill his wife, and another 15 days for breaking into her home earlier this summer.

He was on probation at the time of this latest offence.

In other court news, an adjournment was granted Monday to Curtis Gordon Jacques, in relation to his plea on two charges of theft.

Jacques, 19, of Ord Avenue, faces two charges of theft under $1,000. He is accused of stealing a video cassette recorder and jewellry from a South Bathurst home.

He was to enter a plea before Judge J. Frederic Arsenault Monday, but asked for an extension so that he can consult a lawyer.

He is to reappear for election and plea Sept. 9 at 9:30 a.m.

Whites celebrate 50th anniversary

Family and friends of Lawrence and Isabelle White gathered recently at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert White in Robertville to celebrate the couple's 50th wedding anniversary.

An anniversary mass was held in their honor at the home with Mgr. Donat Robichaud, a close friend of the family, officiating. Mass was prepared by Gary, Ginette and Joyce. Readings were read by Jeannine and Gary.

The jubilarians exchanged vows as well as had their hands blessed. Special intentions were read by various family members: Gerry, Louise, Jeannine and grandaughter Allison.

Master of ceremonies for the day was Gary.

All six of the White family children were present with their wives, as well as 11 grandchildren. As a special tribute to their grandparents, each grandchild presented a rose.

Many cards, money, gifts, flowers and best wishes were received. Also, congratulatory messages were received and read from Pope John Paul II, Acadie-Bathurst MP Douglas Young, Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick Gilbert Finn, New Brunswick Premier Frank McKenna, and former Bathurst MLA Paul Kenny.

Lawrence and Isabelle would like to extend sincere thanks and appreciation to their many friends and relatives who shared in this memorable day.

Also, a special thank you to Mgr. Donat Robichaud for the lovely mass, and to their children.

Creating animal sculpture

Art Talk
With Bathurst artist JEAN-FRANCES

Topic: creating animal sculpture by building up a form.

Materials required: a round balloon, newspaper cut into one inch wide strips, scissors, water, wallpaper paste, acrylic paint or poster paints (they will have to be coated with shellac or a hyplar finish), dixie cup, pipe cleaner.

We can see a good example of an animal sculpture if we take a walk to the ice cream store at the corner of Notre Dame and Saint Peter Avenue, where we can see a life-size sculptured cow.

We can try a miniature version of an animal sculpture by using a balloon for a form, over which we can put strips of newspaper soaked in wallpaper paste to create a pig form. Layer upon layer of papier mache should be applied carefully and evenly. Allow no air bubbles between your layers. Use a dixie cup for the head at one end of the balloon.

When you have the papier maché over the head and body, roll four strips of newspaper into little tubes for use as the legs. Attach them with more layers of paper maché (the strips of newspaper soaked in wallpaper paste). Let it dry a couple days.

Now attach the pipe cleaner to one end for a tail. Paint it up but just remember that if your paints aren't waterproof, shellac or some other waterproof finish should be applied.

What other shapes can be used for other animals? How about a box shape for a cow? What about a bear?

If you wish, you may make your animal shape into a piggy bank by cutting a money slot one the top of the body. Use a sharp knife, and be careful!

Have fun!

Over The Back Fence
By ELEANOR A. SCOTT
Call 546-5080 after 6 p.m.

On a recent trip to Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Pitre took advantage of an offer to take an eight-day cruise to Quebec City and Baie Comeau on the 730 ft. long bulk carrier of the C.S.L. Feet. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cowan, parents of Mrs. Paul Martin. The accommodations were first class and the meals were excellent.

They also spent a few days in the Laurentians at a beautiful summer home occupied by their son Fred and family for the summer months.

At the Shrine of our Lady of Fatima, Scarborough, Ontario, John David Murphy was married to Julie Beeston on June 22, 1991.

The best man was the groom's brother Don Murphy, Ajax, Ont.

His brother Grodon his wife Cheryl and daughter Heidi and his brother Roger and wife Ida, were also present.

Many other friends and relatives were present including Keri Size, Janine and Katie Murphy, Bervil and Marjorie Russell.

Roderique Doucet married Joanne Lemenchick in Stratford, Ont. Aug. 3. Guests attending the wedding from Bathurst included his mother Eugenie Doucet, his brother Aurele and his wife Hélène, his brother Bernard and Diane and children, and Madeleine and Michel Hachey and children.

Charlotte Doucet, Stratford, Ont. has been spending the past two weeks visiting her mother Eugenie Doucet.

Also visiting Mrs. Doucet since July 10 has been Javier Maldonado Ruiz from Algericas, Spain. Javier, 14, has been in Canada for a two and a half month visit to learn English. He thought a "total immersion English" visit with family friends would be a nice way to spend his summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Backman and daughter Kathleen were recent guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kane. They are also visiting Ken's parents in Pugwash, N.S.

Also visiting the Kanes is Mrs. Virginia Mitchell Toronto, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Scully and daughters Erin and Lisa have returned to their home in Long Beach California after a month long visit at their Youghal Beach cottage.

While in the area, they visited the former's grandmother Mrs. E.J. Leger.

WITH PARENTS

Donald and Frances King, Toronto, Ont. are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Russell and other relatives in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy St. Pierre, Montreal were recent visitors in Bathurst, guests of Mrs. Pierre's two sisters, Mrs. Donald Walsh, Mr. Walsh and family, and Mrs. James Nugent, Mr. Nugent and family.

On their trip to Bathurst they were accompanied by her bother Mrs. Alice Garrett who had spent the past five weeks visiting them.

While in Montreal, a gala pool party was given by the St. Pierres in honour of Mrs. Garrett's birthday. The highlight of the day was a huge buffet followed by wine and birthday cake.

Mrs. Garrett received many gifts and flowers and enjoyed the company of her guests including some from Bathurst, Quebec, Verdun and Chateguay.

BACK FROM OTTAWA

Mr. Leo Quinn has returned to Bathurst following a four-day trip to Ottawa, guest of his daughter Elizabeth and her husband Robert Brody.

The Brodys accompanied him to Landenburg, Pennsylvania to visit his brother-in-law whom he had not seen for 29 years. They also visited his sister-in-law in Danielson, Connecticut before returning to Bathurst via the New England States.

TO WED AUG. 31

Mr. and Mrs. Léo Pitre of Bathurst are happy to announce the upcoming wedding of their daughter, Linda, to Ghislain Levesque, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry of Laval, Que.

The wedding will take place Aug. 31, 1991 at Holy Family Church in Bathurst, beginning at 2 p.m.

Open House

Friends and relatives of Angus and Grace Branch are invited to an open house to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at Danny's Colonial Room on Sunday, Sept. 1st from 2-4 p.m. Best wishes only.

Since the opening of his Executive Office Systems outlet in March, John Furlong has been a considerably busy man.

When not preoccupied with running his business, the 30-year-old Bathurst resident enjoys travelling, skiing and roller blading,. In other words, he doesn't have much time to spend around a stove.

HONEY GARLIC CHICKEN WINGS

2 lbs chicken wings
½ cup honey
2 tbsp chicken bouillon liquid
2 tbsp soya sauce
1 tbsp lemon juice
½ tsp garlic powder
¼ tsp ground ginger

In a large baking pan, place wings and bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes. Remove from oven and drain grease. Combine other ingredients and pour over wings. Raise heat to 475 degrees and bake for 25 minutes. Use excess sauce for dipping.

Fined for creating disturbance

Three young men learned the cost of noise Monday, when each was fined $150 for creating a disturbance in a public place.

Henri Bertin, 20, and Rejean Legacy, 19, both of Petit Rocher, and Marco Aube, 22, of Free Grant, all pleaded guilty to the charge in provincial court Monday.

Police received two complaints from residents, who said they heard shouting outside on the night of July 24.

Judge J. Frederic Arsenault fined each of them $150, plus a $22.50 surcharge destined for the Victims of Crime fund.

Meanwhile, a Dec. 11 trial date was set Monday for a man facing three charges of break, enter and theft.

Denis Joseph Bertin pleaded not guilty to the charges, which stem from incidents that allegedly took place between Oct. 14 to 16 last year, when two camps in Free Grant and another in Ste. Rosette were broken into.

The same date was set aside for the matter of Raymond Gauthier, 24, of Beresford. Gauthier pleaded not guilty Monday to a July 11 charge of stealing a fire extinguisher from a local nightclub.

Fainting

Fainting is most often caused by emotional shock, heat exhaustion or standing for too long in one position. Most people recover within a few minutes; however, to prevent loss of consciousness, lie down with legs elevated about a foot above the body or sit down and bend forward with your head between your knees.

Will culture sink trade talks?

Your Business
By DIANNE MALEY
Business Analyst
Thomson News Service

North American free-trade talks have taken a back seat to political events in the Soviet Union. Chances are, the talks will be back on the front page again if Canadian cultural industries come under attack.

To follow the debate over culture, it will be useful to understand what the negotiators are talking about. Under the Canada-U.S. free-trade agreement, Canada wrangled certain exemptions for entertainment and publishing. They include movies, television, records, video, magazines, newspapers and the like.

Entertainment is America's second biggest export industry. So, to be shut out of Canada, or at least limited in what they can sell us, irks the Americans. After all, the United States is Canada's biggessst trading partner.

Behind the protection of entertainment and publishing is Canada's desire to nurture its fledgling film and publishing industries. To some extent, these industries reflect Canada's cultural uniqueness.

GOOD ARGUMENT

The Americans, for their part, don't seem to understand what the fuss is about. If they want culture, let them have fairs, U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills as much as said recently. And who among television watchers here would be willing to forgo American sitcoms? Or the American network news?

The Americans have a point. After all, Canadians are big investors in U.S. publishing. For example, Thomson Corp. and Conrad Black's Hollinger Inc. have extensive U.S. newspaper interests. The Americans were quick to point this out during the 1988 talks. They also threatened to retaliate, but in the end they agreed to disagree.

Will culture sink the three-way talks?

Canada can always walk away if it does not like what is being offered. The United States and Mexico can carry on without the Canadian team.

Beneath the political blustering, though, one senses a move toward harmonization; Canada and Mexico will one day be subsumed by American culture, just as they are dependent on the U.S. economy. This is what critics of free trade fear most.

While the conclusion is by no means clear, the problems are becoming increasingly apparent. The talks could drag on well into next year.

ECONOMY KEY

There are other issues at stake besides culture. The troubled U.S. auto industry, touchy about plant closings, is suspiciously eyeing Canada's transplants — Japanese companies making carks in Canada. The auto pact could come under pressure.

But perhaps the biggest question is how Canada can keep its manufacturers at home and lure new investment, both domestic and foreign. In the global marketplace, Canada has some formidable competition.

How the trade talks evolve, and how they are received, will depend on the course of the economy over the next year. Like the talks, the economy is likely to show slow, plodding progress at best. Whatever agreement is reached, if any, is likely to be greeted with lukewarm response by the Canadian public.

Financial goals have to be clearly defined to be reached

Money Talk
By GARY LeROUX
Chartered Financial Planner

Where would you like to be sitting financially five years from now? How about ten? While budgeting is very important to your financial future, by itself, it's just not enough. If you'd really like to accomplish something spectacular — or even just retire above the poverty line — you'll do so much better if you set specific financial goals for yourself and your family.

Setting any type of goal can be tough and extremely challenging, or simple and relatively easy. However, all goal-setting has one thing in common: it allows us to focus our energies on what we would like to achieve. Without goals of any kind, many people tend to wander through life, hoping that what they would like to see happen, does.

Goals add direction, but only if you set specific goals in relation to your personal values and needs. A clearly defined goal can be budgeted for and worked towards but a vague target makes it difficult to do anything specific. Too many people don't have the vaguest idea where their money goes, or what they should be doing with it. Yet everybody has something he or she wants — a trip, a new car, whatever. But none of these things can have any reality until you make a plan. With a good plan, you can say, "Here is what I can do."

GETTING STARTED

The hardest part is sitting down and actually making your goals, but once the goals are in place, you'll find that they will practically run themselves. So start by having a good talk with your spouse, your whole family, and yourself.

Where are you now financially? What is the state of your family's comfort nad security? What would you seriously like to accomplish over the next few years, and what sort of capital do you need to do it? And last but certainly not least, what sort of retirement would you like to have?

Once you've clearly decided what is really important to you, then you can start formulating your goals. Writing down your plans makes them real, and you'll find it easier to go over them for encouragement.

You make financial plans ultimately to enhance your lifestyle. You have to think of what you want to do with your like now, and not comprise all of your enjoyment today for your future. You can attain it all with the proper blending of your desires. Both now and your retirement are important.

In conclusion, this week's money quote is by Thomas Jefferson: "Never spend your money before you have it."

NORANDA SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED

John Carrington, president and chief executive officer of Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd., recently presented scholarships valued at $2,000 to eight students. The eight, sons or daughters of Brunswick employees, represented the local division in the Noranda Scholarship Program. A total of 11 scholarships were awarded in the eastern Canadian region. Of the 11, three recipients — Shawn Hickey, Luc Landry, and a student from Edmundston — received the scholarship for the first time. Shown from left are mine manager Jim Schnarr, Lynn Rutledge, Dean Mullin, Mireille Arseneau, Shawn Hickey, Gail Head, Cory Neumann, Luc Landry, smelter manager Bruce Neil, and Mr. Carrington. Missing from photo is Jean-Pierre Arseneau, who also received the award.

FIRMS OFFICIALLY OPEN NEW OFFICES ON RIVERSIDE DRIVE

The new offices of Consultant St. Pierre and Placement Plus were officially opened Friday at 670 Riverside Dr. The offices have been open at the new location for two months. Sculptor Fernand Boudreau of Middle River was present for the opening ceremony and reception, to show the staff his sculpted sign of the company's logo. Shown here at the opening from left are city councillor Ross Aube, representing the City of Bathurst; Fidele Cormier, company president; Robert Frenette, company vice-president; Pauline Lafortune, Placement Plus personnel recuitment officer; and Mr. Boudreau.

Given concurrent sentence for possession of drug

A Bathurst man already serving time for theft and assault was given a concurrent sentence Monday for possession of a drug stolen from Chaleur Regional Hospital.

Real Rouselle had been sentenced to seven months in jail following a July 10 incident on the Village Bridge. He assaulted a police officer and was found in possession of a stethoscope and other articles from Chaleur Regional Hospital.

Rouselle, 29, who was known to local police, was ordered to serve a concurrent three months Monday, for possession of two viles of xylocaine.

It's kind of a purrrrfect time of year, don't you think? I like it — the air's starting to get a little cooler, which is good when you have fur like me.

I'm a 10-month old grey female cat, very quiet, and actually, not very big either. I'd make a nice companion for someone.

If you are interested in giving me a home, I can be found at the Bathurst Animal Shelter Animal Shelter. Hope to see you soon!

Dogs as Nurses?

Studies show that dogs can help Alzheimer's patients become more involved in life around them. They give Alzheimer's patients recognition and attention regardless of how the patients acted or looked and raised the patient's sense of self-worth. Patients laughed and smiled more around the dogs and interacted more with each other.

CBC plans debate

CBC Television has invited the leaders of New Brunswick's four political parties to a live televised debate.

The one-hour debate would take place Sept. 12, said a release. It would be produced in the CBC Fredericton studios and broadcast during an extended version of the supper hour show, the CBC News for New Brunswick - seen weeknights at 6 p.m. on CHSJ-TV (Channel 4 in the Chaleur Region).

The invitations were issued last week by Mark Pedersen, the executive producer of the show.

The leaders of the Liberal, Progressive Conservative, New Democratic and Confederation of Regions parties were all invited to participate. The debate will be moderated by Terry Seguin and Carole MacNeil, the hosts of the supper hour show.

Here is the planned structure of the debate:

Each leader will be allowed a two minute opening statement, and a two-minute closing statement.

In addition, there will be five ten-minute segments, each one on a separate issue, ie: jobs, language, environment, etc.

Each segment will begin with an opening question. Each leader will be allowed a one-minute, uninterrupted reply. The remainder of the six minutes will be a more open debate guided by the moderators, with leaders able to challenge each other.

In a letter to each leader, Pedersen said this would be an excellent opportunity for the electorate of New Brunswick to see the four leaders together, debating the important issues of this election campaign.

The CBC News for New Brunswick mounted a similar debate in 1987, involving Richard Hatfield, Frank McKenna and George Little.

'BIG WINNER' IN PHOTO CONTEST

IN FOCUS

In "The Operation," repeated Tuesday, Sept. 3, on CBS, surgery performed by Dr. Ed Betters (Joe Penny) on Laura Parks (Lisa Hartman, pictured) leaves her emotionally devastated. Not only could her malpractice suit against him end his medical career, but he is also in the midst of a complicated divorce. As the confrontation builds to an explosion, several unexpected twists lie ahead, leading to a whirlwind of passion, murder and betrayal.
